Below is an e-mail to REP Dalstrom from a retired LTC whose husband still works in the AK ARNG and REP Dalstrom's response. Additionally, I interviewed with a federal investigator on 10 September 09 regarding my 5 year renewal of my TOP SECRET clearance.

My name is submitted for consideration for a Certificate of Eligibility (COE) for Major General. This process requires that every 90 days the DA IG check if there are any complaints against me. I can put you in contact with LTC Dave Basset, our active duty IG, who serves as the conduit for that information if you would like.

Any other question, please let me know.

Lieutenant Colonel (RET) Blaylock,

I received your e-mail dated August 18, 2009. As you know, my district includes both Fort Richardson and Elmendorf. With such a large military presence, I regularly interact with constituents that display an exceptional professionalism with exceedingly high ethical and moral standards. I have the utmost respect for the men and women in uniform and the vital work they accomplish everyday. The accusations you expressed in your e-mail, as a retired senior ranking officer of the Army against a superior, are extremely serious. I was shocked to read your allegations against someone who carries the reputation as one of our finest commanders in the Alaska Army National Guard.

Due to the serious nature of your complaint, I immediately made contact with the Department of the Army Inspector General's office through the Alaska Army National Guard. They informed me that Brigadier General Thomas Katkus is not under investigation. I found that general officers, by the nature of their position, receive a great deal of scrutiny. Many times the IG office receives complaints with no substantiation that clearly warrants no further investigation or action. I believe this is the case with your husband's accusations that you referenced in your correspondence.

Looking further into your complaint, I discovered that General Katkus is a retired police Captain and served as a division commander with the Anchorage Police Department. I was very impressed that, with over 21 years as a police officer, he has never had a substantiated citizen complaint, never disciplined, found at fault or received any form of corrective action or counseling. His record is impeccable and in stark contrast to the points you allege.

In his long and distinguished career as a police officer, General Katkus maintained an unblemished ethical standard and professional reputation. He is now a federally recognized general officer of the United States Army and continues to maintain that incredibly high standard we expect from our senior military officials. General Katkus spent most of his life serving and protecting our community. He continues to provide that same level of dedication in service to our state and nation through his outstanding leadership of the Alaska Army National Guard.

I am very concerned with your e-mail. With your credentials as a military officer, you should be sensitive to the extreme damage that results from reckless and baseless allegations. Although retired, I would think that military members would still maintain an ethical standard in disclosure and privacy related to matters involving the IG or other personnel actions. There are numerous processes in place that provide fair and equitable treatment for all parties. As a Lieutenant Colonel, you are well aware of them. No one deserves such public defamation, especially our senior leadership.

Your comments regarding Colonel Jorgenson and Colonel DeHaas further erode your credibility. These are two outstanding officers that I personally know.
They carry an outstanding reputation and are well respected. Your statements are reckless and have the potential to cause irreparable damage to these fine officers.

Lieutenant Colonel Blaylock, I have had the opportunity to observe the Alaska Army Guard very closely over the past seven years. I take great offense to your statement that it is a "good old boy" network with corrupt leadership. I believe the current leaders are outstanding and have made tremendous advancements in improving the overall moral, day-to-day operations, direction, and relevancy of the organization. I have never seen it function better. As a citizen of Alaska, I am truly proud to call them my National Guard.

Finally, I am confident the application and evaluation process the Governor has to identify our next Adjutant General is thorough and precise. When chosen, the legislature will fully vet the selected individual prior to confirmation. This is a critical and deliberate process that members of the Alaskan Legislature do not take lightly. There is no room for mean spirited, unsubstantiated, and malicious correspondence targeted towards the undermining and destruction of the excellent reputation and character of Alaska's leadership.

Sincerely,

Representative Nancy Dahlstrom

Good afternoon Congresswoman Dahlstrom

I'm not sure if you're involved at all in the confirmation process for the new TAG to replace General Campbell.

If you are, I would ask for you to seriously look into Tom Katkus' background if his name comes up for nomination.

If you're not aware, he is currently under investigation by DA and NGB for numerous allegations. If he's not flagged, he should be IAW Army Regulation. To be upfront, my husband, LTC Ken Blaylock filed one of the complaints General Katkus is under investigation for. Additionally, COL Cathy Jorgensen and COL Tim DeHass should be included in the same investigation.

Also, if his name comes up, I would recommend checking with the Governor's office regarding other complaints received against General Katkus since he became ATAG for the AKARNG.

I chose to retire rather than suffer any more of his abuse. I know there are many other Soldiers who also chose retirement rather than stay and fight against his chosen method of leadership. The AKARNG has truly returned to the Good Old Boy way of doing things not seen since the 1980s since Tom Katkus was chosen as ATAG.

A thorough audit should be done of all financial expenditures by General Katkus and his staff - both state and federal.

Thank you for your time

Dear Gov Parnell,

I understand that you have not yet named The Adjutant General/Director of Military Affairs. I have heard that there appears to be some dissension from those that were not rated highly by ANGOA, and therefore may not have been considered for the position. These people are now waging what appears to be a pure retribution and intimidation campaign against those they think opposed them or did not rate them highly. I hope this is not the case, but have heard inklings of it from several sources. This would be most unfortunate, but totally in character with those individuals. One of them has had at least two investigations from the Inspector General for misuse of their position and unfair retaliation in the past. I would hate to think that they somehow would gain consideration, much less become the next TAG.

I am no fan of Craig Campbell, and I hope he is not trying to sway your decision. Please be careful as to whom you do choose. The Alaska Guard has succeeded despite Craig Campbell and some that he placed into positions of power, and it would be a tragedy if one of them were selected to replace him. Your Guardsmen and Veterans deserve better. I would recommend that you follow your own best judgement. Those that are trying to intimidate ANGOA also lead that way because they are not leaders to begin with. DMVA has needed new leadership for awhile.

Sorry to be so blunt, but I have seen the damage to morale and the frustration caused by previous leaders among the members of the Alaska Air and Army Guard. They are a justifiably proud and storied organization, and they should be rewarded with a leader they can respect and follow anywhere. Thanks for taking the time to read this.

MESSAGE:
I commend you on your choice of Lieutenant Govenor, Craig Campbell. I recently retired from the Alaska Army National Guard and have always respected Maj Gen Campbells Leadership. Your gain is the AK Army National Guards loss. I have heard numerous rumors on your selection for the Adjutant Generals appointment and now that I am officially retired, felt I could finally voice my opinion. There are many choices of qualified people for this very important position, but I am concerned that BG Katkus is one of the top contenders. I would like to bring to your attention that as of two months ago, he was under investigation by the Department of the Army Inspector General. I do not know if this investigation has been completed yet. Additionally, if you ask the National Guard for the number of Senior Non-commissioned Officers and Senior Officers that have left the Alaska Army National Guard in the last 12 months, I think you will see an alarming trend. Those of us who have left, chose to because of the unethical leadership by BG Katkus. I spent over 25 years in the Alaska Guard and it is very disheartening to end my career on such a low note. I did retire knowing I did the right thing for the right reasons and the right time, and earned the respect of our Soldiers. I followed the rules and regulations which is why BG Katkus wanted me gone. His philosophy is make it happen and we will deal with the consequences later. BG Katkus wanted Soldiers in Kosovo promoted illegally (his son is in the unit in Kosovo) but never once addressed the promotions, legal or not of our Soldiers in Iraq and Afghanastan. I can prove any accusation I make, but mainly wanted you to hear from a concerned Alaskan with first hand experience that BG Katkus does not have the morals or ethics to be the Commander of the Alaska Army National Guard. Thank you for your time.

[redacted]. The last attachment "Mark Begich (UNCLASSIFIED)" is coincidently, an e-mail that one of my office staff sent me yesterday while I was returning from Sitka. My staff member did not realize that when he was talking to "Mark Begich", he was actually talking to a US Senator, who was calling to personally thank me and the efforts of the Alaska National Guard and DMVA for all they have done to support the recognition the ATG members.

At this time I know of no other allegations or investigations.

Mike, I would really like Ward to come with BG Katkus and I to Washington DC on December 2nd to go over national guard issues with our congressional delegation and National Guard Bureau.
Can you approve his travel with us? We will be returning to Anchorage on December 5th.
Thanks.

All,

I have not been involved in all the discussions regarding the Defense force, however, Mr Coons did call me and we had a conversation about three weeks ago. I told him the only action I would take regarding our conversation was to check to make sure the department is acting lawfully in its policy with the Defense Force. Below is a draft of an email I intend to send him. However, before I do, I want to make sure all of you have seen it so as not to conflict with any conversations you have had. I am not looking for word-smithing, just let me know if this letter causes you any heartburn.

I got you letter of 8 October. I hope you can get back to me before the election and have positive report that the Governor will reverse the ruination of the ASDF, i.e. a civilian as Commissioner of DMVA, removal of MG Katkus and straight forward and viable missions as Law Enforcement as per statutes.

These are extraordinary times requiring extraordinary leadership in shaping the future of the AKANG. To ensure the very best leaders at the 0-6 level, all such vacancies will be filled via a competitive board process. The pool of candidates will include existing 0-6's, 0-6 COE candidates, and those 0-5's meeting eligibility requirements who are assigned to the AKANG to include members on NGB Statutory Tours. The 2011 AKANG 0-6 Board will be conducted on or about 24 January 2011. Board members will include wing commanders, the HRO, and the state CCM. Rounding out the Board composition will be a representative from the Office of the Inspector General who will observe the board/selection process and assist us in ensuring compliance with the best practices of the Alaska National Guard. The Board will determine the ROEs for interviews, etc.

This board is the result of a two year process in which the AKANG has been addressing force development principles to better develop our airmen from accession through retirement. One principle is for senior leaders to be flexible and adaptive to reassignments, especially at the three-year point.
Since DP/FPA, we have tentatively scheduled the following changes:

DP/FPA

Application Requirements:

1. Cover letter to the Board - express your career goals, why you are the best candidate and what AKANG 0-6 positions you request consideration if they become vacant during 2011 (CV, OG, MSG, MXG, HRO, Joint Staff). If you narrow your consideration to one location (Anchorage or Fairbanks), your competiveness may be diminished. Include any information you want the board to consider, ie diverse assignments and experience (joint, stat tours, command tours to include deployment leadership positions, civilian, volunteer), leadership potential, etc.. Also, include your contact information.

2. Resume - include both civilian and military experience.

3. Copy of current (not more than 6 months old) Records Review List/Record of Individual Personnel (a.k.a Record Review RIP) from vMPF.

4. Submit your last (3) three Officer Performance Reports (OPRs).

5. Fitness Standards: Member must be within fitness standards as established by AFI 36-2905. Please submit a printout from AFFMS (AF Fitness Management System) via the AF Portal of your current fitness results. If you do not have access to the AF Fitness Management site provide a memorandum PDF and have it signed by either your commander, or Unit, or wing Fitness monitor if you cannot access the AF Fitness Management link off the portal.

6. List 3 references with contact numbers.

7. Submit your package via email NLT 18 January 2011 to be considered for the AKANG 2011 0-6 Board. Direct questions to CMSgt Kris Joyce, BOI, Kristine.joyce@us.army.mil or SMSgt Joyce Davis, BOI, joyce.davis6@us.army.mil. Negative replies would be appreciated.

Below is the PDF copy of main body of the report on the C-17 crash. I sent a web site in a separate e-mail where it can be found also.

Section 10 on page 20 states that "overtasking was not a factor in this mishap.". The report also states that the primary responsibility for supervision and execution of the aerial demonstration program at JBER is the active duty 3rd Wing Operations Group Commander/Vice Operations Group Commander's Standardization and Evaluation office. Testimony revealed that the staff of the office lacked adequate understanding of the Air Force Instruction regulations concerning air show profile execution. "This lack of understanding prevented adequate supervision of the program."

I am checking to see what supervisory role, if any, the 176th Command had in the aerial demonstration program. I'll need to get the tabs to this report. That might provide some clarity.

PR

23 December 2010

Dear Governor Parnell,

Your time is valuable so I will get straight to the point. The health and morale of the Alaska Air National Guard is at an all time low.

My name is BOI/PR and I am a BOI/PR assigned to the DP 176th Wing, Alaska Air National Guard. I have dedicated over BOI years of service to my State and Country, BOI of which have been in the Alaska Air National Guard. I love the military and respect the leaders appointed above me. Though I did not always agree with policy or actions taken, I have always had faith and trust in that leadership's moral compass was being guided by the Air Force Core Values and that they always kept the welfare of the unit and its members at the forefront. Under the current administration, my faith and trust have been shattered by inequity, intimidation, and gross misconduct.

I try not to get involved in the "politics" of the job. As a BOI I'm not high enough in the "food chain" to affect the decision making process or to get bogged down by "politics", but I'm wise enough to recognize the effects of poor leadership. I will not bother you with hearsay comments of the level of corruption that surrounds the current administration (and trust me, there are many). What I can provide you is personal experience of the level of intimidation plaguing the 176th Wing.

The Adjutant General has a strict policy on workplace violence (Attachment 1, TAG Policy Letter 05-05), designed to ensure every member of the Alaska National Guard has a work environment free from aggressive, threatening, or violent acts. All Commanders, managers, and supervisors are expected to respond to all reports of workplace violence, to include threats and intimidation. We have all endured countless hours of "training" and briefings to enforce the "zero tolerance" of workplace violence. If this policy was working, I would not be in this predicament, and I would not be writing this letter to you.

During the week of BOI sequence of events that could have, and should have, been resolved at the lowest levels of supervision have escalated to ridiculous proportions because of the level of intimidation emanating from Brig Gen McManus and her staff. The details of the event (outlined in Attachment 2, email traffic between BOI/PR, CMSgt Streit, and BOI/PR) while important to my claim, is secondary to my complaint. Long story short, BOI/PR a co-worker, made accusations against me that I believe were triggered by hatred, spite, and maliciousness. CMSgt David Streit, 176th Wing Command Chief, mishandled the complaint by not investigating and refuting the accusations, thereby emboldening BOI/PR BOI/PR took it one step further by vocalizing a threat against me to BOI/PR (Attachment 3, statement by BOI/PR).

I took this threat very seriously. I had reasonable fear that I was a target in BOI BOI/PR 's aggression against the agency and was concerned for my safety because of the following:

1. BOI/PR 's continued display of emotionally unstable, erratic and vengeful behavior:

a. BOI/PR filed a complaint that nobody gave him a birthday card or wished him happy birthday,

b. BOI/PR texted another co-worker and asked her to write "Happy Birthday" on his office door so that everyone knew it was his birthday,

c. BOI/PR made verbal complaints that nobody likes him or talks to him,

d. BOI/PR has glared at me in passing, randomly makes small talk with me just out of the blue, and then the next minute glares at me and gives me the silent treatment,

e. During a unit deployment to Germany in 2008, BOI felt I was unfair to him and he has held a grudge ever since,

f. BOI/PR has expressed to, BOI another co-worker, his "hate" list of people who has pissed him off (Attachment 4, Statement by BOI),

2. BOI/PR recently experienced some life altering events:

a. BOI/PR was notified by his commander that his enlistment will not be renewed

b. BOI/PR whom he has been caring for the past few months, BOI/PR

All of these indicators, coupled with the fact that he is a hunter and has easy access to weapons, and has made it known on more than one occasion how much he disliked me, all gave me good reason to be concerned for my well-being.

I relayed my concerns to the 176th Wing Inspector General (IG), to the Security Forces Squadron (SFS), and to the Military Equal Opportunity (MEO) Office, each of whom told me that they could not help me because it did not fall within their jurisdiction. They each referred me to each other, and each stated they could not help me because he had not committed a crime or violent act, and I quote (my statement to SMSgt Brenton of the Security Forces Squadron), "So you're saying you can't help me until blood is spilled", to which he replied, "Yeah, pretty much."

I relayed my concerns to my immediate supervisor, BOI Because she was also the subject of BOI/PR 's recent accusations, her hands were bound by legalities. Moreover, because she did not have the support of her boss – Brig Gen Foster, 176th Wing Commander – she was powerless against the system. Despite these hurdles, she elevated my concerns to her boss, Brig Gen Foster, and to AKNG/HRO. AKNG/HRO told her that they couldn't look into it for a couple weeks. As for Brig Gen Foster, he did not immediately respond to her pleas for intervention and support. It wasn't until BOI/PR contacted the newly appointed Acting Vice Wing Commander, Col Wendy Wenke, did Brig Gen acknowledge my issue. However, instead of speaking directly to me to address my concerns, he initiated a Command Directed Investigation (CDI) against my supervisor and basically discounted my concerns of safety and workplace violence. Because of concerns for my safety, I asked BOI/PR BOI/PR about the possibility of moving BOI/PR out of the immediate work area. So as not to discriminate against BOI/PR a fair solution was to move both of us out of our work areas and away from each other. I was moved to another office in BOI/PR in an office adjacent to BOI/PR and down the hall from BOI/PR On the first day in my new location BOI/PR both Brig Gen Foster and CMSgt Streit stopped by to see how I was liking my new accommodations and made small talk. Neither brought up the subject of my situation or even acknowledged there was one. As of 23 Dec 2010, Brig Gen Foster has not contacted or interviewed me regarding my concerns.

How is all of this relevant to my complaint of intimidation and misconduct?

1. BOI/PR has repeatedly made remarks about having "connections" to higher HQ leadership, i.e., "my wife works with the BOI/PR (both of whom work directly for the BOI/PR).
2. CMSgt Streit, Wing Command Chief, took BOI/PR 's accusations at face value. I had proof to refute the accusations. Instead of "nipping this in the bud", he allowed it to escalate to the point where I petitioned a restraining order through the civilian court system.
3. BOI/PR has a documented history of disrupting the workplace, have been counseled on numerous occasions, and have been moved out of every office he has worked in for creating an unfavorable, unproductive work environment. I have been recognized as a top performer in the unit and the wing and have never been disciplined, yet I have to prove my innocence and validate my safety concerns, while BOI/PR proves nothing.
4. Instead of addressing my concerns as a separate issue, Brig Gen Foster initiates a CDI against BOI/PR
5. People are afraid to speak up or challenge policy because they fear retaliation!!
6. Member's livelihood are threatened with their job or by denying or delaying promotions for reasons that keep changing (i.e. your unit manning is not high enough, your haven't recruited anyone, you haven't recruited enough minorities, you don't

The checks and balances that are supposed to be in place to ensure everyone has a safe, secure, and productive work environment are essentially non-existent or ineffective because the very people responsible for enforcing it are the very ones guilty of violating their own policy. We cannot continue to operate like this. We are tired. There is no sense of unity. People have succumbed to the "it's every man for himself" attitude. People are afraid to stand up for what's right because their job will be threatened.

I do not make these statements lightly. Because my situation has been allowed to escalate, my concerns for my safety have increased. I have lost work productivity, and I am suspicious of everyone. I am further dismayed by how casually Brig Gen Foster discounted my safety concerns. Sadly, this is the climate that Brig Gen McManus and her staff have created. The organization is on a downward spiral but people are too afraid to take a stand. Their jobs are more important than doing what is right, and it's understandable considering the economy. I put my own career in jeopardy by coming forward. But enough is enough. I am praying that there is still justice in the system and that the Air Force Core Values of Integrity, Service Before Self, and Excellence in All We Do will continue to have meaning.

Respectfully Submitted

Dear Ms. [redacted],

Thank you for writing Governor Sean Parnell regarding your workplace situation within the Alaska Air National Guard.

The Governor's office and the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs (DMVA) take workplace harassment very seriously. I have been in contact with the appropriate individuals within DMVA to assure appropriate attention is given to your claim. They are reviewing your case to make sure it is resolved in a satisfactory manner, and that any necessary actions are taken.

While I am sorry to hear about this difficult circumstance, I am pleased that you were temporarily removed from the situation while your claim is being resolved. It appears as if DMVA is taking swift action in addressing your safety concerns.

If you have further questions or additional concerns, please feel free to get in touch with me directly at 907.269.7450.

Sincerely,

Hi Tiffany,

I have the CTS from BOI attached as per Cindy's request it has been re-assigned to Mike for response. I have been in contact with DMVA deputy commissioner McHugh Pierre in regards to the complaint. He had a meeting with the upper management in the Air Guard to make sure that things are being handled properly and an investigation is taking place.

I have the original CTS on its way to you and Mike as well. Let me know if you or Mike needs any assistance in this CTS.

Thanks!

MEMORANDUM FOR ALASKA NATIONAL GUARD October 3, 2005

FROM: The Adjutant General (TAG)

SUBJECT: Policy on Workplace Violence (TAG Policy Letter 05-05)

1. This letter supersedes Human Resources Office (HRO) Policy Letter 05-02 and TAG Policy Letter 03-07, same subject.

2. My policy on Workplace Violence is designed to ensure every member of the Alaska National Guard has a work environment free from aggressive, threatening, or violent acts. There will be zero tolerance of such behaviors. I expect everyone's total commitment to ensure members of our great organization have a safe, secure environment that will enable them to achieve their maximum potential.

3. I expect all commanders, managers, and supervisors to take the lead in preventing and responding to all reports of workplace violence by making subordinates aware that violent behaviors will not be tolerated, responding promptly to reports of violent incidents, and taking swift action against those whom violate policy. Any employee who becomes aware of an incident should report it immediately to someone in his or her chain of command. Depending on the behavior, it may be necessary to solicit the assistance of Security Forces and/or the HRO. Examples of prohibited conduct include:

- Intentionally damaging the property of the company or another employee
- Verbally threatening, harassing, abusing or intimidating another employee
- Threats, intimidation, and harassment by non-verbal means such as gestures
- Causing physical injury to another person or other physical acts against another person such as hitting, pushing, shoving, and kicking
- Behavior that is aggressive or threatening and that puts another employee in fear of injury
- Possessing an unauthorized weapon while on government property or on official business
- Other acts such as arson, sabotage, vandalism and stalking

4. No single factor can predict whether an employee will become violent. Violent behavior sometimes develops quickly, but it often ferments for years. There is usually a triggering event such as arguments with coworkers, being fired or laid off, disciplinary actions, bank or court actions, or marital conflict. Any supervisor becoming aware of a potential problem should solicit assistance through the HRO sponsored Employment Assistance Program. This program is designed to assist people with personal and behavior problems so they can continue to feel of value to themselves, their family, and this organization.

ALCON,

I'd like to set the record straight regarding the accusations below. I have not been involved with any dealings regarding the Children's Xmas party except for requesting money from ANGOA for this event. After Chief Streit shared this email with me, we both called BOI/PR in and asked her about my involvement with the party and her involvement with BOI/PR confirmed that she has not discussed any issue regarding this party or BOI/PR with me. Her dealings with BOI/PR have been nothing but professional and can be supported with emails. As for her role in KJEC, she has been mentoring the treasurer and advised her to consult with KJEC membership before executing funds IAW their by-laws. BOI/PR has never recommended that KJEC not support this event. The only correspondence with BOI/PR has been regarding the Halloween party and upcoming FRG events (see attached). As for BOI/PR being the BOI/PR FRG, this is the first time we even knew she was interested. She is not appointed on a letter and she has never expressed an interest to us, but we gladly welcome any volunteer to help with this program. Again, I want to reemphasize that I maintain an open door policy.

Regards,

BOI/PR

I spoke to BOI/PR about these allegations and suggested/recommended some ideas/solutions. She also presented ideas that maybe beneficial to help clear up any misunderstandings. I truly feel that if the BOI/PR (and I include you as part of the Group) concentrate on "what" is right instead of "who" is right it will resolve the issues and reduce the anxiety.

I look forward to an exciting Children's Holiday party! I thank you and BOI/PR for your service and involvement.

My wife is taking a beating for her part in the Holiday Childrens Christmas Party from BOI/PR and BOI/PR. Someone needs to intervene and look into this issue please. BOI/PR has gone so far to tell the KJEC not to support the children's Christmas party and is now sending emails to BOI/PR BOI/PR BOI/PR has also sent an email to them on a separate occasion saying that BOI/PR is not an FRG. I have asked BOI/PR to put in her resignation for the party if this does not stop. Yes it is affecting me here at work, BOI/PR has been being nasty to me and BOI/PR hardly talks to me.

I am only sending this to you. Was going to send it to Gen Foster but think you're the right person.

Att 3

To whom it may concern: 09 December 2010

On the BOI at about 6:50am BOI/PR came in my office and said I quote – did you hear what BOI/PR said to my wife? She messing with the wrong person, messing with my wife is like messing with me. End of quote. I told him I didn't want to get involved.

BOI/PR

Att 4

BOI/PR afternoon BOI/PR Office:

BOI/PR and myself are formatting the laptops when he told me about what happen today. This conversation it always occurs every day, "there is always something going in BOI... 's life" so as the world turns. BOI/PR told me that BOI/PR was need to stay on her business, I asked him why: He told me that BOI/PR emailed BOI/PR about his wife 'bad mouthing her on email. BOI/PR wife BOI/PR BOI/PR came home and crying and told him about BOI/PR BOI/PR 's emailed. BOI/PR said that BOI/PR "Run the entire Kulis, (he refer to her as Commander BOI/PR). That she have no business of being with the family programs at all. He will filed a complaint against BOI/PR for improper conduct, (I did not get exactly what he was saying because I tend to ignore him) he mention about relationship between BOI/PR and BOI/PR (I do not know what he is talking about).

Every day, I learned from BOI/PR about who is in his list for ruining his day. It seems that every day he has something to say or someone who makes him unhappy off. Sometimes I avoid any conversation with him because I cannot stand anymore listening to his hatred in the BOI/PR BOI/PR I've also known who he made complaint to IG nor he talked to a general about any issue that make him unhappy. I feel like, I cannot talk to anybody in this office because someone is watching me if I will discuss something to someone whom he had a told me. Several times I advised him about fighting with BOI/PR because she is her immediate supervisor, whether he likes it or not she will always be involved with his "drama" in the office.

I would like him to stop talking against everybody, how dysfunctional the BOI/PR is, he has names of people in this unit whom he thinks against him. I feel uncomfortable even knowing whom he has enemy off; I just don't want to know. BOI/PR nd I have a "flight" last year, and he made my life miserable and I do not want this to happen again. So I wanted to stay away from his way so I would not end up again in the same predicament where I was. He is intimidating and very hard person to deal with. I want to work in a safe and happy environment but him being around it just not healthy anymore.

Dear Governor Parnell,

Your time is valuable so I will get straight to the point. The health and morale of the Alaska Air National Guard is at an all time low.

My name is BOI/PR and I am a BOI/PR assigned to the BOI/PR BOI/PR 176th Wing, Alaska Air National Guard. I have dedicated over B... years of service to my State and Country, BO... of which have been in the Alaska Air National Guard. I love the military and respect the leaders appointed above me. Though I did not always agree with policy or actions taken, I have always had faith and trust in that leadership's moral compass was being guided by the Air Force Core Values and that they always kept the welfare of the unit and its members at the forefront. Under the current administration, my faith and trust have been shattered by inequity, intimidation, and gross misconduct.

I try not to get involved in the "politics" of the job. As a BOI/PR I'm not high enough in the "food chain" to affect the decision making process or to get bogged down by "politics", but I'm wise enough to recognize the effects of poor leadership. I will not bother you with hearsay comments of the level of corruption that surrounds the current administration (and trust me, there are many). What I can provide you is personal experience of the level of intimidation plaguing the 176th Wing.

The Adjutant General has a strict policy on workplace violence (Attachment 1, TAG Policy Letter 05-05), designed to ensure every member of the Alaska National Guard has a work environment free from aggressive, threatening, or violent acts. All Commanders, managers, and supervisors are expected to respond to all reports of workplace violence, to include threats and intimidation. We have all endured countless hours of "training" and briefings to enforce the "zero tolerance" of workplace violence. If this policy was working, I would not be in this predicament, and I would not be writing this letter to you.

During the week of BOI/PR sequence of events that could have, and should have, been resolved at the lowest levels of supervision have escalated to ridiculous proportions because of the level of intimidation emanating from Brig Gen McManus and her staff. The details of the event (outlined in Attachment 2, email traffic between BOI/PR, CMSgt Streit, and BOI/PR) while important to my claim, is secondary to my complaint. Long story short, BOI/PR a co-worker, made accusations against me that I believe were triggered by hatred, spite, and maliciousness. CMSgt David Streit, 176th Wing Command Chief, mishandled the complaint by not investigating and refuting the accusations, thereby emboldening BOI/PR took it one step further by vocalizing a threat against me to BOI/PR (Attachment 3, statement by BOI/PR).

I took this threat very seriously. I had reasonable fear that I was a target in BOI/PR BOI/PR s aggression against the agency and was concerned for my safety because of the following:

1. BOI/PR 's continued display of emotionally unstable, erratic and vengeful behavior:

a. BOI/PR filed a complaint that nobody gave him a birthday card or wished him happy birthday,

b. BOI/PR texted another co-worker and asked her to write "Happy Birthday" on his office door so that everyone knew it was his birthday,

c. BOI/PR made verbal complaints that nobody likes him or talks to him,

d. BOI/PR has glared at me in passing, randomly makes small talk with me just out of the blue, and then the next minute glares at me and gives me the silent treatment,

e. During a unit deployment to Germany in 2008, BOI/PR felt I was unfair to him and he has held a grudge ever since,

f. BOI/PR has expressed to, BOI/PR another co-worker, his "hate" list of people who has pissed him off (Attachment 4, Statement by BOI/PR),

2. BOI/PR recently experienced some life altering events:

a. BOI/PR was notified by his commander that his enlistment will not be renewed

b. BOI/PR , whom he has been caring for the past few months, BOI/PR .

All of these indicators, coupled with the fact that he is a hunter and has easy access to weapons, and has made it known on more than one occasion how much he disliked me, all gave me good reason to be concerned for my well-being.

I relayed my concerns to the 176th Wing Inspector General (IG), to the Security Forces Squadron (SFS), and to the Military Equal Opportunity (MEO) Office, each of whom told me that they could not help me because it did not fall within their jurisdiction. They each referred me to each other, and each stated they could not help me because he had not committed a crime or violent act, and I quote (my statement to SMSgt Brenton of the Security Forces Squadron), "So you're saying you can't help me until blood is spilled", to which he replied, "Yeah, pretty much."

I relayed my concerns to my immediate supervisor BOI/PR. Because she was also the subject of BOI/PR's recent accusations, her hands were bound by legalities. Moreover, because she did not have the support of her boss – Brig Gen Foster, 176th Wing Commander – she was powerless against the system. Despite these hurdles, she elevated my concerns to her boss, Brig Gen Foster, and to AKNG/HRO. AKNG/HRO told her that they couldn't look into it for a couple weeks. As for Brig Gen Foster, he did not immediately respond to her pleas for intervention and support. It wasn't until BOI/PR contacted the newly appointed Acting Vice Wing Commander, Col Wendy Wenke, did Brig Gen acknowledge my issue. However, instead of speaking directly to me to address my concerns, he initiated a Command Directed Investigation (CDI) against my supervisor and basically discounted my concerns of safety and workplace violence. Because of concerns for my safety, I asked BOI/PR BOI/PR about the possibility of moving BOI/PR out of the immediate work area. So as not to discriminate against BOI/PR a fair solution was to move both of us out of our work areas and away from each other. I was moved to another office BOI/PR, in an office adjacent to BOI/PR and down the hall from BOI/PR On the first day in my new location BOI/PR, both Brig Gen Foster and CMSgt Streit stopped by to see how I was liking my new accommodations and made small talk. Neither brought up the subject of my situation or even acknowledged there was one. As of 23 Dec 2010, Brig Gen Foster has not contacted or interviewed me regarding my concerns.

How is all of this relevant to my complaint of intimidation and misconduct?

1. BOI/PR has repeatedly made remarks about having "connections" to higher HQ leadership, i.e., "my wife works with the BOI/PR (both of whom work directly for the BOI/PR).
2. CMSgt Streit, Wing Command Chief, took BOI/PR accusations at face value. I had proof to refute the accusations. Instead of "nipping this in the bud", he allowed it to escalate to the point where I petitioned a restraining order through the civilian court system.
3. BOI/PR has a documented history of disrupting the workplace, have been counseled on numerous occasions, and have been moved out of every office he has worked in for creating an unfavorable, unproductive work environment. I have been recognized as a top performer in the unit and the wing and have never been disciplined, yet I have to prove my innocence and validate my safety concerns, while BOI/PR proves nothing.
4. Instead of addressing my concerns as a separate issue, Brig Gen Foster initiates a CDI against BOI/PR
5. People are afraid to speak up or challenge policy because they fear retaliation!!
6. Member's livelihood are threatened with their job or by denying or delaying promotions for reasons that keep changing (i.e. your unit manning is not high enough, your haven't recruited anyone, you haven't recruited enough minorities, you don't

The checks and balances that are supposed to be in place to ensure everyone has a safe, secure, and productive work environment are essentially non-existent or ineffective because the very people responsible for enforcing it are the very ones guilty of violating their own policy. We cannot continue to operate like this. We are tired. There is no sense of unity. People have succumbed to the "it's every man for himself" attitude. People are afraid to stand up for what's right because their job will be threatened.

I do not make these statements lightly. Because my situation has been allowed to escalate, my concerns for my safety have increased. I have lost work productivity, and I am suspicious of everyone. I am further dismayed by how casually Brig Gen Foster discounted my safety concerns. Sadly, this is the climate that Brig Gen McManus and her staff have created. Dear Ms. BOI,

Thank you for writing Governor Parnell regarding your workplace situation within the Alaska Air National Guard.

The Governor's office and the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs take workplace harassment very seriously. I appreciate knowing of your concerns and I will personally look into the issues you have raised to be sure they are addressed.

If you have further questions or additional concerns, please feel free to get in touch with me directly at 907.269.7450, or via email at mike.nizich@alaska.gov.

The Honorable Sean Parnell
Governor of Alaska
P.O. Box 110001
Juneau, AK 99811-0001

Dear Governor Parnell,

I want to add my voice to the other three Alaska National Guard chaplains who have voiced concerns about the emotional and spiritual atmosphere within the Air and Army National Guard organizations. I have just recently returned from a six month deployment and in my two days of in-processing have noticed an intense pall of despair within the 176 Wing that was not there when I left. My in-processing which should have taken a single day has now grown into three days because people want to talk to me about their fears. It is not the crash of the C-17 that has broken the professional and upbeat mood of my Guardsmen it is the looming change of command and how the upper levels of leadership once again cut hope and spirit by manipulation and passive aggressive behavior.

I am the Wing Chaplain of the 176 Wing and have been a chaplain here since October of 1991. The last three commanders, Ramsay, Hart, and Foster have been incredible men who have been the best commanders I have served. They built up the 176 Wing to a point of pride with professionalism, integrity, attention to detail, and caring for their people. All three did well on inspections and expanded the mission of the 176 Wing. All three were unfairly forced from command of the 176 Wing by poor decisions from upper leadership. And now a poor commander, Colonel Wenke, has been selected to replace General Foster. I find Colonel Wenke's integrity suspect.

For nine months I was at Clear Air Force Station as a chaplain; a rural full time mission that needs a full time chaplain with oversight from the 168 Refueling Wing. I had been invited by Lieutenant Colonel Saxe to serve and left my healthy church of twenty years to do so. In that time the funding for the chaplain slot was cut. Our TAG, General Campbell, wanted a chaplain there and Colonel Wenke dragged his feet doing so. Reluctantly he came up with a Technician slot, the only one on the base, which did not provide a livable wage for a healthy chaplain to live in the area. Two selected chaplains turned down the Technician position because of the low wage and additional costs as a Technician. Colonel Wenke also lied to me about how the chaplain slot was first created and why it disappeared. I knew the truth from National Guard Bureau.

Of deeper concern is that Clear AFS was used as a place to store officers of sexual infidelity. A PR PR who had a command at the 168 Refueling Wing had a girlfriend even though he was married. He was removed and placed at Clear AFS so he could get his retirement pay as a lieutenant colonel. Here PR developed another open relationship with a woman not his wife. PR would sleep while on duty and set a poor example as an officer. Yet, Lieutenant Colonel Saxe could not get Colonel Wenke to remove PR. In another situation it came up that Chaplain Lieutenant Colonel PR, while in uniform would get drunk and make advances on enlisted women. Colonel Wenke would not remove him and only did so by the efforts of the Air TAG. While Chaplain PR waited for his retirement Colonel Wenke placed him at Clear AFS because he had no ministry. Chaplain PR' own denomination would not place him in a congregation. During this revelation Chaplain Koch and I were bullied by Colonel Wenke.

I also find it abhorrent that now Colonel Wenke's wife has been placed at the 176 Wing as the vice commander. Colonel Wendy Wenke immediately has gone on the attack against officers in the Wing. This creates a poor image and brings about a culture of mistrust and fear.

Please use your office as Governor to bring health back to the Alaska National Guard.

Regarding PR/FPA 's complaint, in addition to the below timeline of activity, tomorrow Brig Gen Dieffenderfer will assign an investigating officer (Army Guard) to look into PR/FPA 's conduct as mediation does appear to be an option. I feel confident that the Acting 176th Vice Wing Commander in coordination with HRO and the Judge Advocate General are adequately addressing this issue.

Reference: Retaliation in Alaska National Guard

Dear Governor Parnell,

Thank you for your ongoing concern about senior leadership ethics and morals in the Alaska National Guard. The Alaska National Guard's members play a crucial role in responding to both federal and state missions. They will only be effective however if their leaders are both focusing on readiness for these missions and acting in such a way to instill full trust and confidence in them by members of both the Alaska National Guard and the general public.

Unfortunately, two actions very recently by Major General Katkus and Brigadier General McManus are creating the perception that they are responding to queries your office has made by retaliating against those they suspect to have provided you information. The two individuals were officers of the Board of the Alaska National Guard Officers Association when it ranked TAG applicants and did not rank Brigadier General McManus as highly qualified; it appears that Alaska National Guard senior leadership has decided that ANGOA is behind "the letter writing campaign to Governor Parnell" that they have complained about to both the Alaska Army National Guard and 168th Air Refueling Wing colonels. It appears that the two individuals, whom I believe have not provided information for your queries, have been found guilty by previous association with a group who spoke in candor to you for the welfare of the Alaska National Guard.

Last week PR, Brigadier General McManus instructed Brigadier General Foster to place a hold on PR's promotion three days before it became effective PR. The purported reason was because PR. Blocking a promotion three days beforehand for a condition that has existed for a substantial period of time, PR, is an unprecedented abuse of authority. It is also completely inconsistent with direction General McManus has personally provided in at least a half dozen other personnel matters in the last six months. If blocking this promotion was based on leadership concern and not pretense, the initial intent to block the promotion would have been done by memo and provided PR an opportunity to respond and provide PR position. Moreover, it would have been done six months ago when this promotion was first forecast to allow PR time to correct the condition if it is indeed unacceptable. A verbal notice three days before the promotion date ignores the normal personnel practices to assure fairness and empower the individual to meet leadership's reasonable expectations. Instead, this lifetime Alaskan's career has been blind-sided.

Yesterday, General Katkus instructed Brigadier General Banez to tell Colonel Mike Bridges that he had changed his mind over the weekend and that COL Bridges would not move into the Alaska Army National Guard Chief of Staff (COS) position next month as previously announced. He provided no explanation other than that he has changed his mind. Note: although both positions are militarily "colonel" positions, the Chief of Staff position is a higher federal pay grade, GS-15 vs. GS-14, for the weekday duties performed by the incumbent. The financial impact on COL Bridges and his family could be tens of thousands of dollars per year. Instead, General Katkus has decided to place COL Cathy Jorgenson in the COS position. COL Jorgenson has not commanded a unit in rural Alaska like COL Bridges did when he voluntarily moved to Nome for three years to command a battalion. COL Jorgenson has not deployed like most of the Alaska Army National Guard has and COL Bridges did when he worked in Iraq for a year assisting the Iraqis with nation building. In short, two of the best publicized career enhancers do not support this eleventh hour change. The appearance is that some other animus is driving General Katkus. Frankly, the most apparent motivator is frustration with the information provided to you and Mike Nizich's recent queries about the Alaska National Guard, which General Katkus has described as frustrating.

Neither of these personnel actions have been publicized beyond the affected individuals and a few involved in the personnel processes. In order to avoid further retaliation against them, I respectfully request that any queries into their circumstances be done in a manner as to not make it appear that they provided this information to you. Please feel free to call me if you have any questions. Thank you again for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

//SIGNED//

In discussion with several of my Adjutants General Army Peers in other states, the conversation immediately has turned to issues within the Air Guard. Many have expressed problems of character assignation and efforts to undermine the confidence in leadership. A lot of this stems from the significant changes that are occurring in our Air Force as missions and funding changes. Many don't like it and as a result, many of their governors are receiving many electronic communications similar to those our governor is getting. I don't know if it is coordinated or not, but it does seem to be the trend.

I provide this to you, as this is an exceptional step for the Director of the Air National Guard to transmit such a pointed and directed e-mail. Usually NGB positions are very "vanilla". I certainly look forward to your continued guidance in addressing Air Guard leadership, but I think it would be very prudent for us to be very deliberate in our approach. Lt Gen Wyatt will have much more to put out on this problem.

Thanks

Katkus

Subject: Core Values Regional Visits

Adjutants General,

Over the last 12 months, there has been a disturbing trend of events that indicate some in the Air National Guard have lost perspective on the Air Force Core Values. Most regrettably, some of these deviations have occurred in key leadership positions within our States and wings. As a result, we have been mired in discussions with Air Force and DoD leadership in explaining the actions of a few, which is distracting us from our primary responsibilities of moving the Air National Guard forward.

To counter this trend, I have directed ANG leadership to develop a "Return To Core Values" briefing. Over the next several months, we will conduct a series of regional visits to speak with ANG leaders across the country. The purpose of this briefing is to pause and reflect on the Core Values; Integrity First, Service Before Self, and Excellence in All We Do. We will be sending further guidance in the near future, but for now, please support me in this endeavor.

Good Morning,
In regard to the targeting, let me send you a letter outlining some of the thoughts expressed.

Please understand, I totally believe in the leadership of Governor Parnell, or I would have never contacted him in the first place. Because of everything that has happened to this point, there is a natural "uncertainty" that the concerns raised will go further than an expression and then a later retaliation. From your prior experience, I am sure you can empathize. The individuals who have been talking to me are uncertain change will take place. All hope it will because they love this organization they have given so much to and none are pushing for themselves to be elevated through this process. I have assured them that the process takes time; there are many state concerns being addressed; and our civilian leadership are people of integrity.

Again, I will work for unity and strength in the Alaska National Guard. I believe in peacemaking and reconciliation through honest communication. I personally have not one thing against any of the leadership in question nor have their decisions impacted me directly. If I can be of help, I am available to you.

Subject: Following up...

Good Morning,
I know you have so many things on your plate, so I will be brief.

I am following up on the phone message I left for you yesterday. I have received information on an IG complaint that will come out in the next week. It has been in the works for over 2 years and if it goes the direction I think, it will have a significant impact on the senior leadership of the Alaska National Guard. Perhaps you already know, but if you don't, it would not be beneficial to be behind the curve on this.

Two questions I am having from commanders:

1. Is the information provided helpful, or do you have everything you need at this point? I absolutely realize this is one slice of a very large pie. For many, they have put themselves out there and feel vulnerable. Perhaps this is the time to keep quiet and stay out of the line of fire. What is being trickled down is that individuals are being targeted as a result of information provided. Please let me know if I have provided everything you need at this point, and I will discontinue.
2. Leadership is hearing everything is put on hold temporarily only to be implemented as planned later. Is that the case or can we anticipate real change to take place?

Although I can only imagine the amount of pressure you face with state concerns, I see the Alaska National Guard as one of high exposure. I have been really surprised at the high level of leadership who have taken a very intentional interest in what is happening. They have sought me out as I have done my normal ministry as a chaplain. I am thrilled to serve as a person of privileged communication, advocate, and advisor. When given the opportunity, I will speak the truth to individuals in any position and in every situation if it is helpful to them. I have nothing personally to gain through any of this and a lot to lose. I only want to see health and strength within the Alaska National Guard as I support my leadership.

Thanks for your help and leadership,
Chaplain Matt Friese

I fear that senior leadership is retaliating to Governor Parnell's queries by further retaliation.

Reference: Retaliation in Alaska National Guard

Dear Governor Parnell,

Thank you for your ongoing concern about senior leadership ethics and morals in the Alaska National Guard. The Alaska National Guard's members play a crucial role in responding to both federal and state missions. They will only be effective however if their leaders are both focusing on readiness for these missions and acting in such a way to instill full trust and confidence in them by members of both the Alaska National Guard and the general public.

Unfortunately, two actions very recently by Major General Katkus and Brigadier General McManus are creating the perception that they are responding to queries your office has made by retaliating against those they suspect to have provided you information. The two individuals were officers of the Board of the Alaska National Guard Officers Association when it ranked TAG applicants and did not rank Brigadier General McManus as highly qualified; it appears that Alaska National Guard senior leadership has decided that ANGOA is behind "the letter writing campaign to Governor Parnell" that they have complained about to both the Alaska Army National Guard and 168th Air Refueling Wing colonels. It appears that the two individuals, whom I believe have not provided information for your queries, have been found guilty by previous association with a group who spoke in candor to you for the welfare of the Alaska National Guard.

Last week PR, Brigadier General McManus instructed Brigadier General Foster to place a hold on PR's promotion three days before it became effective PR. The purported reason was because PR. Blocking a promotion three days beforehand for a condition that has existed for a substantial period of time, PR, is an unprecedented abuse of authority. It is also completely inconsistent with direction General McManus has personally provided in at least a half dozen other personnel matters in the last six months. If blocking this promotion was based on leadership concern and not pretense, the initial intent to block the promotion would have been done by memo and provided PR an opportunity to respond and provide PR position. Moreover, it would have been done six months ago when this promotion was first forecast to allow PR time to correct the condition if it is indeed unacceptable. A verbal notice three days before the promotion date ignores the normal personnel practices to assure fairness and empower the individual to meet leadership's reasonable expectations. Instead, this lifetime Alaskan's career has been blind-sided.

Yesterday, General Katkus instructed Brigadier General Banez to tell Colonel Mike Bridges that he had changed his mind over the weekend and that COL Bridges would not move into the Alaska Army National Guard Chief of Staff (COS) position next month as previously announced. He provided no explanation other than that he has changed his mind. Note: although both positions are militarily "colonel" positions, the Chief of Staff position is a higher federal pay grade, GS-15 vs. GS-14, for the weekday duties performed by the incumbent. The financial impact on COL Bridges and his family could be tens of thousands of dollars per year. Instead, General Katkus has decided to place COL Cathy Jorgenson in the COS position. COL Jorgenson has not commanded a unit in rural Alaska like COL Bridges did when he voluntarily moved to Nome for three years to command a battalion. COL Jorgenson has not deployed like most of the Alaska Army National Guard has and COL Bridges did when he worked in Iraq for a year assisting the Iraqis with nation building. In short, two of the best publicized career enhancers do not support this eleventh hour change. The appearance is that some other animus is driving General Katkus. Frankly, the most apparent motivator is frustration with the information provided to you and Mike Nizich's recent queries about the Alaska National Guard, which General Katkus has described as frustrating.

Neither of these personnel actions have been publicized beyond the affected individuals and a few involved in the personnel processes. In order to avoid further retaliation against them, I respectfully request that any queries into their circumstances be done in a manner as to not make it appear that they provided this information to you. Please feel free to call me if you have any questions. Thank you again for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

//SIGNED//

Linda,
I disagree.
The original of the 8 Sept., 2008 letter from LTG Campbell to then Gov. Sarah Palin would certainly be in files at the Governor's office.
I have little doubt that the 4 August, 2008 Report by MAJ Matthew Cooper was also forwarded to the governor's office as a matter of course to justify LTG Campbell's actions with respect to the ASDF, and to demonstrate completion of the investigation of my complaint to then Gov. Sarah Palin.
Further, the 2005 Report by then LTC Robert Doehl is within the Governor's purvey to produce as Commander-in-Chief, ASDF and as the Governor.
I did not make the FOIA request at issue to DMVA.
Again, at least two of the documents are undoubtedly in files from the previous administration at the Governor's offices.
Therefore, the Governor's offices have an obligation to produce what they have.
If it is the intent of the Governor to refuse production, please provide a letter stating such.
Given the time that has tolled with regard to the subject matter of the reports and the letter, redacting should be unnecessary as the decisions and analyses alleged are over two years old.
Granted, DMVA has not only the 2005 Doehl report located, but the other two documents at issue and should be able to produce them for your offices within a matter of hours.
After all, that's what we pay you folks to do, honor the law in a timely and cooperative manner.
I am willing to extend the production time until the 17th of Feb, if that would be convenient?
I am further willing to pick up the documents at DMVA, when I see the Commissioner at 1pm that date.

I am willing to make that concession.
Otherwise, the 10 days began to toll with the receipt of the notice of my appeal to the Governor's office.

1. Please provide me a letter with the Governor's intent regarding production, and whether or not copies of the documents would be available for my pick up on the 17th.
2. Please provide the cost of copying so that I might pay the cost, if I am able to pick up the documents on the 17th.
3. Please do so before the 10 workings days have tolled.

Larry Wood

Mr. Wood,

I am responding on behalf of Governor Parnell to your letter dated January 26, 2011. In that letter, you appeal the partial denial of your January 3, 2011, public records request.

As you note in your letter, the regulation that governs appeals from the denial of public records requests is 2 AAC 96.340. Under that regulation, to appeal the denial of your records request, you must submit a written appeal to the head of the agency denying your request. In your case, the agency denying your request is the Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs and the head of that agency is Adjutant General Thomas Katkus. You should therefore submit your appeal to Adjutant General Katkus.

I am forwarding a copy of your January 26 letter to Adjutant General Katkus' office for you.

If you have questions, please contact me.

1. Did you receive a fax from me?
2. What of our correspondence has been turned over to Major General Katkus? I have had a couple inquiries. Retired Brig Gen Ramsey said MG Katkus received a copy of his letter. Chaplain Lt Col. Koch is concerned and wondering if all our correspondence has been turned over to him.

This is a very positive reflection of their accomplishments and leadership.

Active Duty Air Force vs. Alaska Air National Guard Handling of Senior Leader Lapses

The Alaska Air National Guard is out of touch with its active duty counterpart, which has placed an increasing emphasis on holding its senior leaders accountable, both for misconduct and failure to maintain a mission ready unit. In turn, how the active duty Air Force handles senior leader lapses creates expectations in Guardsmen as to how they should be handled. For examples of how active duty Air Force looks at senior leader failures, see:

Nov 14, 2008: 8th Fighter Wing commander fired after failed inspections (compared with 168thg ARW/CC nominated for promotion to brigadier general after nearly failing Health Services Inspection). http://www.airforcetimes.com/news/2008/11/airforce_kunsan_commander_111008/

June 5, 2009: 43rd Airlift Wing commander fired; he was described as a leader who "often ran roughshod over his troops, ignored his own directives, and punished subordinates for petty infractions." (Compare with AKNG senior leadership treatment of subordinates.) http://www.examiner.com/military-affairs-in-norfolk/pope-commander-gets-the-axe-some-wonder-what-took-so-long

October 9, 2009: 11th Wing Commander relieved for not meeting the "leadership example we expect in our Air Force." http://www.airforcetimes.com/news/2009/10/airforce_11th_commander_100909w/

Subsequently disclosed abuse of subordinates: http://www.militarytimes.com/forum/showthread.php?1588126-What-the-hell-was-the-deal-with-that-wing-commander

October 14, 2009: 91st Missile Wing commander fired for loss of confidence, from among other things, vehicle rollover accident (compared to no administrative action against any AKANG general after C-17 crash). http://www.af.mil/news/story.asp?id=123172801

October 31, 2009: 5th Bomb Wing commander relieved for among other things a failure to foster a culture of excellence and lack of focus on the strategic mission (compare with Brig Gen McManus emphasis on personnel spreadsheets rather than on conducting safe and effective flight operations). http://www.airforcetimes.com/news/2010/04/airforce_hanscom_firing_040710w/

April 7, 2010: 66th Air Base Wing commander fired for favoritism towards a subordinate (compared to AKNG TAG support of Brig Gen McManus despite a multitude of complaints).
http://www.airforcetimes.com/news/2010/04/airforce_hanscom_firing_040710w/

June 5, 2008: Secretary of the Air Force (comparable to Commissioner DMVA) and Chief of Staff of the Air Force (comparable to the TAG), fired together for repeated failures and scandals of subordinates.
http://www.airforcetimes.com/news/2008/06/airforce_moseleywynne_060508w/

Likewise, the Air Force has continued to emphasize senior leader accountability, reprimanding 13 generals in the last few years for failures in administering programs.

Subject: Letter from a ANG Chief...

Good Afternoon,
Here is a letter from an ANG Chief. He asked that it be passed on anonymously.

Again, thanks for your concern and follow up!

Blessings,
Chaplain Matt Friese

Governor:

As a concerned senior enlisted member of the Alaska Air National Guard, I am writing this letter to request your assistance in correcting some issues that in my 18+ years in the Air National Guard with more than 12 of that in Alaska, I have never seen morale as low as I am seeing in the enlisted ranks now.

The main failure I see is the lack of trust in commanders as well as senior enlisted personnel and the continuous micro-management from the Alaska Air National Guard Commander, Brigadier General Deborah McManus. Commanders and superintendents cannot take care of their personnel and missions are suffering due to the never-ending barrage of data calls for information that personnel specialists assigned to Headquarters have the ability to obtain and pass along to the ATAG.

Another issue that has become a very hot topic since approximately the summer of 2010 is the personnel issues of excess and overgrades that were allowed under then Col McManus (while she was the Human Resources Officer) are being scrutinized (not saying they don't need to be fixed) but she has made comments that the "Wing" has been making this mess for years and now we have to fix it. While I agree with her about correcting the issues, the mess did not happen overnight, and therefore cannot be fixed overnight either. She, or her staff at her direction, have held promotions ransom until people have been re-assigned, causing personnel to lose money from the raise that was delayed.

Finally promotions to senior noncommissioned officer are virtually at a stand-still due to the scrutiny at the headquarters level. Commanders are not being trusted to promote personnel in a sound manner that supports progression, and this is beginning to cause a retention issue that will be detrimental in the future. No matter how good recruiters may be, if people are not here to train new personnel as they enter we will fail as an Air National Guard. The ATAG has published a new promotion regulation that supports in-equality between E-7 thru E-9 promotions and all others. This is evident with the requirement for all E-7 – E-9s to have a passing fitness score within six months of promotion while E2 – E-6s score must be current within the last twelve months. I personally do not mind the six month requirement, but it should be for all promotions, not just senior noncommissioned officers.

The final straw for me that forced me to write this letter was that I had a master sergeant come to me last week and ask, "What is going on around this Wing? It is broken and everyone is afraid for their jobs. Why are we focusing on paperwork and putting the mission second or third?" These remarks have been echoed amongst the most senior enlisted leaders, but now it is falling to the lower ranks and we cannot afford to lose outstanding personnel and that is happening daily. Please look into this issue, and may I recommend that you poll some of the people that have retired over the last two years. Many of these people were great leaders and had more years to give to our country and state, but their careers were cut short because they refused to bow to the whims of the ATAG.

Sir, thank you for your time and attention; I know you are extremely busy, but I also believe you care greatly about our people of Alaska.

2/28/2011	14559		Fishery/Area M	Rachel Bylsma	Email	I own a Five-star fishing lodge in Southeast Alaska. It has been the “home” for anglers for nearly 30 years. In good measure, our clients come because of the extraordinary halibut fishing we have always enjoyed here in the waters surrounding Prince of Wales Island. Also, most of the islanders here rely on saltwater fishing either for their direct incomes or because of the Charter Fishing Industry in this area.
2/28/2011	14560		Budget-Capital	Lynn Castle	Email	I, first of all, am amazed there is no category for BUDGET, in the governor's topic list. Living off of private business has been very good for the state of Alaska. With the existing rules and regs regarding most of the rest of our resources, good times will end. I recommend that we look into ending the premium ride state workers have been getting for years before the budget is busted like so many other states. Why not start the conversation now while it is out front in so many other states!
2/28/2011	14561		DOC/Miscellaneous	Rebecca Lien	Email	My family and I are gread fans and voted in for you in this past election. I am writing this evening regarding a few concerns I have with certain state of Alaska employees and possible suggestions with operating to streamline a certain area in the Department of Corrections, Parole and Probation division. This very weekend, my wife, who is an Adult Parole and Probation Officer II stationed in the Anchorage Probation Office, is on-call. I was astonished to see that in one of her gear bags was a quite antiquated cordless phone/fax machine combo. I began to ask her a few questions about it to gain a little more knowledge of exactly what her job functions are when she is on-call. This is where I would suggest streamlining.

Parnell, I do not know if you remember me but I & my late brother Mitch Demientieff were in the elevator talking about the road crew resting on their behinds on the parks highway a couple years ago. We all had a good laugh because we had a meeting with you regarding our sister Shirley's award, and I was complaining about the highway dept when you were on the elevator and I didn't notice. Anyways I am requesting you assistance on two CIP's that Nenana Native Council has put in for, they are very important to our community as you remember how vital the tribal hall is to our people. Please help us with these CIP's, I was in Juneau visiting Senators, and Representatives trying to get them pushed through. If you have any qu estions please do not hesitate to call me. THanks, Kathy

2/28/2011	14566		Oil/Gas Development Pro	Rachel Bylsma	Email	CC: LO & FW Why don't the oil companies doing business in Alaska try to kill two birds with one stone instead of fighting the reality of what is happening with declining oil production in Prudhoe Bay? A common sense approach would be for the Alaskan oil companies and the State of Alaska to opt to a plan B whereby they reduce crude oil flowing to a sustainable but profitable level and then substitute the crude oil with natural gas, shipping both of the commodities in the Trans Alaska Pipeline. Decreasing the amount of crude oil from the North Slope would then increase the crude oil price.

Pls offer concrete proposals instead of just opposing all new ideas. Where is your plan to cover residents with pre-exisiting conditions ? Over 90% of residents with pre-existing conditions cannot afford the insurance that is being offered. My husband and I own a charter boat in Sitka, and started our small business in 1986. We are currently taking charter fishing reservations for this summer, which is a mere three months away. With every passing day, we are losing customers. Words cannot convey the urgency of our situation to you.

The smoke was very thick; I am not trained in measuring opacity, but would estimate it at 100%. The coal smoke could be smelled on the Steese Highway roughly 1/2 mile before this residence. It was drifting across the highway so cars had to drive through it. Fairhill Christian Church and school are located across the highway in the direction the smoke was drifting.

We strongly disagree on the latest ruling by IPHC on limiting charter vessels of one halibut a day for 2c. The economic crisis has already hit local businesses. With this new cut to 2c it is already effecting local lodges and business for this year. At Sure-Strike clients are already canceling for this summer because of the halibut cut, and booking trips up north where there was not this new cut on halibut. Not only is this not good for the local businesses, it's bad news for our jobs. Lodges where already barely getting by the last two years. Now lodges my have to close down. That means jobs will be lost. These summer jobs are very important to the local communities. We depend on these summer jobs to carry us threw the winters when there are no jobs in these small communities.
2/28/2011	14579		Oil/Gas Development Pro	Micaela Fowler	Email	With the recent actions the Federal Government made against domestic drilling and the deaf ear that they have towards this my suggestion is gain the ear of someone that does. If the state of Alaska were to start rolling the PFD and our budget surpluses out of American bonds and into chinese bonds, it would grant us leverage with the Chinese and thus the federal government. Not only that it would provide a hedge against the falling dollar.
2/28/2011	14580		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	I am a Juneau businessman who does business in 7 countries. I am not a government bureaucrat or some sort of “socialist.” Still, I urge you to reconsider your planned tax cut for oil companies for several reasons: First, if you’re going to try to encourage them to drill more wells, give them a tax cut on new exploration, not on fields they have been milking since 1976. Furthermore, we are already giving them checks for 20-40% of their exploration costs. How much are we supposed to give them?

I read your editorial about how it's a matter of principal and a requirement to stand together with Florida (even though he was one of four judges, and the only one to rule the entire plan as unconstitutional), and, frankly, I don't understand. I'd like to draw your attention to just such a situation here in Homer where most of us still rely on oil heat while known reserves of natural gas lie only a few miles away. The larger cities to the North of us were fortunate enough to build, with government assistance, the infrastructure necessary to utilize these resources during the good times and their citizens have had their houses heated efficiently ever since.

2/28/2011	14588	BOI	Oil/Gas Development Pro	Rachel Bylsma	Email	I am writing to express support for the natural gas pipeline extension from Anchor Point to Homer and offer the following points for your consideration: 1.Presently I am paying about $500 per month to heat my house in Homer during the winter. My house is new and is very energy efficient and I make the most of a southern exposure and passive solar heat. The costs fluctuate of course over the year but the average daily fuel consumption is 2.5 gallon for both heat and hot water, with a high of 4 gallons per day in January and a low of 1.0 gallon per day in July. The cost of propane here is now $4.60 per gallon so the total fuel cost ranges from $138 per month in June to $550 per month in January or about a daily average of $12.00 per day. Combined with other utility costs (i.e., water/sewer, electricity, phone, etc.) I pay on average about $9000 per year on utilities. With house insurance and property taxes and the South Peninsula hospital bond the total comes to about $18,000 per year. This is about the same as my annual mortgage costs. The concern is that these energy costs are bound to rise in the future and may soon surpass the cost of home purchase. This would be economically distressing for rural residents, communities, and the state of

2/28/2011	14592	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	Governor Parnells proposal to reduce tax levels on the oil industry by $2 Billion per year is irresponsible. A recent Alaska Department of Revenue report on oil taxes (published Jan 18, 2011) shows increasing capital expenditures in the oil and gas industry in each of the past 4 years under the current tax structure. How much more can we expect as a result of this tax break? Your guess is as good as mine. We are given no data to support Parnells claim that the more you tax something, the less you get of it.

He may be putting up the front that he wants to reduce tax on big oil. Big oil makes big lies when they promise to give jobs if we reduce their tax. Don't listen to them or Parnell. I kind of liked Parnell before this stance. The US dollar is going to dramatically reduce in value in the near future. In a couple years domestic oil production will resume in a big way, I believe, regardless of how we tax. I say tax oil to the max, then invest these revenues for worthy Alaskan endeavors that promote our own energy independence like Fire Island, small personally owned Wind Generation, any clean energy systems, our own gas line, and others that will in turn bring jobs and prosperity to Alaskans.

If the International Commission has concerns regarding the total take of halibut, they should first look at the commercial fishing industry that is responsible for over 85% of the take. Also, the dollar value per pound to the economy of a sport caught fish is much larger than for a commercially landed fish. Thank you for considering my opinion on this important matter. Subject: RE: Public records denial appeal

Linda,
I disagree.
The original of the 8 Sept., 2008 letter from LTG Campbell to then Gov. Sarah Palin would certainly be in files at the Governor's office.
I have little doubt that the 4 August, 2008 Report by MAJ Matthew Cooper was also forwarded to the governor's office as a matter of course to justify LTG Campbell's actions with respect to the ASDF, and to demonstrate completion of the investigation of my complaint to then Gov. Sarah Palin.
Further, the 2005 Report by then LTC Robert Doehl is within the Governor's purvey to produce as Commander-in-Chief, ASDF and as the Governor.
I did not make the FOIA request at issue to DMVA.
Again, at least two of the documents are undoubtedly in files from the previous administration at the Governor's offices.
Therefore, the Governor's offices have an obligation to produce what they have.
If it is the intent of the Governor to refuse production, please provide a letter stating such.
Given the time that has tolled with regard to the subject matter of the reports and the letter, redacting should be unnecessary as the decisions and analyses alleged are over two years old.
Granted, DMVA has not only the 2005 Doehl report located, but the other two documents at issue and should be able to produce them for your offices within a matter of hours.
After all, that's what we pay you folks to do, honor the law in a timely and cooperative manner.

I am willing to extend the production time until the 17th of Feb, if that would be convenient?
I am further willing to pick up the documents at DMVA, when I see the Commissioner at 1pm that date.
I am willing to make that concession.
Otherwise, the 10 days began to toll with the receipt of the notice of my appeal to the Governor's office.

1. Please provide me a letter with the Governor's intent regarding production, and whether or not copies of the documents would be available for my pick up on the 17th.
2. Please provide the cost of copying so that I might pay the cost, if I am able to pick up the documents on the 17th.
3. Please do so before the 10 workings days have tolled.

Subject: Public records denial appeal

Mr. Wood,

I am responding on behalf of Governor Parnell to your letter dated January 26, 2011. In that letter, you appeal the partial denial of your January 3, 2011, public records request.

As you note in your letter, the regulation that governs appeals from the denial of public records requests is 2 AAC 96.340. Under that regulation, to appeal the denial of your records request, you must submit a written appeal to the head of the agency denying your request. In your case, the agency denying your request is the Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs and the head of that agency is Adjutant General Thomas Katkus. You should therefore submit your appeal to Adjutant General Katkus.

I am forwarding a copy of your January 26 letter to Adjutant General Katkus' office for you.

If you have questions, please contact me.

STATE OF ALASKA

Mr. Lawrence Wood

Via email: [redacted] BOI

Dear Mr. Wood:

I am responding to your February 11, 2011, request to the Governor's Office for copies of the September 8, 2008, letter from Lieutenant General Campbell to then-Governor Sarah Palin; the August 4, 2008, report by Major Matthew Cooper: and a September 23, 2005, report by Lieutenant Colonel Robert Doehl.

The Governor's Office does not have a copy of Lieutenant Colonel Doehl's report. Copies of the other records you requested are attached. I redacted the copy of Major Cooper's report, based on the attorney-client and deliberative process privileges. Alaska Rule of Evidence 503 describes the attorney-client privilege. The Alaska Supreme Court's decisions in Gwich'in Steering Committee v. State, 10 P.3d 572 (Alaska 2000), Capital Information Group v. State, 923 P.2d 29 (Alaska 1996), and Doe v. Superior Court, 721 P.2d 617 (Alaska 1986), among others, describe the deliberative process privilege.

I am waiving the fee for the enclosed copies, as AS 40.25.110(d) permits, because waiver is in the public interest, the fee would be $5.00 or less, and the cost of arranging for payment would exceed the amount of the fee.

This response constitutes a partial denial of your records request. For that reason I am required to provide you the following information. I have been delegated the authority to deny public records requests for the Office of the Governor. If you wish, you may administratively appeal this partial denial of your request by complying with the procedures of 2 AAC 96.340. You also have the option of obtaining immediate judicial review of this partial denial by seeking an injunction from the superior court under AS 40.25.125. Choosing not to pursue an injunction in superior court will have no adverse effect on your rights in the administrative appeal. An administrative appeal from the denial of a request for public records requires no appeal bond. Copies of 2 AAC 96.335 – 2 AAC 96.350 are enclosed.

Sincerely,

Linda J. Perez

Subject: ANG 3/297th. gear issue:

ANG,

Since Nov. 2007 I have asked you to take responsibility for your incompetence in handling the gear returned from Camp Shelby MS. Gear that I and the entire 3/297th. turned in, but was then given a statement of charges for. Also I traveled t Ft. Richardson and appeared in person to turn in additional gear that I still had in my possession even after you the ANG had discharged me. I traveled and lodged for 3 days at my own expense. I was at the Ft. Richardson armory at 0745 every morning for 3 morning. I traveled the halls speaking to numerous people, who all told me it was not their job to hel me, or that they did not know the process for me to turn in the equipment. I finally spoke to a SMG Avert who told me tha I could not turn in the equipment and that I might as well leave. I informed her that I was ETS and had not yet been hom at the end of a 16 month deployment. I was planning to be employed out of the state of AK and in the near future would not be available to turn in the equipment. She still refused to allow me to turn in the equipment. I was speaking to the E9 in charge and had spent 3 ridiculous days arguing with the ANG to allow me to turn in equipment to them. I could not afford to stay any longer on my own as a civilian in this enraging, ridiculous, and never ending status. So I told SMG Averet that if she did not allow me to turn in the equipment that I would not be able to turn it in ever again. She offered n time in the future as to when I would be allowed to turn it in, and offered no reasonable reason as to why I couldn't turn i in immediately. I told her that she was an E9 and was paid to overcome problems and her word over ruled any computer or misunderstood regulations. She still refused to allow me to turn in the equipment. So I returned to my home in Fairbanks and not long after wards left the state of AK. As you will eventually have to admit there is a checklist of items a soldier must clear before being given his discharge. Someone checked YES, to did soldier turn in equipment before outprocess and discharge? I was given both a DD214 and NGR 600-200 signed by CW2 Katheren S. Sanders. In block

10 of DD Form 200 filed against me, the ANG admits they did not follow their own out processing requirements and list how they plan to prevent future occurrences. Yet, in block 12b I have been found to be negligent and will be charged for the not turned in equipment.
I ask you the soldiers of the ANG did I not make every ethical effort to turn in this equipment? Do I have to stay by my phone and last known address indefinitely waiting for the ANG to contact me and finally ask me to travel all the way back to Ft. Richardson to turn in equipment? Finally on 6 Nov. 2009 a day short of 2 years after my Honorable discharge the ANG sent a certified letter to my last known address. I was out of the country as I said I would be and eventually I did receive a scanned copy from a relative. I contacted various members of the ANG telling them this long tale of trying to turn in the equipment back in Nov. 2007. Various personal would suggest that I travel to the Fairbanks armory to turn in the equipment, I reminded them at this was not possible because I was out of the country, I also reminded them that I had been Honorably discharged 2 years prior, the ANG mocked my attempts to turn in the equipment, and now the ANG needs to find a way to solve the gear issue on their own. Then someone would respond that maybe I could mail the equipment back. I once again asked the ANG if they really thought that I had taken all of this equipment with me out of the country and was keeping it with me so that I could mail it back? You all know how much equipment and damages are written off for those in privileged positions. Sporadically I continued to have lively exchanges of emails with my good friend SCSMG Choate and whoever else I could involve in the drama. We never did arrive at a solution. The ANG maintained that I needed to admit I had stolen the equipment and concealed it for several years at my private residence, quit my job, travel back to AK, find the equipment, travel to Ft. Richardson, AND THEN TRY TO ONCE AGAIN FIND SOMEONE AT SUPPLY WHO WOULD THIS TIME ALLOW ME TO TURN IN THE EQUIPMENT!!!!! I maintained that I had been legally and Honorably discharged and that the ANG needed to find a way to fix their hand recipe now. Seriously the ANG waste more than my equipment value every day on heating the vacant armory in Selawik!!! Not to mention flying a whole lot of strap hangers to Hawaii for a NCO of the year board!!! The ANG even will pay for a babysitter while you are at the board!!! Not to mention that 11 of the most high value items I was being charged for were actually turned in at Camp Shelby, MS. I told the ANG they owed me wages and expenses for 3 days that I had already spent trying to turn in the equipment in 2007. They would grow tired or embarrassed and not respond anymore. Then Col. Bridges and Frank Gray choose to deny that the ANG bore any responsibility and turned me over to the Defense Accounting and Finance Service. They are now processing me to have my wages garnished and reporting to security and financial agencies that I am a risk.
I find this to be a huge insult to my character and years of service. I contacted Col. Jones at the IG office, who promptly informed me that it was not his job to look into this or represent me. I reminded him that he receives 06 pay and really doesn't have a large work load, perhaps he could find it in his heart to help me out. Once again he refused.
I spoke to Col. Bridges who worded that I was negligent in the DD Form 200. He maintained that I was completely at fault and should bear full responsibility for all wrong doing. After maintaining a lively dialog with the ANG since 2007 I am baffled why they still feel the ANG bears no fault in this?
Mr. Frank Gray also said, " that's what he gets for not turning in his gear before he left".
I am out raged by this assault on my character. I have asked several people at the ANG recently if the ANG expected me to standby my residence indefinitely waiting for such a time as it was convenient for the ANG to have me travel to an armory and turn in the equipment at my own expense again? NO ONE will answer that question.

In mid Feb. I traveled back to AK. I contacted the Fairbanks armory and they agreed to help me turn in the equipment. A SFC Humphries was very helpful and as a member of the 3/297th. he was personally aware of the way the ANG screwed their entire battalion of soldiers by charging them for the equipment that was returned to AK from MS. He wrote up a document stating that 11 items the ANG had charged me for were completely untrue and credited me with having turned them in back in 2006.
So after being Honorably discharged 7 Nov. 2007 and then making a 3 day continuous effort to have the ANG allow me to turn in the equipment, I once again gathered up the equipment and as a civilian for the past 4 years on my own time and expense went to the Fairbanks armory and turned in the equipment. Col. Bridges and I then spoke on the phone. While he maintained that the whole situation was still entirely my fault, he did say that he would contact the DFAS and tell them to stop the collection process. This was on Feb. 28 2011. In addition to this on Jan. 18 2011 SCSMG Choate also agreed to contact the DFAS and try to stop my reputation from being ruined at a federal level.
I contacted the DFAS 1-866-912-6488 today, 3 Mar. 2011. I had them check twice and NO ONE from the ANG has contacted them ever! Except of course to file the initial charges. Every day on this issue is time sensitive. Yet the ANG continues to place absolutely no value on my personal reputation and years of Honorable service. I am often out of the country and difficult to reach. I have maintained at a minimum email contact at all times with the ANG. They continue to sponsor sled dog, and snow machine races, attend conferences around the country, burn up mad amounts of tdy on fun trips, yet NO ONE even picked up the phone to contact the DFAS and tell them to please wait with the federal charges while they look into this.
When and if this is ever resolved, I am demanding a formal letter of explanation why the ANG finds me at fault when their own people refused to allow me to return the equipment and apologizing for years of harassment and incompetent actions.
Please spread my anger around your various coffee groups. It will provide a good laugh and hopefully someone will finally discover that it might be their job to finish off this case.

Meanwhile the rest of you should go immediately to supply and start turning in your equipment, it will probably take you many years. Video tape the entire process and hire your own group of lawyers to witness the event.

Subject: ANG 3/297th. gear issue:

ANG,

Since Nov. 2007 I have asked you to take responsibility for your incompetence in handling the gear returned from Camp Shelby MS. Gear that I and the entire 3/297th. turned in, but was then given a statement of charges for. Also I traveled t Ft. Richardson and appeared in person to turn in additional gear that I still had in my possession even after you the ANG had discharged me. I traveled and lodged for 3 days at my own expense. I was at the Ft. Richardson armory at 0745 every morning for 3 morning. I traveled the halls speaking to numerous people, who all told me it was not their job to hel me, or that they did not know the process for me to turn in the equipment. I finally spoke to a SMG Avert who told me tha I could not turn in the equipment and that I might as well leave. I informed her that I was ETS and had not yet been hom at the end of a 16 month deployment. I was planning to be employed out of the state of AK and in the near future would not be available to turn in the equipment. She still refused to allow me to turn in the equipment. I was speaking to the E9 in charge and had spent 3 ridiculous days arguing with the ANG to allow me to turn in equipment to them. I could not afford to stay any longer on my own as a civilian in this enraging, ridiculous, and never ending status. So I told SMG Averet that if she did not allow me to turn in the equipment that I would not be able to turn it in ever again. She offered n time in the future as to when I would be allowed to turn it in, and offered no reasonable reason as to why I couldn't turn i in immediately. I told her that she was an E9 and was paid to overcome problems and her word over ruled any computer or misunderstood regulations. She still refused to allow me to turn in the equipment. So I returned to my home in Fairbanks and not long after wards left the state of AK. As you will eventually have to admit there is a checklist of items a soldier must clear before being given his discharge. Someone checked YES, to did soldier turn in equipment before outprocess and discharge? I was given both a DD214 and NGR 600-200 signed by CW2 Katheren S. Sanders. In block 10 of DD Form 200 filed against me, the ANG admits they did not follow their own out processing requirements and list how they plan to prevent future occurrences. Yet, in block 12b I have been found to be negligent and will be charged for the not turned in equipment.

I ask you the soldiers of the ANG did I not make every ethical effort to turn in this equipment? Do I have to stay by my phone and last known address indefinitely waiting for the ANG to contact me and finally ask me to travel all the way back to Ft. Richardson to turn in equipment? Finally on 6 Nov. 2009 a day short of 2 years after my Honorable discharge the ANG sent a certified letter to my last known address. I was out of the country as I said I would be and eventually I did receive a scanned copy from a relative. I contacted various members of the ANG telling them this long tale of trying to tu in the equipment back in Nov. 2007. Various personal would suggest that I travel to the Fairbanks armory to turn in the equipment, I reminded them at this was not possible because I was out of the country, I also reminded them that I had been Honorably discharged 2 years prior, the ANG mocked my attempts to turn in the equipment, and now the ANG needs to find a way to solve the gear issue on their own. Then someone would respond that maybe I could mail the equipment back. I once again asked the ANG if they really thought that I had taken all of this equipment with me out of th country and was keeping it with me so that I could mail it back? You all know how much equipment and damages are written off for those in privileged positions. Sporadically I continued to have lively exchanges of emails with my good frie SCSMG Choate and whoever else I could involve in the drama. We never did arrive at a solution. Below is the article that clarifies the Active Service Management Board (ASMB) that I talked about yesterday. This is the next friction point for those that are both vocal and fear they won't fare well when ranked against their peers.

Alaska Active Guard Reservists Prepare for Management Board

CAMP DENALI, Alaska - In his position as Master Resilience Trainer and Suicide Prevention Program Manager, Sgt. 1st Class Samuel Ethridge tracks stress that Soldiers experience in the Alaska Army National Guard.

Recently, Ethridge identified that the most prevalent concern among senior Active Guard Reserve (AGR) officers and noncommissioned officers centers on this spring's Active Service Management Board (ASMB). Ethridge says it's no secret that while he and his AGR peers compile their board packets, they are wondering what the future holds.

"There are a lot of mixed emotions about it [the ASMB]," Ethridge said. "I'm lucky in the aspect that I'm in my nineteenth year and already forecasted that I would be done at year 20. I've come to terms with that decision -- others who may want to stay in past 20 years are scared because they haven't thought about what they're going to do."

An ASMB is a tool for life cycle management of qualified AGR Soldiers with 18 or more years of active service who fall into the zone of consideration.

If AGR programs exceed their controlled grade authorizations, they are required to hold a board each year until they are within their authorization.

"All of the states took a pretty significant cut on their AGR strength over the next 3-5 years," AGR branch manager Chief Warrant Officer Tammy Kostoff said. Kostoff is managing this year's ASMB.

"In Alaska, we're on the horizon to lose up to 40 slots in 3 to 5 years," Kostoff said. "We're not going to be able to do that from normal attrition."

Kostoff explained that a board was not held last year because five AGR slots were reduced due to normal attrition.

Some states hold the board every year. Because the board has not been held in the Alaska Army Guard in several years, Kostoff said that some AGRs are nervous about the board and concerned they could lose their full time job.

"They're not really losing their job; they're still going to get a retirement. They just may not get to spend 30 years in the AGR program in Alaska," Kostoff said. "The only people being looked at have 18 years or more, so they are already guaranteed 20 years and will get a retirement. Anything past that is gravy."

By holding the ASMB, the Alaska Army National Guard is implementing a plan to meet the National Guard Bureau (NGB) requirement to reduce those 40 positions over a span of several years, instead of reducing 40 people at once, according to Kostoff.

Lt. Col. John McShane, deputy chief of staff for personnel, G-1, explained that the board would position future leaders for the Alaska Army National Guard.

"This process may free up positions to open the way for junior Soldiers to move into in the future," McShane said. "If you are selected by the board, be proud of what you've done and allow others to continue your success and legacy."

Kostoff advises AGRs to approach the ASMB with a positive attitude and read the guidance provided by NGB and Alaska's AGR staff to understand the ASMB background and board process.

On Sept. 17, 2010, memorandums announcing the 2011 AGR Active Service Management Boards for officers and enlisted personnel were issued to all states and territories from Gen. Craig R. McKinley, chief, National Guard Bureau.

The Alaska National Guard then issued a memorandum dated Oct. 17, 2010 to officer and enlisted AGRs, serving as notification that the board will consider them this year through an ASMB. The AGR personnel identified for consideration include those who have completed 18 or more years of active service as of Dec. 31, 2010.

Once the consideration roster was built, Kostoff eliminated those AGRs exempt from this year's board according to the following criteria set by NGB:

* Already have an approved retirement request

* Are currently on their initial 3-year AGR tour

* Will reach age 60 within 18 months after the date the board is scheduled to convene

* Completed less than 12 months of Active Duty Service Obligation incurred due to school completion as of the convene date of the board

* Are a nominative Command Sergeant Major serving in the AGR program

* Were conditionally promoted to Sergeant Major

* Currently serve as a command chief warrant officer

* Were considered on a selection board 12 months prior

The Oct. 17, 2010 Alaska National Guard memorandum also served notification to each AGR to initiate a thorough review of their individual records. A Lifecycle Management Board Checklist was enclosed with the notification, providing guidance for reviewing and updating records.

AGRs were instructed to compile the items on the checklist and email those documents to AGR Section Noncommissioned Officer-In-Charge Master

Sgt. Jody Heffele at jody.heffele@us.army.mil <mailto:jody.heffele@us.army.mil> . All documents were required to be submitted by the last day of February. Heffele will now assemble the packets and each person will meet with him to verify their contents.

Kostoff advises that Soldiers pay close attention to the standards for the ASMB. They are described in detail in the NGB Memorandum of Instruction.

"The board is looking at an overall picture of each person's career," Kostoff said. "It's based on Gen. McKinley's Memorandum of Instruction that outlines very specific criteria he wants the board to look at; fitness, ability to deploy, assignments, diversity -- all of the things that he envisions as a well-rounded AGR person."

Kostoff emphasizes that each Soldier is responsible for building his or her individual packet, and should contact their unit administrative representative if they have questions or come across any problems.

"The Alaska Army National Guard needs to restructure personnel to meet our reduction in force requirements set by NGB," said Brig. Gen. Randy Banez, assistant adjutant general, Alaska Army National Guard. "It is critical that we methodically approach this requirement and implement specific measures to ensure the constitution of a fair and non-biased process."

An officer and an enlisted board are scheduled to convene separately, but simultaneously, from April 5-7 <x-apple-data-detectors://6> .

In an effort to reduce even a perception of favoritism, Maj. Gen. Thomas Katkus, adjutant general, Alaska National Guard requested that voluntary National Guard leaders from across the country serve as board members.

Katkus stated emphatically that "every affected member deserves the opportunity to have their future with the Alaska National Guard, considered through a fair and impartial review of their record with no external influence, bias, or perception."

The board members will meet in an undisclosed location and are prohibited from revealing that they are even serving on the board. In an effort to prevent them from having any preconceived intent while evaluating AGRs, they will not be informed of the reductions needed for the Alaska Army National Guard force structure.

An Order of Merit List will be built off of the board scores, and any reductions that need to be made will be taken from the bottom of the list.

Katkus is the final approving authority on only the enlisted board results. Once completed, the state has 15 days to send the results to NGB with his signature confirming the decisions. NGB has 15 days to approve or disapprove the results based on whether the board was conducted according to regulations.

For officers, the state has 15 days to send those results to NGB. NGB has 15 days to review, then submits to the chief, National Guard Bureau (CNGB). CNGB has 4-6 weeks to provide an approval or disapproval response to the Alaska National Guard.

Once the Alaska National Guard receives this final approval, AGRs must be notified of the results within seven days. First, a senior leader and HRO representative will personally notify anyone who is on the release roster. After that, those AGRs who will be retained are sent an email and hard copy notification.

Based on that timeline, Alaska National Guard enlisted AGRs are scheduled to be notified of results mid-May, and officers will likely be notified in mid to late June.

"Anyone who is not being retained will then have 30 days after receiving the results to decide what they want to do," Kostoff said. "They can choose to be a traditional M-day Soldier, apply for technician jobs, retire, or apply for AGR jobs in other states."

Kostoff also explained that the Soldier will have 9-12 months before any action happens, allowing time to use up any leave and search for a job if needed.

She noted that preparing for this board doesn't happen overnight; AGRs should continuously strive for excellence and manage their career.

"There are very strict regulations we have to follow to wear the uniform full time. Manage your height and weight, manage your PT, manage your military and civilian education, and to some extent manage your assignments," said Kostoff. "Position yourself so that when a board like this comes up and you just happen to be one of those who may be reduced, you are the best and brightest of that group of people."

Alaska Active Guard Reservists Prepare for Management Board

CAMP DENALI, Alaska – In his position as Master Resilience Trainer and Suicide Prevention Program Manager, Sgt. 1st Class Samuel Ethridge tracks stress that Soldiers experience in the Alaska Army National Guard.

Recently, Ethridge identified that the most prevalent concern among senior Active Guard Reserve (AGR) officers and noncommissioned officers centers on this spring's Active Service Management Board (ASMB). I've come to terms with that decision -- others who may want to stay in past 20 years are scared because they haven't thought about what they're going to do."

An ASMB is a tool for life cycle management of qualified AGR Soldiers with 18 or more years of active service who fall into the zone of consideration.

If AGR programs exceed their controlled grade authorizations, they are required to hold a board each year until they are within their authorization.

"All of the states took a pretty significant cut on their AGR strength over the next 3-5 years," AGR branch manager Chief Warrant Officer Tammy Kostoff said. Kostoff is managing this year's ASMB.

"In Alaska, we're on the horizon to lose up to 40 slots in 3 to 5 years," Kostoff said. "We're not going to be able to do that from normal attrition."

Kostoff explained that a board was not held last year because five AGR slots were reduced due to normal attrition.

Some states hold the board every year. Because the board has not been held in the Alaska Army Guard in several years, Kostoff said that some AGRs are nervous about the board and concerned they could lose their full time job.

"They're not really losing their job; they're still going to get a retirement. They just may not get to spend 30 years in the AGR program in Alaska," Kostoff said. "The only people being looked at have 18 years or more, so they are already guaranteed 20 years and will get a retirement. Anything past that is gravy."

By holding the ASMB, the Alaska Army National Guard is implementing a plan to meet the National Guard Bureau (NGB) requirement to reduce those 40 positions over a span of several years, instead of reducing 40 people at once, according to Kostoff.

Lt. Col. John McShane, deputy chief of staff for personnel, G-1, explained that the board would position future leaders for the Alaska Army National Guard.

"This process may free up positions to open the way for junior Soldiers to move into in the future," McShane said. "If you are selected by the board, be proud of what you've done and allow others to continue your success and legacy."

Kostoff advises AGRs to approach the ASMB with a positive attitude and read the guidance provided by NGB and Alaska's AGR staff to understand the ASMB background and board process.

On Sept. 17, 2010, memorandums announcing the 2011 AGR Active Service Management Boards for officers and enlisted personnel were issued to all states and territories from Gen. Craig R. McKinley, chief, National Guard Bureau.

The Alaska National Guard then issued a memorandum dated Oct. 17, 2010 to officer and enlisted AGRs, serving as notification that the board will consider them this year through an ASMB. The AGR personnel identified for consideration include those who have completed 18 or more years of active service as of Dec. 31, 2010.

Once the consideration roster was built, Kostoff eliminated those AGRs exempt from this year's board according to the following criteria set by NGB:

- Already have an approved retirement request
- Are currently on their initial 3-year AGR tour
- Will reach age 60 within 18 months after the date the board is scheduled to convene
- Completed less than 12 months of Active Duty Service Obligation incurred due to school completion as of the convene date of the board
- Are a nominative Command Sergeant Major serving in the AGR program
- Were conditionally promoted to Sergeant Major
- Currently serve as a command chief warrant officer
- Were considered on a selection board 12 months prior

The Oct. 17, 2010 Alaska National Guard memorandum also served notification to each AGR to initiate a thorough review of their individual records. A Lifecycle Management Board Checklist was enclosed with the notification, providing guidance for reviewing and updating records.

AGRs were instructed to compile the items on the checklist and email those documents to AGR Section Noncommissioned Officer-In-Charge Master Sgt. Jody Heffele at jody.heffele@us.army.mil. All documents were required to be submitted by the last day of February. Heffele will now assemble the packets and each person will meet with him to verify their contents.

Kostoff advises that Soldiers pay close attention to the standards for the ASMB. They are described in detail in the NGB Memorandum of Instruction.

"The board is looking at an overall picture of each person's career," Kostoff said. "It's based on Gen. McKinley's Memorandum of Instruction that outlines very specific criteria he wants the board to look at; fitness, ability to deploy, assignments, diversity -- all of the things that he envisions as a well-rounded AGR person."

Kostoff emphasizes that each Soldier is responsible for building his or her individual packet, and should contact their unit administrative representative if they have questions or come across any problems.

"The Alaska Army National Guard needs to restructure personnel to meet our reduction in force requirements set by NGB," said Brig. Gen. Randy Banez, assistant adjutant general, Alaska Army National Guard. "It is critical that we methodically approach this requirement and implement specific measures to ensure the constitution of a fair and non-biased process."

An officer and an enlisted board are scheduled to convene separately, but simultaneously, from April 5-7.

In an effort to reduce even a perception of favoritism, Maj. Gen. Thomas Katkus, adjutant general, Alaska National Guard requested that voluntary National Guard leaders from across the country serve as board members.

Katkus stated emphatically that "every affected member deserves the opportunity to have their future with the Alaska National Guard, considered through a fair and impartial review of their record with no external influence, bias, or perception."

The board members will meet in an undisclosed location and are prohibited from revealing that they are even serving on the board. In an effort to prevent them from having any preconceived intent while evaluating AGRs, they will not be informed of the reductions needed for the Alaska Army National Guard force structure.

An Order of Merit List will be built off of the board scores, and any reductions that need to be made will be taken from the bottom of the list.

Katkus is the final approving authority on only the enlisted board results. Once completed, the state has 15 days to send the results to NGB with his signature confirming the decisions. NGB has 15 days to approve or disapprove the results based on whether the board was conducted according to regulations.

For officers, the state has 15 days to send those results to NGB. NGB has 15 days to review, then submits to the chief, National Guard Bureau (CNGB). CNGB has 4-6 weeks to provide an approval or disapproval response to the Alaska National Guard.

Once the Alaska National Guard receives this final approval, AGRs must be notified of the results within seven days. First, a senior leader and HRO representative will personally notify anyone who is on the release roster. After that, those AGRs who will be retained are sent an email and hard copy notification.

Based on that timeline, Alaska National Guard enlisted AGRs are scheduled to be notified of results mid-May, and officers will likely be notified in mid to late June.

"Anyone who is not being retained will then have 30 days after receiving the results to decide what they want to do," Kostoff said. "They can choose to be a traditional M-day Soldier, apply for technician jobs, retire, or apply for AGR jobs in other states."

Kostoff also explained that the Soldier will have 9-12 months before any action happens, allowing time to use up any leave and search for a job if needed.

She noted that preparing for this board doesn't happen overnight; AGRs should continuously strive for excellence and manage their career.

"There are very strict regulations we have to follow to wear the uniform full time. Manage your height and weight, manage your PT, manage your military and civilian education, and to some extent manage your assignments," said Kostoff. "Position yourself so that when a board like this comes up and you just happen to be one of those who may be reduced, you are the best and brightest of that group of people."

BOI

The Honorable Sean Parnell
Governor of Alaska
P.O Box 110001
Juneau, Alaska 95811-0001

Dear Governor Parnell,

I feel morally obligated to make you aware of the rapidly deteriorating climate occurring within the Alaska Air National Guard. More specifically, Brigadier General Deborah McManus has created an offensive work environment that is severely affecting unit morale and not conducive to the efficiency of the service. It appears that there may be some much-needed relief in sight with the announcement today that General McManus will be leaving her post as Assistant Adjutant General-Air, Alaska. I strongly feel that this action is a very positive first step in reversing the declining morale and the caustic environment that she created within the Alaska Air National Guard. However, it appears that she will continue as the Director of the Joint Staff. Based on her behavior, poor leadership, limited operational experience and damage that she has already inflicted on the organization, I think that she is ill-suited for this position.

I am writing as a BOI-year citizen of Alaska and lifetime member of the Alaska National Guard Officer's Association. I joined the Alaska Air National Guard in BOI to train as a BOI Since then, I have progressed through the ranks and am the only member of the Alaska Air National Guard to BOI With

This is an extraordinary measure for me to write to you personally, but I feel it is a very urgent necessity and in the best long-term interests of the Alaska Air National Guard. Up to this point, I have dedicated my life to the Alaska Air National Guard and have a very deep regard for the organization and its members. I am sharing some insight and perspective that many others in the organization will not share because they fear intimidation, retaliation, and/or possible job loss.

Below are some representative examples of Brigadier General McManus's leadership style and treatment of subordinates:

1) General McManus has unduly "delayed" promotions of officers who have met and been found fully qualified for promotion by a Federal Recognition Examination Board. The governing regulation states that "if subsequent information is made available to TAG (The Adjutant General) or CNGB (Chief, National Guard Bureau), that cause either to believe an officer is mentally, physically, morally, or professionally unqualified to perform the duties of the next higher grade, action must be initiated to delay or remove the officer's name from the recommended list IAW AFI 36-2504, Chapter 7". In the case of BOI/FPA/PR BOI/FPA/PR she was selected for promotion to Lieutenant Colonel by a Federal Recognition Examination Board, but her promotion was "delayed" by General McManus for approximately one year without following the process detailed in AFI 36-2504. The reason given for the promotion delay of BOI/FPA/PR was that the staffing in her squadron was under desired strength. She had just assumed command of the squadron and been in command approximately three weeks when notified of the "delay" in her promotion—she inherited the staffing problem. She was not given a promotion ceremony and was instructed to wear Major's rank. In addition, she was made to sign all documentation with Major's rank, which was illegal and invalidated any signed documents. An Inspector General complaint was filed with the Secretary of Air Force for abuse of power. From what I been told and believe to be correct, the complaint was substantiated, yet no follow-on action or rebuke has occurred. Most recently, BOI/FPA/PR s promotion to Lieutenant Colonel was delayed by General McManus's subjective view that she BOI/FPA/PR was also found to be fully qualified for promotion by a Federal Recognition Examination Board and currently meets every published requirement now. BOI BOI , which did not send forward a recommendation of General McManus for Adjutant General to your office. I believe another complaint against General McManus has been filed with the Secretary of Air Force Inspector General for abuse of power, along with reprisal. There are other examples of delays or denials in promotions, but I will not belabor the point.

2) Colonel Robert Doehl serves as the President of the Alaska National Guard Officer's Association. At the request of your office, the Association sent forward names of potential Adjutant General candidates. When General McManus learned that her name was not on the recommendation list, she became upset and stated that she had lost faith in the Association. She proceeded to have her membership changed to the Maryland chapter of the National Guard Officer's Association. Subsequently, I believe she coerced Brigadier Charles Foster, the 176th Wing Commander and her subordinate, to selectively non-retain Colonel Doehl. Colonel Doehl is an extremely intelligent and ethical senior leader who has been instrumental in negotiating the move of Kulis to Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson.

3) As for myself, I was instructed to call General McManus on the 25 of February 2011 at 2 o'clock. I thought the topic of discussion would be her giving me guidance regarding Senator Lisa Murkowski's scheduled visit the next day. (Senator Murkowski requested to visit with the members of the C-17 squadrons to check on their welfare in the aftermath of the Sitka 43 tragedy). Instead, the conversation centered on my pending departure to BOI and the Sitka 43 mishap. During the course of the conversation, I discussed the results of the Sitka 43 Accident Investigation Board (AIB) with General McManus. I explained that the board contributed the mishap to pilot error. The mishap pilot's excessive misplaced motivation to "put on a good show" led him to exceed the capabilities of the C-17 and fly the aircraft outside viable flight parameters. Furthermore, his failure to employ timely and proper stall recovery procedures resulted in the aircraft departing controlled flight. The mishap pilot actions were contrary to his training and his actions were not influenced or condoned by leadership. The mishap pilot had a stellar reputation and there were no known problems with his performance in the C-17. In fact, he had just received a rare "exceptionally qualified" rating on a flight evaluation administered by the Pacific Air Forces Standardization/Evaluation Pilot the previous month.

General McManus had previously inquired on whether I was aware of any leadership changes in the 3rd Wing (Active Duty counterpart) because of the Sitka 43 mishap. I told her that to the best of my knowledge that no leadership changes were planned as a result of Sitka 43. General McManus mistakenly thought I was leaving the Alaska Air National Guard because I was "taking responsibility" for the mishap. I stated to General McManus that I had a "clear conscience" in regards to the mishap, but would serve as a "scapegoat" if necessary to avoid any residual fallout to any others. She then stated that General Foster, Colonel Lincoln and myself were not "taking responsibility" for the Sitka 43 mishap. I did not know how to respond to her assertion, other then I would "never forgive her" if she took any adverse action against anyone else other than myself. She could not provide any clarity to me on what "taking responsibility" meant. She then stated, "I could be replaced" to "I needed a break from flying and was working too hard" to "maybe I should come work for her at the headquarters".

To me, General McManus seems insistent on hijacking the sorrow of the Sitka 43 tragedy to advance an agenda. The Air Force convened an Accident Investigation Board and the results were released in November of 2010. The purpose of the Accident Investigation Board is to provide a report for public release that includes an opinion on what caused the mishap using a "clear and convincing evidence" standard. The board did not identify any error or omission on behalf of the Alaska Air National Guard chain of command. However, she seems fixated on assigning "cause" herself, and thereby usurping the findings of the Accident Investigation Board. In doing so, she is ignoring the findings of an external independent board composed of aviation subject matter experts following a deliberate investigative and legal process. She is also ignoring the decades of aviation experience and specialized training of the board. She is also ignoring the weeks of sworn testimony that the board heard. She is also ignoring the hundreds of pages of documents and evidence that the board reviewed. In short, her attempt to assign "cause" herself has no basis and is contrary to the overwhelming evidence as thoughtfully analyzed by an eminently qualified board.

In my mind, I am convinced that she is using the Sitka 43 tragedy as a pretense to wrongfully replace General Foster and marginalize BOI Colonel Carlisle Lincoln, 176th Operations Group Commander. If allowed to do so, it would have a chilling effect on the organization and would be a significant setback to the Sitka 43 healing process. The mishap has been a regrettable and very painful event for all involved. We have worked hard to get everyone "back in the saddle" and avoid any fracturing among the pilots/loadmasters, Active Duty/Air National Guard, and families. Everyone seems ready to move on except General McManus.

The deteriorating climate that she created is characterized by fear and unnecessary stress, which is taxing on many and has become completely intolerable for some. The ones most affected are those that serve in key leadership positions (e.g. Colonels, Lieutenant Colonels, and Chief Master Sergeants) and have tried to shield their subordinates from her unreasonableness. I cannot even begin to comprehend how some have endured, especially the group commanders at both wings. After observing General McManus's treatment of the group commanders, many in my peer group are opting not to complete Air War College, which makes them ineligible for promotion to Colonel and follow-on leadership assignments. As a result, the Alaska Air National Guard has begun to lose some of its most talented and outstanding leaders, which are needed more than ever as the Alaska Air National Guard makes some critical transitions. Some are retiring early and have even submitted waivers to retire without full time-in-grade, while others are leaving to pursue opportunities elsewhere. For your reference, some are walking away from jobs that pay over $150,000 per year. I can assure you that there are many others quietly "waiting in the wings" to leave once other outside opportunities become available.

There are others who are disliked by General McManus and/or are in the way of her "personnel agenda"; consequently, they stand to have or have had their careers cut short by the selective retention process under the guise of "force management". General McManus espouses, "force management" and has stated that Colonels and Chief Master Sergeants should expect retirement after three years time-in-grade. However, she does not apply this same standard to herself—she has been a Brigadier General for approximately four years. She has a history of making personnel decisions primarily based on personality and surrounding herself with sycophants, much to the expense and health of the organization.

A recent example of a personnel decision she made was to select Colonel Timothy O'Brien as the Wing Commander of the 168th Air Refueling Wing (KC-135 unit at Eielson AFB). Colonel O'Brien is a very capable and intelligent officer, but he lacks the appropriate background. He is a rotary-wing only aviator and cannot fly the unit's assigned aircraft; therefore, his selection required a national-level waiver for his assignment because he lacks the proper operational experience to ensure that the mission is done efficiently and safely. Moreover, General McManus selected Colonel Wendy Wenke as the Vice Commander of the 168th Air Refueling Wing. Again, Colonel Wenke is a fine and hard-working officer, but she is rated as a navigator and there is no longer a navigator position on the KC-135R aircraft. As a result, the two top positions with the 168th Air Refueling Wing will be occupied by officers who will not be mission qualified in the unit's aircraft, which is contrary to Air Force culture and practice. Others who were current and qualified in the KC-135R with decades of experience in the mission, and long-time residents of the Fairbanks area, were bypassed for these personality-driven selections.

Everyone was perplexed when General McManus was appointed as the Assistant Adjutant General-Air, Alaska, given her non-existent operations experience. In fact, it is highly unusual in the Air Force to appoint a non-rated officer to command a predominately flying organization. The preponderance of her military experience has been in the human resources and personnel fields, which woefully prepared her for the duties of the position and gave her questionable creditability. Her creditability regarding operational matters has been severely damaged, especially when she has tried to assert herself. For example, she made an impulsive statement that the Alaska Air National Guard had a "cultural problem" immediately following the Sitka 43 Safety Investigation Board outbrief to General North, Pacific Air Forces Commander. He rebuked her on the spot by stating that the Sitka 43 mishap was an isolated event and the Alaska Air National Guard had decades of incident-free flying and that he did not believe there was a "cultural problem". Her uninformed assertion displayed a profound lack of knowledge and support of her people and was akin to putting "a hole in her own ship". General McManus is not a rated pilot or navigator; and therefore, she has little comprehension or context when it comes to flying matters. She has never been called out in the middle of the night to prosecute a rescue mission in bad weather and treacherous terrain to try to save someone in distress. She has never had to fly close formation with a tanker on a stormy night over the Atlantic Ocean to off-load 100,000 pounds of fuel to ensure that you make it to your destination. She has never had to airdrop ammunition to troops in enemy contact while being shot at in Afghanistan.

Under her command, it seemed like personnel metrics, force management plans, and strength management plans have became more important than safely performing the core Alaska Air National Guard missions of tactical airlift, rescue, air refueling, strategic airlift and air defense. Furthermore, she fails to recognize our "hometown" members by putting more value on individual credentialing (e.g. in-resident Professional Military Education, statutory tours, etc) over proven leadership and mission performance. Mission wise, the Alaska Air National Guard is very well positioned for the future, but we will need informed leadership that is committed to performing our mission sets to the very best of our abilities for continued success. Individual credentials will not equate to future organizational success—proven leadership will.

General McManus is not the best choice for the Director of the Joint Staff for many of the aforementioned reasons. She has enjoyed a military career that many others envy, especially with her promotion to a flag officer. In my mind, it would be in the best interests of the organization if she made a "clean break". She has done too much damage and lost the respect of so many that her effectiveness and influence as a leader is questionable, if not nil.

In my opinion, the Alaska Air National Guard has some super talented senior officers and true leaders who have the intellectual capacity, command presence, rapport and support of the troops, and political savvy to get us out of our current predicament and ensure our future success. They include:

Brigadier Charles Foster
Colonel Robert Doehl
Colonel Carlise Lincoln

They should not be overlooked. The Alaska Air National Guard is "big business" and provides approximately 2000 or so direct jobs in Alaska. We need our very best leaders managing this most valuable Alaskan enterprise.

The Alaska Air National Guard has been my life's work for the past BOI years and has provided me with the most phenomenal opportunities and experiences. I would like those same opportunities and experiences to be available for the next generation of Alaskans. Thank you for your time and careful consideration of my concerns.

3/14/2011	15020		B&C/Appointment/Reappointment	Selina Kokotovich	Email	The Sitka Charterboat Operators Association respectfully requests the reappointment of Bill Brown to the Alaska Board of Fisheries. We are impressed by Mr. Brown's attitude and dedication as a member of the BOF over the last three years. We respect his views knowing they are well thought out and researched. Moreover, in dealing with tough issues Mr Brown has shown that his decisions are always with the future of our State's fishery resource in mind. We look forward to working with Mr. Brown in the future, and encourage you to reappoint him for another term.Thank you for your consideration!
3/14/2011	15021		B&C/Appointment/Reappointment	Selina Kokotovich	Email	Andy and I are very much in support of the reappointment of Bill Brown to the Alaska State Board of Fisheries. He seems to be very fair and diplomatic in his decision making. We were most impressed with his knowledge in general but, especially in mathematics and statistics, which seems to have been missing in the Board of fish process. Bill Brown is one of the most dedicated members of the Alaska Board of Fisheries that we have seen in years. Thank you for your time and consideration.

3/14/2011	15026		Law/Miscellaneous	Randy Ruaro	Email	We need to dump daylight savings time. It has been shown to be disruptive to industries like transportation and also a cause of increased incidences of health problems like heart attacks. In Alaska the result of changing the ime on ones clock is less than two weeks. This is an archaic practice that dates to a time where a specific latitude was dominant and a rural economy. We live in an international economy now witch lives on a "Zulu' clock. Standard longitudinaly based time zones are more appropriate for today's world.
3/14/2011	15027	BOI	Legislative Office/Legislation	Legislative Office	Email	I have always stated (because I firmly believe it)that Alaska should recieve compensation equal to that of the mideastern (Arabs,Emerites,even Libya) oil producing countries. Not believing every thing I see or hear,(media wise) I have watched the big 3 oil companies feed the Alaskan public every thing from outrageous lies to small spins on issues while appearing to come before us with hat in hand since 1959.Now I see you idling down your commitment to hold their proverbial feet to the fire in HB 110..Explain this if you can. Although far from perfect, it is a start. Repeal is likely not going to, and should not happen. For-profit health care will always leave millions without access to affordable group coverage (like you yourself have through the State plan). I am not a leach or a deadbeat, nor do I expect someone else to pay for my insurance. I do expect access to affrodable, fair and group health insurance.

There have been no DOT trucks on the road. There are deep ice patches that can catch you and there is no controlling the car. If they were sanded, there wouldn't be so many cars all over the road, and would help with the thawing. Our area DOT guys have done a great job all winter, so I don't know why there hasn't been some sort of maintenance now. It is dangerous to drive from here to town. Can you help us get some sanding? Build it and they will come! the district claims. The state says no, but a powerful U.S. Senator funnels construction funds to the project through a federal government agency. The school is built and fully staffed from administrators to teachers to custodians. Unfortunately, only a few students ever show up and then, only occasionally. So the district, using state and federal handouts, decides to add a gym and a pool and more lockers to attract students. They still show up infrequently; sometimes the school is empty for over a year. The feds pay the cost for a few years, but finally pull out. The district appeals to the state for money to keep the school open just in case some students decide to show up. Should a legislator support funding for this school? The State of Alaska would not loan money to build the Kodiak Launch Complex in the mid-1990s because AAC could not produce confirmed launch business. Senator Ted Stevens, however, directed construction money through the Department of Defense to build it. AAC expanded KLC infrastructure with state and federal handouts based on a business plan of Build it and they will come. The Missile Defense Agency propped it up for a few years while Senator Stevens was in office, then finally abandoned use of the facility.

Good Afternoon,
I wanted to thank you for your leadership over the Air National Guard. I have been visiting throughout the Guard and would love the opportunity to give you a 3-5 minute overview. I had a great visit with Col Lincoln. I told him I am here for his success and will give him all the honest feedback I hear without breaking confidentiality. He is very open to this. As I have stated in the past, Col Lincoln has full support within the ANG leadership and respect among the Guard members. I believe he can really get us back on track with your support, and I can share more on this. As stated by Lt Col B12, Col Lincoln is one of a couple men who can take charge and remove the need for your constant watch of the Alaska Guard.

If I can be of further help giving you the pulse of the organization, please let me know.

May God continue to guide, bless, and strengthen you!

Governor Parnell,

Last week while in prayer the Spirit tugged me to include you, as our Commander in Chief, to receive my weekly devotional to the Alaska National Guard (your email addresses will be on the Bcc line for privacy and security). I ran this idea past Chaplain Matt Friese who encouraged me to give this a try.

I send the devotions out on Thursday mornings and title them Thursday Thoughts. They are short and speak to a theme. Tomorrow I start a series on the seven Army Values.

If you wish not to receive these, I understand and take no offense as I know you are busy and always have lots on your plate. I started these devotions last fall and I have been rewarded and humbled by the constant flow of positive feedback from our Service Members who, by the grace of God alone, seem to receive some good from them.

Please know that all of us who serve as your chaplains both in the Army and Air sides of the house have been stellar in speaking prophetically to our commands about remaining morally and ethically responsible during these challenging times. Since December I have not flinched to speak with a Spirit filled heart to TAG about the important issues we confront. Nevertheless I am continually astounded at the challenges we face and realize to some degree that the spiritual battle before us may be the greatest I have ever faced in all my 25 years of ordained ministry to include my two combat tours. Other chaplains whom I am so very blessed to work with have shared similar feelings.

God bless you, sir, with your daily mountain of challenges; you remain in my constant prayers. I continue, humbly, first a servant of God and your State Chaplain.

CAT MEMBERS:

I will be transitioning to the Director of Joint Staff (JFHQ-AK) on 1 Apr 11 and will also serve as the Deputy TAG. It is a great opportunity to serve the entire Alaska National Guard, both the Air and Army. I have thoroughly enjoyed my tour as your AKANG Commander/ATAG and will continue serving with you. I want to personally thank each of you for serving on my Commander's Advisory Team. You were an important communication conduit as we tackled many initiatives important to the AKANG's advancement. Col Carlisle Lincoln, 176WG, has been nominated as my replacement. He will be the most qualified ATAG in our history having served at both wings and having flown the KC-135, HH-60, and C-17. He's a great leader, commander, and person.

So, at this time, we'll disband the CAT. It's been an honor and pleasure.

4/5/2011	15861		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I am very concerned about your proposed oil tax cut. There has been much news coverage that makes it clear that the oil complanies do not have to promise anything to get the $2 billion tax cut. This proposal makes it look like you are in bed with the oil companies, whether you are or not, only you can answer that question. I am in favor of tax change that would give tax cuts on money spent by oil companies for exploration.
4/5/2011	15862		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I respectfully disagree with your proposed tax change, capping the surcharge. This is a give away to big corporations. I'd rather see incentives granted when new oil enters the pipeline.
4/5/2011	15863	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW Dear Gov. Parnell, I do not support your oil industry tax cut plan because you have not provided evidence that supports your view that the cut will benefit the state of Alaska. I have seen too many statistics that say that the ACES formula you s upported in the past has not hurt theoil industry in Alaska and has clearly benefitted the people of Alaska. Get some facts and quite trying to scare everyone into doing the oil companies bidding for more and more and more and more money. The resource belongs to me and other Alaskans.
4/5/2011	15864		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I am not in favor of your plan to cut oil production taxes as a way to spur new development. The oil companies are posting record profits and the state of Alaska does not need to further subsidize them. Your pro oil agenda is not in the best interests of all Alaskans.
4/5/2011	15865		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW As a taxpaying resident of Alaska I fully support your oil industry tax cut plan, and see it as a benefit to all Alaskans, in the amount of support the oil industry and its employees give to this state both directly and indirectly. Thank you for your time and efforts, and recognizing the need to keep this industry in Alaska.

4/5/2011	15866		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I am with you in that we need to develop new oil to keep the pipline open. However, I ardently believe it is a mistake to change the current tax program without a minimum of a significant pledge by the industry to dedicate the tax savings specifically to drilling exploratory wells. I am astounded that you could be convinced that it was a good thing at the time it was passed (weren't projections reviewed at that time?) and now you have been lobbied into believing its a bad thing. Here are my key reservations:
4/5/2011	15867		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I am writing to your to express my opposition to your proposed plan to lower taxes for the oil industry. I have already emailed my senator and representative, but had not considered emailing you until I read that the emails for and against HB 110 were being counted.
4/5/2011	15868	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW Dear Governor, I would like to let you know, and go on record, as being opposed to your plan to reduce the taxes on the oil companies that are earned under the ACES tax plan. The oil companies do not need more money, just look at the price of oil and fuel, if they are going to further invest in Alaska they will do so under the current plan. Your plan offers nothing that would increase oil production or jobs in the oil industry, it just improves the bottom line of the oil companies.
4/5/2011	15869		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I'm writing to express my support of the Gov's oil tax plan. I agree with his reasoning in every respect. Furthermore I would ask that the Gov not give the Senate a break and call an extra session to debate this topic in an open environment.
4/5/2011	15870		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I oppose any reduction of our current ACES oil tax structure. There is absolutely no guarantee that reducing oil taxes would prompt oil companies to additionally invest more into new exploration wells or expansion of the industry overall. I would suggest that we keep the current tax structure in place and research the building and financing our own gas pipeline from within our own state budget savings.

4/5/2011	15871		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I can't believe you would even consider giving a tax break to the oil companies you are certtainly not for the people of Alaska. The oil companies run things and certainly have you in their pocket. They say there is no guarantee they would do things different if they got a tax break. If they want the oil they will stay in Alaska.
4/5/2011	15873	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW It's pretty amazing to me that the State Administration has decided that somehow our tax structure is what's causing the lack of new drilling on the North Slope and in the adjacent sea. 4/5/2011	15875		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	Here is a much better tax change to encourage development: Give tax credit for 100% of money invested in exploration and development of increased production, but only on the actual production made possible by the investments. For example, all the costs of exploring and developing a new field would be recovered quickly, once it goes into production, as the leaseholder would pay no taxes, only royalties, until their investment was fully recovered. An investment to increase production would be recovered from that new production. Existing taxes would remain unchanged by this program. This could fill the pipeline without draining our coffers. During times of high prices, the investments would be recovered more quickly, because the tax credits would apply to the surcharges also. The leaseholders would get stability by avoiding another radical change in the tax structure. Even if this legislature slashes the rates, it would set the precedent for the next one to greatly increase them.

4/5/2011	15876	BOI	Oil/Gas Development Pro	Rachel Bylsma	Email	As you can tell by the title below I do work for an oilfield service company. It is one that is struggling to survive now due to inactivity on the Slope which surely will even more inactive if the State doesn't do what it can to make itself competitive again. It is true that Alaska is an "Owner State". However, if we are not willing or able to go into the oil and gas exploration and production business as a State (which I think would be a very bad idea) we are no different than North Dakota (By the way, I will be out of the office the week of 4/18 and in Williston, North Dakota looking for business. I wish I didn't feel like this was necessary.), Texas, Canada or anywhere else…it has to make sense to do business here as opposed to elsewhere. As a 36 year Alaska resident (arrived in '75) I applaud your efforts and certainly wish you well. Please do not allow those who are short-sighted to do the equivalent of killing the proverbial goose.
4/5/2011	15877		Public Health	Robert Pearson	Email	At this time, the state of Alaska sends a reminder card to new parents encouraging them not to forget to vaccinate their newborn. This is a controversial and contentious issue, but I am writing to alert you that early childhood vaccinations, such as have become routine among health-care givers, need more study and probably alternatives. It seems likely that the body of an infant cannot always tolerate the influx of poisons (to them) into their tiny systems, and we have all heard of cases of babies undergoing seizure or even multiple seizures following a vaccination, followed by further complications, such as autism.
4/5/2011	15878		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW If my memory serves me right, last year you supported tax credits for the oil and gas industry. 4/5/2011	15882		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I oppose HB 110. Deepwater drilling opportunities have changed oil exploration economics in much the same way that shale oil technology has changed the economics of largescale capital investment in natural gas. The payoffs in nonsovereign deepwater drilling far outweight changes that our state may effect in marginal production tax rates. As with natural gas -time will tell-they will be back. It's not about taxes in our little far out of the market corner of the world, it's about supply, demand, market logistics and investor sentiment. To linch pin this to marginal taxes would be a costly mistake. thank you lou

4/5/2011	15935	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW Governor Parnell, Here is a simple alternative to your oil tax proposal. •Use the $2 billion to fund an Alaska drilling investment fund •Alaska would invest upto 49% percent of well cost ($12.5 million cap) with oil companies to drill exploration or development wells in Alaska (include onshore, offshore, state, federal and private property) •If successful Alaska would receive proportionate investment share - companies would recieve a 50% reduction in taxes on their proportionate share •Companies would have first right of refusal to purchase Alaska's share •Alaska would get investment in at least 160 new wells - potentially more •This activity would create a minimum of 8000 new jobs (200 jobs per rig for three months * 160 wells) •If each well averages 625 barrels of new production/day then overall production would increase by 100,000 barrels/day. The combination of taxes and income from Alaska's share should prove to be a profitable investment for the State I believe that the current tax reduction plan would not achieve anywhere near that level of economic activity. I also believe that the State of Alaska must do something to increase production.

4/5/2011	15940	BOI	CED/Miscellaneous	Micaela Fowler	Email	: Dear most respected GOVERNOR PARNELL: I am from INDIA, and studying the oil and gas prospects in ALASKA, I am much impressed about the huge potential that the state holds in this vital resource. I fully support the opening up of more hitherto prohibited areas for oil exploration as USA seeks to reduce its dependent on imported oil. I wish you all the best in your endeavors to promote the growth of oil and gas exploration industry in ALASKA which is an important component of the state's economic growth.
4/5/2011	15941		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I'm writing to urge you to leave the current ACES tax structure as it is. I understand that we must make our state competitive, but I believe that we are more competitive than other locations. Foreign oil is risky as the political situations in these countries continues to deteriorate. Demand is increasing and oil companies are in need of physically safe places to explore. Changing the tax situation contributes to the instability. Oil companies continue to invest here. Leave the taxes as is!

4/6/2011	15944		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC:LO & FW I am strongly against tax cuts for the oil producers with nothing in return. To me it appears to be a slick PR and lobbying campaign--spending millions on that PR effort to save billions! It is Alaska's oil and we should get a fair price (tax). I would much rather see investment in infrastructure with a long-term solution such as the Susita Hydro--which would provide jobs and long lasting benefits, or investment in weatherizing and improving the energy efficiency of homes and public building--which would be a great jobs effort. As a minimum, we need to get something in return for lowering our price for our Alaskan oil!
4/6/2011	15945	BOI	Tourism	Micaela Fowler	Email	Governor: I am trying to stay abrest of the issues surrounding HB 160 as it winds its way through the House but must admit it has become so convoulted, of late, that it is pretty hard to track or understand. I want you to know that I as a long time member of the visitor industry (30 years) am in full support of your efforts to secure marketing dollars to fund our program through the contract between the state and ATIA. ideally, we should have at least $20 million dollars to do the work that is needed to fully reach our target audiance but with $9 million from the car rental taxes and $7 million from the Capital Budget in concert with the $2.7 million that the industry can match we can do a respectable job.
4/6/2011	15946		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	Dear Governor Parnell, I oppose your initiative to reduce by $2B oil taxes in Alaska. My oppositio stems from the following: 1. There is nothing in the proposed change that provides an incentive to the Alaska oil industry to increase development or production and/o 2. To increase in-state hire in the oil industry 3. We do not have an adequate auditing system within the state to determine how past and present oil tax policy is affecting oil industry activities

4/6/2011	15951		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW Dear Governor Parnell, I am so disappointed that you are willing to give 2 billion dollars a year for 10 years in tax cuts to the oil companies. How can you sell short the economic security of our state? If you were to take the money you want to essentially give away and invested it in the Permanent Fund, Alaska could work toward creating a self-sustaining government. Instead, it looks like you're willing to give away Alaska's major revenue generator for nothing.
4/6/2011	15952		Railroad/AK Railroad Corp	Randy Ruaro	Email	I am asking you to consider supporting the idea of the Alaska State Legislature transferring the 30+ acres of land know as Ice Park, to the Fairbanks North Star Borough, from the Alaska Railroad. The Ice Park is one of the greatest seasonal attractions in Fairbanks and feel that it would be a real shame to loose the ice park. It truly is something that many of us look forward to during the winter and have taken our families to since the first year it was started.
4/6/2011	15953	BOI	PFD/Residency Requirement	Micaela Fowler	Email	I have a question about my Alaska state residency. Im diplomat with the Department of State stationed overseas. I am under currently under orders from the federal government to be in Baghdad to serve my country. Since I have been out of the state more than 180 days, it appears I have had my Alaskan residency taken away. I have grown up in Anchorage and lived here for all my adult life. Both my children were born Providence. I still pay taxes on the only property I own, in Wasilla, where my wife and I plan to grow old. On my federal OF-126 I still claim Alaska my home(same form as the Peace Corp).
4/6/2011	15954		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I am deeply opposed to any reduction in oil tax reduction without guarantees of return monies to the State of Alaska. There are so many programs for children, for Medicaid, for villages that need funding that to give huge amounts of money to oil companies - who are making obscene profits these days - is not in the best interests of the state.

4/6/2011	15956		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I am writing this email to you because I am highly opposed to giving another tax break to the oil companies. The oil companies have been making record profits while the middle class Americans (and Alaskans) have been paying for it. ACES should be left alone and in place for further analysis. Now is not the time to be giving MORE huge tax giveaways to Big Oil.
4/6/2011	15957		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I am a retired Alaska oil industry worker and from my experience, the current and proposed oil tax schemes will have almost zero impact on decisions to increase/decrease investment in Alaska, so keep the current levels where Alaska gets a better share.
4/6/2011	15958	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW Per the new article the governor wanted comments, here are a few. Oil taxes should not be reduced. The unrest in the Middle East has greatly improved Alaska's position for oil production. Even without this unrest there is NO benefit to all Alaskan's from a reduced oil tax. A few companies MIGHT get additional work, a few Alaskans might get hired, but the cost of the tax loss is totally out of line with any possible benefit.

4/6/2011	15963		DOTPF/Miscellaneous	Randy Ruaro	Email	The State Department of Transportation is again buying new equipment to compete directly with the private sector. They have a bid request published for a new nodwell mounted CME-850 drill. This is at a time when the economy is way down, jobs are tough to find, there is uncertainty with the oil industry investment in the State, and the State buys more drills? The cost of this drill is over $300,000 not counting any new drill tools to perform the work. Will they then have to buy a tractor trailer to move the drill, hire a driller and helper, new truck driver, mechanic to maintain the drill, etc.? These costs just go on and on. This has to STOP. We cannot keep growing the State budget. We cannot afford this massive expense. Stop this now. This RFQ is to bid April 22, 2011. We must act immediately to put a stop to this DOT request.

With respect to the Budget, I would still recommend vetoing the gas line to Homer! But at the same time, were I you; upon vetoing th e Homer gas line, I would facilitate and expedite, in any way possible, the resale of gas and oil drilling leases for Kachemak Bay. The principal and explanation follow: Yes, I too, would very much like the option of natural gas. I would also like the option of LNG for my car so I could tell our local sole-source gas supplier, Petro Marine, to take a hike! Here are my reasons for encouraging the Homer gas line veto:

These slides summarize the impact of bison in the Delta area. AS 16.20.310 sub section (c) requires certain actions by the State relative to the “Big Delta agricultural development project”. The Legislature intended that agriculture and bison would be able to exist in close proximity if the Alaska Department of Fish and Game used the "tools" provided by AS 16.20.310. These "tools" have proven to provide little direction or control on where bison travel and the damage they do along the way. What AS 16.20.310 and AS 16.20.300 have done is move the damage to an area adjacent to the Delta Junction Bison Range (AS 16.20.300). Earlier historical areas frequented (prior to development of the Delta Junction Bison Range) were the Clearwater, Tanana Loop, Delta Town Site and the Fort Greely housing and air field areas.

Tax structure should be modified for marginal oil fields being explored and or produced in the future, but only on a quid pro quo basis only. After the oil companies have made their investments, produced the needed jobs for Alaska, and drilled new wells ,than tax incentives could be conveyed to them. I don't think words alone from the oil companies are enough to change the current tax structure. Development first tax incentives after.

4/12/2011	16141		H&SS/Miscellaneous	Robert Pearson	Email	Last March I did my best to persuade Stephanie Birch at DHSS to apply for Title V funding to teach abstinence education. We had a federal grant for this purpose but President Obama redlined the funding in his 2010 budget. Stephanie uterly refused to consider applying for this funding even when I assured her we could implement it. Yesterday I was informed by the Catholic Anchor newspaper that the DHSS has issued an RFP to teach high risk students how to have "safe sex." The curriculum Making Proud Choices insists that teaching proper condom use is a requirement for the grant. I would encourage you to see if there is a way that the positive message of abstinence is not left in the mud but giv en at least equal footing in our classrooms. CPC has taught abstinence in public schools statewide since 1990, but I sense a mild hostility for this approach from the folks at DHSS. Thank you for all you are doing for this great state. God bless.
4/12/2011	16142	BOI	Child Support/Office Complaint	Micaela Fowler	Email	As a single mother with 4 children, I would urge you to consider changing the State of Alaska's method of paying child support to custodial parents. I struggle to make ends meet, we do not live in HUD housing and do not wish to. There are other states that pay custodial parents and the non-custodial parent racks up the bill with the state. I know Alaska has a significant budget surplus and if you used it to help other mothers (some fathers) out there by giving us the money we need to provide for our children - being a single mother wouldn't be as cumbersome. With the amount I'm owed from Child Support Enforcement Services, I could put a down payment on a house and i n the long run - provide a better life for my children. Please consider using the budget surplus to helping others like myself. I know it's a little late this session, but please keep this in mind.

4/12/2011	16144	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW Dear Governor: Thank you first of all for being willing to serve in public office. Thanks also for standing up for respect for women and against domestic violence. However, I am writing to say that I disagree that ACES should be repealed in total. While some incentives could be crafted by the legislature that would encourage more oil and gas exploration and production, I do not believe repealing ACES would necessarily result in increased production. Repealing ACES in total, in my humble opinion, would result in a loss of revenue for our State that we may never be able to recoup. I'm for more domestic oil and gas production as I think it is necessary for our nation's security. Ultimately, the trend will be against fossil fuels, but for the immediate future there is no doubt we will need more domestic production of oil and gas. It's my hope that Republicans, Democrats, Independents and others will cooperate in a respectful manner to accomplish the greater good for all Alaskans and for future generations. Thank you for consideration of my views.
4/12/2011	16145		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW A tax break for the poor oil companies??? Can you possibly be serious? You just took a big hit in my book, Sir. The oil companies are making record profits on our backs and DO NOT need a tax break. Lets find someone other than BP, Exxon or ConocoPhillips to do oil exploration. Someone who is up and coming. I'll bet they are out there. If I were Gov., I would back way off this one...that is if I wanted to be re-elected!
4/12/2011	16147		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Good morning , I am writing you with concern over the East High football field. This is the oldest field in the school district and it shows. With the new policy of all the JV and C team games being played at the home schools field there has been an upturn of injuries to all players that come and compete on our field . Sprains, twisted joints and hyper extended knees are some the injuries that we have seen in the past couple of seasons . I feel upgrading our field to turf would help greatly reduce these types of injuries .

4/12/2011	16152		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I just finished listening to Senator Gary Steven's talk before the Alaska State Senate. I completely agree with Senator Stevens, and he concisely stated many of my objections to the rush to pass your tax reform proposal. Throughout this debate, I've heard nothing but hearsay and anecdotal evidence to support the notion that massive tax cuts to the oil industry will create Alaskan jobs. The facts do not support the doom and gloom picture many are trying to paint for this State.

I think this should be required listening for adults working with teens, about the role pornography plays in shaping violent expectations for intimacy and the need for women to be ever vigilant. I am a physical therapist and work with people every day who have mountains of stress related to health care bills. Regardless of injury/diagnosis/procedure, I never go too far in a patient's care before I often hear two main streams of thought…..either: 1. "Thank God I have good health insurance." Or 2. "Well…I don't have that good of health insurance." And the care I am able to provide for them will be heavily affected by either case.

My name is Corey Kotek. My wife and I moved to Alaska and into the Field of View Subdivision in December of 2006. When we moved into the subdivision, we were the 10th house built and occupied. At that time our water bi ll was $27 a month, currently we are paying $112 a month. Along with the increase of water bills over the years, we received a significant decrease in water quality, very silt filled water. Due to the silt we have installed water filters on our house, and still this has not helped. We currently are buying bottled water for cooking and drinking, yet still paying the $112 a month for water that is not even drinkable.

Action needs to take place soon because hunting will be closed soon and the population of the caribou is on the decline. It has dropped from 1,200 in 2002 to 300 in 2010. I have a great concern over this issue and I believe the down fall in the caribou poplulation is due to the predator population.

Importance: High

Good Afternoon,

I am compelled to follow up on an earlier phone call and email. First, thank you for placing Col Lincoln in the position as ATAG for the Air National Guard. He is a proven leader and if given the chance can lead the ANG to new heights. He has the support across the ANG. Second, you told me to tell commanders to give Col Lincoln a chance to lead. I have. I also indicated commanders had no problem with him leading, but all believed the current climate would not allow him to lead. Here is the most recent example. He has put forth one of the most qualified individuals in the State of Alaska to serve in the OG commander position. He has been told in no uncertain terms that this is individual is not an option. If you consider all the prior information, this decision is not for professional reasons but personal. The Exception to Policy (ETP) that was given to Col Tim O'Brien to command the 168th ARW at Eielson is not option for Col Doehl. Please look at the bio qualification information for yourself. I am NOT on a campaign for Col Doehl. I am desiring to provide you with unbiased information. I can say, Col Doehl is one of the most experienced, proven, respected, and loved commanders in the ANG. As I said before and will say again, I love the ANG and desire to serve for years to come. I am still concerned about the climate, how that affects many current leaders, future leaders, and all of the Airmen. I have withheld sending many documents in order to let the process work. I have included the content of an email that was sent to me and asked to be forwarded.

Please prayerfully consider this information. Your support for Col Lincoln is so vital to his success in leading the ANG.

Serving for the glory of my God,
Chaplain Matt Friese

The following was sent on 22 Mar 11

Matt,

I know you've been dealing with some of the "leadership challenges" at the guard, from counseling to being a sounding board for people to vent on! I appreciate all you have done to try to help the people in the guard with some of the unprofessional things that have been going on. I also know you have helped Col Doehl specifically with some of the things he has endured from your Chaplain perspective / position.

As you know I work directly under Col Doehl as his deputy and know him quite well, from a professional perspective, not a personal perspective. We've worked together for probably a total of six years or so, both in maintenance and in mission support. He is, without a doubt, the most intelligent, fair, articulate man I have ever worked for.

Again, as you probably know, his resume is impeccable:

- He has enlisted time as well as commissioned time;
- Army time as well as Air time as well as joint time;
- State time as well as federal time;
- Worked on the operations / maintenance side of the house as well as the mission support side;
- Full time as well as Drill Status Guardsman time.

He has been a member of the guard in two states, been deployed to Afghanistan, a helicopter pilot, maintenance officer, support group commander, BRAC integration officer, worked for the Department of Justice as well as the District Attorney's Office here in Alaska…basically his resume is about as perfect as it can get! And this is just what I can recall off the top of my old gray head!

This weekend I learned he is basically being canned, moved from the MSG CC position to a "made up position" in the Program Integration Office presumably until 1 October. I believe, though no one has specifically said this, that he is being moved in retaliation for the things he has tried to get done / change that go against some of the senior leaders (BG McMannus specifically). It is a shame to lose such a brilliant man for petty political reasons.

I know he can fall back on his law degree, professionally, but it is just not right what is being done to him. He'll do fine job-wise but I hate to lose him from the guard. In my opinion, he is the guy who should be leading the whole team, i.e. TAG! He is NOT the one who should be forced out…

I share these things with you 1) to make sure you know what is going on with him specifically since I know you have counseled with him in the past and 2) so you can know what is happening from the Chaplain perspective. I'm sure, as the word gets around, that this will have more of a negative effect morale wise on the people affected.

I have great respect for Col Doehl and hate to see him treated unfairly (my opinion) after giving so much of his life to our country and state. If you need clarification or want to talk about any of this, feel free to give me a call (269-3841 is my direct line). Thanks in advance for trying to help him out as he goes through this latest "attack."

COLONEL ROBERT A. K DOEHL

COLONEL ROBERT "Bob" A. K. DOEHL is commander of the 176th Mission Support Group of the Alaska Air National Guard's 176th Wing, located at Kulis Air National Guard Base in Anchorage, Alaska. He oversees subordinate units that provide force protection, civil engineering, logistics, base communications, morale, welfare, recreation services, personnel services, information management, contracting, aerial port, and medical services, to support day-to-day Wing requirements, as well as contingency missions. Group functions sustain four flying squadrons, six distinct and separate weapons systems, and 25 individual units with a total of 19 assigned aircraft and more than 1500 personnel. He is also the Deputy Director (J-4) for the Alaska National Guard and the Information Technology (A-6) Representative to the Air National Guard Mission Support Group Advisory Council.

Colonel Doehl joined the Wisconsin Army National Guard as a medic in 1980. He was commissioned from Officer Candidate School in 1982 and then completed the armor and military intelligence officer courses and served as a tactical intelligence officer and a scout platoon leader. He transferred to the Army Reserve at NAS Glenview, IL, in 1986 where he served as a supply officer before going to flight school in 1987-88. From 1988 through 1993, Colonel Doehl commanded a 23-helicopter (UH-1H) air assault company and an 18-aircraft (OH-58A, UH-1H, U-21) theater aviation company. During this period, he did an in-unit upgrade to become qualified to fly the OH-58A helicopter and attended the transition course to become qualified in the U-21 airplane. In 1993-98, he served with a CH-47D battalion at Ft. Meade, MD, and Ft. Eustis, VA, as an assistant battalion intelligence officer, headquarters company commander (overseeing mission support elements for the entire battalion), battalion operations officer, and commander of a 16-helicopter company. He joined the Alaska Air National Guard in 1999, where he served as a quality assurance officer in the 176th Logistics Group. From 2000 until 2005, Colonel Doehl commanded the 176th Aircraft Maintenance Squadron. In 2005, he transferred to the Headquarters Alaska Air National Guard where he served as the J3, Director of Current Operations, for the Alaska National Guard. In 2006, he was named as the J5, Director for Future Plans and Strategy, for the Alaska National Guard. From 2006 through 2007, he served as Director of the 11th Air Force Joint Installation Office. He is a senior pilot with over 1,100 hours. Colonel Doehl is also an attorney.

4/19/2011	16300		National Parks	Randy Ruaro	Email	CC: RB I find my messages to your office oft ignored, sadly. However, if you are the governor of the Forty-ninth State, instead of the world's largest Federally operated National Park, will you and the State Attorney General authorize the State Police to detain, arrest, restrain, and deport the US National Park Service and US Environmental Protection Agency personnel that are operation illegally again the Alaska State citizenry? Please tell me what you are doing to put a stop to this abuse of power by outside Federal agencies that do not have Alaska State Constitutional authority to operate again Alaskans as they are presently doing. We need action immediately before larger problems get out of h and. Thank you for your time upon my correspondence. Please, I patiently await your timely response.
4/19/2011	16301	BOI	Gambling/Support	John Katz	Email	As a constituent, voter, and proud poker player, I am writing to ask for your support regarding specific actions our great state will be required to take if legislation in the U.S. Congress becomes law. Specifically, two bills to license, regulate, and tax online games of skill like poker have been introduced in the Congress.

4/19/2011	16304			Constituent Relations	POM	This is to complement you on your speeches last night on the 11:30 hour, I just saw it on the t.v. this morning. I think you're a great governor and I wish you could have a better representation from our districts. I hope you can figure everything out. Thanks.
4/19/2011	16305		DNR/Miscellaneous	Rachel Bylsma	Email	I\'m a Yukon-based writer working on a story about protected areas in the Yukon. I\'m wondering how much land in Alaska has been set aside as wilderness. Could you tell me total land in Alaska, amount of land protected from industrial development and the percentage of that protection.
4/19/2011	16306	BOI	Dom Violence/Sexual Assault	Rebecca Lien	Email	CC: RP I am working with students from Goldenview Middle School on a Project Citizen topic of "How Can Child Abuse and Neglect Be Prevented?". We are looking for a copy of any initiative or policy currently in place that would address this issue. Our students are wanting to propose an Anchorage School District initiative to bring public awareness in our high schools and city services by proposing classes for young adults and expectant parents. Any ideas??? We are aware your Child Protection Bill passed. This is a great start but we would like to get your ideas about how policy can be made to help educate the public about the growing concern in our state.

4/19/2011	16308		Education Endowment	John Katz	Mail	Cc: RP, COS, RR, CS. From nearly 3.2 million graduating high school seniors, approximately 3,000 students were identified as candidates in the 2011 U.S. Presidentail Scholars Program. We are pleased to announce that approximately 560 Semifinalists have been selected from across the country. These Semifinalists form the pool from which the 2011 U.S. Presidential Scholars will be chosen. The enclosed roster contains the Semifinalists from your state. We hope you will give them the highest recognition possible for their outsanding achievements.
4/19/2011	16309	BOI/PR	International Relations	Patricia Eckert	Mail	We are pleased to announce that our Head Office will relocate to the following address as of May 6, 2011. Our curren Head Office in Kawasaki will remain open until April 28, 2011. Phone and fax there will be disconnected between April 29 and May 4, 2011 due to the relocation. We would like to apologize in advance for any inconvience the relocation may cause.

Thank you for your letter in support of Alaska Native Corporations (ANCs) in the Small Business Administration 8(a) Business Development Program to Senators Daniel Akaka and John Barrasso of the US Senate Committee on Indian Affairs. Having leadership at the State of Alaska that is well-informed and an ally in this important issue is a valuable asset to our business operations. We thank you for your time and consideration in writing the letter.

4/19/2011	16312	BOI	Inmates	Rebecca Lien	Mail	I'm writing you on the behalf of some cruel and unusal punishment happening in D.O.C. SCCC. Some of this is new and some of it has been going on for god knows how long. It is very intolerable and should not obe accepted by the commissoner or his appointed superintendents. These issues have gotten to the point of people getting rage and PTSD. I myself have gotten so raged I destroyed a whole cell over this absurd conduct this facitily is using.
4/19/2011	16314		B&C/Appointment/Reappointment	B&C	Mail	I take an interest in the quality of persons appopinted to be judges in Alaska despite my retirement and recent move to Florida. Perhaps this is due in part to the fact that all five of my children and four of my five grandchildren continue to live in Alaska. Or perhaps it is simply that my almost 30 years as a prosecutor for the state of Alaska gave me an appreciation of the importance of having well-qualified judges.

I am writing to you regarding the continued operations of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) Sounding Rockets Program at the University of Alaska Fairbanks' (UAF) Poker Flat Research Range (PFRR) near Fairbanks, Alaska. In September 2010, we requested input for an Environmental Assessment (EA) that we were preparing. After considering the comments provided by members of the public during the scoping process, we have now decided to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS).

Guard symbol? Should we wait till these kids are beyond the reach to be helped or should the "mother" who gives her kids away be the one who decides their future? WHO HELPS THEM!!!! 4/19/2011	16319	BOI	Environ Health	Rachel Bylsma	Email	The FDA claims there is no need to test Pacific fish for radioactivity. I could not disagree more. Testing is such a small thing for the EPA or FDA to do that it is suspicious that they refuse to do it. Perhaps, they are thinking that if they don't test, then there's no chance for problems to be discovered that would need resolution.
4/19/2011	16320		Legislative Office/Legislation	Legislative Office	Email	I am very concerned over the budget gridlock and the fact that it has forced the legislature into a special session. I think it would go along way to resolving the budget impasse if you would ensure state legislators that you will not veto their capital projects because they voted against the oil tax reduction bill. The political rhetoric and posturing currently going on in Juneau is not going to resolve this impasse and produce a budget that is in best interest of Alaskans, good leadership and statesmanship will.

4/19/2011	16321		Federal Issues	John Katz	Email	The feds have forgotten their promise turn over all the lands to the state that they owed us from the statehood act. Also they passed a federal law that we cannot import any goods or export any without it going through one of the lower 48. They keep their hands in our pockets, and we cannot develop our resources our way. Also we cannot develope our resources our way. They want to keep their nose in our vusiness. If they continue to treat us like undesirable step-children, then they should support us. I should say about $2,000.00 a month to every resident of Alaska. Tax free.
4/19/2011	16322	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Mail	Cc: RP. We would like to tahnk you for funding the Alaska State Council of the Arts that allows us to have an Artist in Residence. Through your funding we are able to learn a new art that we would never have had a chance to otherwise. This year our Artist in Residence, Jim Kaiser, taught us the art of stained glass. Through his instruction, every member of our school, and some of our community, was able to make a stained glass masterpiece. But, without your funding, he would have not been able to come out so we could enjoy his talent that he willingly taught us.
4/19/2011	16323		Budget-Capital	OMB	Mail	Cc: RB. Thank you for funding the Alaska State Council on the Arts. This allowed the community to learn about stained glass with Jim Kaiser. The students would love to have another Artist to come down to teach them us more about stained glass or another extraordinary art. Last month, we had Jim Kaiser come down to teach us how to handle stained glass and how to put it together.

4/19/2011	16328	BOI	REV/Miscellaneous	Micaela Fowler	Email	: Good afternoon, being the state is making more money than expected because of the high oil prices. May I request that the State make a contract with the refineries in AK and reduce the price of Royalty oil purchased by the refineries to the price of $50 a barrel. ONLY IF THEY PUT IT IN THE CONTRACT THAT THEY WILL REDUCE THE COST TO THE FUEL PRODUCED (LAST PRICE OF FUEL DURING $50 A BARREL) FOR ALASKA REFINERY USE ONLY!!!!!!!! we can\'t assume that they will pass it on to the consumer, we have to have them sign a contract stating they will.
4/20/2011	16329		Legislative Office/Legislation	Legislative Office	Email	CC: MF & FW The majority of Alaskans have voiced their refusal to support your increase of tax breaks for oil companies. The rapid rise in gas prices only supports our position. Your threat to veto portions of the capital budget because the legislature did not support your oil tax breaks is both petty and forced the legislature into special session which only costs the state more money.

4/20/2011	16330	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Cc: RB : The air quality in the FNSB is very bad in the winter. The State is going to loose the Federal funds if there isn't somthing done about it. There are woodboilers that do meet the EPA air Quality standerds. The people that have the old wood boilers would love to trade them in for a new woodboiler that does not emit much smoke and does not burn as much wood.However, wood boiletrs are expernsive and the people have so much money tied up in them that they just can't afford to give them up. Changing out small wood stoves get $1,000 and they didn't pay that much for them, but the woodboilers owners paid over $15,000 + for theirs so getting $1,000 isn't even going to help them. We only have heating oil or wood to heat with. If w e can't burn wood and many can't afford the oil prices, where do we turn? Please support our Interior delegation and the monies they are requesting for changing out wood boilers. Thank you for your time

4/20/2011	16333		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	CC: LO & FW I am writing to you after the recent fight for reduction in the ACES revenue sharing that is currently in place. As well as the end of this current Legislative session events. I will start off by saying that I am a registered conservative and support initiatives that help promote economic and community growth in Ak. What has prompted me to e-mail you is that I find myself dis-agreeing with your approach on the current ACES Oil Tax (I view as revenue sharing since we own the resource)as well as how you decided to handle this defeat.

We have been contract vendor for the National Business Center, Aviation Managemnt Directorate since 1996. It has been apparent over the years that much of our work often gets scheduled by in house Department of Interior (DOI) aircraft. 4/20/2011	16336	BOI	Health Care Services	Robert Pearson	Email	Attached, please find the National Business Group on Health's model recommendations for the state health insurance exchanges. The model, drafted with input from our large employer members over the last couple months, reflects their experiences and expertise running exchange-like processes with multiple coverage options for employees across many states. The model incorporates suggestions to streamline and minimize the administrative complexity of the transactions and information sharing between employers and the states. The model also underscores our recommendations that the exchanges aggressively focus on value, promote improvements in the effectiveness and efficiency of care, reduce the total cost of the care for all people and all payers, and make exchange interactions as easy and user-friendly as possible for enrollees.
4/20/2011	16337		B&C/Appointment/Reappointment	B&C	Mail	Cc: GOV, COS, RR, CS, LO. You will soon decide which of two men to nominate as Superior Judge. I'm sure both are fine men and it will not be an easy choice. I'd like to add to your knowledge about Keith Levy to help make that decision. 4/20/2011	16339		Medicaid	Robert Pearson	Email	I am very concerned to hear about the proposed changes to the Medicaid rates and how it could negatively affect both of my children's ACCESS TO NECESSARY HEALTH CARE including Speech Therapy and Occupational Therapy. Both of my boys experience Autism and these services are crucial in their ability to continue to learn and grow in hopes of becoming productive adults. Currently our state is behind in covering the necessary interventions for children with Autism. Our state has a higher average of children with Autism than the national average, yet the state continues not to cover all the services needed for these children under TEFRA Medicaid and Waiver Medicaid.

4/20/2011	16344		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Dear Governor Parnell (Five Star Plus Energy Rebate Program) This was our first winter in our new home. Our 2100 sq ft ranch used $600.00 in oil and $150.00 in propane. We spent extra to build our home with a Five Star Plus rating. There are currently 3200 people on the waiting list for the rebate program. Some may qualify some not. Would you please place some additional funds into this program which ran out of funds in 2008. There is a very small amount of us willing to do our part to save energy in our homes which in turn helps the entire state. Sincerly Kathy Peterson

4/20/2011	16346	BOI	Education/Misc	Robert Pearson	Email	I wanted to tell you that I greatly admire and appreciate the work that you are doing. I watch our elected officials carefully (especially the ones that I voted for!), and am pleased with the decisions that you have made in your Governorship. The work that you are doing through the Choose Respect program is very timely and much needed in our state. I recently became aware of a sex education program, Making Proud Choices!, that may begin to be used in Alaska in our schools. I am an advocate of abstinence based sex education programs, which are proven to lead to a lower level of sexual activity and promiscuity. I have looked up the Making Proud Choices! P rogram, and found that it is directly promoted through Planned Parenthood's website. As I am sure you know, Planned Parenthood is not only the largest abortion provider in the United States, but some of it's workers who have left the industry have exposed how their goal is to do more abortions. It makes sense…abortions make them money.
4/20/2011	16347		Taxation	Micaela Fowler	POM	I think that if the Governor wants to give the North Slope Oil Companies a tax break, he should tell them to “Put up or shut up”. He should make sure that they are taking care of our pipeline and fix it like they said they would. If they want to continue to use our leases they should have to treat it with respect. If they do not we should take the lease away and give it to someone who will be more respectful to our pipeline and lands. I am sick of BP and Exxon “blowing smoke up our skirts.” We think you are doing a great job as our Governor.

MEMORANDUM FOR CHIEF, NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU

FROM: NGB/CF

SUBJECT: Return to Core Values After Action Report

The attached After Action Report provides detailed information and feedback regarding the recent Return to Core Values events conducted by the Air National Guard Directorate. The events, held 22-28 March 2011, covered seven sites, including a video teleconference at the Pentagon. Overall planning and messaging included input from the National Guard Bureau Inspector General, Comptroller, and Judge Advocate offices. Additionally, input was sought from four recently retired General Officers.

In total, more than 400 members attended the Return to Core Values events. Overall feedback was generally positive and Air National Guard leaders from across the country expressed a desire to promote this message to their members. It was generally understood that to change the current trajectory of Air National Guard culture, we would need to move quickly and decisively.

Over the next several months, we intend to ensure the After Action Report is distributed to The Adjutants General, Wing Commanders, Command Chiefs, Comptrollers, and Judge Advocates. We will encourage them to brief their members and continue to spread the word to all Guard Airmen.

AFTER ACTION REPORT

ON

RETURN TO CORE VALUES ENGAGEMENT

PURPOSE: Provide After Action Report of the Director, Air National Guard's "Return to Core Values" engagement with Air National Guard (ANG) senior leaders.

BACKGROUND:

- Following a number of negative incidents involving ANG members, the Director, ANG developed a briefing intended to refocus ANG senior leaders on the Air Force Core Values.
- The target audience for the brief was Assistant Adjutants General for Air, Wing Commanders, Wing Comptrollers, Wing Judge Advocates, and State/Wing Command Chiefs.

DETAIL:

- Briefings were conducted at seven locations across the country 22-28 March 2011.
  - -- Locations included Hartford, CT (103 WG), Minneapolis St Paul, MN (133 AW), Buckley AFB, CO, (140 WG), Portland, OR (142 FW), Charlotte, NC (145 AW), Andrews JRB, MD (113 WG), Pentagon, VA (VTC)
  - -- In total approximately 405 members were in attendance—CT=54, MN=72, CO=54, OR=49, NC=59, MD=93 and VTC=22
  - -- Only one state was unable to participate (MS)
- The briefings included approximately one-hour of overview from Director, ANG and four smaller breakout sessions:
  - -- Lt Gen Wyatt (Director, ANG)—General Officers
  - -- Col Swanson (ANGRC/CV; 201 MSS/CC)—Wing Commanders
  - -- Col Joseph (ANGRC/JA)—Judge Advocates/Comptrollers
  - -- CMSgt Muncy (Command Chief, ANG)—Command Chiefs
  - -- Note—The VTC format was changed due to inability to accommodate breakout sessions.
- Key points included:
  - -- A discussion of events leading up to the C-17 accident in Alaska
    - This incident was used to illustrate how behavior left uncorrected can eventually lead to larger problems or loss of life later
    - The point was made repeatedly that leaders can make small corrections early that would avoid the bigger more abhorrent behavior down the road

-- Other incidents both public and non-public; criminal behavior and non-criminal, but questionable behavior

-- Air Force Core Values and the importance of using them as a basis of making decisions that fall in the gray area

- The central theme on this topic was for Commanders to be Commanders, and Chiefs to be Chiefs
- Ferret out the culture of searching for loopholes in regulations/instruction and install a culture of complying with intent
- Hold individuals accountable early before the problem spreads and expands into other areas

-- Final objective was to solicit solutions from representatives

- The key element in this discussion was to make sure that representatives understood that the solution starts with them and we need their assistance to correct the problem

OVERALL FEEDBACK:

- Sessions were productive; however, what happens next will determine our path. Wing officer and enlisted leadership needs to take the message back to their wings and build on our brief for our mission to be successful.
- Situation dependent: top cover is a must—some feel that we do not give enough top cover at National Guard Bureau (NGB).
- Perceptions (media)—are at times the new reality. As such, do we need new rule sets? A majority of the issues discussed were completely legal. As such, do our Airmen have the right tools to succeed?
- Definitely more discussion amongst Commanders is necessary

AFTER ACTION FEEDBACK: The following includes detailed feedback from each location visited.

- General Officer Breakout:

-- Do we need to address core values at Safety Summit? Overwhelming response was yes, we need to continue advocating. The core values message never gets old.

-- It would help to provide some non-rated examples also. For example, do we have any maintenance examples that could be used? This led to a discussion of maintenance technicians (although not just maintenance issue) building up compensatory time prior to deployment. Is this legal and ethical? Yes, as long as valid need and done IAW regulations and signed off by appropriate commanders.

-- It is a temptation to lean forward to do operational missions with training funds. The Adjutants General (TAGs) urged caution in this area. It will be a friction point in the future. We need to ensure that we are seen as responsive but need to do it with the appropriate resources.

-- Question was asked about General Officer Senior Leader Orientation Course (SLOC). The ANG needs more SLOC slots. Would it be possible to get more slots or should we develop ANG or NGB Joint General Officer course? This course would cover a lot of these issues for the General Officer's.

-- Is it possible to have full-time Judge Advocate? Resource would have to be identified from within the wing.

-- TAGs suggested creating strategic partnership with local union councils, etc. This would facilitate working together to proactively solve issues and gain buy-in from all parties involved.

-- Could we use Wingman concept to combat seductive nature of group behavior? If we introduced "peer accountability" to ethical behavior issues it would counteract bad group behavior.

-- Our rate of turnovers allows culture to slip over time so we must continue to repeat message.

-- Could we robust our Inspector General force? Would Air Force fund a wing or state Inspector General full-time resource?

-- Internal reviews from the Air Force Audit Agency have dwindled. Is there any way to reinvigorate that process?

-- TAGs are apprehensive about Annual Statement of Assurances. We need to improve quality of reports.

-- TAGs requested post trip After Action Report—maybe after CNGB review and before sending to CSAF. Can we get post-CSAF report to Wing Commanders and Command Chiefs?

-- TAGs requested periodic update on hot topic issues.

-- This problem is not confined to the ANG or ARNG—it is a societal issue. We should utilize all of our resources to address the problem. We have significant civilian experience and need to use best military and civilian practices.

-- Force development program (specifically the "fellowship" and commander program) helps with alleviating "tunnel" vision within units and states.

-- TAGs/General Officers are concerned with consistency of punishment between unit/states. It might be helpful if all states adopted the same model for state Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ).

- Command Chiefs Breakout:

-- Need to emphasize leadership training. In the end we need to prepare our personnel to handle a myriad of issues and we need to give them the necessary skills. We need to be careful about cutting Professional Military Education (PME) training slots/schools due to budget concerns at all levels. Cuts to Airmen Leadership School, NCO Academy, and Senior NCO Academy in-residence and distance learning (satellite, web, or paper based courses) will hurt our continued leadership development. We are making an investment in our future.

-- Chief Muncy's message to Senior NCO's is that we need to enforce the standards within our enlisted force. We can't send enlisted to 1st Sergeants Academy if the can't pass fit test (6 failures this year alone and these are the best the unit has to offer). This contributes to negative perception of the Guard. If a

First Sergeant candidate is the commander's standard bearer and they fail the fit test, what does it say about the unit's standards and those of the ANG.

-- Several enlisted leaders wanted to hear more specific discipline examples. How are we handling discipline? Does taking care of our own people necessarily mean not disciplining them appropriately?

-- Discipline in State status was discussed. Concur with JAG and TAG groups in a uniform state UCMJ.

-- Senior NCOs believe that being involved in more state/wing meetings improve overall quality of the enlisted/offieer force. AFI 36-2618 The Enlisted Force Structure says "SNCO's will help leaders make informed decisions." They need to be in meetings do give their perspective and be the "honest broker" to a commander's decision.

-- Enlisted leaders feel that sometime the ANG leadership does not understand role of Senior NCO. The Army National Guard does a better job of utilizing Senior NCOs. How do we change this perception?

-- What do we do for student flight members who get injured? They are not they eligible for Incapacitation (INCAP) or Medical Continuation (MEDCON) pay.

-- We need to continue to stress accountability.

-- We have some retirement classes (Transition Assistance Program) which actually contribute to teaching you how to game the system particularly with medical issues. Commanders sometimes rely on the medical community to be the bad guy and don't make command decisions.

-- Complacency is evident in many of the senior enlisted/officer corps who are not in leadership roles, "This is the way we have always done it" mentality.

-- Evidence of Aviation Continuation Incentive Pay going to individuals who are no longer in flight status.

-- Many units are dragging feet on separations. No one wants to be the bad guy and force someone out. Someone has to exhibit leadership on this issue. Force Management is key. Use of proper Selective Retention tools is needed.

-- States should be monitoring sanctuary for their personnel and making sure appropriate letters are signed. It seems some units may drag their heels on this, as the retirement/separation process is now on-line. Airmen wait past deadlines and then try to be extended.

-- One state mentioned lack of resources for Joint Forces Headquarters-State and how that negatively impacts oversight.

-- Examples of personnel falsifying Alternate Flight Training Periods and how they are not being held accountable.

-- We are starting to see stress fractures from 10-years of budget/belt tightening.

-- Double-dipping (not dual compensation) is a concern. Who validates your compensatory time? It needs to be done at the appropriate level to avoid issues and questions about validity of compensatory time.

- -- The general feeling from the senior enlisted personnel was that when we went from Air Force Regulations to Air Force Instructions we created more gray area. This ambiguity has led to more opportunity to push the envelope.

- -- Enforcement of transgressions continues to be an issue. This is part of holding people accountable and many times senior leaders are not following up and consistently punishing people.

- -- Multiple examples of units trying to avoid penalties in Title 10 status so that Title 32 status punishment can be lighter.

- -- There is a perception that officers and enlisted are treated differently in fitness testing. If enlisted fail the fitness test several times then they are kicked out of service, it is not the same for officers.

- Judge Advocate/Comptroller Breakout:

  - -- It was beneficial to hear that Judge Advocate and Comptrollers were talking on a frequent basis—much more so than we initially thought. This cross-flow of information was necessary to get the job done correctly.

  - -- Comptrollers don't have visibility on all issues such as Basic Allowance for Housing (BAH) fraud. They depend upon squadron commanders to engage with their unit to set the expectations. It might be beneficial to have Judge Advocate/Comptroller talk about such issues prior to mobilization/deployment especially if lots of personnel will be mobilized in place.

  - -- The observation from Comptrollers was that per diem fraud was an operator issue.

  - -- The Military Personnel Appropriation (MPA) day drawdown has had an impact on personnel. Some expressed concern that commander's were, "taking care of folks" which leads to questionable interpretation of rules. Does this lead to orders for "entitlements," vice an "operational need?"

  - -- Would it be possible to get a quarterly report along the lines of the old "The Inspector General" briefs? How do we pass the information regarding cases and trends to all wings? Col Joseph (ANGRC/JA) suggested something along the lines of the Active Duty "Status of Discipline" briefs given to Wing Commanders by their respective Squadron Commanders. This information is then up channeled to Numbered Air Force commanders and Major Command commanders.

  - -- Comptrollers mentioned that many times Wing Commanders requested to see information/violations in writing, i.e. "Show me where it says that." They feel that more specific guidance from NGB would be beneficial (e.g. clearer language in ANGIs etc.).

  - -- Comptrollers feel that there is disparity between how wings treat their people in the Air Sovereignty Alert (ASA) mission. It is hard for one wing commander to make a change when other wing commanders continue to do it a different way.

  - -- Comptrollers do not have enough oversight of Home of Record fraud. It is too easy to change Home of Record (most of it is web based) and there are no checks and balances.

  - -- Lack of accountability—leadership issue. Commanders have to step up and make decisions when regulations are ambiguous. State military code is not being enforced in some cases.

- -- Communication flow between wings/United State Fiscal and Property Office and Joint Forces Headquarters-State are non-existent in some cases. Many issues are internalized at Wings and not shared, even with other units in their state.

- -- It would be helpful to have Judge Advocates with fiscal law experience.

- -- Comptrollers have high operational tempo and could use more resources.

- -- Comptroller position needs more professionalism. Right now, you can be any Air Force Specialty Code and then retrain to Comptroller. If there was more emphasis on Comptroller training/career progression then it would yield a more capable force.

- Wing Commanders Breakout:

- -- Many of the wing commanders mentioned that MEDCON pay and the Medical Evaluation Board process would be our next big issues. Most believed that we were just looking at the tip of iceberg as far as potential fraud/abuse of process. It is being spread from person-to-person in the unit as they see other people getting away with questionable injuries. Members will shop around for medical opinions and then request duty limitations. Has recent changes in law perpetuated this issue? (i.e., I believe you can draw both retired pay and medical disability pay now; where you could not in the past)

- -- Is there an external perception of ANG that we are not a professional organization or that we don't hold our members accountable?

- -- Several wing commanders described how they have handled issues such as BAH/travel/per diem fraud. They have instituted "peer accountability" emphasizing members are responsible and held accountable to their unit members. Everyone is told the expectations and lower level supervisors are asked to meet with each member to clearly articulate expectations. This was particularly effective in dealing with BAH/travel fraud. In other words, don't depend or wait on the Comptroller to catch issues in the review process, be proactive and set the tone in the beginning.

- -- Wing Commanders requested additional investigative capability. Would it be possible to have investigators for the ANG?

- -- Command Directed Investigations take too much time to complete. It is hard to tie action, investigation and disciplinary outcome together when it takes 6-months to complete a Command Directed Investigation. How can we decrease timeline? This is compounded by having part-time legal staff who needs to review the Command Directed Investigation.

- -- Units believe there should be more Title 10 Detachment Commanders (201 MSS issue).

- -- Continuing problem with MEDCON pay and Line of Duty determinations (LOD). LOD determinations take too long and are compounded by not having full-time doctors on base. The entire Disability Evaluation System is unwieldy and takes entirely too long to treat individuals. The rules are complex and there is a fundamental disagreement in the interpretation of who is eligible for MEDCON pay versus INCAP pay.

- -- Several questions regarding technician status and ASA. It might be worth having a breakout at Executive Safety Summit to address ASA and the new ANGI.

-- Inspector General complaints—serial filers clog the system. How do we resolve investigation and move forward? Is it truly an Inspector General issue or is it vindictive?

-- Could we get Public Affairs or positive coverage to offset negative publicity? Do we provide enough top cover? There is an appearance that we do not try and fight these issues.

-- Could we get on-call experts at NGB to help with state issues (for example, SG/HC/JA)?

-- We need to be unified in supporting commander's action at all levels. It is difficult to handle issues at squadron/group/wing level when your superiors do not provide appropriate support.

I had a very productive meeting with Col Lincoln on Tuesday morning. EP/DP

EP/DP

On the topic of Lt Gen Wyatt's Core Value training, Col Lincoln attended the training. He has initially indicated to me that it was no big deal. This is very different from the response from my IG (Active Duty Colonel) and JAG (Air Guard Colonel) who both also attended the same presentation.

I am currently coordinating a follow-up meeting with Col Lincoln to specifically discuss this AAR as I only received it this morning. I'll let you know how that discussion goes.

Thanks for your quick response given how much I know you have going on.

Mike

I know you are very busy with current legislative activity. I'm sending this to you to review when you have a moment prior to a follow- up meeting regarding Brig Gen Foster.

I had mentioned this core value training the the Air National Guard Director was conducting across the country. In this training, our C-17 mishap was the lead example of leadership failure. It is tactfully reflected on page 1 of the attached After Action Report that Lt Gen Wyatt submitted to Gen McKinley for presentation to the Chief of Staff of the Air Force.

This is a significant deal that I need to make you aware of it. I have a safety conference next week in Florida where again the C-17 mishap will be the center focus of one of the breakout seminars. There is undercurrent discussion that Alaska hasn't addressed this issue.

Will discuss further at our next opportunity to meet.

Thanks

I had a very productive meeting with Col Lincoln on Tuesday morning. EP/DP

EP/DP

On the topic of Lt Gen Wyatt's Core Value training, Col Lincoln attended the training. He has initially indicated to me that it was no big deal. This is very different from the response from my IG (Active Duty Colonel) and JAG (Air Guard Colonel) who both also attended the same presentation.

I am currently coordinating a follow-up meeting with Col Lincoln to specifically discuss this AAR as I only received it this morning. I'll let you know how that discussion goes.

Thanks for your quick response given how much I know you have going on.

BOI/PR

Dear BOI/PR,

Thank you for your email to Governor Parnell regarding your workplace situation within the Alaska Air National Guard. First, BOI/PR

The correct process for a claimant is as follows: if you are a technical employee, you need to contact the Office of Special Council (OSC) and file a disclosure. If you are an Active Guard and Reserve (AGR) member then you must file a complaint with your Inspector General.

If you have further questions or additional concerns, please feel free to contact Deputy Commissioner McHugh Pierre at 907-428-6009 or email him at mchugh.pierre@alaska.gov.

Dear Governor Parnell,

Today would have been BOI/PR here in Anchorage. Although the Red Cross did an official emergency notification, I was not allowed to take emergency leave by 176 Wing BOI/PR BOI/PR and had to use personal leave and my own money and Alaska Air miles to fly down to BOI/PR

I decided to write this letter to you to tell you about the issues I have gone thru with the 176 Wing in the past year and how the BOI/PR treats their employees. I wanted to start the letter this way to explain my state of mind, and to tell you the impact that they have had on my life and family, so you can feel the pain I have had to go thru with people that are not being held accountable for their actions, the waist they are committing and the undermining they are doing to your organizations. I also would like you to know that these same people are trying to undermine Gen McManus for holding them accountable to do the right thing, but it appears that she is being prosecuted when it is the 176th Wings fault.

I am writing this letter to get help with issues that continue to arise from the 176th Wing and need whistleblower protection.

In past 6 months timeframe I receive 4 years worth of performance reports with no formal feedback. They rated me an overall 4, 4, and 5 (out of a possible high of 5), but now a 3. The last 3 performance reports were given in 2 days (for Fiscal Years 09, 10, and 11). I brought this to the attention of my chain of command, and was told I had to appeal it thru the appeal process. My Chain of Command should have held them accountable and forced the unit to correct the report.

-They have forced me to put in my paperwork to retire.
-Denied my emergency leave for BOI/PR.
-Created issues with my security clearance.
-Written a letter to you for issues that they created.
-Taken me to civilian court for a DV stalking charge that was promptly thrown out.
-The next day they sent you a letter that again by passed chain of command for a military issue that created a CDI investigation that proves it was management issues.
-Tried to put me in a position to violate a direct order given to me by a general officer by
-Directed that I perform duties contraty to the position description I was hired for.

BOI/PR sent you a letter about an issue and did not tell you the entire story, bypassed our chain of command, and had Lt Col Patty Wilbanks trying to undermine Gen McManus by helping her with trying to identify me as the problem, because I had gone to the Wing Commander thru the Chain of Command and redressed several issues. Before she sent the letter to you she did not address to you that she had tried to get a Stalking Domestic Violence restraining order against me, BOI/PR, the judge threw it out of court, but it is still on my record. This action was taken when she called my wife's supervisors and told them my wife had stolen and/or misused Family Support Funds, on the Kulis Childrens Christmas party. Of course there turned out to be no evidence of any misuse whatsoever, but it should also be noted that BOI/PR has no oversight on those funds, and had no basis on the claim she made, but she does work for the same supervisor I identified for management issues through my chain of command, of which an official CDI investigation was initiated on. I have now learned from BOI/PR herself, that she told BOI/PR to file the Stalking Charge against me. Now with going through the process of appealing my performance appraisals, I have been told that I somehow no longer have the security clearance permissions to complete further BOI/PR, which is my assigned duty.

This all began as soon as I turned in my official letter to my 176th Wing Commander, in October 2010, reporting the mismanagement and inappropriate use of government money and resources. I left the original letter vague because it was 5 pages long but if investigated would have shown several issues.

The misuse of funds that need identified are:
-Purchase of unauthorized items.
-Misuse of the Government Purchase Card.
-Purchase of unnecessary High-Dollar items that are not used.
-Purchase of property to replace that which was taken home by personnel.
-Purchase of refrigerators, microwaves, TV's, surround sounds systems, and several other items that are never added to inventory property books, as required by law and regulation.
-Purchasing multiple uniform items where only 1 item is authorized.

Because I was singled out thru reprisal and an investigation was conducted in December 2010, I was moved to BOI/PR. I am a BOI/PR. So you understand my expertise, I was asked to come in and work on and fix major issues in the BOI/PR and was just put in temporary charge of the BOI/... BOI/PR I have had to BOI/PR BOI/PR Also put together and identified several issues with the federal part of the BOI/PR BOI/PR I was hand-picked and brought over to this position because of my vast knowledge and experience and am considered one of the better BOI/PR BOI/PR in the Alaska National Guard. I was asked by upper management outside of the Wing to be curtailed to BOI/PR because issues in the 176th BOI/PR. It is about the illegal activities as part of my job that I am receiving Reprisal from those trying cover it up while I was assigned to the 176th Wing BOI/PR.

The Wing is not holding its people accountable nor is the upper management stepping in and stopping the problems and holding its Commanders responsible for the actions they are taking to hurt people and peoples' careers. Instead of firing management they move them to other positions to cause even more issues. Peoples' promotions are being held by the Wing not by JFHQ. JFHQ is having issues with the Wing and its management from bogus promotions, manpower moves to get good old boys into positions that they can control, and misuse of federal money.

I feel much of our Leadership lacks Air Force core values and is not serving the best interests of the State of Alaska nor the Alaska Air National Guard. I am being told I have to go thru the IG to create a whistleblower reprisal complaint and thru the process to have my performance reports thrown out of my record. These actions should be being done by management who knows there is a problem, back to accountability. If these managers are not being held accountable now why would they be held accountable thru the IG or other types of complaints. Most people that can do something about this just want me to just go away, and I feel you need to know how badly they are representing you, Maj Gen Katkus, the State of Alaska, and the Air National Guard. One of my children wanted to join the guard and I asked them not to because I do not want my children to be a part of a very corrupt organization that upper management can do something about. I am asking for your help.

Dear Ms. Adamson,

Thank you for your email to Governor Parnell regarding your concerns with the investigation of State Family Programs within the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs (DMVA).

The Office of the Governor is aware of this investigation and can assure you that it will be handled in a thorough and professional manner. I will make sure that the information you have given me is passed on to the appropriate people within the DMVA investigation team. Once the investigation is complete, the proper disciplinary actions will take place.

Thank you for bringing this matter to the attention of Governor Parnell. If you have any further questions or concerns please contact me at 907-451-2920.

Sincerely,

Pete Kelly

YOUR COMMENTS: Are you aware that the State Family Programs at Ft Richardson is under investigation for mismanagement of grants and other funding, including State monies. Jan Myers heads this program and will retire about June 4th, 2011. It would be unfortunate if she is able to retire instead of being fired. I understand more than $250,000 is lost or unaccounted for over the past 7 years. There are people with influence trying to keep this quiet, which will also allow her to get away without consequences. The Anchorage Police are involved and the National Guard Bureau. I don't know if you've been informed.

Too much for this email, but I know personally Jan Myers and Gretchen Nealy lack integrity, ethics, morals, honesty, and al l those other qualities that make us human.

I am writing this in the hopes you will atleast inquire, and if when you see the level of misuse and misappropriation of money that you will becomed involved BEFORE she retires.

5/9/2011	16606	BOI	Mining	Rachel Bylsma	Email	We do not want any coal mine development in the area of Chickaloon community. We have property in the Chickaloon community, namely Upper Bonnie Lake Area, it will decrease our property value and the safety of air quality for humans and habitat for wildlife. If development comes in, it will reduce all hunting, fishing,hiking and life as we have done for generations!!!
5/9/2011	16608		REV/Miscellaneous	Micaela Fowler	Mail	Hi! I hope you are doing well! Could you please help me with an idea of mine? What would be the fastest way to convince the me farmers in your state to help me plant all of the fruits and vegetables, grow them, ship them to market, sell them and allow me to her perhaps 10% of the gross? I can not travel myself and I do not to e-mail. Only regular postal mail so please write back A.S.A.P and thank you very much!
5/9/2011	16610		Budget-Capital	OMB	Mail	I am a teacher at Winterberry Charter School, and am writing regarding our legislative-grant request for $16,000 in funding for science equipment. I will be teaching seventh grade next year, and physics and chemistry are a large portion of our curriculum. As a charter school, we are responsible for securing our own physical space. Currently, our building has no extra classrooms, and our classrooms are small - 600 square feet on average. In this small space I will be teaching 27 students all of the core curricular subjects: math, history and geography, language arts, and, of course, siceince.

On May 5Th when I was driving home there was a man sitting cross legged on the gaurd rail playing a guitar across from his illegally parked car, while another man dug in the back of his truck with the door flung open across the white line. I can't make this stuff up! I was wondeering if I could get a permit to set up a fruit stand, or coffee wagon, or how about a smoothy stand, if you can't beat em why not join! When the circus comes to town I think we should close off one lane of the in bound Glenn Highway, we're wasting a lot of tarmac on people trying to get to work or to move freight! Thanks for y our time.

5/9/2011	16622		Game	Rachel Bylsma	Email	My name is Jenny Pursell, a 10 year resident of Juneau and a wildlife conservationist and advocate. On May 9 my 'My Turn' was published in the Juneau Empire. My piece concerns the allowance of bucket snares for black and brown bears in Game Management Unit 16B, which is a predator control area. The cruelty of this method is needless and gives Alaska a black eye re how wildlife is managed and killed in this state which currently is blessed with abundant and sustainable populations of both predator and prey. I have inserted my piece for your convenience. As an Alaskan I demand that this method be banned within this predator control area and any future predator control sites. Thank you for your time and attention to this grave concern.

5/9/2011	16623	BOI/PR	Legislative Office/Legislation	Legislative Office	Email	I write in regards to SB78, the senate bill that Lesil McGuire introduced this session. It is an important bill, and one that generally does not garner the attention of many people, except for those it directly affects. These would be the people that are either victims of drunken driving accidents or people that have business establishments who sell alcohol, but do business under the LLC or limited liability partnership distinction. SB78 will ensure that LLC business would no longer be relieved of their part, when an individual(s) gets wasted in their establishment, and then goes out and hurts or kills other people in the community. I believe anyon e who is able to attain a liquor license should take business as a serious issue; due to the high rates of domestic violence, child abuse, and accidental death, all directly connected to alcohol use in our great State of Alaska. My concerns and support for SB78 are very personal in nature. BOI/PR Until the individual, business, and government connect the dots, so-to-speak, our problems of alcohol use in Alaska will continue to be what ails us. SB78 is currently waiting for transmittal to your desk; I pray and hope that it will not be delayed in some last minute negotiation or addition of amendment(s). Im only one person in this state of many, who have been directly or indirectly affected by alcohol use, please take a stand for us and sign SB78 as soon as it reaches your desk.

5/9/2011	16624	BOI	Mining	Rachel Bylsma	Email	My wife and I oppose any coal mining in the Matsu. It is a dirty fuel, rapes the land, and poisons the water. We request these permits not be issued. We also oppose the Wishbone Hill air permit and ask that it be denied. The area to be mined is above the Matsu moose preserve and our land. Mining there will disrupt the hunting and breeding grounds. All of our power comes from our own solar panels. We are concerned about contamination of our well water in addition to the Kings River watershed.
5/9/2011	16625		Federal Issues	John Katz	Email	As a constituent, voter, and proud poker player, I am writing to ask for your support regarding specific actions our great state will be required to take if legislation in the U.S. Congress becomes law. Specifically, two bills to license, regulate, and tax online games of skill like poker have been introduced in the Congress. Recently, the House Financial Service Committee overwhelmingly, an d with a bipartisan vote, passed H.R. 2267, the Internet Gambling Regulation, Consumer Protection and Enforcement Act. Passage of this bill demonstrated Congress ' willingness to protect consumers against fraud and abuse. It will also allow for collection of taxes that are currently going overseas, instead of into our state and Federal treasuries. The revenue generated will be shared between the Federal government and the states. 05.11.11 Responded via email (jk)

I am contacting you today to ask for your support in continuing the bipartisan Health Center expansion that began over a decade ago. I unders tand that the House Appropriations Committee has set a deadline of May 20th for submission of FY12 programmatic requests. Please submit a program request asking for $1.79 billion in discretionary funding for the Health Centers Program in order to lower our nation's health care costs and strengthen our primary care capacity. This funding level will: extend cost-effective primary and preventive health care to over 3 million Americans; bring a Health Center to approximately 200 new communities, including some of the 800 with pending application submissions; and build on existing Health Center capacity through extended hours of operation; the hire of additional providers; and the availability of new medical, oral, behavioral, pharmacy, or vision health services.

5/10/2011	16635		Office of Children's Services	Robert Pearson	Email	My name is Jason King and I work for the Office of Children Services in Bethel Alaska. When I first started working here I was upset with how things seemed to be working in regards to our cases. I felt like our office kept receiving reports regarding sex offenders and the troopers would take their time to do their investigation, or I felt like offenders did not spend nearly long enough time in jail. In one of my cases that I had last November, a man beat up his wife and children. The children thought their mother was dead (she was knocked unconcious) and the man spent about three days in jail. However, I want to say that I am seeing changes for the better. I am slowly seeing that the o ffenders are receiving harsher punishments for what they have done and law enforcement is putting their foot down with respect to all kinds of domestic violence. Thank you for your administrations efforts and continuing to work on making Alaska safer for children and families.

5/10/2011	16638	BOI	Game	Rachel Bylsma	Email	I respectably write to you regarding a subject that is controversial in Alaska. I am a dog owner, as I know are you, and because of that, I know animals have feelings and deserve to be treated in humane ways. Probably, not many people could advocate letting a dog die from a trap, hidden in food. It would be unconscionable to witness and allow. It is with this argument that animals feel pain and suffer, as we do, that I ask you to re-think the position of ADF&G on bears. Please imagine the inhumanity and cruelty that we as Alaskans are inflicting on God's creatures. I know you are a man of conscience. Our basic goodness as people find cruelty disgusting. Please re-consider your opinion about animals and what is right for us to inflict on them. Please think of your trusted dog and think of his suffering if he were trapped. It's no different for bears.
5/10/2011	16639		Mining	Rachel Bylsma	Email	Please do not lease lands in Chickaloon for coal. I live in Palmer and am a former resident of Chickaloon. I often ride my bicycle along the Glenn Highway between the two and do not want to share the road with coal trucks or breathe the coal dust that blows off them. He was/is part of the anti-development Castle Mountain Coalition that has been running a campaign of terror in the valley. It's HOG WASH! My family would like the coal developed and the jobs the mines will bring. We could use some of the product to run a power plant, and I use coal to heat my home.

I favor supporting this proposal. I am a resident of Chickaloon and support responsible resource development. Furthermore, I am against Warren Keogh petitioning Governor Parnell to stop coal development projects in our area. Mr. Keogh, in my opinion, represents a select group of anti-coal, anti-development individuals. 5/10/2011	16646		DPS/Miscellaneous	Rebecca Lien	Email	Thank you for your diligent and dedicated service to the people of Alaska. We appreciate you! As you know, we are in a battle for the hearts and minds of men in our cities, our state, the country, and the world. Our laws are very important for the safety of everyone especially the innocent, but when we have local officials and law enforcement who pick and choose which laws to uphold it errodes the very fabric of our society. Here in Fairbanks that is exactly what is happening.
5/10/2011	16647		Mining	Rachel Bylsma	Email	I am a resident of Sutton and I understand that Warren Keogh is against the Coal Mines opening up here in the Sutton/Chickaloon Area. I am writing to you to let you know that Mr. Warren Keogh DOES NOT speak for me on this matter. I personally feel that the coal mines would be a great asset to this area brining jobs and community growth. Please consider my position on this when Warren Keogh states that he represents the residents of Sutton and Chickaloon and is speaking on their behalf because he is NOT speaking for ME!
5/10/2011	16648		Mining	Rachel Bylsma	Email	To the members of the board of the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority: Please do not lease lands in Chickaloon to coal mining companies. These mining operations pose several severe and unnecessary risks to surrounding communities and to our environment. If mining is allowed to begin in AMHTA lands, it may spur the development of a number of mines in the area. This will have a long lasting detrimental impact on the health of the people, and of the land. We are doing just fine without the mines. Let's preserve the natural beauty of our state, and look for other ways to turn a profit.
5/10/2011	16649		Mining	Rachel Bylsma	Email	It has been brought to my attention that our Mat-Su Borough representative, Warren Keogh, is reporting to you that the people of Chickaloon and Sutton do not support responsible coal development in this area. This couldn't be further from the truth. There are many of us who see the energy and job needs of our area and know that responsible coal development, such as that proposed by Usibelli, would be an asset to the Borough and state. Please do not assume that Warren Keogh speaks for the majority of the people in our area. He does NOT!

I have a terrible nightmare picture of my grandkids, and their families facing big coal trucks with a ruined Moose Range out the car window. This first, of probably many mines will make our town, and subdivisions into my memory of visits to cousins in coal towns north of Pittsburgh. I can still remember the taste of the air, and the film of coal dust everywhere. Now we know what is in that dust, and with the addition of bits of radiation, too, I am totally opposed to the leasing that you are contemplating.

It has been brought to my attention that there are some of our Borough Assemble members that are in opposition to this type of development, such as coal in the Chickaloon/Sutton area. I live and own a business in Chickaloon and I am in favor. So please don't let the representation of a few vocal minority convince anyone that this type of development is unwanted. I believe we need more affordable energy, a larger "revenue creating" tax base, and employment opportunities that this type of development brings. Thanks for the work that you are doing, and listening to my concerns.

Our assemblyman Warren Keogh continues to prove that he does not represent the interests of the silent majority in our area. Time and time again he has stated to news organizations the residents of the Sutton area are opposed to any coal development in the area. Nothing could be further from the truth. This was overwhelming proven to be false after a survey using multiple means was conducted. If I'm not mistaken, the results of this study demonstrated well over 70% of the community is in favor of these developments which will lead to good paying jobs in our community. Warren continues to represent the interests of the Castle Mountain Coalition and the Friends of Matsu both of which are anti-development and most certainly do not speak for the residents of the Sutton.

We need disaster declaration for the village of Crooked Creek, as the water may have raisen more the the 100 year flood level due to ice jam below the river. Water levels are rising in Aniak, and we definitely need to have FEMA or DMVA, if they are still working on disasters to contact the village and work on assessing the damage. Some homes will not be liveable in, as water damage is extensive. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me on my phone at 545-0862. We have just flown over the area and have seen the extensive damage. Some of the residents of Crooked Creek had to be evacuated to Donlin Creek mine. AVCP, AVCP Housing Authority, YKHC are working together to put together a disaster plan, however, at this time there does not seem to be anyone from the State disaster office at Crooked Creek to help with the assessments. Two VPSO's and 2 Bethel Search and Rescue members were flown in today to assist in whatever they can with the village. We anticipate more of the villages downriver from Crooked Creek to be impacted with this year's flooding, and we hope that you can pay attention to the needs of rural Alaska in this time of need. 5/11/2011	16685	BOI	Mining	Rachel Bylsma	Email	I was born and raised in Palmer, Alaska (Matanuska Valley). My sister and her family, live in the valley. What a beautiful place it is - as is all of Alaska. For six recent years I lived in the Appalachian region of Kentucky, very close to coal mines and frequently visited the coal mining regions of West Virginia. The impact of coal mining in those areas is devastating because sufficient safeguards were never in place or the existing ones never reinforced to protect the environment or the health of those living there. Coal dust is evident everywhere - on cars and buildings, landscaping and playground equipment - heavy in the air, stirred up with every breeze and passing vehicles, with the huge coal trucks one after the other, hour after hour in an endless stream. It is shocking to see. Perhaps folks get used to it - I don't think I ever could, coming from Alaska and the beautiful Matanuska Valley. I know firsthand just how breathtaking and pristine Alaska used to be - perhaps still is - but in danger of being lost forever with the proposed coal mining under consideration. Please protect Alaska. It is in your hands, this precious legacy that is Alaska. There is no place quite like it anywhere else in the world.

Are you aware that the State Family Programs at Ft Richardson is under investigation for mismanagement of grants and other funding, including State monies. Jan Myers heads this program and will retire about June 4th, 2011. It would be unfortunate if she is able to retire instead of being fired. I understand more than $250,000 is lost or unaccounted for over the past 7 years. There are people with influence trying to keep this quiet, which will also allow her to get away without consequences. The Anchorage Police are involved and the National Guard Bureau. I don't know if you've been informed. Too much for this email, but I know personally Jan Myers and Gretchen Nealy lack integrity, ethics, morals, honesty, and all those other qualities that make us human.

I am writing this in the hopes you will atleast inquire, and if when you see the level of misuse and misappropriation of money that you will becomed involved BEFORE she retires.

YOUR COMMENTS: Are you aware that the State Family Programs at Ft Richardson is under investigation for mismanagement of grants and other funding, including State monies. Jan Myers heads this program and will retire about June 4th, 2011. It would be unfortunate if she is able to retire instead of being fired. I understand more than $250,000 is lost or unaccounted for over the past 7 years. There are people with influence trying to keep this quiet, which will also allow her to get away without consequences. The Anchorage Police are involved and the National Guard Bureau. I don't know if you've been informed.

Too much for this email, but I know personally Jan Myers and Gretchen Nealy lack integrity, ethics, morals, honesty, and al l those other qualities that make us human.

I am writing this in the hopes you will atleast inquire, and if when you see the level of misuse and misappropriation of money that you will becomed involved BEFORE she retires.

Cheryl Adamson

6/14/2011	17816		Public Assistance	Robert Pearson	Email	CC: ZO I have recently heard news of the state of Florida enacting a law that requires welfare recipients to pass a drug test in order to receive their benefit. I find this law to be a brilliant strategy, especially for a state such as ours, with a large percentage living solely off of state and federal benefits. Not only would such a law cut down on state spending, but it would also bring those who actually do need help to the forefront of the line, and shine a light on those looking to abuse the system. I appreciate the hard work that you've done for our state, and I sincerely hope that, should you find yourself in the same position as Florida Governor Rick Scott, you would do the ri ght thing and approve the bill.
6/14/2011	17817	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I recognize that part of being the Governor is making tough choices. I also recognize that part of what makes a community a great place to raise a family is its parks and recreational facilities. For over 20 years, my family and I have lived near Waldron Lake. My sons played soccer there in the summer and pick-up ice hockey in the winter. We have walked and ridden bikes there for years. It's a true community park/soccer field. I hope you will allow the funds for the purchase of the 16.9 acre community park and multi-use recreation area to keep it safe from development and open to use by our children and our children's children. Help us save and preserve Waldron Lake. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17818		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Please support this year's Capital Budget funding for purchase of the Waldron subdivision tract in Anchorage. This green space asset is valuable to the community on multiple levels. This park area is used by families all year long. This space is easily accessible and also lies along the Campbell Creek bike/walking path. Please help us maintain this property which adds greatly to Anchorage's "quality of life". 06.14.11 Responded via email.
6/14/2011	17819		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	As a resident living near the Waldron Lake properties I strongly urge you to NOT VETO funds for this park and multi-use recreation area. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)

6/14/2011	17820		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Please include the $50,000 for lighting improvements for the JACC currently in the Capital Budget. Speaking on behalf of the many groups and individuals who use the building regularly (anywhere from 3000 to 6000 monthly!), the lighting is the top priority at this point. Currently we use old, noisy, gymnasium lights that are either on or off, and a marginal system of extension cords to provide very limited theater lights, augmented by Christmas lights, for events. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17821		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I am aware that you are cutting the budget at this time. I am asking that you seriously consider the funding for the Blue lake Expnsion project in Sitka. There are so many pluses to the project and to the future economy and welfare of the people in this town. Cleaner environment. cheaper electricity in a town that is being heavily impacted by the rising costs of everything because of the cost of oil. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17822	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I am 26 years old and I live in the community of Sitka, Alaska. After being raised here, I went to college and worked in the lower 48 before deciding to come back to live in what I believe is one of the most beautiful and unique communities around.I am writing to you today to urge you to maintain the full $28.5m funding request for Sitka's Blue Lake Hydroelectric Project. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17823		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	This is about the renovation of Barnette Magnet School in Fairbanks, that is currently a line item in your budget. I know you are very supportive of educational excellence. As an educator, I am thankful and appreciative of your support, such as your proposed merit based scholarships. 06.14.11 Responded via email. 6/14/2011	17825		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I would like to encourage you to support the community of Sitka in it's efforts to become more energy independent. The expansion of our Blue Lake hydro facility is critical to the future of Sitka. And I urge you to retain the funding for this project in this year's budget. 06.14.11 Responded via email (tmm)

6/14/2011	17826		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I'm writing in support of the Blue Lake Hydro project located in Sitka. As you are aware Sitka needs the additional electric power that will be provided by the raising of the Blue Lake Dam. This project is important for providing affordable electric power, and it is also important for economic growth. Not to mention the jobs that will be created during construction. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17827		DMVA/Miscellaneous	Pete Kelly	Email	CC: DK, CR, & MF I'm taking this opportunity to transmit this email to you in this way as I have not received a response using the more traditional email system. I would like this request entered into the constituent response system so that I will eventually receive a response. My email messages have previously been sent to Grant Administrator Ms. Johnson, Commissioner Bell, and to you. Ms. Bell, As you know, I asked for time with the governor to speak with him directly about his decision to honor state Senator Johnny Ellis' request for a grant in the amount of $100,000.00 for Ellis' unvetted constituents. The "Alaska Disabled Veterans Sports Program" is headq uartered in Fairview and the most recent Ellis newsletter honors two of the ADVSP board members on its front page. The governor referred me to you at a time when you were not in the office.

6/14/2011	17830		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I understand there is a $715,000 appropriation in the state capital budget to expand the Glen Alps parking lot by 50 spaces. On Friday the Glen Alps parking lot was full by 2pm and today (Memorial Day) we drive up there assuming it would be full. The plan to add 50 spaces near the current parking lot seems like a sensible investment so that locals and tourists alike are able to visit this high alpine environment. Unlike the proposal in the Draft Chugach State Park Management Plan to build a road through the park from Upper Huffman to Glen Alps, this Glen Alps parking expansion will have much less environmental impact. I respectfully ask that you approve the funding to expand the Glen Alps parking lot. Feel free to call or email me I can answer any questions related to this issue. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17831	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	It has come to my attention that 9.5 mil. dollars has been included in the Capital Budget for the next fiscal year. I want to take this opportunity to express just how important these funds are to the children of the Fairbanks community. I strongly support that this amount remain in the budget. As you already probably know, Barnette Magnet School is one of the oldest schools in the District. I believe it can be officially classified as an antique, as we celebrated it's 50th Anniversary of the school's founding this past Spring. The school serves many of the inner city students as well as out of district students. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17832		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	My name is Michelle Putz and I am writing to you to urge full financial support for Sitka's Blue Lake Expansion Project. 6/14/2011	17838		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I support the Senate Bill 46, (the FY12 capital budget) where it has $400,000 allocated for the Bear Education Awareness and Research Sanctuary at the Alaska Wildlife Conservation Center (B.E.A.R.S). The Alaska Wildlife Conservation Center (AWCC) is a great place to visit for local people and tourists. The B.E.A.R.S interpretive facility will benefit the Anchorage and Portage Valley area and the State of Alaska ensuring tourism which produces revenue while letting the public be educated and view up close North America's largest carnivore.Please leave the FY2012 funding request $400,000.00 for B.E.A.R.S. 06.14.11 Responded via email. 6/14/2011	17839	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Please do not veto the $715,000 appropriation in the Capital Budget for a new parking lot at Glen Alps to supplement the existing lot. These new parking spaces are needed so that more people can enjoy access to Chugach State Park at its premier trailhead. This plan would be much less expensive than building a new road through the park and would have much less impact on our beautiful State Park. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17840		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I am extremely concerned that our state is almost wholly dependent on the oil and gas industry for our state budget. Even though that we know that we have to diversify our state's investment portfolio (look at everything we do to be strategic about our permanent fund investments), we are still relying on oil revenue for an overwhelming part of our budget. That is why I think that it is so important that we make investments to diversify our energy supplies by investing in the Blue Lake Hydro-Electric project in Sitka. This project is an investment in State resources that will pay itself back by creating economic opportunities in Southeast Alaska that will benefit our state for many years into the future. 06.14.11 Responded via email. These parks provide respite for birds, dog walkers, and are also enjoyed for soccer games, dog shows, and we have seen the Anchorage Fire Department use Waldron Lake as a staging ground to practice diving.

6/15/2011	17941		AK Coastal Mgt Program (ACMP)	Rachel Bylsma	Email	Memorial Day just passed and at least most of us spent a moment thanking those that have died to give us the freedoms and voice in our government that we all enjoy. What I DO NOT understand is how our Representatives and Senators can continue to give away Alaskans rights to have a voice in how our National Government treats our state. We did it with our Fisheries and now the US Government is handling many of our fisheries instead of our State Fish and Game as it should be. Now rather than finding an acceptable compromise that will keep the Coastal Zone Management Program alive our elected officials would rather let it die and give away yet more of Alaska's Rights to a voice in what our National Government will do in our state. It is apparent Alaska's elected officials do not value those rights that so many have died to give us.

6/15/2011	17962		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I am not in favor of the gas line to Homer. I believe that the State should not be funding private businesses unless they are going to do it for all. To provide the pipeline for Enstar is not right. I have a small heating oil business and the State has not built my infrastructure for me. I am paying my own loans. I am paying my own way. I believe that if the pipeline comes to Homer because the State funds the infrastructure, there will be: 1. Loss of jobs from other heating providers for year round employees and wood providers. 2. Contributions to our small town will not be given by the huge corporation and the burden will become greater on the small businesses that live here and especially those whose lively hood will be taken away by this pipeline.3. Homer has said they do not want box stores. This is a box store in the form of a pipe.4. As a small business owner I work with people who are in need. 6/15/2011	17997		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	As a long-time Anchorage resident and a former Boys & Girls Clubs volunteer and staff member, I know the importance of the Waldron lake fields to the community. Not only do the sports fields serve thousands of school-age children in the Anchorage area, but the local neighborhoods as well as many throughout the community value the land as a public facility, in an undeveloped state in the heart of a heavily developed part of Anchorage. I believe the proposed partnership with the Municipality of Anchorage is a good solution. Please consider retaining this item in the current capital budget. Thank you! 06.15.11 Responded via email. Subject: Constituent Issues 6.16.11
Attachments: Daily Entry Log 6.16.11.pdf

Happy (sunny) Thursday! It's almost the weekend!

Today's issues include:
-Capital Budget: as with every other day recently, the bulk of our correspondence has been regarding capital budget requests for funding and not to veto
-Mining: place value on salmon fisheries over mines
-DPS: secure communities program (con), clemency, "paranormal activity"

Have a great afternoon!

6/14/2011	17816		Public Assistance	Robert Pearson	Email	CC: ZO I have recently heard news of the state of Florida enacting a law that requires welfare recipients to pass a drug test in order to receive their benefit. I find this law to be a brilliant strategy, especially for a state such as ours, with a large percentage living solely off of state and federal benefits. Not only would such a law cut down on state spending, but it would also bring those who actually do need help to the forefront of the line, and shine a light on those looking to abuse the system. I appreciate the hard work that you've done for our state, and I sincerely hope that, should you find yourself in the same position as Florida Governor Rick Scott, you would do the ri ght thing and approve the bill.
6/14/2011	17817	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I recognize that part of being the Governor is making tough choices. I also recognize that part of what makes a community a great place to raise a family is its parks and recreational facilities. For over 20 years, my family and I have lived near Waldron Lake. My sons played soccer there in the summer and pick-up ice hockey in the winter. We have walked and ridden bikes there for years. It's a true community park/soccer field. I hope you will allow the funds for the purchase of the 16.9 acre community park and multi-use recreation area to keep it safe from development and open to use by our children and our children's children. Help us save and preserve Waldron Lake. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17818		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Please support this year's Capital Budget funding for purchase of the Waldron subdivision tract in Anchorage. This green space asset is valuable to the community on multiple levels. This park area is used by families all year long. This space is easily accessible and also lies along the Campbell Creek bike/walking path. Please help us maintain this property which adds greatly to Anchorage's "quality of life". 06.14.11 Responded via email.
6/14/2011	17819		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	As a resident living near the Waldron Lake properties I strongly urge you to NOT VETO funds for this park and multi-use recreation area. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)

6/14/2011	17820		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Please include the $50,000 for lighting improvements for the JACC currently in the Capital Budget. Speaking on behalf of the many groups and individuals who use the building regularly (anywhere from 3000 to 6000 monthly!), the lighting is the top priority at this point. Currently we use old, noisy, gymnasium lights that are either on or off, and a marginal system of extension cords to provide very limited theater lights, augmented by Christmas lights, for events. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17821		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I am aware that you are cutting the budget at this time. I am asking that you seriously consider the funding for the Blue lake Expnsion project in Sitka. There are so many pluses to the project and to the future economy and welfare of the people in this town. Cleaner environment. cheaper electricity in a town that is being heavily impacted by the rising costs of everything because of the cost of oil. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)

6/14/2011	17826		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I'm writing in support of the Blue Lake Hydro project located in Sitka. As you are aware Sitka needs the additional electric power that will be provided by the raising of the Blue Lake Dam. This project is important for providing affordable electric power, and it is also important for economic growth. Not to mention the jobs that will be created during construction. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)

I would like this request entered into the constituent response system so that I will eventually receive a response. My email messages have previously been sent to Grant Administrator Ms. Johnson, Commissioner Bell, and to you. Ms. Bell, 6.15.11 NRN per P.Kelly (jw). As you know, I asked for time with the governor to speak with him directly about his decision to honor state Senator Johnny Ellis' request for a grant in the amount of $100,000.00 for Ellis' unvetted constituents. The "Alaska Disabled Veterans Sports Program" is headq uartered in Fairview and the most recent Ellis newsletter honors two of the ADVSP board members on its front page. The governor referred me to you at a time when you were not in the office.

6/14/2011	17830	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I understand there is a $715,000 appropriation in the state capital budget to expand the Glen Alps parking lot by 50 spaces. On Friday the Glen Alps parking lot was full by 2pm and today (Memorial Day) we drive up there assuming it would be full. The plan to add 50 spaces near the current parking lot seems like a sensible investment so that locals and tourists alike are able to visit this high alpine environment. Unlike the proposal in the Draft Chugach State Park Management Plan to build a road through the park from Upper Huffman to Glen Alps, this Glen Alps parking expansion will have much less environmental impact. I respectfully ask that you approve the funding to expand the Glen Alps parking lot. Feel free to call or email me I can answer any questions related to this issue. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17831		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	It has come to my attention that 9.5 mil. dollars has been included in the Capital Budget for the next fiscal year. I want to take this opportunity to express just how important these funds are to the children of the Fairbanks community. I strongly support that this amount remain in the budget. As you already probably know, Barnette Magnet School is one of the oldest schools in the District. I believe it can be officially classified as an antique, as we celebrated it's 50th Anniversary of the school's founding this past Spring. The school serves many of the inner city students as well as out of district students. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)

6/14/2011	17838		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I support the Senate Bill 46, (the FY12 capital budget) where it has $400,000 allocated for the Bear Education Awareness and Research Sanctuary at the Alaska Wildlife Conservation Center (B.E.A.R.S). The Alaska Wildlife Conservation Center (AWCC) is a great place to visit for local people and tourists. The B.E.A.R.S interpretive facility will benefit the Anchorage and Portage Valley area and the State of Alaska ensuring tourism which produces revenue while letting the public be educated and view up close North America's largest carnivore.Please leave the FY2012 funding request $400,000.00 for B.E.A.R.S. 06.14.11 Responded via email. 6/14/2011	17839		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Please do not veto the $715,000 appropriation in the Capital Budget for a new parking lot at Glen Alps to supplement the existing lot. These new parking spaces are needed so that more people can enjoy access to Chugach State Park at its premier trailhead. This plan would be much less expensive than building a new road through the park and would have much less impact on our beautiful State Park. 06.14.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/14/2011	17840		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I am extremely concerned that our state is almost wholly dependent on the oil and gas industry for our state budget. Even though that we know that we have to diversify our state's investment portfolio (look at everything we do to be strategic about our permanent fund investments), we are still relying on oil revenue for an overwhelming part of our budget. That is why I think that it is so important that we make investments to diversify our energy supplies by investing in the Blue Lake Hydro-Electric project in Sitka. This project is an investment in State resources that will pay itself back by creating economic opportunities in Southeast Alaska that will benefit our state for many years into the future. 06.14.11 Responded via email. 6/14/2011	17872		Budget-Capital	OMB	Mail	Our 2011 commercial salmon season opens tomorrow at noon on Kodiak Island. This is the third season in a row that Karluk's early sockeye run will be too weak to allow enough fishing time to make ends meet for all of us west side set netters. The good news is that with the help of our state government much can be done to improve our early sockeye runs and our state hatchery runs on Kodiak Island.

This program is not just about energy efficiency, it's about jobs. After I saw an energy rating completed on local buildings, local mechanichal contractors, electricians, insulators, window installers and other contractors were called in to make upgrades to the homes of alaskan residents, upgrades which result in fuel savings by the homeowner and therefore surplus income to spend in the community. 6/15/2011	17941	BOI	AK Coastal Mgt Program (ACMP)	Rachel Bylsma	Email	Memorial Day just passed and at least most of us spent a moment thanking those that have died to give us the freedoms and voice in our government that we all enjoy. What I DO NOT understand is how our Representatives and Senators can continue to give away Alaskans rights to have a voice in how our National Government treats our state. We did it with our Fisheries and now the US Government is handling many of our fisheries instead of our State Fish and Game as it should be. Now rather than finding an acceptable compromise that will keep the Coastal Zone Management Program alive our elected officials would rather let it die and give away yet more of Alaska's Rights to a voice in what our National Government will do in our state. It is apparent Alaska's elected officials do not value those rights that so many have died to give us.

Our continued existence is based solely on the support of your office, and I would again like to thank you for your support. The reason for this letter is that I am perplexed by the recent decision to freeze any STEP increases and COLA increases to match the Hugh increase in the cost of living in bush Alaska where VPSO's work and live. 6/15/2011	17962	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I am not in favor of the gas line to Homer. I believe that the State should not be funding private businesses unless they are going to do it for all. To provide the pipeline for Enstar is not right. I have a small heating oil business and the State has not built my infrastructure for me. I am paying my own loans. I am paying my own way. I believe that if the pipeline comes to Homer because the State funds the infrastructure, there will be: 1. Loss of jobs from other heating providers for year round employees and wood providers. 2. Contributions to our small town will not be given by the huge corporation and the burden will become greater on the small businesses that live here and especially those whose lively hood will be taken away by this pipeline.3. Homer has said they do not want box stores. This is a box store in the form of a pipe.4. As a small business owner I work with people who are in need. 6/15/2011	17997		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	As a long-time Anchorage resident and a former Boys & Girls Clubs volunteer and staff member, I know the importance of the Waldron lake fields to the community. Not only do the sports fields serve thousands of school-age children in the Anchorage area, but the local neighborhoods as well as many throughout the community value the land as a public facility, in an undeveloped state in the heart of a heavily developed part of Anchorage. I believe the proposed partnership with the Municipality of Anchorage is a good solution. Please consider retaining this item in the current capital budget. Thank you! 06.15.11 Responded via email. 6/15/2011	17999		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	My wife and I have lived in close proximity to Waldron Lake in Anchorage for nearly 25 years. Our daughter played soccer there. On literally hundreds of occasions I have walked my dogs around Waldron Lake. I have photographed the loons that nest on the Lake each year. 6/15/2011	18001		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Your decision to not include $715K for Glen Alps parking lot in your proposed budget was a sound one. Chugach State Park is planning for access now; this appropriate is premature. Parks are finite resources; we expect at times not to have access (campgrounds have limits for example) because we want to know that our experience will be 'special' and that the resources will not be overrun. There are opportunities for private companies to provide shuttles and other services to Glen Alps that could be set back by building more parking now. Again, please veto the $715K 06.15.11 Responded via email. (tmm)

In the current economic climate, the need for expanded health services cannot be over stated and having experienced working at the Willow Clinic I can not overstate the huge need there is for a new and expanded facility. 6/14/2011	17816		Public Assistance	Robert Pearson	Email	CC: ZO I have recently heard news of the state of Florida enacting a law that requires welfare recipients to pass a drug test in order to receive their benefit. I find this law to be a brilliant strategy, especially for a state such as ours, with a large percentage living solely off of state and federal benefits. Not only would such a law cut down on state spending, but it would also bring those who actually do need help to the forefront of the line, and shine a light on those looking to abuse the system. I appreciate the hard work that you've done for our state, and I sincerely hope that, should you find yourself in the same position as Florida Governor Rick Scott, you would do the ri ght thing and approve the bill.
6/14/2011	17817		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I recognize that part of being the Governor is making tough choices. I also recognize that part of what makes a community a great place to raise a family is its parks and recreational facilities. For over 20 years, my family and I have lived near Waldron Lake. My sons played soccer there in the summer and pick-up ice hockey in the winter. We have walked and ridden bikes there for years. It's a true community park/soccer field. 6/14/2011	17830	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I understand there is a $715,000 appropriation in the state capital budget to expand the Glen Alps parking lot by 50 spaces. On Friday the Glen Alps parking lot was full by 2pm and today (Memorial Day) we drive up there assuming it would be full. The plan to add 50 spaces near the current parking lot seems like a sensible investment so that locals and tourists alike are able to visit this high alpine environment. Unlike the proposal in the Draft Chugach State Park Management Plan to build a road through the park from Upper Huffman to Glen Alps, this Glen Alps parking expansion will have much less environmental impact. Even though that we know that we have to diversify our state's investment portfolio (look at everything we do to be strategic about our permanent fund investments), we are still relying on oil revenue for an overwhelming part of our budget. That is why I think that it is so important that we make investments to diversify our energy supplies by investing in the Blue Lake Hydro-Electric project in Sitka. But I have become aware that there is state funding to purchase the property that surronds Waldron Lake adjacent to Tudor Road in Anchorage. It is owned by the Boys and Girls Club and has been used as a soccer field for many years. It ties into the Campbell Creek Trail and is a lovely spot of tranquility and respite for not only people but birds and waterfowl as well. I encourage you to support this measure. I just had my child support order for two children go from $397 a month to $140. The dead beat father has not visited/called his children in nine years yet he gets a break on child support for quitting his job. Wheres is my help, I send in documents to show I provide health care for my children and he is waived from health care expenses? Prior to the new order he was in the arrears of over $500 now he has a credit for $39. Where is putting the child first? Who gets lowered child support? When this order went into effect he was working at McDonalds you cant tell me he cannot find another job in the same area.

You can imagine as the state's second largest city, we were frustrated by our lack of success, even though we had turned in all of our reuqests in a timely manner and entered them into CAPSIS. Our meetings with the legislators went very well and we had no indication that we would not be successful.

As an energy consumer and program participant in a semi rural community (Talkeetna), I have seen the direct economic impact this program has had on the local homeowners and contractors in my area. This program is not just about energy efficiency, it's about jobs. After I saw an energy rating completed on local buildings, local mechanichal contractors, electricians, insulators, window installers and other contractors were called in to make upgrades to the homes of alaskan residents, upgrades which result in fuel savings by the homeowner and therefore surplus income to spend in the community. The rebate program offers alaskans a unique incentive to save on costly heating fuels while employing local contractors. What I DO NOT understand is how our Representatives and Senators can continue to give away Alaskans rights to have a voice in how our National Government treats our state. We did it with our Fisheries and now the US Government is handling many of our fisheries instead of our State Fish and Game as it should be. Now rather than finding an acceptable compromise that will keep the Coastal Zone Management Program alive our elected officials would rather let it die and give away yet more of Alaska's Rights to a voice in what our National Government will do in our state. It is apparent Alaska's elected officials do not value those rights that so many have died to give us.

First I would like to Thank you for all of your support for my program. Your support for the VPSO program is so vital as we have no union, or lobbyists. Our continued existence is based solely on the support of your office, and I would again like to thank you for your support. The reason for this letter is that I am perplexed by the recent decision to freeze any STEP increases and COLA increases to match the Hugh increase in the cost of living in bush Alaska where VPSO's work and live. Because the VPSO program is not part of the PERS, SBS, Differed Comp, State Medical, COLA and other state ben efits, all of our benefits comes directly out of our salary. When our salary falls so short of the actual costs of living in bush communities we rely on you and your staff to see this and act accordingly.

6/15/2011	17962	BOI	Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	I am not in favor of the gas line to Homer. I believe that the State should not be funding private businesses unless they are going to do it for all. To provide the pipeline for Enstar is not right. I have a small heating oil business and the State has not built my infrastructure for me. I am paying my own loans. I am paying my own way. I believe that if the pipeline comes to Homer because the State funds the infrastructure, there will be: 1. Loss of jobs from other heating providers for year round employees and wood providers. 2. Contributions to our small town will not be given by the huge corporation and the burden will become greater on the small businesses that live here and especially those whose lively hood will be taken away by this pipeline.3. Homer has said they do not want box stores. This is a box store in the form of a pipe.4. As a small business owner I work with people who are in need. If the huge corporations take away a major part of my business, it will make it difficult to do that in the future. 06.15.11 Responded via email. (tmm)
6/15/2011	17963		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	CC: DK I would like to suggest that we build a Commercial Arctic Port on the eastern coast of Clarence bay southwest of Teller, AK to exploit the new polar shipping route from Europe to Asia through the Bering strait. This port will bring great, permanent jobs to north-western Alaska. A port in this location will give Alaska and USA direct access to this new arctic shipping route and to the huge commercial potential that this will offer. Federal funding may also be possible. Kawerak Corp. can partner with and operate this port together with the State of Alaska. Clean tidal power right from Clarence Bay and Grantly Harbor may be used to power such a port and to bring ver y cheap unlimited power to Teller, Nome and surrounding villages.

My 10 year old daughter, Erica, is a student in the highly gifted program at Rogers Park Elementary School. First, I want to thank you for supporting Alaska's children and their families through your tireless work in developing the Alaska Performance Scholarship. Your strong support shows a commitment to supporting K-12 education and my family appreciates that support.In the capital budget before you, I realize you have very difficult decisions to make. That said, I can't think of a more worthy investment in Alaska's future than your support of projects that directly impact Alaska's youth. Two projects for which I urge your support are: 1) a project for safety upgrades to the Northern Lights Overpass, a structure used by many people in Anchorage, but more specifically, traversed by students who attend Rogers Park and must cross a very busy street; and 2) a project to upgrade technology, software, and equipment that is so critical to the education of Rogers Park students. 06.15.11 Responded via email. I agree with the plan outlined in the Anchorage Daily News, to expand the existing lot by some 50 spaces. This will allow all of us to legally park our cars after driving all the way up the Toilsome Drive hill so we can take our children hiking on the trails of our choice.

I think this is a great project for Alaska. It will create 20 full-time or part-time jobs. One million will be spent in Alaska for the production. I think it will be great to let Alaskan know what some of the state founders and leaders have done for our state. The documentary will help set a vision for where Alaska is going. It will be good for tourism and will get national exposure from the Kim Andell Production. I want to state my support for this project in the capital budget. You're doing a great job Governor.

6/17/2011	18082		Budget-Capital	OMB	Email	Dear Governor Parnell, I hope you will veto funds for the new sports center at UAA. As a 97 graduate and hockey fan, I'm disappointed in the exclusion of hockey from the new sports center plans. Building a new sports center which seats 5600, when fewer than 900 fans are likely to attend doesn't make sense. No real justification has been offered for other options to offer better facilities to all sports, why chose to exclude only hockey from improvements? I thought the reason UAA excluded hockey was to save money, but now they've just increased the cost by a third to add more unnecessary seats! 06.17.11 Responded via email. (tmm)

YOUR COMMENTS: Honorable Governor Parnell,

I am deeply saddened and appalled by the State's black and brown bear snaring program in Unit 16B. This is not only an inhumane way to kill animals, but it is unnecessary as there are enough moose in this Unit.

Snaring and baiting stations do not belong in the 21st Century.

I am also opposed to wildlife management that is not based on science and wildlife research.

I urge you and ADF&G Commissioner Campbell to stop these brutal and dangerous practices and start to manage our State's valuable wildlife resources using sound, ecosystem-based, scientific methods.

Sincerely,

Dear Governor Parnell:

I am writing on behalf of the Alaska Railroad Corporation (ARRC) to express our continued support for the Port MacKenzie Rail Extension as expressed in the October 2010 Board approved resolution of support (see attached).

Since 2007, the Alaska Railroad has been working with the Matanuska-Susitna Borough (MSB) in the development of the railroad extension. We believe that the ARRC's participation in this project is a prime example of our charter responsibility to foster and support the economic development of the State of Alaska. We further intend to support MSB as requested to develop this project through completion.

At this time, we expect the environmental review and permitting process will be completed during FY2012 unless there are formal challenges to the permits. The capital funding as appropriated by the State Legislature this year will maintain project momentum by providing for the construction contracts to be executed during FY2012.

Sincerely,

Christopher Aadnesen

Adopted: 10/12/2010

Relating to Support for Funding of the Port MacKenzie Rail Extension Project

WHEREAS, the Alaska Railroad Corporation (ARRC) is an economic engine and backbone for Alaska's transportation infrastructure, hauling millions of tons of freight per year and providing critical support for resource industries such as coal, petroleum, and gravel; and

WHEREAS, the State of Alaska needs to diversify and strengthen its economy and an effective transportation system facilitates such diversification; and

WHEREAS, the Matanuska-Susitna Borough is building a rail extension from Port MacKenzie to the ARRC mainline and the ARRC is assisting in this effort by serving as a contractor and applicant to the Surface Transportation Board for approval of the project; and

WHEREAS, the new rail line will shorten the distance for transporting minerals and freight from the Interior to tidewater and the ARRC expects that the rail extension will lead to additional bulk resource rail transport opportunities in the future; and

WHEREAS, the ARRC serves ports in Seward, Whittier and Anchorage and the rail connection to Port MacKenzie, with its 9,000 acres of industrial zoned land and deep-draft dock, is a logical next step in enhancing the State's transportation capacity for bulk natural resources; and

WHEREAS, the Port MacKenzie rail extension will also provide an additional rail route to tidewater that can serve both military logistics and national security needs; and

WHEREAS, this project is expected to create thousands of new jobs for Alaskans and is a project of statewide benefit and significance.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the ARRC Board of Directors supports the Matanuska-Susitna Borough's request for the inclusion of $55 million in the Governor's Fiscal Year 2012 Capital Project Budget to complete Phase Four of the construction of the rail extension between Port MacKenzie and the ARRC mainline.

This is to certify that I am the Secretary of the Board of Directors of the Alaska Railroad Corporation, and the above Resolution No. 2010-34 is a true and correct copy of the resolution adopted by the Alaska Railroad Corporation's Board of Directors at its regular meeting on October 12, 2010.

Dear Governor Parnell,

As an Alaskan concerned about the rising epidemic of obesity in Alaska, I am writing to urge you approve funding for childhood obesity prevention programs in Alaska's schools and communities.

The 2012 capital budget includes necessary appropriations to enhance the Childhood Obesity Prevention Program. Obesity is second only to tobacco as a major risk factor for cancer, and our children may be the first generation of Alaskans that have a shorter life expectancy than that of their parents.

Please approve the $730,000 allocated in the capital budget towards preventing childhood obesity.

Sincerely,

BOI

Subject: Blue Lake Dam Expansion Project

Dear Governor Parnell,

This is just a friendly reminder about our Blue Lake Expansion Project. There is no way we can become more self-sufficient in Sitka unless we can grow existing business as well as attract new growth. The likelihood of getting the Feds to help us are slim to none. We are also looking at the reality of having outdated diesel generators to supplement our hydro at low water times as well as transmission interruptions. A new diesel generator is going to cost us another ten million dollars or more. There is also the federal mandate to install a UV disinfectant plant for our Blue Lake drinking water which will cost another six to eight million dollars. Our citizens have voted to bond for fifty million dollars of the cost for Blue Lake Dam Project. As a Sitkan of sixty years and the present mayor, I ask this huge favor of you to keep this item in your capital budget.

Respectfully,

Cheryl Westover

Re: World Trade Center Alaska Appropriation of $300,000

Dear Governor:

This letter is to urge your allowance of the full capital budget appropriation to the World Trade Center Alaska (WTCAK).

The $300,000 will support the international trade activities of the World Trade Center Alaska. WTCAK is the only work-a-day, bread and butter agency in the whole State of Alaska which specializes in the encouragement, promotion and realization of international trade. A significant portion of our gross state product results from overseas commerce between Alaska and its foreign trading partners. But WTCAK cannot do its vital work without at least $300,000 of direct state assistance. With your concurrence, Governor, we look forward to Alaska's best export year yet, and we pledge to work closely with the state and its commerce people.

We look forward to conducting our vital business under your enlightened leadership, and in jointly plowing the very fertile fields of international trade.

Cordially yours,

Joe

I am on the Kachemak City Council and was a member on the Homer Natural Gas Line Task Force. I am pleading with you to not veto this project. It is the most important project that you could approve for this area. It has a demonstrated 10 year payback to the tax payers in savings on schools and hospital heating costs alone, and will be the only source of energy for our residents that we will be able to purchase at Anchorage prices. Please remember that the lower peninsula residents always pay 15-25 per gallon more for each gallon of gasoline and heating fuel. Sorry for the delay in responding, I needed to discuss this issue with General Katkus. After the discussion it's clear that General Katkus would not have sufficient assignments for you to put you on full time. He did confirm the conversation he had with you and that the best he could do is 4 to 6 days a month and I can understand the financial situation this puts you in. I wish I had other news and a different solution for you but I don't. I will be in Anchorage next week and would be happy to meet with you. I will ask my Executive Assistant to try and scheduled an appointment if you are still interested in the meeting.

Mr Nizich,
First, I would like to thank you for meeting with me last August, and attending to my individual concerns outlined in my email below . I understand from MG Katkus that you spoke to him over the weekend of 1-2 October to inquire about his plans for my career. When he and I met on 4 Oct, he and I agreed on a process that would conclude my career on good terms and I was optimistic that I would be able to help improve the command climate. I was ready to call you to offer my thanks, but then things turned bad.
I met with Gen Katkus yesterday and learned he had not been completely honest with me. When it came time to execute on our agreement, he changed it: rather than allow me access to the work days routinely and automatically available to officers in the AKANG (we work on a per diem basis and I would normally have access to 49 days in the first fiscal quarter) he would approve only 4-6 days per month. This is quite different than the approximately 14 days I would need – and understood he would approve. Of course this is personally troubling,

BOI/PR

While disappointing, the best option for my family is to recognize the limitations Gen Katkus has placed on my career. He finally stated plainly that "There's no work for you to do here, Chuck." I and others disagree, but it is not our judgment that matters in this question, but only his. This means that for the good of my family I should request the earliest possible retirement date, even though doing so will prohibit me from further service past that date. The next available date is 01 November. Even though I cannot actually retire on 1 November, I hopefully will be able to petition the Air Force for back pay once my retirement actions are resolved.

Yet there are troubles greater than my career termination. I still have serious concerns about the health of our Alaska National Guard. The command climate has deteriorated. Gen Katkus believes that there are only a few loud complainers; as a field commander, I have tried to advise him otherwise, yet he shrugs off any comment that conflicts with his paradigm. I again make myself available to meet if you desire, either as a member of your National Guard prior to 1 Nov, or as a presumptive retiree after.

Respectfully,

Chuck Foster

Mr Nizich,
I hope you recall our meeting in August. Although I lamented that such a meeting was needed, I came away optimistic that the environment for the Alaska National Guard could be and would be improved. Since that time however, I believe that the command climate has deteriorated even further, and unless the course is altered it will not improve.
In a few short days, I will be eliminated from service in the Alaska National Guard due to lack of an assignment following my departure from the 176th Wing command position. For this reason, timing is again important to me. I ask for one final meeting to pass along my concerns and those of the Airmen and Soldiers who serve. Unless MG Katkus reverses course, I will lose my membership in the AKNG on or about 16 October. If we could meet prior to that date I would be grateful. If needed, I will come to Juneau.

Mr Nizich,
I am Chuck Foster, commander of the 176th Wing of the Alaska Air National Guard at Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson. While my military position informs what I would like to discuss with you, I stress that my request is made as an individual, as opposed to a function of my office.
I trust you are aware of some of the challenges that face the Alaska National Guard, and perhaps those challenges specific to the 176th Wing. As a departing commander (a change of command is scheduled for September 18th) I have become aware of a rising number of concerns in the wing which I am unable to address with Major General Katkus. I am at a very uncomfortable quandary, yet I would like to have some of your time to relay these concerns. I will be truthful: some of these concerns I share personally, so if you are able to meet with me I will give you both my first-hand account, and speak for others in my command who believe I am their only recourse.
As I mentioned, I leave my command position on 18 September, so timeliness is a concern if not only due to the weight of the topic. I am currently scheduled to depart on a trip 25 Aug-3 Sep. If we are not able to meet prior to the 24th, I am willing to cancel the trip. I am currently waiting for a meeting with Gen Katkus but given the time constraints I thought it might be best to get on your calendar sooner rather than later.

I have presumed to contact you directly and if this is not appropriate I ask that you help redirect my request.

Thank you for your attention and assistance; I look forward to our meeting.

Our chaplain corps across the Alaska National Guard has become increasingly alarmed at the command climate, morale and welfare of our organization. Throughout the units in the Air and Army Guard dissatisfaction with our direction, our morals and our ethics has become more and more evident.

Below are listed some senior leaders we recommend you contact to learn more of what is really happening with our Guard. All of them are willing to share their thoughts if asked. Due to the nature of their military training it is inappropriate for them to jump the chain of command and raise concerns, but not so if a senior approaches them and asks questions. Accompanied with their names is contact information and specific questions to which the answers will shed valuable light on what is really happening here:

Colonel Carlisle Lincoln: BOI

- Ask him about how the Air Guard is being driven into the ground by those few who are caring more for themselves than the organization as a whole.
- Ask him about leadership tactics of intimidation and fear that hamstring the organization.
- Ask him to provide you the results for the Air Guard's piece of TAG's command climate survey.

Brigadier General Randy Banez: BOI

- Ask him why he's retiring from the Alaska Army National Guard.
- Ask him about being threatened and bullied by TAG.
- Ask him to provide you the results for the Army Guard's piece of TAG's command climate survey.

Brigadier General Charles Foster: BOI

- Ask him why he's retiring from the Alaska Air National Guard.
- Ask him what the status is of our command climate in the AKNG.
- Ask him if the command climate is satisfactory, or needs to change.
- Ask him what we need to do to make the command climate better.
- Ask him why so many of our Service members are disengaged and disillusioned with our general officers.

Questions that could be asked of all three of these leaders and, quite frankly, any number of officers and senior enlisted throughout the AKNG:

- Does TAG invite dissenting opinion?
- Does TAG value critique?
- Is TAG honest?

Sir, we need help. Things are becoming dynamic here. The AKNG may look and smell like a rose from an external view, but we are suffering internally. Trust is perpetually very, very low. Anger is quite high and ongoing.

Sent: Tuesday, November 01, 2011 3:39 PM
To: Nizich, Michael A (GOV)
Subject: Re: From Brig Gen (ret) Ramsay regarding Concerns about the Alaska National Guard

Dear Mr Nizich,

After I wrote my September 16 e-mail to you, I heard that Brig Gen Foster and MG Katkus had a discussion and Katkus essentially said that he would "take care" of Brig Gen Foster; Foster would work for Katkus until Jan !, Foster would get his prerequisites, and would be allowed to retire as a Brig Gen. Subsequent to that, I understand that Katkus did a 180 and told Foster that he didn't have any resources (man days) or work for Foster and that Foster would be retiring as a Colonel for pay.

I believe Katkus does have the resources and he certainly has the work: When the future draconian cuts to the DoD happen due to the deficit or due to the inability of Congress to make those mandated cuts at the end of the year relating to the debt ceiling agreement, it is ridiculous to think that the Alaska Air Guard wouldn't be hit very hard.

In the past, each State was guaranteed at least one ANG flying unit. But since 2005, that construct is no longer valid. Fine Air Guard flying units all over the country have been shut down and/or converted to non-flying missions such as intelligence, drone flying, and cyber warfare. Some States no longer have flying units. The Alaska Air Guard currently has FIVE FLYING UNITS. With current budget pressures, to think that Alaska will be able hold on to all of them is folly.

MG Katkus should commission a study to be done by Brig Gen Foster--the senior "Air flier" in the State--on how the Alaska Air Guard could best maintain the most capability possible, when these unprecedented cuts come. Katkus and McManus being non-fliers, are not interested in or qualified to do such a study. Rather, MG Katkus chooses to stick his head in the sand and do nothing instead of relying on his most senior Air Guard flying officer whose integrity, professionalism and work ethic are so fully evident. To think that Katkus says he "doesn't have any work" for Foster is utterly ridiculous.

Additionally, you need to know that "the troops" in the Air Guard are very well aware of the poor treatment afforded to Brig Gen Foster and other senior officers at the Wing level. This will have long reaching negative effects. In addition to hurting retention and morale, it has caused some mid-level officers to no longer aspire to higher rank, responsibility and command. They are asking themselves "why would I want to be treated the way Foster and other senior leaders have been treated?" Sad state of affairs.

I know of one recent retiree who has considered contacting the Anchorage media about interest in conducting an investigative expose regarding allegations (and on-going IG investigations) of abuse of power by Katkus and McManus. Such negative publicity is the last thing the Alaska National Guard needs.

If Katkus and McManus continue to be successful in treating senior officers shabbily, driving off good people, and disregarding fantastic officers such as Colonel Lincoln, the Alaska Air Guard will end up like a losing sports team--it will enter a "rebuilding mode." It can ill-afford this, particularly if bad publicity and dramatic cuts come at the same time. The Alaska Air Guard could very well begin to implode and recovery would be difficult. I know the Governor wouldn't want to see such a thing happen.

Please help to ensure that Brig Gen Foster is treated with the respect he deserves and that he is allowed to retire as a Brig Gen for pay. And please don't let abuses of power and failure to properly plan for future fiscal realities destroy the Alaska Air National Guard. I'm proud to say that it was my "life's work" and it deserves better. Thank you.

Respectfully,

Subject: From Brig Gen (ret) Ramsay regarding Concerns about the Alaska National Guard

Dear Mr. Nizich,

I understand that Governor Parnell has asked you to be involved with personnel matters relating to the Alaska National Guard. At the beginning of the year, you may have seen the long letter I wrote to the Governor (which was never acknowledged) regarding my belief that Brig Gen McManus deserved removal for cause. I continue to have deep concerns about the Alaska National Guard, specifically regarding several instances of shoddy, disrespectful treatment being afforded to Brig Gen Charles Foster, Commander, 176th Wing, Alaska Air National Guard. You may know that Brig Gen Foster is relinquishing command of the 176th Wing this weekend. Since he certainly has more to offer the AKANG and USAF, Brig Gen Foster recently applied for and was accepted to the prestigious position of ANG Advisor to 14th Air Force (Air Force Strategic) Vandenberg AFB, CA. Without Foster's knowledge, MG Katus communicated with 14th AF, informing them that Brig Gen Foster would not be coming and they needed to find someone else. Foster found out about this fact (a humiliating situation) from 14th Air Force. This assignment would have been good for Brig Gen Foster and also good for the AKNG.

This disrespectful treatment ranks right up there with a previous totally inappropriate occasion earlier this year when Brig Gen Foster got a new boss (Col Lincoln) as a total surprise; Foster found out about it via an AKNG Public Affairs news release posted on Facebook rather than via a face-to-face meeting with MG Katkus. Furthermore, I understand MG Katkus plans for Brig Gen Foster to retire soon. I have no problem with that, however, because Foster is just short of some minor prerequisites, he will have to retire as a Colonel for pay. I do have a problem with that. In most organizations, where a senior officer has served with honor and distinction in a position for over 3 years, a Wing Commander such as Brig Gen Foster would be allowed to complete those minor prerequisites prior to retirement and be allowed to retire as a Brigadier General. However, it appears that Brig Gen McManus and MG Katkus are not allowing this and are forcing him to retire as a Colonel for pay.

I know you had great hopes for Colonel Lincoln and thought things such as declining morale and increasing separations due to the poor climate, would improve with time and Col Lincoln's leadership. I did too; Lincoln is a fine officer. But I now feel that thus far, Col Lincoln has been overruled and rendered virtually ineffective, time after time, by Brig Gen McManus and MG Katkus. Too bad.

Brig Gen Foster is one of the finest officers with whom I have ever served. He absolutely emulates the USAF Core Values of Service, Excellence and Integrity. Please address the disrespectful treatment being accorded Brig Gen Foster and ensure that he is allowed to retire as a Brig Gen for pay, something that he has earned during a long and distinguished career. I have your office and cell numbers, but I have not used them them, feeling that this e-mail would be less intrusive to you and your busy schedule. Please feel free to contact me anytime, via e-mail, phone or letter if you need any more information regarding this situation. Thank you for your attention in this matter and I look forward to hearing from you.

Below you will find a NGA News Release from earlier today regarding the NGA Council of Governors' Legislative Proposal. Of note, the release has already been forwarded to your Communications Director and Washington D.C./State-Federal Director.

On Friday, the Senate accepted the Council of Governors' legislative proposal to authorize the call-up of the Reserve forces for disaster response and codify the role of a dual-status commander. The provision was offered as an amendment by Senators Levin (D-MI), Webb (D-VA), Graham (R-SC) and Leahy (D-VT) and was adopted by unanimous consent.

Of course, please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

GOVERNORS APPLAUD SENATE ACCEPTANCE OF COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS' LEGISLATIVE PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON—The National Governors Association (NGA) today issued the following statement regarding the amendment offered by Senators Levin, Webb, Graham and Leahy to the National Defense Authorization Act for FY2012 (S.1867):

"The nation's governors applaud the United States Senate for addressing long-standing concerns regarding disaster response across the country. By accepting the Council of Governors' legislative proposal to authorize the call-up of the Reserve forces for disaster response and codify the role of a dual-status commander, the Senate has helped to ensure efficient and effective disaster response.

"Responding to the needs of their citizens is a top priority for governors. Avoiding duplication of effort when responding to a disaster is critical for a rapid response. Dual Status Command allows a National Guard officer or a commissioned federal military officer to simultaneously direct both state and federal military forces. This helps ensure that when military forces are deployed for a domestic emergency, they can operate seamlessly together to save lives and perform other critical missions.

"NGA commends the Senate for recognizing the value of Dual Status Command and applauds the amendment to the National Defense Authorization Act. The nation's governors look forward to continuing to work with Congress to ensure enactment of the legislation."

One additional point, the TAG was in DC last month and met with Gen Swartzkfoff. This not only has implications for [redacted], but the entire Alaska National Guard.

FYSA,

I was just informed by DP/EP/BOI/PR that one of his Soldiers, BOI/PR was arrested by AK State Troopers DP/EP/BOI... for sexual abuse of a minor. He was arraigned on BOI/PR and his preliminary hearing is BOI/PR. According to BOI/PR, he has been with the Guard for about BO... years and works in BOI/PR, most recently as a BOI/PR.

I don't anticipate much media coverage, but if we do get calls we will just confirm that he was a member of the AKARNG and refer all other calls to law enforcement.

Sorry you feel that way, not sure what prompted this message from you. I have been working very hard in trying to understand the issues and attempting to get to the truth and accuracy of statements and information I have received regarding the management issues at the DMVA/Alaska National Guard that have been areas of concern to many individuals.

Based upon the input received from multiple sources over the last year and a half I have in-turn had many conversations with the leadership at DMVA trying to figure out what needs to change for the betterment of those that sever in the Alaska National Guard as well as what information and accusations are accurate vs. not. I have had endless meetings and conversation with DMVA leadership to convey concerns that I have heard from all that have called me, written to me in letter form, emails and voice messages. I have heard from individuals both active duty and retired and never breached confidence of those that have asked me to keep their conversations confidential.

I have served in the military and know all about the chain of command and the sensitivities of going outside those lines. Since my conversations with DMVA leadership (still on-going) there has been several positive changes made at DMVA and more on the horizon. These changes have not happened by coincidence.

I don't have much more to say to you except I am extremely frustrated right now and disappointed in receiving your communication suggesting that I breached the chaplains confidence.

Mr Nizich,

On the last issue with Colonel Lincoln and the TAG over DC contacting him with negative accusations it seems our confidentiality was compromised as chaplains. In that the TAG told Chaplain Koch, "A 176WG chaplain or chaplains have been a conduit to the governor." You understood that confidentiality for chaplains is dear and that we all have tried our chain of command and why Ch Friese contacted you in frustration. At this point in time I do not see you as a trusted agent for positive change and growth in the Alaska National Guard.

Good Morning,
I am sorry to read this breakdown. Mike, you have been a huge help over this last year in listening to us as you have with so many others in the chorus of concerns. We appreciate all you have done! Although I am not aware of what has most recently transpired, I do know we are always concerned about our confidentiality - which is not for our benefit. As you have stated, a breach of confidentiality at this level could have very negative impacts on one of many members of the NG who we are all very concerned about - namely Col Lincoln. If the TAG connected him in this through us, we have not only further hurt a great leader and dear friend, but we have harmed our ability to help senior leaders. Perhaps you would consider a 15 -30 min conference call for the 4 of us Chaplains just to share with you our heart. So much of communication is lost through text only. I believe all of our desires reflect a concern for the men and women of the Alaska National Guard.

Again, we appreciate you and know you have an extremely difficult job - must feel like a meat grinder most days!

Good Afternoon and thank you for your return call last week.

I decided not to bother you at this time. I really don't know what precipitated the email from Ch Cavens. Ch Koch extends his most sincere apologies. This was not reflective of us as Chaplains!

Would it be OK if I kept you in the loop on info we hear? I would really love an opportunity to schedule a 15 min phone call with you and Chaplain Koch. He has a much better sense of everything going on with the Army and Air NG as the state chaplain. He can expand further but here are three quick bullets:

- Very little trust / confidence within the organization directly related to the leadership of the TAG and BG McManus
- Organizational leaders are "yes" people because of fear; they have seen the separation and execution of other leaders and individually are seeking to determine if it is worth it to fall on their sword; I have heard this personally from our top leadership
- The best way to relate what is happening is likening it to an abusive relationship

Again, if we could have a 15 min scheduled time with you, we would love to clarify a couple things and hear from you what is most helpful. We are not interested in just causing problems or stirring the pot because it is somehow gratifying. To be honest, I would rather not be involved in all of this, but it is what we do in being a source of confidentiality and advising.

Thank you for your leadership and patience with us!

Good Afternoon and thank you for your return call last week.

I decided not to bother you at this time. I really don't know what precipitated the email from Ch Cavens. Ch Koch extends his most sincere apologies. This was not reflective of us as Chaplains!

Would it be OK if I kept you in the loop on info we hear? I would really love an opportunity to schedule a 15 min phone call with you and Chaplain Koch. He has a much better sense of everything going on with the Army and Air NG as the state chaplain. He can expand further but here are three quick bullets:

- Very little trust / confidence within the organization directly related to the leadership of the TAG and BG McManus
- Organizational leaders are "yes" people because of fear; they have seen the separation and execution of other leaders and individually are seeking to determine if it is worth it to fall on their sword; I have heard this personally from our top leadership
- The best way to relate what is happening is likening it to an abusive relationship

Again, if we could have a 15 min scheduled time with you, we would love to clarify a couple things and hear from you what is most helpful. We are not interested in just causing problems or stirring the pot because it is somehow gratifying. To be honest, I would rather not be involved in all of this, but it is what we do in being a source of confidentiality and advising.

Thank you for your leadership and patience with us!

Hello!
Today's issues include:
-DOE: There were a lot of emails CTS'd today (form letters) advocating more funding for education in Alaska
-Taxation: 4 emails total voicing opinions on the oil tax breaks, mostly negative
-OMB: various budget requests
-Miscellaneous: a man stating he is in support of Coastal Zone Management, but opposing Pebble and Chuitna Mines, he believes fisheries should be Alaska's main priority.

Hope this is helpful! Have a nice evening!

3/1/2012	22874	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	My name is Maynard Tapp. I am a proud 20 year citizen of the State of Alaska and a partner is a small business founded in Alaska. I am here representing myself. I don't speak for any organization, nor do I speak for the oil producing companies. Please stop studying the problem reduced to its infinite detail. I propose the following to keep it simple:- 1.Immediately kill ACES, ACES has killed production. 2.Immediately determine what tax regime will stop the decline of production, killing ACES may not be enough. (Oil is the financial lifeblood of the State of Alaska. It is the State of Alaska's elected officials that are responsible for developing the state's resources. Oil is valueless in the ground and we have great partners that have, year after year have spent billions of dollars and helped us extract that resource, thereby monetizing our state's wealth.) 3.Identify the tax regime/business plan that will achieve the Governor's goal of 1.0 million barrels per day pumped through the Alyeska Pipeline. (50/50 seams fair, Alberta or Gulf Coast models).

3/1/2012	22876	BOI	F&G/Miscellaneous	Rachel Bylsma	Email	Lead: RB CC: LO I was very pleased to see that House Bill 144, an Act requiring the Department of Natural Resources annually to deliver to the legislature and the Governor of Alaska a report on fishing stream access, passed the Senate by a vote of 20-0. I am writing to you to let you know that I fully support this bill, and ask you to sign it into law. This bill will help ensure future public access to Alaska's fishing streams by encouraging DNR to identify public access areas that are in jeopardy of being lost. Access to fishing streams is a right that all Alaskans deserve. We certainly don't want Alaska to end up like so many western states such as Montana that have lost access, require the public to pay steep fees for access, or have to pay large sums of money to buy parcels back that have been lost, and this bill will help Alaska avoid a similar fate.
3/1/2012	22877		Fisheries	Rachel Bylsma	Email	Lead: RB CC: LO The Kenai River Sportfishing Association (KRSA) supports the legislative objective of House Bill 144, an act requiring the Alaska Department of Natural Resources, in conjunction with the Alaska Department of Fish and Game, to annually deliver to the Legislature and the Governor's office a report on fishing stream access. HB 144 has passed both the House and Senate and waits for your signature to become law.

Pensions provide $1.7 Billion to the local economy each year, resulting in 12,000 local jobs. I am glad you are trying to help insulate Alaska from economic growth and stability. That would just be horrible if we had people who could actually afford to patronize local businesses and spend more money in their cities and towns all over the state. Good Luck in your senate run, if you work to reinstate the pension, I will vote for you if not - I will vote for Begich.
3/1/2012	22880	BOI	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	Regarding a proposal that would lower the state's oil and gas production tax, I do not support a proposal that would lower the state's oil and gas production tax. The addition of verifiable and reasonable in amount additional investment by the oil companies in exchange for lowere d production taxes in my mind is essential otherwise its just a big give away and opens politician to the same old argument that they are being paid off for the benefit. In business we bargain and nothing is free and they realize that.
3/1/2012	22881		Oil/Gas Development Misc	Rachel Bylsma	Email	Sean you need to come do a visit to the north slope oilfields and see how many out of state people work up here before trying to give the oil companies a tax break. I work at the kuparuk oilfield and my company kakivik asset management is run by out of state people, and every time I even step foot into the camp I feel im in Texas, Louisiana, montana, and Minnesota. I have friends that are welders, inspectors just like me that can't get a job up here for the life of them and this is with a degree through the university of Alaska anchorage in the field. I got friends that have process tech degrees and can't even get hired as a apprentice up here cause they are not from Texas. I think you have did a g reat job as govenor better then the last one, but this subject has to be brought up. I don't know if you actually read this but thanks for your time.

Our organizations advocate for a criminal justice system that brings healing for victims of crime, restoration for those who commit crimes, and to maintain public safety. We write in reference to a letter you recently received from Harley Lappin, Chief Corrections Officer at Corrections Corporation of America (CCA), announcing the Corrections Investment Initiative – the corporation's plan to spend up to $250 million buying prisons from state, local, and federal government entities, and then managing the facilities. The letter from Mr. Lappin states that CCA is only interested in buying prisons if the state selling the prison agrees to pay CCA to operate the prison for 20 years – at minimum. Mr. Lappin further notes that any prison to be sold must have at least 1,000 beds, and that the state must agree to keep the prison at least 90% full during the length of the contract.

3/1/2012	22884	BOI/PR	Taxation	Micaela Fowler	Email	Dear Governor Parnell, Let me start out by stating that I am a CONSERVATIVE. First off, there are a lot of independent companies that ARE interested in Alaska's oil patch. While I have heard that there are or may be problems with their accessing the Pipeline, I have not verified this for myself. BUT…if they are being denied access to ship their oil to market, the State of Alaska MUST make sure that they do have a fair and equitable opportunity to inject their oil for delivery to market. Secondly, Alaskans should have a significant amount of the jobs on the north slope and other drilling ventures in the State of Alaska. The oil companies are effectively ostracizing qualified Alaskans, and the State of Alaska has done little to change this horrible practice.

3/1/2012	22886		H&SS/Miscellaneous	Robert Pearson	POM	I have a question for you about saving money for the state. Everybody that's on welfare assistance or foodstamps, why don't we make them do community service and drug tests? We have to make some kind of effort, these people are just getting fat and lazy off of everybody else's work. I was wondering what your response is to that.
3/1/2012	22887		DNR/Miscellaneous	Rachel Bylsma	Email	Calling in regards to the ridiculous oil prices they're facing. Oil used to be $875 a year, this year it's going to surpass $7,000. I'm using the same amount of oil. We have no natural gas, can't burn wood or coal according to the EPA. How do you expect this problem to be solved? I have tenants and rentals. I'm going to have to start lowering rent to them to pay for the oil. It's outrageous. How can a person make it when oil is $7,000? Are you trying to close down Fairbanks? Do we have fraudulent activity going on? Please help us with this.

I was a member of the AK Army National Guard for several years and have 17.5 years of good service. I was passed over for Major in 1990 and Col. Shaw, the G-1 was to have converted me to an Enlisted slot so I could complete my 20 years of service and be eligible for retirement. He apparently retired and I was discharged, without notice, seperation physical, etc. in September of 1990. I would like to either complete my 2.5 years of service in the Guard, or there is a regulation providing for retirement, for those that have been impro perly seperated from the Alaska National Guard. I have repeatedly asked the Guard to provide me with a copy of that regulatioon and they refuse to do so. I have been trying to resolve this since 2008 to no avail.

Deborah has always been active in the Midwives Association of Alaska and has worked hard with the Board on some regulation projects. She is well respected in both the midwifery community as well as the medical community. I feel she has the energy and perspective needed to be an effective board member. I have also written a letter on behalf of the Midwives Association of Alaska in support of Kaye Kanne C.D.M. whom I feel is also a good choice. I was asked by Brandon Mailten to support a second candidate and Deborah Schneider was willing to be considered for the position and so I would like to support her as well. I am respectively requesting a brief visit with you that will allow me to better understand your position as lis ted below in a recent quote referencing an opinion letter challenging your support of Alaska Schools: Rather than automatically enlarging budgets with little ongoing scrutiny, I support funding annually justified education increases. For example, if energy costs are estimated to go up by $19.1 million in the next year, then lets write a check for that amount. That way, the increasing expenditures are scrutinized every year, weighed in the balance with other appropriations, and we don't leave a debt for our children and grandchildren to pay like our federal government.

Last year, due to budget cuts, I lost my job. I was a technology coordinator, but, due to lack of funding, I was considered expendable. I am so very thankful to be teaching in a classroom again, however, what message are we sending to students when we cut positions related to t echnology and eliminate relevant tools that connect with students in the way they are accustomed to learning? For example, why do schools say "no personal digital devices allowed from 8:15 to 3:00 pm?" The smart phones they carry in their pockets are more powerful than the computers that sent man to the moon, but we ban them in the classroom.

3/1/2012	22917		Budget/DOE	Robert Pearson	Email	Mr. Parnell, I have been reading about the funding issues with the school districts. I am a custodian for FNSB, and I am very concerned about my job. I have been told there is a good possibility I could lose my position and my benefits. I Have worked very hard to get where I am today, making enough money to survive. I understand not wanting to write a blank check, but please be aware that them not getting funding needed will devastate over a hundred people financially. I can't afford to lose my job in today's economy. I could not feed myself or my son, and I would lose my house. I implore you please give them what is needed to keep the schools floating. We need every job that is available.

This funding increase will allow us to put more resources into improving student outcomes.

I am a district-wide gifted and talented teacher as well as a high school English teacher in Valdez, Alaska. I feel very strongly about the value of SB 171 because of my experiences with my students. Gifted and talented education is no longer funded statewide, so our district has creatively solved this problem by stretching my current job to fit other students' needs. If the BSA allocation does not increase, our district may have to find creative solutions that take services away from G/T students and increase class sizes for all students by eliminating teaching positions.

And no, I don't count the money that goes toward TERS and PERS, programs the state created and then cut without thought to the long term. I met with Rep. Alan Austerman to share with him the results we're seeing not only with individual students but also with entire classrooms and their teachers. This type of work takes time, and m oney. The main reason said for this ban is the possible transmission of disease from livestock to wild populations this is very unlikely with the use of pack animals. There seams to be no evidence this is a threat. Also if it is ok to take alpacas and lamas that are certified clean why not others? It seems the ban is also only for hunting if it was a real threat why not all recreational use such as camping? It seems this was just a bill proposed by a guide to li mit access to your average Joe. 21 March 2012

An open letter to the Alaska State Legislature,

Leaders must be held to a higher standard given they set the conditions for how an organization runs. A dynamic leader inspires their followers; a corrupt leader destroys the team from within. This is the unfortunate history of two leaders who have been party to the undoing of a proud organization. One leader is guilty by acts of commission, the other by acts of omission.

Major General Tom Katkus has been the Adjutant General of the Alaska National Guard for the past two years and the Assistant Adjutant General-Army for three years previous to that. During his time as a general in the Guard, the following events have taken place:

1. Sexual assaults of female members in the organization that were brought to the command's attention and were not investigated.
2. Discipline and integrity lapses at the highest levels of the organization to include the forced retirement for corruption of MG Katkus's selection for brigadier general of the Army National Guard.
3. Inappropriate conduct by MG Katkus's selection for wing commander in the Air National Guard which prevented the officer's promotion to brigadier general.
4. Three major aircraft crashes in three years (two UH-60s and one C-17) which cost the U.S. government more than $200M and the lives of four airmen.
5. Waste and abuse of federal funds by MG Katkus to include the expenditure of more than $1,000,000 for his opulent executive conference room.
6. Illegal use of military aircraft by senior leaders of the Guard which included the transportation of game animal trophies across state lines.
7. The promotion of officers to the rank of colonel by MG Katkus who have misconduct documented on their records, to include one officer with multiple DWIs and another who had sexual relations with the wife of a Soldier who was deployed to a combat zone.
7. Abject disregard of the command climate of the organization which has resulted in a toxic leadership environment in the colonel and brigadier general ranks.

The aforementioned issues are documented and easily substantiated via Freedom of Information requests queried from the Inspector General or other public sources. These activities reflect only the most severe offenses in the organization, and are indicators of the dereliction of duty by MG Tom Katkus as he failed in his performance as a general in the Alaska National Guard.

While it is unfortunate what MG Katkus has done, it is even more regrettable that another senior leader in the State of Alaska has overlooked the misconduct. Governor Sean Parnell and his staff were notified of these issues on multiple occasions by more than a dozen mid- to high ranking officers in the Alaska National Guard. While the governor has listened to the concerns of the leaders in the organization, he has failed to investigate the facts surrounding MG Katkus and the corruption within the Alaska National Guard. For example, the following issues were presented to Governor Parnell or his staff:

1. Four females who were sexually assaulted within the Alaska National Guard met with the governor's sexual assault coordinator. These females discussed the National Guard leadership's failure to exercise any initiative to assist them in dealing with their issues. Subsequently no action was taken by the sexual assault coordinator to address the systematic problems in the organization.
2. Senior leaders in the Alaska National Guard informed the governor and his staff of the graft, corruption and malfeasance by MG Katkus. No action was taken by the governor or his staff. These senior leaders have offered to give additional testimony, but the Parnell administration has failed to follow up with these leaders.
3. A number of mid level officers have informed the governor and his staff of particular circumstances involving MG Katkus and his cronies who have violated both federal and state laws while serving in the Alaska National Guard. Again, while the staff have been receptive to the receipt of information, there has been no follow through from the administration to address these issues.

Since the Parnell administration has opted not to address these problems, the Alaska State Legislature has the opportunity to support the Soldiers and Airmen who have dedicated their lives to Alaska and our nation. We ask that there be an investigation into the corruption and toxic command climate surrounding the commission of offenses by MG Tom Katkus. Additionally, we ask that there be an investigation into the omission of action by Governor Parnell and his administration as he has failed to perform due diligence to safeguard the 4,000 members of the once proud Alaska National Guard.

Subject: SEOC End-of-Shift Update for March 28, 2012

SEOC End-of-Shift Update: March 28, 2012

Significant Issues:

Cleveland Volcano – the Alaska Volcano Observatory has raised the eruption color code for Cleveland Volcano this afternoon from yellow to orange due to the formation of a new lava dome. The SEOC has contacted the nearest communities (Unalaska and Nikolski) to advise them of this change.

Tsunami Test – the statewide test of the Alaska Tsunami Warning Communications system was successfully conducted this morning.

Haines Slope Failure – The Haines Borough Assembly voted last night to rescind the disaster declaration. They also adopted a motion to request assistance through NRCS for eligible costs associated with the response, as well as repair and mitigation measures recommended by their engineers. The SEOC will continue to work with the borough as they investigate funding options.

Kivalina Excessive Snowfall – the village of Kivalina has declared a local disaster last week due to wind-driven snow drifts atop the roofs and blocked access/exits to several homes and buildings. The village has requested assistance from the Northwest Arctic Borough who provided $1,000 to help pay for fuel, labor and other costs to clear roads and buildings. The SEOC is monitoring this situation.

No other significant issues were reported to the SEOC today.

EMAC requests: There were no EMAC resource request messages today.

Potential Media/OOG/Legislative Interest: Nothing unusual.

Significant Weather: There is a wind chill warning for temperatures down to 60 below for the western Arctic Coast through noon tomorrow.

Potential for Response Activity: Low.

WASHINGTON DC 20301-1636

APR 10 2012

Chief, National Guard Bureau

The Honorable Mark Begich
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Begich:

Thank you for bringing your concerns regarding the Alaska National Guard to my attention. The National Guard appreciates the seriousness of the issues raised in your inquiry and I assure you they will be thoroughly investigated. I have forwarded a copy of the material to the Department of the Army and the Department of the Air Force. All allegations involving senior officials will be investigated by the appropriate service Inspector General.

I have directed the National Guard Bureau Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Office to contact the Alaska National Guard Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Coordinator to verify that all reported cases have been handled or are being handled appropriately. Additionally, I have directed my SAPR Office to make Alaska a top priority for their Staff Assistance Visit program.

Finally, I have asked the Director of the Air National Guard to send a team to Alaska to conduct a thorough assessment of the 176th Wing and the 168th Wing.

As more information becomes available, I will keep you updated. In the meantime, should you have any questions about this matter please contact the Director of the National Guard Bureau's Legislative Liaison, Brigadier General Wilton S. Gorkse at (571) 256-7339.

Sincerely,

Craig R. McKinley

Ms. Dahlstrom:

Sorry to take so long getting back to you, but work, Boy Scout adult leader training, church and taxes have kept me kind of busy. Thank you for taking the time to meet on Thursday in what seemed like a very jammed up schedule for you.

I left you with quite a bit of data in the documents provided. I have given quite a bit of thought on how to put this data into context. Alaskans are people, not numbers, and percentages only go so far in telling their story. To get the fairest read on what the hundreds of Alaskans who completed these surveys have to say, I respectfully suggest that the best way to hear them is through their own words. To do this, I urge you to have DMVA provide you with a complete set of the narrative answers, which are quite extensive, provided in response to the TAG Senior Officer and NCO climate survey in April of 2011. The high level of participation in this survey coupled with it being statewide, both Army and Air Guard, mean that the scores of written comments provide singularly comprehensive insight into the psyche of the Alaska National Guard. In order to fully understand these answers, Col David Jones, Alaska National Guard Inspector General, could brief you on the protocol used for sanitizing answers of names and personal identifiable information. A careful, thoughtful reading would probably take about 2-3 hours.

As always, please feel free to call if you wish to follow up on our conversation.

Very Truly Yours,
Bob Doehl

JUN 2 2 2012

General Officer Management Office

Honorable Sean Parnell
Governor of Alaska
State Capitol
Post Office Box 110001
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Governor Parnell,

I am seeking nominations for the position of Director, Air National Guard.

To be considered for the position of Director, Air National Guard, nominees must be in an active status in the Air National Guard of the United States and recommended by you. Additionally, the officer must hold the grade of major general, be a brigadier general holding a Certificate of Eligibility for major general or a brigadier general pending Senate confirmation to major general; must possess or be eligible for a top secret security clearance; have extensive background in Air National Guard management; have significant joint duty experience; and be eligible to complete a four year tour from the tour start date. The Director is appointed for a period of four years and may be reappointed for one additional four year period.

An advisory board will be convened to consider all fully qualified nominees. The Secretary of the Air Force and I will consider the board's recommendations. The Secretary of the Air Force will recommend an officer to the Secretary of Defense who in turn will recommend the officer to the President of the United States. The President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, will appoint the Director, Air National Guard.

I respectfully request your nomination letters for the Director, Air National Guard arrive at the National Guard Bureau General Officer Management Office no later than 15 July 2012. If you will not be nominating any officers from your state, a negative reply is requested and can be sent to NGB-GO, 111 South George Mason Drive, Building 2, Arlington, VA 22204 or emailed to GOMailbox@ng.army.mil.

A copy of this correspondence, along with more specific guidance related to the position, has been provided to your Adjutant General.

Sincerely,

YOUR COMMENTS: Dear Governor Parnell,

As a long term member, senior leader and retiree of the Alaska Air Guard, I have written to you and your chief of staff in the past with my concerns about the current leadership and climate of the Alaska National Guard, particularly the Air Guard, and have never received a response from you. The on-going toxic environment in the Air Guard called for the departure of Brig Gen McManus, who is now on her way out. The long-term failure to deal with Brig Gen McManus points to need to say goodbye to MG Katkus. The latest tragic event in a long line of missteps is the very recent announcement of Col Carl (Link) Lincoln's (Assistant Adjutant General, AKANG) retireme nt. While MG Katkus did not send a problem officer like Brig Gen McManus packing as he should have, he has failed to promote and now driven off another outstanding officer in Col Lincoln. Add Col Lincoln to a long list: Brig Gen Foster, Col Keese, Lt Col Mansfield, Lt Col Stephens, Lt Col Braspenninckx and soon to be Col Doehl--all of whom were driven off by Brig Gen McManus and MG Katkus. The Air Force Inspector General and the Director of the Air National Guard, as well as VERY senior USAF officers are all well aware and concerned about the problems Brig Gen McManus and BG Katkus have caused. I urge you to act: replace MG Katkus and persuade Col Lincoln to stay. I doubt you want all of this dysfunction to become a campaign issue during the next Gubernatorial election. Thank you.

Very Respectfully,

GENE L. RAMSAY, Brig Gen (ret)

Mike

I'm sending you a copy of the communication that I had with David Ramseur this morning.

I was also made aware through a different channel that CW Floyd dropped off some kind of paperwork with Gen Carlisle and indicated that "This may cost someone their job." I don't know what he was referring to, but if there is any basis it may revolve around the Air Guard.

I didn't know if you are hearing any recent rumblings or if this is old stuff. I've asked the NGB Legislative Liaison, BG Scott Gorske, for a copy of the NGB response to Senator Begich's inquiry. I was told it would be very "vanilla" by Lt Gen Wyatt, but now my curiousity is up.

Sir

Thank you for the note this morning regarding the Chiefs of Staff visit last week. I was very impressed that they were able to take the time out of their busy schedules to travel so far and devote such effort to get a better understanding of some of the very important things our military does here in Alaska.

Please continue to schedule such visits as often as you can, as it is a great opportunity for our service members to tell their story of the great work they do every day for the nation and our great state.

Please also feel free to let me know of any concerns that you may have or have been made aware of during your visits to the AK NG.

Thanks so much to you and your team for rolling out the red carpet for the Senate chiefs last week. They were incredibly impressed by the search and rescue operation and the missile defense operation the next day. They couldn't stop talking about their experience as we loaded them on the plane Saturday night. I'm confident the visit will pay off for Alaska as they now have a much fuller appreciation of our challenges and opportunities up here.

4. Our BCE arrives TSAIA on Monday at 1313. We then lose him for leave for ungulate slaying.

5. Went thru another round of confusion with AKARNG on when we were are picking up their KQ12 folks at ZMUB. BL: AKARNG seems to be getting repeatedly side-tracked by stray voltage. BL: pick up date shifted for host nation event.

6. ACT Meeting: Provided parking WI again to Mr. Hooper. He has raised repeated issues with 4 supervisor in MXG that leads me to recommend that we start up a recurring developmental program for our supervisors. They are also re-engaging on the driver position (BOI/PR/FPA that was diverted to JFHQ) being returned for warehouse/FSP functions as originally agreed to by Col Keese.

7. Working another issue of AGR diagnosis of suicidal ideation and how information was handled in civilian and military mental health channels. Unit CC is upset that he was not notified.

8. Shared info with AGR officer on Tricare Extended Care Home Option; got a huge expression of gratitude that indicated he is really struggling with this Homefront challenge.

9. Had meeting with manpower, in light of our HTSA and other changes:

a. Our ISM position is defunded and SFS cannot pickup the workload with only two EAs remaining. Q: do we beg again to the 673 ABW to pick it up, as they declined, or take the EA elsewhere out of hide? Note: position is funded as a technician in FY 14 so there is a six-month period of no coverage.

b. Because we are not a host base, we likely lose EAs for CP controllers next time study comes up. Be prepared to consider same question.

c. Because of scope of work, we need to better definition of the work the audio-visual person.

d. Besides OG and MXG adds, expect 8 additional requirements in vehicle mx in LRS.

e. Overall team work product has been outstanding in fixing long time misalignments and growing the unfunded requirements list.

10. Staff Del visit was overall NSTR. Biggest takeway is that Tara Shaw is very interested in protecting the C-130 association and current size of the fleet. Note: MSgt Robertson did an awesome job!

11. Got our wing staff UCA. BL: stats overall look very good except for 43% unfavorable on unit morale. BOI/PR/FPA

12. Have a potential OG personnel issue we need to discuss after I get some more info.

Do you remember that trip to Sacramento that I made last spring, for the job interview with CBS ?

The person that you spoke with was BOI/PR s old boyfriend, that's how I knew her, BOI/PR .

I had heard rumors from different quarters about her death, and alleged subsequent cover up, but never had enough substantiative information to make anything of it.

I did find it odd however, that her house in BOI/PR is still listed in her name in the Muni database.

Trust me, I looked into it, just as I've turned over every other stone to see exactly who it was that I was working for at Copper River IT.

BOI/PR

There's a lot more to this story that my research partner and I have discovered, independently of what Colonel Blaylock is alleging here, and if this posting and his allegations are true, it would confirm what we've been suspected all along.

What do you think I've been doing for the last year and a half ?

Again, I've asked numerous times now, what was in those boxes that Jim Miner had me ship to Korea via the USPFO warehouse ?

Hope your holidays were awesome ease read through all the links. This post is being sent out to numerous media sources to gain national attention, and multiple for icology / autonomic / clinical pathologists in order to bring together interested parties who can help to achieve in the following:

bring justice to numerous US military families, especially to the men and women stationed in Alaska who have died and contin "unknown" causes without investigations even though reports stated foul play, drug cartel, and weapons trafficking; 2) syndicat tional and global awareness of rogue militants allowed to join the United States Armed Forces today to operate against itself app highest levels; and, 3) bring justice to 45+ stationed Alaska military rape victims who after reporting through the proper chann ain of command were left without investigations into their cases and rather actually ignored.

s said to be a cover up that goes deep. A connection much bigger than humanly imaginable. The drug cartel, guns trafficking, t of mainly Fort Greely, Alaska. FBI agent Karl Hansen flew to Alaska with a second agent from Washington DC with orders fi periors to vestigate the unknown deaths and claims of drug cartel operating out of Alaska, as well the 45+ reported rape victims that were l vestigated. Star generals are reported involved at the highest levels, and at one point, it was remarked how "this is movie stuff" s head. Colonel Blaylock when questioned said it is the residual effects of Eric Holder's Operation Fast and Furious that is being o our military.

lonel Blaylock has gone to 11 sources to get help, and then in the middle of investigations, April 2012, he was terminated from med Forces after 29.5 years serving.

aylock has given the following 11-page print (see attachment) to issue to the press naming individuals and what he knows is cur nspiring in the aska military, especially Fort Greely, Alaska.

ked how this could have happened, Colonel Blaylock states numerous men and women are released from prison, their past crim ords wiped clean, and in return they work for upper superiors in a state like Alaska while they are stationed in the military. The litary is also cepting non-US citizens into the United States Armed Forces Blaylock states. Meanwhile, numerous military young and old, m men, daughters sons, fathers mothers, and even families will continue to die off due to unknown causes on US military bases, i te, some deaths occur more often in one company, infantry, battalion, brigade etc; not all remain in one location due to deploym aylock believes there is a connection to the two Kodiak US Coast Guardsmen shot in April 2012 (see link below) while on guar note communications station on the island of Kodiak. Is it possible? FBI agent Karl Hansen reported that one of the weapons u d 7) the funeral home that prepared her for burial knows more than they are saying they've admitted. There remains still strong wever, that in the right hands will together initiate the justice process for all.

conclusion, here are a few thoughts to ponder.

BOI/PR was stationed in BOI/PR where she witnessed a lack of accountability in prescription medic ndouts arriving into BOI/PR according to her father who she visited often and confided in. Was it this sensitive information that imately followed back to Alaska and lead to her death? She wanting no part of it ultimately was raped and she reported this rape. BOI/PR BOI/PR , BOI/PR then, noticed her supply room keys stolen one day but it mysteriously is placed back on er one month. She began documenting supplies missing and being shipped out according to family members. She felt she was a l unable to trust anyone and she disclosed this fear to Colonel Blaylock. BOI/PR 's death remains suspicious and the family wa hume the body.

e know at the time of investigation April 2012 from Karl Hansen that an image taken by BOI/PR was found to be one of the we ed in a retaliatory plot in Fairbanks by militia staff to kill a judge, trooper, and IRS agent. Moreover, the Kodiak station remains ffed after two Coast Guardsmen were shot April 2012 and no longer acts as an operating Port of Entry for entries of merchandis te of Alaska to collect duties, and to enforce the various provisions of the customs and navigation laws (19 CFR 101.1). Ancho w Port Service Provider and is located near a major city.

this a problem? If the drug cartel begins shooting people at the Port of Anchorage for non-compliance while trafficking like talk ey did in Kodiak, then we will have a big problem all over America. Kodiak is a perfect entry point for protecting Alaska. Prese thout congress approval, future construction and expansion plans for the Port of Anchorage are cut from 1 billion to 322 million suitable and unstable for a safe delivery platform, and it puts Anchorage in danger especially now in light of the drug cartel oper Fort Greely, Alaska in apparent consent by government in control of military.

aska cannot secure it's borders or ports to protect it's land if there is no funding; and if this is happening widespread at ports acro nerica, there will be an increase in violence due to the overlooking of these rogue military, police, state, and other judicial syster ve allowed these drug cartel factions to criminally organize within our government and homeland security.

Nancy -

The information about the cell phone was posted at the cryptome website, it was not part of the Blaylock document and has a bunch of extraneous information that I can't even begin to comment on.

http://cryptome.org/2012/12/ng-alaska-illegal.htm

We know at the time of investigation April 2012 from Karl Hansen that an image taken by BOI/PR was found to be one of the weapons used in a retaliatory plot in Fairbanks by militia staff to kill a judge, trooper, and IRS agent.

From what I can tell, Karl Hansen is an Ombudsman with the Army Medical Command, he was formerly an agent with the Army CID. Attached is a screen grab from his Facebook page, BOI/PR, is a friend with him on FB. BOI/PR I believe.

I know BOI/PR, I interviewed for a job with him in Sacramento, CA last February, BOI/PR was a reference, I believe that he even spoke to BOI/PR

From the court documents we know that BOI/PR BOI/PR

From the web you can find plenty of evidence that he was BOI/PR.

April 19, 2011

Juneau, Alaska - Attorney General John J. Burns today announced leadership changes at the Department of Law's Criminal Division. Sue McLean, Director of the Criminal Division, is retiring after practicing law in Alaska and New Mexico for 30 years. John Skidmore, current supervisor of the Office of Special Prosecutions, will take over McLean's duties on May 26. Clint Campion, head of the Violent Crimes Unit in the Anchorage District Attorney's Office, will fill Skidmore's position as the new head of the Office of Special Prosecutions.

I've considered going to the FBI about the misappropriation of funds, but that evidently was investigated before I took the DL Coordinators job in Aug 2010. The previous contractor in that position had contacted NGB about the way the DL/VI program funds were being spent, my understanding is that NGB investigated but I am unaware of what the results of that investigation are.

As far as BOI/PR is concerned, all I know are the rumors that I heard flying around there, [redacted]

BOI/PR

As a contractor, I didn't have a whole lot of leeway in what I could do, contractors who get out of line out there will quickly find themselves not being contractors any more, if you know what I mean. There are very few, if any protections for contractors in that sector, if the client isn't happy, the company isn't happy, and if the company isn't happy.....

Well, you get my drift...

The biggest item that I had stolen was a $5000 (apx) air conditioned equipment rack, which was taken and deployed to Kuwait sometime in the summer of 2010.

I literally spent weeks searching for the rack, it had been pulled from Nome and was on it's way to Kenai, in the process it got diverted, after searching high and low I finally got someone to admit that it had been deployed to Kuwait.

There should have been an investigation on that, but my supervisor, LTCOL John Woyte, didn't want to rock the boat, so to speak, by opening one.

I paid for a new rack with my company credit card and then billed the Guard back, plus %8 mark up.

That was just one small part of what added up to be a faster burn rate during the end of 2010 on my contract. In November of 2010, Tim Crawford, the XO of the DOIM/J6 shop, informed me of the need for me to take 1 1/2 months off because they didn't have enough money left on my contract to pay me.

That's when I began to realize that there was something very wrong going on.

I was paying for all of the Distance Learning upgrades that were taking place at the end of 2010, beginning quarter of 2011, on my company credit card.

So, no, I have not contacted law enforcement, I have considered it, at this point, two years out, I wonder what good it would do. I would certainly be willing to be deposed as to what I witnessed, I have nothing to hide.

Thanks for your concern Nancy, I've also attempted to contact Kevin Meyer over this as well, but he's been completely silent on this issue.

Thanks again !

Best,

Chris Bydalek

Hi Nancy -

I just wanted to follow up on our conversation yesterday, it may be that Ken Blaylock did not authorize this document, i.e., somebody may have set him up in order to make him look bad.

I don't know what's going on here to be honest with you, I haven't spoken with Ken although I did make an attempt to do so.

Ken is a stand up guy and I hate to see his name be besmirched like this.

I can't speak to a lot of what is alleged in that document, but I can speak to the subtle racism among some of the personnel, and of course the rampant theft and misappropriated funds. That much I did witness.

One thing that I didn't mention to you was the fact that at the end of 2010, I was asked to take a month and a half off because they had run out of money to pay me.

That was the last straw for me, that's when I realized that I needed to move on, it wasn't until the details of BOI/PR s crimes became apparent that there was a bigger problem out there.

I understand your limitations and the necessity for privacy in this matter.

My concern is about [redacted BOI/PR].

The rest, the drug use, APD's involvement, Gen. Katkus' actions, etc etc is purely speculative as far as I'm concerned.

There are a lot of holes in that document, which leads me to belief that whoever leaked this, and I promise you it wasn't me, had a high level of understanding of how the Guard works, there's a lot of information in there that only a person within the Guard would know.

I'm now wondering who is trying to smear Col Blaylock ?

Thanks again for your time and consideration of this matter.

Best,

> I've taken the time to put together a little package documenting the prevalence of rape and sexual assault in the military.
> I've attached a file that I hope you'll take a look at, it's a collection of articles that have been written, many of them within the last year, about the prevalence of rape and sexual assault in the military.

I don't know what happened to [BOI/PR], I have listened to the testimony that LTCOL Blaylock gave in her still-ongoing probate case, I've read the transcripts and I've looked into her past contact with the court system to see if there is anything else that might be of relevance (there is), but I haven't spoken to her family about this.

[BOI/PR] was a friend, I first met her around 1996 or 97, I had lost contact with her throughout the years until I ran into her out on [BOI/PR]. I was really happy for her that she had found a path that meant a lot to her, she was excited about her career with the AKARNG, it was the same old [BOI/PR] that I remembered, bubbly and always positive about what was going on in her life.

I remember when she [BOI/PR], and I remember when she got back.

I have only begun my quest to get to the bottom of this, I know that there is a legal process that can be employed to do this, a filing of a wrongful death lawsuit would be a good beginning, and I trust that those avenues are being pursued by her family and next of kin.

There is another process available too, and that's to make this story as widely known as possible.

My next step will be to file FOIA requests pertaining to [BOI/PR], and any cases of sexual assault or rape that she might have reported.

I am going to limit my scope to just [BOI/PR], there are others working on the other angles, mainly the use of PO BOX 5800 FT RICH, AK as the registrant address for the Bereanwatchmen ministries website.

I don't know what kind of things Joseph Lawendowski "got tangled in that I shouldn't have gotten tangled in", (3PA-11-1248CI)
but I can tell you that there are some very big guns that are very interested in this.

I'll just ask the question; Why is Joseph Lawendowski, Chief of Staff, using PO BOX 5800 as the address for the domain registration of his website, bereanwatchmen.com/bereanwatchman.com ?

http://whois.domaintools.com/bereanwatchmen.com

And with that, happy reading, I do hope that you'll take the time to watch the award-winning movie, The Invisible War.

http://invisiblewarmovie.com/

I'd even go so far as to suggest that you might consider getting permission to use the film as a training aide in order to better educate not only soldiers and airmen, but also yourselves, as to the prominence of sexual assault in the military and the numbers of us who are fed up with hearing stories of women who serve their country, being raped and assaulted by their fellow soldiers, sailors and airmen, only to be tossed aside by their Chain of Command.

Thank you for your time and consideration of this matter.

Respectfully Submitted,

Christopher T. Bydalek

ANNUAL REPORTS

To help address the crime of sexual assault within the Military, the Department of Defense and various Service branches conduct comprehensive annual sexual assault reports. The data provided in such reports serve as the foundation and catalyst for future sexual assault prevention, training, victim care and accountability goals.

The annual reports on sexual harassment and violence at the three U.S. Military Service Academies provide data on reported sexual assaults involving cadets and/or midshipmen, as well as policies, procedures and processes implemented in response to sexual harassment and violence during the Academic Program Year.

A Call for Fundamental Change:

An open letter to the Honorable Leon Panetta, Secretary of Defense, on the need to fix how rape and sexual assault is handled in the military

"Those entitled to use command discretion in regard to the military legal system are those in command of the entire unit or base.

In a case of sexual assault, a commander may be responsible for both the victim and the offender, both of their units, and the entire base or ship where the offense occurred. Command discretion empowers a commander to decide if the case goes forward to court martial. That same commander is empowered to determine which JAG officer will serve as prosecutor, which will serve as defense counsel, who oversees the investigation, and may even serve as convening authority and determine disciplinary actions. All of these functions are given to the discretion of one person.

The great deference afforded to command discretion, sets up a dynamic fraught with conflict of interest and potential for abuse of power."

The Invisible War: movie review

By Peter Rainer, Film critic / June 27, 2012

I have rarely been more righteously riled up than I was while watching the documentary "The Invisible War," winner of the audience award at the 2012 Sundance Film Festival. Amazingly, it's the first film to really explore the issue of rape in the US military.

The fact that this subject has taken so long to achieve full-scale exposure is itself symptomatic of the problem.

'The Invisible War' is a rallying cry for reforming our military's culture.

The documentary explores four systemic issues related to military sexual assault: the high percentage of servicewomen being sexually assaulted (the filmmakers estimate about 20 percent), the low percentage of assailants being appropriately punished; the retaliation victims often experience; and military leadership's inept response.

Lucy Broadbent The Guardian, December 2011

"Rape within the US military has become so widespread that it is estimated that a female soldier in Iraq is more likely to be attacked by a fellow soldier than killed by enemy fire*. So great is the issue that a group of veterans are suing the Pentagon to force reform. The lawsuit, which includes three men and 25 women (the suit initially involved 17 plaintiffs but grew to 28) who claim to have been subjected to sexual assaults while serving in the armed forces, blames former defence secretaries Donald Rumsfeld and Robert Gates for a* culture of punishment against the women and men who report sex crimes and a failure to prosecute the offenders. Since the lawsuit became public in February, 400 more have come forward, contacting attorney Susan Burke who is leading the case."

Military Has Not Solved Problem of Sexual Assault, Women Say

My Duty to Speak

Message from Panayiota Bertzikis

You are about to read true first person testimonies of sex abuse in the United States military. A lot of the survivors do go into details about their sexual assault, rape and the military response to the rape. Reading these testimonies could potentially be triggering to survivors of Military Sexual Trauma or rape. Please take that into account before continue reading.

My Duty to Speak started as a writing workshop in Cambridge, MA for Military Sexual Trauma survivors that was hosted by the Military Rape Crisis Center in November 2010. The day workshop was taught by some of the greatest trauma and writing specialist in the country. By writing about what we went through while wearing the uniform we broke the silence of abuse liberating ourselves while also might be helping someone else who is feeling the same way.

Bureaucracy has blossomed in military's war on rape

By MICHAEL DOYLE AND MARISA TAYLOR

OLIVIER DOULIERY/ABACA PRESS/MCT

WASHINGTON — Under the political gun, the Pentagon has bulked up its anti-rape campaign far more than many people realize. It's expensive, aggressive and imperfect.

Prospective jurors reported that they'd been taught that a woman can't consent to sex after only a single drink. The judge instructed them to ignore the training. One juror, a Marine staff sergeant, nonetheless said he couldn't reconcile his prior training with the new instructions.

"It's just integrity, sir," the staff sergeant told the judge, a trial transcript shows. "I can't agree with it."

There was a co-worker, another contractor, who has a debilitating disease that limits his ability to do his job.

Tim Crawford, the X-O of the DOIM/J-6 shop would openly discuss this man's medical condition, and in derogatory ways too.

Blatant HIPPA violations.

One of the things that Tim did, out of loyalty to this employee, was keep him around. This is after this particular person had alienated and offended one of the State IT guys so badly that the SoA tech simply refused to work with this particular employee anymore.

That made my job more difficult as I would usually end up being the one to pick up the slack. We're talking frontline tier-one IT stuff, broken phones and phone lines, moving phones, turning up computers.

Basic functional needs that employees need to do their jobs.

As his illness progressed and his ability to do his job decreased, it got to the point where there were times that this person didn't even show up for work, for weeks at at time, and I'm not exaggerating this, and was still clocking 40 hours.

That's called fraud, and it was tolerated.

The other thing I will mention is that Tim Crawford is in open violation of SoA labor laws. The very first thing he told me when I handed him my first time sheet to sign, was that he won't sign a timesheet that has overtime on it.

That is a clear violation based upon our my description and the type of work that I did, I was certainly not a manager, I was a technician.

When I first started out there, I was still employed at KTUU, I would leave there around two and go to my next job at KTUU.

I wasn't working a full 40 hours, and I reflected that on my time sheet, it was usually around 30-35 hours if I recall.

I was then pulled aside by another contractor who "happened to see my time sheet on my desk" and he informed me that I needed to put 40 hours down regardless of how many hours I actually worked.

This was very early on, I was still in the process of figuring out where the light switches and bathroom were, I didn't want to rock the boat and so I obliged.

That made it very difficult for me as I was no longer able to work a complete 8 hour day AND get to my second job in time.

That was a dilemma.

That's just one instance. I could write a book about what I saw out there.

But this particular person's case was pretty egregious, the reason I know this so well is because not only did I have to do my job, I had to cover for this employee when he did not show up for work.

And to be truthful, for those of us who had to work with this person, dealing with his anger, attitude and hostility towards us was so great, and his ability to focus and concentrate on getting even simple tasks done so diminished, that we actually preferred that he stay home.

Say too much and you get targeted as a troublemaker, and troublemakers don't last long out there.

Like I said, I could write a book about the stuff that I saw out there.

Nancy, I've been a contractor for the FAA, I've done my time in the Air Force, I've worked for great bosses and I've worked for not so great bosses.

Col John Woyte would rank high on my list of great bosses, I think he's a good man stuck in a bad system.

Tim Crawford on the other hand, without a doubt is THE worst boss that I've ever had, that man has no business managing people or the taxpayers money. Brilliant technician, almost savant-like, but as a manager of people - completely inept.

He had issues with Jerry Walton, mostly over money and resources, and I don't know what was going on there, but it always concerned money.

His issues with Jerry filtered down to us, the frontline troops who were only trying to provide good customer service, but would inevitably get caught in Tim and Jerry's crossfire because they couldn't settle their differences. From what I was told, the two men don't care for each other very much.

That's a problem.

Part of the issue between them, as I understood it, was the fact that there contractors out there to begin with, it was a tightrope that we had to walk, as contractors, and after a while it just got old getting hit with issues that didn't concern me, like I said, there was a lot of CYA out there, and if you were the poor schmuck who didn't know what the rules were and you got caught holding the bag, well, poor you.

So that's another example of theft that I observed, that was over two years ago, I'd bet you a dollar that nothing has changed.

Thanks Nancy.

I've taken the time to put together a little package documenting the prevalence of rape and sexual assault in the military.

I've attached a file that I hope you'll take a look at, it's a collection of articles that have been written, many of them within the last year, about the prevalence of rape and sexual assault in the military.

I don't know what happened to BOI/PR, I have listened to the testimony that LTCOL Blaylock gave in her still-ongoing probate case, I've read the transcripts and I've looked into her past contact with the court system to see if there is anything else that might be of relevance (there is), but I haven't spoken to her family about this.

BOI/PR was a friend, I first met her around 1996 or 97, I had lost contact with her throughout the years until I ran into her out on BOI/PR. I was really happy for her that she had found a path that meant a lot to her, she was excited about her career with the AKARNG, it was the same old BOI/PR that I remembered, bubbly and always positive about what was going on in her life.

I remember when she BOI/PR, and I remember when she got back.

I have only begun my quest to get to the bottom of this, I know that there is a legal process that can be employed to do this, a filing of a wrongful death lawsuit would be a good beginning, and I trust that those avenues are being pursued by her family and next of kin.

There is another process available too, and that's to make this story as widely known as possible.

My next step will be to file FOIA requests pertaining to BOI/PR, and any cases of sexual assault or rape that she might have reported.

I am going to limit my scope to just BOI/PR, there are others working on the other angles, mainly the use of PO BOX 5800 FT RICH, AK as the registrant address for the Bereanwatchmen ministries website.

I don't know what kind of things Joseph Lawendowski "got tangled in that I shouldn't have gotten tangled in", (3PA-11-1248CI)
but I can tell you that there are some very big guns that are very interested in this.

I'll just ask the question; Why is Joseph Lawendowski, Chief of Staff, using PO BOX 5800 as the address for the domain registration of his website, bereanwatchmen.com/bereanwatchman.com ?

http://whois.domaintools.com/bereanwatchmen.com

And with that, happy reading, I do hope that you'll take the time to watch the award-winning movie, The Invisible War.

http://invisiblewarmovie.com/

I'd even go so far as to suggest that you might consider getting permission to use the film as a training aide in order to better educate not only soldiers and airmen, but also yourselves, as to the prominence of sexual assault in the military and the numbers of us who are fed up with hearing stories of women who serve their country, being raped and assaulted by their fellow soldiers, sailors and airmen, only to be tossed aside by their Chain of Command.

Thank you for your time and consideration of this matter.

Respectfully Submitted,

Nancy -

You asked about theft that I observed, one thing that I didn't mention to you, I have brought it up with Gen. Katkus and Senator Meyer, was the lax timekeeping, not just with contractors but with some of the NG technicians as well.

They have a system to deal with the technicians, but for the contractors it's as simple as,

"do as you're told, keep your mouth shut and don't ask questions"

Violate any one of those three and you'll soon be an ex-contractor, I saw it happen repeatedly to others.

There was a co-worker, another contractor, who has a debilitating disease that limits his ability to do his job.

Tim Crawford, the X-O of the DOIM/J-6 shop would openly discuss this man's medical condition, and in derogatory ways too.

Yes, Kevin, Nancy, character DOES count, it's not creepy enough that he used a military address to register his website, but that he was a recruiter, the [redacted BOI] and he runs a pornographic website on the side.

How creepy is that ?

There's a lot more to this story, but I'm not going to share it here. Follow the links, see for yourself, use the wayback machine at archive.org

You'll probably want to take a shower afterwords because it is just flat out creepy.

Holy Roller Soldier by day, Pornographer by night.....Gotta love it.

If that's not a complete failure of good judgement, I don't know what is. The guy should have at least set up a shell company or two to insulate himself from it, but he wasn't even bright enough to do that.

That's creepy, and just plain dumb.....[redacted BOI] for Christ's sake.....Gross.

I hope that you both have a great weekend, I've got 3 FOIA's ready to go, I'm hoping to knock out a couple of more by Monday, we'll get to the bottom of this, eh ?

Remember, the cover up is always, always worse than the crime

Nancy -

I understand, I should have been clearer, I added you to keep you informed of my communications with Sen. Meyer.

No, in fact he's never responded to any of my concerns, not once.

He and I have a history together, he used to be my Assembleyperson when I used to live in midtown, he's familiar with me.

I understand that you're not an elected official and that there are limitations as to what you can do, I do appreciate your time and effort.

Sen Meyer on the other hand, as an elected official who has certain oversight responsibilities over the DMVA, has all but ignored me.

General Katkus has ignored me. Senator Mark Begich has ignored me. Sen Murkowski, to her credit, has not. I understand that your agenda is packed, that I'm one small voice out here in the wilderness trying to bring attention to a matter which I feel very strongly about.

Again, had I not witnessed some of the allegations that were made in the Blaylock letter, had I not known BOI/PR personally, you wouldn't be hearing from me today.

But again, like I've tried to describe to you, I saw things out there that I just could not explain, that didn't make sense at the time. Nothing, not my prior military service, not my time as a contractor for the FAA, not my experience in broadcasting, nothing prepared me for what I saw out there, it was, to put it mildly, bizarre, I've given you some examples of what I witnessed, I could go on, but I'll spare you.

Thank you Nancy, please don't take my frustration the wrong way, but I'm very tenacious and I'm very concerned that there's a bigger issue within the leadership of the DMVA that is being ignored.

It's not what you believe that defines your character, it's how you behave.....when nobody is watching.

Have a great week, feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks for your time.

It's all there in the court document that I was prepared to give to Col Kerrigan, but he didn't want anything to do with it.
> Col Kerrigan didn't want to discuss that, nor did he want to discuss [redacted BOI/PR] or the circumstances behind the allegations made in the Blaylock document, so I will continue to pursue this down other avenues.

I don't have a whole lot of confidence in an organization that investigates itself, it's clear that what's needed, if the Blaylock document is accurate, is an independent investigation of what happened, perhaps by Congress.

I won't hold my breath waiting for that to happen.

Best,

General,

I just got off the phone with Mr. Bydalek. BLUF: He was surprised that we are investigating his allegations. He told me "you have better things to be doing with your time." When I pushed him regarding the Blaylock document, he said, "I don't think it was written by Ken (Blaylock). Someone is trying to set Ken Blaylock up." He continued, "I don't believe everything in that document. There are too many wild allegations." Mr. Bydalek added, "I am on a personal crusade about BOI/PR." He mentioned that the FBI looked into BOI/PR's death, but he added "I don't trust the FBI."

I told Mr. Bydalek that I was working his allegations thoroughly and that we take them seriously.

I am meeting Mr. Bydalek tomorrow at the Veterans Affairs Office on Debarr road at 1300 for follow-up questions. Initially he did not want to meet at the Veterans Affairs Office. He wanted to meet "somewhere neutral, like the library," but eventually he relented.

I get the sense that Mr. Bydalek is back peddling regarding his allegations (he was surprised that I was investigating them) and clearly he was questioning the authenticity and reliably of "the Blaylock document."

Mr. Bydalek told me that his only concern was now about BOI/PR's alleged raped and subsequent death. He suspects BOI/PR "may have poisoned her."

I will keep you updated.

I'm sorry Nancy, but is this how you Choose Respect ?

I left some documents with you several months ago and have yet to hear back from you.

i did meet with Col Kerrigan and through some back channels was told that the investigation that he conducted was complete.

Read that again.

He did nothing to protect my identity.

Please, do not try and put me in contact from anybody out there, Col Kerrigan included, I simply cannot trust any of them.

I've also since found out some additional information regarding BOI/PR, after being stone-walled by APD for over 3 months.

I'm done, I give up, Katkus, Dehaas and their boys win. At the very least, the pornographer, BOI/PR, needs to be put on notice that his actions as a pornographer are inconsistent with the duties and responsibilities of BOI/PR.

Oh well, at least every time you look at him now, you know.

Former state probation officer James R. Stanton already has served jail time for targeting vulnerable women in his basement office at the Nesbett Courthouse downtown.

Now he's facing a rash of civil lawsuits that accuse him of sexually preying on far more women than the three victims in the criminal case. The suits also target the state of Alaska, which employed Stanton. The suits contend the state either knew or should have known of his misconduct and failed to protect the women.

Eleven women have sued, with the first case brought months after the criminal charges were filed in 2010 and the most recent one in March. All are former defendants who had been under Stanton's control as a probation officer. The women are seeking financial damages.

Stanton pleaded guilty in May and was sentenced in September to six months incarceration and five years probation for harassment and bribery. An Anchorage judge threw out more serious felony sexual assault charges, ruling that even if a woman is pressured to have sex to stay out of jail or keep her children, that doesn't constitute "force" under Alaska law.

Perhaps the first sign that something was askew came in 2003 when a defendant complained of a disturbing encounter.

She was charged with drunken driving. Stanton was supposed to assess whether she needed treatment. But in the interview, she later told a police detective, he sexually harassed her. She reported the incident within a day to a supervisor.

The woman came forward a second time in 2010 after she saw a newspaper story about Stanton's arrest. That 10-year-old complaint -- and the apparent lack of any disciplinary action against Stanton -- is now a key part of lawsuits against him and the state departments of Corrections and Health and Social Services.

Anchorage lawyers Dan Libbey and Les Syren, who are handling nine of the 11 civil lawsuits, included a partial transcript of her 2010 interview with police in voluminous recent filings. They are seeking a court order to force the release of records, including Stanton's personnel file.

In statements to police now filed in court, the women -- identified only by initials or as Jane Does -- describe Stanton groping their breasts, buttocks or crotch areas. They say he harassed, threatened or bribed them. Or worse. One says he raped her in his office. Another says he came to her home to discuss her case, but instead they had sex and never talked about what she was facing.

In other filings, Stanton's co-workers describe a sexually charged work environment in which he regularly made lewd comments about various women in the courthouse that were dismissed as "that's how Jim is."

The Parnell administration is vigorously fighting the women's lawsuits. (DISGUSTING) But it also pushed through legislation this year to close the gap identified in Stanton's criminal case. The measure specifies that a probation officer having sex with someone on probation constitutes a third-degree sexual assault.

Stanton, now 56, said in a telephone interview this week that most of what is being alleged "did not occur." He admitted he was off-color with co-workers but said he never fondled or raped anyone.

"I'm not going to say I didn't joke around with some of them. That's not what I'm saying at all. But I am saying I didn't touch any of them," Stanton said.

He said he pleaded guilty because under the plea deal, his felony bribery conviction will be set aside if he successfully completes his probation.

He worked for the state for more than 14 years, first in different posts with the Department of Corrections, then as a probation officer in the Department of Health and Social Services. His most recent job was with Wellness Court, in which drug and alcohol abusers agree to treatment and strict monitoring in exchange for lighter sentences. He also worked a few months with the Division of Juvenile Justice.

But instead of helping women to new, sober lives, he pursued them for sex and concealed failed urinalysis drug tests that could send them to jail or cost them custody of their children, according to the conclusions of Superior Court Judge Michael Spaan, who sentenced him last year.

Stanton served about 3 1/2 months at the Anchorage jail. He's now back home in Wasilla on probation. He retired from his state job. He can't afford an attorney, he said, so he is representing himself in the lawsuits.

His co-defendant, the state of Alaska, has at least three lawyers fighting the suits.

In 2003, Stanton was a probation officer with the Alcohol Safety Action Program, or ASAP, where his job was to screen defendants in misdemeanor alcohol-related cases for alcohol abuse.

"I wasn't in his office more than maybe a minute and he -- he leaned over his desk and said, 'Oh, I've never had a blond before,' " the woman who made the 2003 complaint told police in 2010.

It was how he said it. "Because that can be taken a million different ways, but I knew what he meant," she said.

What do you think he meant, asked Detective Bianca Cross of the special victims unit.

"Sex," she answered. "In his office with me."

She said Stanton then asked her a series of questions intended to uncover the consequences of drinking. Stanton seemed too interested in the sexual part of it, she said. He kept pushing for specifics, she said, and she eventually revealed that she and her husband sometimes were into bondage.

"And so at the end of the interview, he told me if I didn't follow his instructions, he was going to come to my house with a bottle of champagne and a pair of handcuffs, and it was very clear what he meant by that," the woman told the detective.

She complained to the ASAP supervisor. The investigation took a while, she said, and she eventually was asked to go to the Atwood Building to learn the outcome. She said she was told that Stanton was a good, long-time employee with only one other complaint on his record.

"It was probably a misunderstanding," she was told.

Asked about the incident, Stanton said he was administering a screening tool that requires personal questions.

She said Stanton then asked her a series of questions intended to uncover the consequences of drinking. Stanton seemed too interested in the sexual part of it, she said. He kept pushing for specifics, she said, and she eventually revealed that she and her husband sometimes were into bondage.

"And so at the end of the interview, he told me if I didn't follow his instructions, he was going to come to my house with a bottle of champagne and a pair of handcuffs, and it was very clear what he meant by that," the woman told the detective.

She complained to the ASAP supervisor. The investigation took a while, she said, and she eventually was asked to go to the Atwood Building to learn the outcome. She said she was told that Stanton was a good, long-time employee with only one other complaint on his record.

"It was probably a misunderstanding," she was told.

Asked about the incident, Stanton said he was administering a screening tool that requires personal questions.

By LISA DEMER — ldemer@adn.com

Former state probation officer James R. Stanton already has served jail time for targeting vulnerable women in his basement office at the Nesbett Courthouse downtown.

Now he's facing a rash of civil lawsuits that accuse him of sexually preying on far more women than the three victims in the criminal case. The suits also target the state of Alaska, which employed Stanton. The suits contend the state either knew or should have known of his misconduct and failed to protect the women.

Eleven women have sued, with the first case brought months after the criminal charges were filed in 2010 and the most recent one in March. All are former defendants who had been under Stanton's control as a probation officer. The women are seeking financial damages.

Stanton pleaded guilty in May and was sentenced in September to six months incarceration and five years probation for harassment and bribery. An Anchorage judge threw out more serious felony sexual assault charges, ruling that even if a woman is pressured to have sex to stay out of jail or keep her children, that doesn't constitute "force" under Alaska law.

Perhaps the first sign that something was askew came in 2003 when a defendant complained of a disturbing encounter.

She was charged with drunken driving. Stanton was supposed to assess whether she needed treatment. But in the interview, she later told a police detective, he sexually harassed her. She reported the incident within a day to a supervisor.

The woman came forward a second time in 2010 after she saw a newspaper story about Stanton's arrest. That 10-year-old complaint -- and the apparent lack of any disciplinary action against Stanton -- is now a key part of lawsuits against him and the state departments of Corrections and Health and Social Services.

Anchorage lawyers Dan Libbey and Les Syren, who are handling nine of the 11 civil lawsuits, included a partial transcript of her 2010 interview with police in voluminous recent filings. They are seeking a court order to force the release of records, including Stanton's personnel file.

In statements to police now filed in court, the women -- identified only by initials or as Jane Does -- describe Stanton groping their breasts, buttocks or crotch areas. They say he harassed, threatened or bribed them. Or worse. One says he raped her in his office. Another says he came to her home to discuss her case, but instead they had sex and never talked about what she was facing.

In other filings, Stanton's co-workers describe a sexually charged work environment in which he regularly made lewd comments about various women in the courthouse that were dismissed as "that's how Jim is."

The Parnell administration is vigorously fighting the women's lawsuits. (DISGUSTING) But it also pushed through legislation this year to close the gap identified in Stanton's criminal case. The measure specifies that a probation officer having sex with someone on probation constitutes a third-degree sexual assault.

Stanton, now 56, said in a telephone interview this week that most of what is being alleged "did not occur." He admitted he was off-color with co-workers but said he never fondled or raped anyone.

"I'm not going to say I didn't joke around with some of them. That's not what I'm saying at all. But I am saying I didn't touch any of them," Stanton said.

He said he pleaded guilty because under the plea deal, his felony bribery conviction will be set aside if he successfully completes his probation.

He worked for the state for more than 14 years, first in different posts with the Department of Corrections, then as a probation officer in the Department of Health and Social Services. His most recent job was with Wellness Court, in which drug and alcohol abusers agree to treatment and strict monitoring in exchange for lighter sentences. He also worked a few months with the Division of Juvenile Justice.

But instead of helping women to new, sober lives, he pursued them for sex and concealed failed urinalysis drug tests that could send them to jail or cost them custody of their children, according to the conclusions of Superior Court Judge Michael Spaan, who sentenced him last year.

Stanton served about 3 1/2 months at the Anchorage jail. He's now back home in Wasilla on probation. He retired from his state job. He can't afford an attorney, he said, so he is representing himself in the lawsuits.

His co-defendant, the state of Alaska, has at least three lawyers fighting the suits.

In 2003, Stanton was a probation officer with the Alcohol Safety Action Program, or ASAP, where his job was to screen defendants in misdemeanor alcohol-related cases for alcohol abuse.

"I wasn't in his office more than maybe a minute and he -- he leaned over his desk and said, 'Oh, I've never had a blond before,' " the woman who made the 2003 complaint told police in 2010.

It was how he said it. "Because that can be taken a million different ways, but I knew what he meant," she said.

What do you think he meant, asked Detective Bianca Cross of the special victims unit.

"Sex," she answered. "In his office with me."

She said Stanton then asked her a series of questions intended to uncover the consequences of drinking. Stanton seemed too interested in the sexual part of it, she said. He kept pushing for specifics, she said, and she eventually revealed that she and her husband sometimes were into bondage.

"And so at the end of the interview, he told me if I didn't follow his instructions, he was going to come to my house with a bottle of champagne and a pair of handcuffs, and it was very clear what he meant by that," the woman told the detective.

She complained to the ASAP supervisor. The investigation took a while, she said, and she eventually was asked to go to the Atwood Building to learn the outcome. She said she was told that Stanton was a good, long-time employee with only one other complaint on his record.

"It was probably a misunderstanding," she was told.

Asked about the incident, Stanton said he was administering a screening tool that requires personal questions.

WASHINGTON, DC 20301-1000

MAY 0 6 2013

MEMORANDUM FOR SECRETARIES OF THE MILITARY DEPARTMENTS
CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF
UNDER SECRETARY OF DEFENSE FOR PERSONNEL AND READINESS CHIEFS OF THE MILITARY SERVICES
CHIEF OF THE NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU
GENERAL COUNSEL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

SUBJECT: Sexual Assault Prevention and Response

As leaders of the Department of Defense, we share a commitment to eliminate sexual assault from our Armed Forces. We are taking important steps to provide new training for commanders, strengthen our training enterprise for all Service members, improve our investigative and military justice system capabilities, and further professionalize our first responders. Even with strong leader emphasis and innovative new programs, we need to achieve greater progress in preventing sexual assault in our ranks. We can build upon these enhanced capabilities but we must do better, a reality underscored by the persistent problem described in the FY2012 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military, released today.

Ultimately, we must ensure that every Service member understands that sexist behaviors, sexual harassment, and sexual assault are not tolerated, condoned, or ignored. We need enduring culture change where every Service member is treated with dignity and respect; where all allegations of inappropriate behavior are treated with the utmost seriousness; where victim privacy is protected, and they are treated with sensitivity; where bystanders are motivated to intervene; and where offenders know they will be held appropriately accountable. Our mission requires a comprehensive and synchronized effort to ensure the entire Department is aligned in working toward this end.

Therefore, I am directing implementation of the attached 2013 DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Strategic Plan, which employs a multidisciplinary approach in prevention, investigation, accountability, advocacy/victim assistance and assessment to achieve unity of effort and purpose across the Department. This plan provides authoritative guidance to all stakeholders and defines our priorities, objectives, and initiatives.

Your plans should align with this SAPR Strategic Plan. Please report back to me on this alignment by July 31, 2013, with a copy to the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness (USD P&R). Further, the Secretaries of the Military Departments, with input from the Chiefs of the Military Services, and Chief of the National Guard Bureau will report progress on implementing this strategy in their next annual report on sexual assault in the military.

In addition, I am directing immediate implementation of the following measures to strengthen our sexual assault prevention and response programs, specifically addressing accountability, command climate and victim advocacy.

- Enhancing Commander Accountability: To further enhance command accountability, the Service Chiefs, through their respective Secretaries of the Military Departments, will develop methods to assess the performance of military commanders in establishing command climates of dignity and respect and incorporating SAPR prevention and victim care principles in their commands, and hold them accountable. Report your methods to me through USD (P&R) by November 1, 2013.

- Improving Response and Victim Treatment: To improve overall victim care and trust in the chain of command, increase reporting, and reduce the possibility of ostracizing victims, the Secretaries of the Military Departments will implement and monitor methods to improve victim treatment by their peers, co-workers, and chains of command. Solicit victim input in the development of these methods. Report your methods to me through USD (P&R) by November 1, 2013.

- Assessing Military Justice Systems: To ensure a timely and independent assessment of the systems used to investigate, prosecute, and adjudicate crimes involving adult sexual assault and related offenses assessment of military justice systems, I call upon the panel established under Section 576 of the FY13 National Defense Authorization Act to accelerate its review and provide final recommendations to me within 12 months of the panel's first meeting.

- Enhancing Commander Accountability: To enhance accountability and improve insight into subordinate command climate, the USD (P&R) shall require that the results of FY13 National Defense Authorization Act-mandated annual command climate surveys will now also be provided to the next level up in the chain of command. Implement this provision not later than July 31, 2013.

- Ensuring Safety: To ensure the awareness and safety of our newest and aspiring Service members, the Secretaries of the Military Departments will improve the effectiveness of sexual assault prevention and response programs in recruiting organizations, Military Entrance Processing Stations, and the Reserve Officer Training Corps. These assessments will include: 1) the selection, SAPR training, and oversight of recruiters; 2) the dissemination of SAPR program information to potential and actual recruits; and 3) the prevention and education programs in ROTC environments and curricula. Report your findings to me through USD (P&R) by September 30, 2013.

- Ensuring Appropriate Command Climate: To ensure DoD facilities promote an environment of dignity and respect and are free from materials that create a degrading or offensive work environment, DoD component heads will direct comprehensive and regular visual inspections of all DoD workplaces, to include military academies, by July 1, 2013. The Air Force conducted such an inspection in FY13 and will therefore only report the findings and actions taken from that previously conducted inspection. Report your findings to me through USD (P&R) by July 31, 2013.

Finally, to enhance the administration of military justice, in addition to my direction last month to amend Article 60 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice and related proposed legislation and previous direction to elevate disposition decisions, I am directing the DoD Acting General Counsel to take the following actions:

- Ensuring Victim's Rights: Develop a method, in coordination with the Joint Service Committee (JSC) on Military Justice, to incorporate the rights afforded to victims through the Crime Victims' Rights Act into military justice practice, to the extent appropriate. Report your findings and recommendations to me by November 1, 2013.

- Improving Victim's Counsel: Evaluate the Air Force Special Victims Counsel pilot program and other approaches to ensure that victims of sexual assault are provided the advice and assistance they need to understand their rights and to feel confident in the military justice system. Report your findings and recommendations to me by November 1, 2013.

The Department needs to be a national leader in preventing and responding to sexual assault. We are committed to lead the daughters and sons of the American people with the values of our honorable profession and to ensure they serve in an environment that is free from sexual assault and protects the dignity and respect of every Service member. These initiatives and plans, in addition to our on-going efforts, provide a roadmap for this Department to establish the enduring culture that is required of our profession of arms.

Foreword

Leaders and Commanders of the Department of Defense,

Our men and women in uniform put their lives on the line every day to keep America safe. We have a responsibility to lead them with the values of our profession of arms and to ensure that the daughters and sons of the American people serve in an environment that is safe and protects the dignity and respect of every member of our U.S Armed Forces.

Sexual assault is a crime that is incompatible with military service and has no place in this Department. It is an affront to the American values we defend, and it is a stain on our honor. DoD needs to be a national leader in combating sexual assault and we will establish an environment of dignity and respect, where sexual assault is not tolerated, condoned, or ignored.

Considerable efforts are now underway to combat sexual assault. However, we still have much work to do across the Department. We can turn this around, but it will take time and requires continued strong leadership and education at all levels. To that end, I directed the DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office to partner with the Services and other Department of Defense components to review and update the DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategy.

Significant collaboration and effort took place to produce this comprehensive strategy. This strategy was developed to address the complex nature of the issue and better synchronize our Department-wide efforts. It will remain a dynamic document, reviewed annually, to drive stakeholder action within the Department.

This multi-disciplinary approach is essential as there is no one single solution to eliminating sexual assault from the military. The Department of Defense must remain vigilant and continuously execute the tasks required across all five lines of effort: Prevention, Investigation, Accountability, Advocacy/Victim Assistance, and Assessment.

I have full faith and confidence in our abilities and leadership as we strive to reduce and ultimately eliminate sexual assault from the military. Thank you for your support!

Chuck Hagel
Secretary of Defense

1. Introduction.

The Department of Defense (DoD) Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (SAPRO) conducted a Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) strategic planning effort in 2009 to align SAPR priorities across DoD. This plan was created through collaboration between DoD SAPRO, the Military Services, and other SAPR stakeholders. The revised DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan continues this effort to establish a central plan that captures strategic SAPR priorities, goals, objectives, actions and/or initiatives, and targets performance outcomes jointly among DoD Components, which includes the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) components as well as the Military Departments. This document reflects the continuation of this collaborative effort.

The objectives of this plan are to achieve unity of effort and purpose across all of DoD in the execution of sexual assault prevention and response; to develop objective criteria for measuring progress; and to publish tasks that operationalize lines of effort in sexual assault Prevention, Investigation, Accountability, Advocacy/Victim Assistance, and Assessment.

The Secretary of Defense affirmed the Department's commitment to eliminating sexual assault from the U.S. Armed Forces by introducing new measures to create a culture free from sexual assault. The uniformed leadership communicated its resolve and commitment to reducing -- with the goal of eliminating -- sexual assault with its Strategic Direction to the Joint Force. This document was published in May 2012. In it, the eight members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff provided their collective guidance to the U.S Armed Forces:

> This Strategic Direction is written for commanders and leaders to improve awareness of sexual assaults, operationalize our commitment, and facilitate dialogue and open communications across our formations. The Joint Chiefs and Commandant of the Coast Guard, together with our DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program (SAPR) professionals, penned this guidance to synchronize those efforts. Together, we will operationalize the concerted efforts of the DoD SAPR Office and our Service programs with renewed commitment to eliminate sexual assault crimes within our ranks.
> Commanders and leaders at every level must integrate the intent, lines of effort and tenets of this Strategic Direction as a part of our daily command routines and activities. We must take conscious steps to understand, identify and reduce environmental risks, predatory and high-risk behaviors and personal vulnerabilities associated with sexual assaults or other abuse crimes. It is up to you, as commanders and leaders, to safeguard our core values and Service cultures by promoting a climate and environment that incorporates SAPR principles as habitual and inherent characteristics of our commands. Commanders and leaders must personally read, understand and implement this strategy.[1]

[1] The Joint Chiefs of Staff, Strategic Direction to the Joint Force on Sexual Assault Prevention and Response, 7 May 2012

This comprehensive strategic direction, provided by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, required the review and revision of the 2009 SAPR strategy. On behalf of the Secretary of Defense and the Under Secretary for Personnel and Readiness (USD P&R), SAPRO partnered with the DoD components, the Military Departments, and the Services to develop this strategic plan, ensuring goals, objectives, milestones, and criteria for measuring progress were created and or revised, in order to enhance unity of effort and reinforce synchronization.

In doing so, the Department will continue to advance the priorities from the 2009 SAPR strategy of reducing sexual assaults in the military community; increasing the number and percentage of sexual assaults that are reported; increasing the availability, access, and quality of response for victims of sexual assault; improving the accountability, reliability, and sustainment of DoD SAPR services; and effectively communicating sexual assault prevention and response to stakeholders. These efforts are fully integrated in this strategy.

This plan will continue to be a dynamic document and will be reviewed annually. It drives stakeholder action by using existing authorities promulgated in law and policy and serves as a focal point of direction to advance sexual assault prevention and response throughout the DoD. This plan will be managed and updated by USD (P&R) through DoD SAPRO, in coordination with the Military Departments, Services, and the Office of the Inspector General (IG), using existing oversight mechanisms (e.g., Joint Executive Council, Government Accountability Office (GAO) reports, audits, IG reports, annual Congressional reporting requirements), and the responsive input of collective stakeholders. Implementation of tasks and progress will be reviewed every other month at regularly scheduled DoD SAPR Integrated Product Team (IPT) meetings. Reports on completion of tasks and updates to assigned tasks are provided, at a minimum, annually, for inclusion in the Department of Defense Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military.

DoD capabilities employed in support of this plan are assigned to OSD, the DoD IG, the Office of the DoD General Counsel, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Joint Staff, the Combatant Commands, the Military Departments, each of the four Services, and the National Guard Bureau. This strategic approach will guide and inform policy development, organization, training, and employment of the variety of means used to operationalize this strategic plan. Stakeholders include:

- Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) – Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (SAPRO), Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Military Personnel Policy (DASD/MPP); Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civilian Personnel Policy (DASD/CPP); Office of Legal Policy (OLP); Legislative Affairs (OSD LA); Public Affairs (OSD PA); Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Readiness (DASD(R)); Office of the DoD General Counsel (OGC); Office of Legal Counsel (OLC); Assistant Secretary of Defense, Health Affairs (HA); Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Military Community and Family Policy (DASD/MC&FP); Office of Diversity Management and Equal Opportunity (ODMEO); the Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC); the Defense Equal Opportunity Management Institute (DEOMI); and Reserve Affairs (RA).
- The Joint Staff (JCS)
- The Military Departments – Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force
- The Military Services – The U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps
- The National Guard Bureau (NGB)

Document ID: 0.7.798.32409.1 Page 8 of 24 SOA-000981

- The Offices of The Judge Advocates General (OTJAGs) of the Army, Navy, and Air Force, and the Office of the Staff Judge Advocate to the Commandant of the Marine Corps.
- Office of the Inspector General (IG)

This plan is not all-encompassing nor fully exhaustive of all SAPR activities performed within or by the DoD SAPR community. Instead, this plan highlights and captures those tasks that contribute directly to the strategic objectives set forth in this document, as identified by plan stakeholders.

Since this plan captures planning components from different organizations, each organization designated in the task matrix as office of primary responsibility (OPR) is responsible for accomplishment of the tasks designated to it and supporting actions and /or initiatives. For this reason, plan components may be written at different levels and stress different activities. However, the collective stakeholders are committed to the same strategic objectives and endstates. An explanation of the collective development of SAPR Metrics in Section 4 of this document demonstrates the commitment to shared measurement and accountability for the DoD SAPR Strategic Plan.

1.1 Relationship to Directives and Instructions

In this strategic construct, policy issuances promulgated by the DoD and the Services function as tools employed by sexual assault prevention and response elements. The promulgation of policy in accordance with these tasks further operationalizes the strategy approach outlined in this Strategic Plan and the Strategic Direction to the Joint Force on SAPR. DoD Components and the Secretaries of the Military Departments will align implementing plans and policies with this strategic plan.

Overall, DoD Directive 6495.01, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program, establishes DoD policy and assigns responsibilities for prevention, advocacy, and victim care. DoD Instruction 6495.02, SAPR Program Procedures, and associated Service policies, further operationalize this program. Investigation and accountability lines of effort are operationalized by policies issued by the DoD IG and the Services, and the OTJAGs, respectively.

This strategic plan does not change the existing oversight and programmatic structure and responsibilities of the IG or the OTJAGs, nor does it create a new oversight structure of these entities within OSD.

1.2 Strategic Planning Approach – Campaign Design

DoD shifted its planning methodology to Campaign Plan design outlined in Joint Operation Planning publication (JP 5-0) in order to address the complex nature of our SAPR mission and better synchronize efforts.

DoD used lines of effort to develop the campaign plan. A line of effort (LOE) links multiple tasks and missions to focus efforts toward establishing operational and strategic conditions. Because SAPR involves many nonmilitary factors, LOEs were used to link tasks, effects, and the desired endstate, as depicted by Figure 1.

DoD-Wide Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan Lines of Effort and Priority Tasks

1.3 DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Mission Statement

The Department of Defense prevents and responds to the crime of sexual assault in order to enable military readiness and reduce -- with a goal to eliminate -- sexual assault from the military.

1.4 DoD Approach, Lines of Effort, Objectives, and Endstates

Reducing and eliminating sexual assault requires a multi-pronged approach -- one that leverages a wide range of initiatives and engages every Service member to prevent the crime from occurring in the first place. When an assault occurs, effective processes and personnel with specialized training must be in place to respond, care for victims, investigate every allegation, and hold offenders appropriately accountable.

Underpinning our efforts is the need for enduring culture change -- requiring leaders at all levels to foster a command climate where sexist behaviors, sexual harassment, and sexual assault are not tolerated, condoned, or ignored; a climate where dignity and respect are core values we must all live by and define how we treat one another; where bystanders are trained and motivated to intervene and prevent unsafe behaviors; where victims' reports are taken seriously, their privacy is respected, and they are treated with sensitivity; and finally, a climate where offenders know they will be held appropriately accountable for their actions.

Five SAPR LOEs were established to guide and focus strategic planning efforts with corresponding objectives and endstates. The LOEs are Prevention, Investigation, Accountability, Advocacy/Victim Assistance, and Assessment. DoD Components will use these LOEs as the foundational basis for their plans, to ensure unity of effort, synchronization, and the creation of a common approach to assessments. These LOEs, objectives, and endstates are defined as follows:

1) Prevention
Objective - Deliver consistent and effective prevention methods and programs.
Endstate - Cultural imperatives of mutual respect and trust, professional values, and team commitment are reinforced to create an environment where sexual assault is not tolerated, condoned, or ignored.

Our prevention goal is to deliver consistent and effective prevention methods and programs. It is critical that our entire military community work together to preclude criminal behavior from occurring and respond appropriately to incidents when they occur. Sustained leader emphasis by Commanders and first line supervisors is critical to this effort, as they are central in establishing the climate of dignity, respect, sensitivity, and environmental expectations that can reduce and eliminate this crime. As such, the Department is developing core competencies and learning objectives for all SAPR training, starting with Pre-command and Senior Enlisted, to ensure consistent learning and standardization throughout the Military Departments and Services. In collaboration with the Military Departments and Services, DoD is deploying innovation and assessment teams across the nation to identify promising prevention strategies and techniques. We are also collaborating with a variety of sexual assault prevention practitioners and researchers to ascertain which prevention policies and programs are most effective. Our desired end state is an atmosphere where cultural imperatives of mutual respect and trust, professional values, and team commitment are reinforced to create an environment where sexual assault is not tolerated, condoned, or ignored.

2) Investigation
Objective - Achieve high competence in the investigation of sexual assault.
Endstate - Investigative resources yield timely and accurate results.

The Department is committed to achieving high competence in every investigation of sexual assault, which begins with an unrestricted report and the independent and professional investigation by the Services' Military Criminal Investigative Organizations (MCIOs). Our investigative resources need to yield timely and accurate results that employ scientifically-informed techniques and maximize the recovery of physical and testimonial evidence while minimizing the potential for retraumatization. DoD will continue to develop specialized investigative capabilities that enable professional, responsive and accurate investigations that are independent from the chain of command. To establish a DoD Special Victims Capability, the Secretaries of the Military Departments will provide specially trained investigators. This capability will deliver a distinct, recognizable group of professionals who collaborate to ensure effective, timely, responsive worldwide victim support, and a capability to investigate and address child abuse, serious domestic violence, and/or sexual assault offenses.

3) Accountability

Objective - Achieve high competence in holding offenders appropriately accountable.
Endstate - Perpetrators are held appropriately accountable.

Holding offenders appropriately accountable is the objective in the accountability line of effort. The Department will continue to provide a fair and equitable system of accountability that promotes justice, assists in maintaining good order and discipline in the U.S. Armed Forces, and promotes efficiency and effectiveness in the military establishment, thereby strengthening the national security of the United States. Commanders are a critical part of this justice system. To establish a DoD Special Victims Capability, the Secretaries of each Department will provide specially-trained attorneys, victim witness assistance personnel, domestic abuse and sexual assault victim advocates, and paralegals. This capability will expand and leverage existing resources to deliver a distinct, recognizable group of professionals collaborating to provide effective, timely, responsive worldwide victim support, and a capability to investigate and address child abuse, serious domestic violence, and/or sexual assault offenses.

4) Advocacy/Victim Assistance
Objective - Deliver consistent and effective victim support, response, and reporting options.
Endstate - DoD provides high quality services and support to instill confidence and trust, strengthen resilience, and inspire victims to report.

Our goal is to standardize and deliver effective victim support, response, and reporting options, so that we instill confidence and trust, strengthen resilience, and inspire victims to report sexual assaults, either restricted or unrestricted. From the initiation of a report through case disposition in the justice system to victim recovery, we care for our victims. When victims report, they are provided a safe environment and offered medical care, counseling, legal assistance, and victim witness assistance. Because sexual assault is such an underreported crime, it is imperative that our program inspires victim confidence and motivates victim reporting -- a necessary bridge to greater victim care and increased offender accountability as appropriate. Our Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs) and Victim Advocates (VAs) are the critical capability we employ to achieve these objectives. The Department has established a certification program to align their training and qualifications with the national victim advocate certification programs, ensuring professional and highly competent delivery of victim advocacy and assistance. Further, the Department remains committed to ensuring alleged offenders are afforded their due process rights.

5) Assessment
Objective - Effectively standardize, measure, analyze, assess, and report program progress.
Endstate - DoD incorporates responsive, meaningful, and accurate systems of measurement and evaluation into every aspect of the SAPR program.

We aim to standardize assessment methodologies and to effectively measure, analyze, assess, and report the progress of the SAPR program. Assessment is an enduring process of data collection and analytics designed to improve program effectiveness and is embedded within each of the other four lines of effort. This effort includes valuable feedback from Service members and DoD civilian personnel in the form of surveys and also includes feedback from commanders, victims, and victim advocates. Our goal is to incorporate responsive, meaningful, and accurate systems of measurement and evaluation into every aspect of our programs in order to determine the impact we are having on reducing and eliminating sexual assault. A critical DoD capability is SAPRO, which serves as the single point of authority, accountability and oversight of the SAPR program policy. As such, the Department employs a variety of capabilities such as the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID) and survey instruments, and prepares reports to Congress to ensure DoD-wide compliance with the SAPR program. Other assessments such as charted oversight bodies or task forces, the GAO, and internal inspections and assessments provide a variety of means for program assessment across the Department.

1.5 Overarching Tenets

Overarching tenets represent precepts essential to refining a professional culture and command climate/environment. They set conditions to optimize program implementation. As a complement to the tenets defined in the Strategic Direction to the Force on SAPR, DoD developed tenets that intersect all LOEs and are essential to operationalizing, synchronizing, and ensuring consistent SAPR program execution across the Department. These tenets are Communications and Policy.

The Strategic Direction to the Joint Force on SAPR further expands the tenets to include Leadership, Culture and Climate/Environment, Integration, and Resourcing. Each of these tenets must be realized in order to achieve optimal integration of the SAPR Program into the command environment as a weakness in one potentially degrades the whole. Overarching tenets and LOEs operationalize the program as a natural extension of a unit culture based on professionalism, core values, trust, and ultimately, reaffirm the military's enduring commitment to the health and readiness of its Service members and their families.

2. SAPR Tasks

Offered below are the results of the collaboration and collective efforts of the DoD SAPR community in preparing a plan that captures the most targeted and relevant tasks being performed to realize the DoD SAPR Strategic Plan. The following section captures the tasks defined by plan owners to be pursued and executed. Progress towards target outcomes, as captured by the measures and targets defined in Section 5.2 of this document, shall be provided by DoD SAPRO in cooperation with the collective plan owners. Specific details about plan progress and milestones shall be provided by the respective participating organizations. Figure 2 contains a key to explain the information contained in each of the task columns.

Task Key:
Time: Short = 0 to 1 Year (from date of publication) Med = 1 to 2 Years Long = 2 to 3 Years Continual = On-going/Cyclic Requirement
Priority = Importance to overall strategy; 1 being the most important
OPR = Office of Primary Responsibility
 = Action outlined in Strategic Direction to the Joint Force on SAPR
++ = Provision published in NDAA FY12

2.5 LOE 5 - Assessment Tasks

Task	Time	Priority	OPR
Compile and publish mandated SAPR reports to Congress (e.g., Annual/Military Service Academies (MSA)/DSAID). Modify annual report to include greater detail and information on sexual assaults. ^^	Continual	1	Military Departments & Services, SAPRO
Develop, refine, train, and maintain DSAID across the Total Force.	Continual	2	Military Departments & Services, SAPRO
Oversee the implementation of Government Accountability Office (GAO) and Defense Task Force – Sexual Assault in the Military Services (DTF-SAMS) recommendations.	Short	3	Military Departments & Services, DoD IG, HA, OGC
Conduct RC and NGB SAPR program review and establish viable policy.	Med	4	Military Departments & Services, NGB, SAPRO
Conduct SAPR review and assessment of Joint Environments.	Med	5	Military Departments & Services, SAPRO
Conduct Force survey cycle. Increase frequency (every two years) of Workplace and Gender Relations surveys. ^^	Continual	6	DMDC
Sustain SAPR program at DEOMI (Command Climate Surveys and SAPR Education incorporated into EEO/MEO curriculum).	Continual	7	SAPRO, ODMEO
Explore whether DoD can operationalize metrics reporting in support of commanders. Employ comparative civilian research in metrics.	Med	8	Military Departments & Services, SAPRO
Harmonize DoD and Services' survey methodologies, frequency, and key metrics to effectively standardize, measure, analyze, assess, and report program progress.	Short	9	Military Departments & Services, SAPRO, DMDC
Analyze and assess variances in Restricted/Unrestricted Reporting across the Services.	Continual	10	SAPRO
Conduct SAPR program compliance inspections.	Continual	11	Military Departments & Services
Develop and enhance standardized victim surveys.	Med	12	Military Departments & Services, DoD IG
Analyze and assess feedback from DoD Safe Helpline to identify positive and negative trends.	Continual	13	SAPRO
Assess the extent to which the continuum of harm is or should be addressed in SAPR policy.	Med	14	SAPRO
Assess SHARP training applicability for Army National Guard due to state vs. federal differences, structure, and authorities.	Med	15	Army, NGB
Assess feasibility of a SARC Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) or restructuring of military table of organization; addition of skill identifiers.	Long	16	Military Departments & Services
Analyze SAPR data to identify positive and negative case disposition trends from the DoD Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military.	Continual	17	SAPRO
Assess feasibility of incorporating sexual assault prevention training in Family Readiness, Family Advocacy Program (FAP), and Substance Abuse programs to enhance FAP and SAPR collaboration and training.	Long	18	Military Departments & Services

2.6 Overarching Tenet – Communications Tasks

Task	Time	Priority	OPR
Employ and assess SAPR Communications Strategy.	Continual	1	Military Departments & Services, SAPRO, OSD PA
Maintain Congressional relations.	Continual	2	Military Departments & Services, OSD LA, SAPRO
Develop and employ SAPRO Media Watch.	Continual	3	SAPRO
Develop and update DoD-wide Public Affairs Guidance.	Continual	4	SAPRO, OSD PA
Develop department wide themes, guidance, and execute DoD level Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM) events.	Continual	5	SAPRO, OSD PA, Military Departments & Services, NGB
Develop, resource, and execute Sexual Assault Awareness Month Plan.	Continual	6	Military Departments & Services, NGB, SAPRO
Develop and implement federal partner and Veteran Service Organization (VSO) Outreach.	Continual	7	SAPRO
Assess and maintain SAPR.mil webpage.	Continual	8	SAPRO
Publish SAPR Source.	Continual	9	SAPRO
Sustain White House Violence Against Women Liaison.	Continual	10	SAPRO

2.7 Overarching Tenet – Policy Tasks

Task	Time	Priority	OPR
Review, revise, update, and issue policy (e.g. DODD, DODI, DD Forms)	Continual	1	SAPRO
Conduct SAPR IPTs and quarterly Service meetings.	Continual	2	SAPRO
Develop implementation plan for specialized medical and mental health care policy for sexual assault victims (GAO Report 13-182).	Short	3	Military Departments & Services
Revise DD Form 2910 to incorporate updates, including expedited transfer and document retention notification. ^^	Short	4	SAPRO
Establish/reinforce policies to ensure recruits convicted of sexual assault offenses do not receive accession waivers and to require mandatory processing for administrative separation of Service members convicted of committing a sexual assault. ^^	Short	5	Military Departments & Services, NGB, DASD/MPP
Modify policy for record of dispositions of unrestricted reports. ^^	Short	6	Military Departments & Services, DOD IG
Modify policy provisions for command climate assessments. ^^	Short	7	Military Departments & Services, NGB, ODMEO
Modify policy provisions for dissemination of sexual assault information (e.g., hotline phone numbers and internet websites). ^^	Short	8	Military Departments & Services, NGB, SAPRO

3. DoD SAPRO Center of Gravity Analysis

Centers of gravity (COG). DoD SAPRO conducted a COG analysis to focus our efforts and priorities. The COGs identified in Figure 3 are the critical capabilities we employ in each LOE and correspond with the higher priority tasks outlined in sections 2.1 through 2.5 of the strategic plan.

LOE	Centers of Gravity
Prevention	Commanders and first line supervisors
Investigation	Special Victims Capability (SVC) within Military Criminal Investigation Offices (MCIOs)
Accountability	Commanders and Special Victims Capability (SVC) within legal teams
Victim Assistance	Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARC)/SAPR Victim Advocates (VA)
Assessment	SAPRO Oversight Mechanisms

4. SAPR Metrics

4.1 Key Metrics that Identify SAPR Success

DoD's objective is to establish the conditions within the military which lower sexual assault prevalence and increase reporting. DoD's goal is to reduce sexual assault prevalence while increasing percentage of victims that report. DoD SAPRO identified two key "overarching" measures of effectiveness to assess the success of the SAPR program:

- Reduction in sexual assault prevalence as estimated in DoD-wide surveys (DMDC Workplace and Gender Relations Surveys).
- Closing the gap between prevalence estimates and Service member victims who report sexual assaults to authorities.

4.2 Measures of Effectiveness and Measures of Performance

Once the strategy is published, USD (P&R) through SAPRO will meet with the Components and Services to ensure metrics are developed and published no later than 90 days from publication of this strategic plan. Figure 5 is the format, to include an example of a task metrics, to develop the DoD SAPR Measures of Effectiveness (MOE)/Measures of Performance (MOP) matrix.

Measure of Effectiveness. An MOE is a criterion used to assess changes in system behavior, capability, or operational environment that is tied to measuring the attainment of an end state, an objective, or the creation of an effect. It measures the relevance of actions being performed.

Measure of Performance. An MOP is a criterion used to assess friendly actions that is tied to measuring task accomplishment.

LOE	Task	Measure (s) of Performance or Effectiveness associated with the task.	What method(s) are used to gather the data?	OPR	Who is tasked to collect data?	Suspense date for data.	Which office collects the data?
Prevention	Enhance Pre-command and Senior enlisted training.	1. Does each Service have a PCC and Senior enlisted training programs in place? If not, which ones still require (MOP)?	Status Report	Services	Schools	Quarterly	Service SAPR Offices
		2. What percentage of Commanders and Senior Enlisted has received the PCC SAPR training (MOP)?	Status Report (DTMS)	Services	Schools	Quarterly	Service SAPR Offices
		3. Are the students receiving accurate and relevant data consistent with Service/DoD policy (MOE)?	Student Survey/Evaluation	Services	Schools	Quarterly	Service SAPR Offices

Subject: The End

And in the end, Ms Dahlstrom, if BOI was indeed raped, and if indeed she did have information pertaining to illegal activities being carried out by members of the AKARNG, and that information was covered up, and she was murdered, in the end, those responsible will pay the price. They will be judged by their actions not by me, or by a judge, or by their commander, but by their maker.

There is no doubt, some inconsistencies in the Blaylock report. There is also some truth in the document as well. The fact that BOI was running amateur porn websites is hard to deny. It would not surprise me one bit if his duties as BOI crossed over into his duties as a pornographer.

You can't deny that Mr BOI was using government resources to further his church group, The Berean Watchmen, the ARIN WHOIS records confirm that. Why is he still BOI/PR ?

There is more. The pervasive Anti-Obama culture as evidenced by the "Pray for Obama" poster openly displayed in the security office is just perverse, to advocate for the death of the President, openly, brazenly, in a government facility ? Really ? You're okay with that ? Whoever put that up there should have been fired on the spot. There seems to be a history of racism within the Guard, and APD, in my research I have found several instances of past investigations regarding institutional racism in both of these organizations. Funny, is there one non-white person who holds a cabinet level position within the Parnell administration ? I didn't think so.

BOI had a lot of contact with the court system prior to joining the AKARNG, all of it having to do with drugs, some of it having to do with her boyfriend working as an undercover informant. Let's just say that her record wasn't squeaky clean. This just leads me to believe even more strongly, that there was an FBI/APD investigation of some kind, Ken Blaylock's court testimony under oath backs this up.

There are a lot of good people serving in the AKARNG and Ken Blaylock was one of them. It's pretty clear to me from what I've been able to uncover, that BOI was not one of the good guys. I say this not based upon what's written in the Blaylock document, but from my own observations and conversations that I had with members of the AKARNG. There were a lot of rumors flying around about BOI there is evidence that he may have been in line for a promotion to General, what happened there ? Why was his career cut short ? Did he commit a criminal act ? If so, why isn't he being investigated ?

This has affected me in a a way that nothing else ever has, I gave my best effort, I showed up, I was accountable, I always, ALWAYS put the best interests of my employer, Copper River IT, and their client, Tim Crawford, before my own. And in the end, this is what I get, the cold shoulder and a good blackballing.

For two years I have not been able to find a job, Nancy, two years.

And I'll mention this. Coincidently, since about the time that I first met with Col Kerrigan, I've been getting strange phone calls from an unknown number at my house, twice a day, always around the same time, once in the morning and once in the afternoon. I don't know what to make of this, I'm certainly not suggesting that Col Kerrigan is doing this, but the fact that I've gotten feedback regarding his investigation leads me to believe that he did nothing to shield my privacy in this matter.

THAT is a very serious concern to me.

I play by the rules. I pay my taxes, I respect law enforcement, I believe in doing the right thing not because I'm coerced into doing it, but because it's the right thing to do, Col Kerrigan didn't have to tell me this, I learned that lesson a long time ago. I apologized to Col Woyte, a man who I have a lot of respect for, when am I going to get my apology ?

Why am I being treated like this ?

Why can't I get someone to put in writing that I did a good job for their organization ?

I provided you with more than ample evidence of Copper River's shady dealings, there's more to that story too, do you even care to see ?

Why are they still doing business with the AKARNG and I'm still sitting here unable to find a job ?

It stinks Nancy, the culture of corruption in this state stinks.

Have a great life,

Chris Bydalek

Sir: to provide a heads up. Have emailed you on this subject previously.

We have reason to believe that Bloomberg News Service will release its story as early as tomorrow on the allegations and investigation into sexual misconduct in the 49th GMD BN, AKARNG. (We've thought that before and it hasn't come yet. But we understand from the reporter that it's in final draft).

The reporter has been in contact w some members of the unit. And is clearly getting fed allegations very close to those in previously released anonymous emails.

DP/FPA

Hope this helps.

I'm flying from DC to Huntsville this evening. Will be off blackberry from 1700-1900EDT. Will be in the office tomorrow morning after 0940 CDT (dental appointment).

Our staff is in contact w OCPA.

Subject to your guidance/questions.

(Updates with comment from Hagel in sixth paragraph.)

By Gopal Ratnam

May 25 (Bloomberg) -- The Army is investigating the commander of a battalion at the main U.S. missile defense base for condoning sexual affairs at the remote facility in Alaska, creating what subordinates called a "toxic environment."

The service already was looking into the commander at Fort Greely, dedicated to defending the U.S. from missile attack, for promoting a World War II-style pinup calendar with photos of his wife and scantily clad female soldiers.

The investigation involving Lieutenant Colonel Joseph Miley, the commander of the Alaska Army National Guard's 49th Missile Defense Battalion, was confirmed in an e-mailed statement by Marco Morales, a spokesman for the Space and Missile Defense Command, who declined to discuss details.

Miley said in a Jan. 4 meeting that adultery isn't punishable under military law, according to soldiers who complained in an e-mail two days later to the head of the missile defense command. According to Article 134 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, adultery is a criminal offense if the affair is prejudicial to good order and discipline.

"The modern military is an environment where sexual misconduct is commonplace," Miley said at the meeting, according to comments cited in the e-mail and confirmed by one of the people who was in the audience. Bloomberg News obtained a copy of the e-mail, which was unsigned, and the account was confirmed by three people who worked on the base and are familiar with the events.

'Insidious' Forces

The allegations surfaced amid an uproar over a surge in sexual-assault allegations in the military that President Barack Obama has described as "shameful and disgraceful." Defense Secretary Chuck Hagel told graduates at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point today that they must build a "culture of respect" to stop "these debilitating, insidious and destructive forces."

At Fort Greely, fraternization increased and enlisted soldiers seemed to get favorable treatment from officers for trading sexual favors because no disciplinary action was taken in cases of adultery, according to one of the three people, who said they spoke on condition of anonymity because the Army had forbidden them from discussing the allegations.

The battalion has at least 16 women among its 195 members, including a military police contingent, according to a unit phone list.

Miley declined to comment when contacted by phone and referred questions to the unit's public affairs office. The spokesman there directed queries to the Space and Missile Defense Command.

Joint Inquiry

The Huntsville, Alabama-based command received two sets of allegations involving misconduct at the battalion -- the first in August and the second in January -- and is conducting a joint inquiry with the Alaska Army National Guard, Morales said in the statement.

A soldier can be charged with adultery only if he or she violates a "no-contact order," Miley was quoted in the complaint as saying at the January meeting.

The 49th Battalion's soldiers said in their e-mail to Lieutenant General Richard Formica, head of the Space and Missile Defense Command, that Miley's condoning of sexual affairs left them fearing "for our wives and even our children in this toxic environment."

Fort Greely, about 250 miles (402 kilometers) northeast of Anchorage, is home to 26 interceptors that are part of the Ground-Based Midcourse Defense system intended to shoot down long-range intercontinental ballistic missiles such as the ones that North Korea and Iran are suspected of developing.

'Rugged Professional'

While the system managed by Chicago-based Boeing Co. hasn't successfully intercepted a test target since December 2008, Hagel reinforced their role in a potential attack when he announced in March plans to spend $1 billion adding 14 more interceptors at Fort Greely by 2017.

The isolated base is portrayed on its website as the "home of the rugged professional," who's likely to come upon a moose or fox amid snow-capped mountains. The town of Fort Greely has a population of 539, according to U.S. Census data, and the winters are so cold it's the location of the military's Cold Regions Test Center for winter warfare.

Miley called the January meeting of all officers in the battalion after one of his subordinates, a captain, allegedly had an affair with the wife of another officer in the unit, according to the three people,

Additional Affairs

In addition to the captain's affair, the three people said the soldiers' complaint involved sexual relations between a non-commissioned officer and enlisted soldiers.

The probe, an informal investigation under Army regulations, is still under way and has no set deadline, Morales said. Once it is complete, Formica and Brigadier General Leon Bridges, commander of the Alaska Army National Guard, will determine whether any further action is warranted, according to Morales.

The disputed pinup calendar was sold to raise funds for the American Cancer Society's "Relay For Life," the Army Times newspaper reported in March, quoting a spokesman for the Space and Missile Defense Command.

Other military units around the country also have sold pinup calendars featuring military spouses and soldiers to raise money for veterans, the newspaper said.

The Pentagon has been confronting an increase in reports of sexual misconduct, harassment and crime and is under pressure from Congress to overhaul the way it deals with such cases. Some lawmakers have introduced legislation that would take the power to prosecute sexual crimes and abuse outside the military chain of command.

Stronger Measures

The Defense Department released results this month of a survey estimating 26,000 cases of unwanted sexual contact last year, a 35 percent increase from two years earlier.

Top military leaders have called for stronger measures to combat sexual crime and misconduct.

"The Army is failing in its efforts to combat sexual assault and sexual harassment," General Ray Odierno, the Army chief of staff, said in a message to soldiers last week. "It is time we take on the fight against sexual assault and sexual harassment," Odierno wrote.

The military also is pursuing three cases in which officers who worked in sexual-assault prevention programs were accused of wrongdoing including assault, mistreatment of subordinates and inducing prostitution.

Thank you Governor for your support. The story to this point has been much more egregious than the facts of the investigation support. We will be initiating appropriate disciplinary action for those allegation that have been substantiated.

For follow-up planning purposes on potential activity tomorrow: flight time in the C12/UC-35 from Kenai to Anchorage is 20 minutes.

C-12/UC-35 Kenai to Galena is just over one hour.

If they need more passengers/etc, the Sherpa is about two hours flight time to Galena.

UH-60 Anchorage to Galena right about 3 hours. (Weather dependent, it is roughly equal distance from Bethel, Nome, Fairbanks and Anchorage to Galena. We would send the UH-60 from which ever base has the best enroute weather)

Pls check CR to see if we ever had any communication from Senator Begich on the topic. I first read he "urged" me to look into this in the news media yesterday but have not seen a letter or email. Additionally, he sat with me and Sandy yesterday at Ft Rich Memorial Day service without mentioning anything about it.

While Gen Katkus has assured me that the allegations are being investigated, I wanted to check whether the senator or his office actually contacted us directly. Thanks.

LtCol Hayes,

My chief of staff tasked me to support the referenced activity. We are on tight timetable for notification of all concerned parties.

I am checking on the status of the draft Mr. Morales sent you earlier. Did you all have any additional recommendations or changes. There is an update to the draft being staffed here that I could forward on to you under a separate email.

We would like to have it approved by AK-NG and OCPA first thing in the morning (0730 AK time) or sooner. Give me a call BOI .

LtCol Hayes,

My chief of staff tasked me to support the referenced activity. We are on tight timetable for notification of all concerned parties.

I am checking on the status of the draft Mr. Morales sent you earlier. Did you all have any additional recommendations or changes. There is an update to the draft being staffed here that I could forward on to you under a separate email.

We would like to have it approved by AK-NG and OCPA first thing in the morning (0730 AK time) or sooner. Give me a call BOI

LtCol Hayes,

My chief of staff tasked me to support the referenced activity. We are on tight timetable for notification of all concerned parties.

I am checking on the status of the draft Mr. Morales sent you earlier. Did you all have any additional recommendations or changes. There is an update to the draft being staffed here that I could forward on to you under a separate email.

We would like to have it approved by AK-NG and OCPA first thing in the morning (0730 AK time) or sooner. Give me a call BOI

Major General Katkus,

Hello, my name is Sean Cockerham and I'm a reporter in Washington, D.C. for McClatchy Newspapers, a chain that includes the Anchorage Daily News and 30 other newspapers around the country.

I am writing a story about sexual assaults in the Alaska National Guard. Several current and former members of the guard tell me there is a serious sexual assault problem that was left unaddressed for years.

I wanted you to have an opportunity to respond before we publish the story. Please get back to me in the next two days.

Here are the specific questions I have:

1. I am told that Lt. Col. Jane Wawersik is conducting an investigation of sexual assaults allegedly committed by members of the Alaska Army National Guard's recruiting and retention unit.

Is that correct?

What prompted the investigation and when did it begin?

What are the names and ranks of the soldiers who are under investigation?

What, if any, action has the guard taken against them?

When will the investigation be concluded?

Is there any indication that members of the recruiting and retention unit were also involved in dealing drugs?

2. I am told the broader sexual assault problem in the Alaska National Guard has been going on for years. Why did it take so long for this investigation to happen?

3. What exactly has the guard done about the sexual assault complaints over the past five years?

4. Do you have statistics on reported sexual assaults in the Alaska National Guard over the past five years?

If so, how many do your numbers show?

5. Retired Lt. Col. Ken Blalock says he brought sexual assault victims to the Anchorage police and governor's office, but nothing came of it except he got in trouble with his chain of command. "I reported to police and the next thing I know I was getting my butt chewed by General Katkus for going out of the chain of command with this stuff," he said.

Is that an accurate characterization? Did you ever discourage anyone from taking complaints to law enforcement? Did you ever involve law enforcement in this issue and, if not, why not?

Has law enforcement taken any action against your soldiers for sexual assault within the past five years?

6. I am also told sexual harassment is a substantial problem in the Alaska National Guard. Is that the case and, if so, what has the guard done about it?

7. What is the current status of the following soldiers?

Subject: media questions on Alaska National Guard

Major General Katkus,

Hello, my name is Sean Cockerham and I'm a reporter in Washington, D.C. for McClatchy Newspapers, a chain that includes the Anchorage Daily News and 30 other newspapers around the country.

I am writing a story about sexual assaults in the Alaska National Guard. Several current and former members of the guard tell me there is a serious sexual assault problem that was left unaddressed for years.

I wanted you to have an opportunity to respond before we publish the story. Please get back to me in the next two days.

Here are the specific questions I have:

1. I am told that Lt. Col. Jane Wawersik is conducting an investigation of sexual assaults allegedly committed by members of the Alaska Army National Guard's recruiting and retention unit.

Is that correct?

What prompted the investigation and when did it begin?

What are the names and ranks of the soldiers who are under investigation?

What, if any, action has the guard taken against them?

When will the investigation be concluded?

Is there any indication that members of the recruiting and retention unit were also involved in dealing drugs?

2. I am told the broader sexual assault problem in the Alaska National Guard has been going on for years. Why did it take so long for this investigation to happen?

3. What exactly has the guard done about the sexual assault complaints over the past five years?

4. Do you have statistics on reported sexual assaults in the Alaska National Guard over the past five years?

If so, how many do your numbers show?

5. Retired Lt. Col. Ken Blalock says he brought sexual assault victims to the Anchorage police and governor's office, but nothing came of it except he got in trouble with his chain of command. "I reported to police and the next thing I know I was getting my butt chewed by General Katkus for going out of the chain of command with this stuff," he said.

Is that an accurate characterization? Did you ever discourage anyone from taking complaints to law enforcement? Did you ever involve law enforcement in this issue and, if not, why not?

Has law enforcement taken any action against your soldiers for sexual assault within the past five years?

6. I am also told sexual harassment is a substantial problem in the Alaska National Guard. Is that the case and, if so, what has the guard done about it?

7. What is the current status of the following soldiers?

General Katkus-

Just for my own knowledge:

Of the 29 cases, 18 had civilian perpetrators and 11 were military. Local law enforcement, such as Anchorage Police Department or the Alaska State Troopers were contacted in approximately 21 cases, and for specific reasons, APD/AST did not open an investigation.

Does this mean only 8 cases were prosecuted since 2009?

Mike

Just for background, Senator Begich's statement "Begich said his inquiries led to a National Guard Bureau review of the Alaska Guard. While it didn't tackle the scope of the sexual assault issue, Begich said he thinks it triggered a broader review" was a bit disingenuous. Gen McKinley sent an NGB team up in April 2012 to specifically look into the AKNG sexual assault program. Their only area of concern in their findings centered on how we did data entry in their new tracking system, which we quickly corrected.

WASHINGTON DC 20301-1636

APR 10 2012

Chief, National Guard Bureau

The Honorable Mark Begich
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Begich:

Thank you for bringing your concerns regarding the Alaska National Guard to my attention. The National Guard appreciates the seriousness of the issues raised in your inquiry and I assure you they will be thoroughly investigated. I have forwarded a copy of the material to the Department of the Army and the Department of the Air Force. All allegations involving senior officials will be investigated by the appropriate service Inspector General.

I have directed the National Guard Bureau Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Office to contact the Alaska National Guard Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Coordinator to verify that all reported cases have been handled or are being handled appropriately. Additionally, I have directed my SAPR Office to make Alaska a top priority for their Staff Assistance Visit program.

Finally, I have asked the Director of the Air National Guard to send a team to Alaska to conduct a thorough assessment of the 176th Wing and the 168th Wing.

As more information becomes available, I will keep you updated. In the meantime, should you have any questions about this matter please contact the Director of the National Guard Bureau's Legislative Liaison, Brigadier General Wilton S. Gorkse at (571) 256-7339.

Sincerely,

Craig R. McKinley

> Just for background, Senator Begich's statement "Begich said his inquiries led to a National Guard Bureau review of the Alaska Guard. While it didn't tackle the scope of the sexual assault issue, Begich said he thinks it triggered a broader review" was a bit disingenuous. Gen McKinley sent an NGB team up in April 2012 to specifically look into the AKNG sexual assault program. Their only area of concern in their findings centered on how we did data entry in their new tracking system, which we quickly corrected.

NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU
1636 DEFENSE PENTAGON
WASHINGTON DC 20301-1636

APR 10 2012

Chief, National Guard Bureau

The Honorable Mark Begich
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Begich:

Thank you for bringing your concerns regarding the Alaska National Guard to my attention. The National Guard appreciates the seriousness of the issues raised in your inquiry and I assure you they will be thoroughly investigated. I have forwarded a copy of the material to the Department of the Army and the Department of the Air Force. All allegations involving senior officials will be investigated by the appropriate service Inspector General.

I have directed the National Guard Bureau Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Office to contact the Alaska National Guard Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Coordinator to verify that all reported cases have been handled or are being handled appropriately. Additionally, I have directed my SAPR Office to make Alaska a top priority for their Staff Assistance Visit program.

Finally, I have asked the Director of the Air National Guard to send a team to Alaska to conduct a thorough assessment of the 176th Wing and the 168th Wing.

As more information becomes available, I will keep you updated. In the meantime, should you have any questions about this matter please contact the Director of the National Guard Bureau's Legislative Liaison, Brigadier General Wilton S. Gorkse at (571) 256-7339.

Sincerely,

Craig R. McKinley
General, US Air Force
Chief, National Guard Bureau

Sir/Ma'am,

I have consolidated the questions forwarded by Ms. Lux and Mr. Pierre. Hopefully, the explanations for the numbers will make sense. I also have attached a database of each case and can provide additional, non-identifying information if needed. I would like to point out, as well, that both of the victims identified and quoted in the Anchorage Daily News article have not filed restricted or unrestricted reports with this office, to date.

To address your questions:

1. The statement says that there were 29 reports, with 11 chosing a restricted report, would indicate that 18 were unrestricted. However he says that 21 were referred to the APD or the AST. Are you able to to explain the difference between 21 and 18? Did three RR convert to UR? Is that why 21 were referred to law enforcement? We could not definitively answer the Vice's questions on the case number differences.

The difference in the data:

1 case converted to Unrestricted

1 case occurred off base/civilian perp on a non-duty status for an M-Day/traditional soldier she individually reported to Anchorage Police Department however did not want chain of command to know about incident, she was seeking support from SAPR program

2 cases had one victim, she chose to go to law enforcement for one incident, but not the other

2. Also, Lt Gen Lengyel has asked for the outcome of those cases referred to law enforcement. He would like to know what was done about those 18 (or 21) cases by law enforcement? I know this may be a challenge for you to follow up on. Alice was attempting to review the cases that were entered into GKO by Gretchen from 2009 through mid-2012 but the GKO case tracking mechanism was not designed to gather case outcome or identifying information. Do you have that data available in your case records? Is this something you can track down to answer the Vice's RFI? Is this something your AK/JA has available? How can we assist you in getting this information?

The majority of the cases were suspended for a number of reasons by local law enforcement, with most of them declined for investigation due to lack of prosecutorial evidence. Either the reports did not require a SART exam(touching over the clothing/attempted kiss), victim refused exam, or the reported assault occurred months to years prior to the report. One is pending DNA. One is currently under investigation by OCI. We had a group of 10 cases that were part of the MEPS investigation.

3. Of the 29 reported cases what is the status of each? We understand all were reported to the Sexual Assault Response Coordinator and that 21 were referred to local law enforcement but investigations were not opened.

23 of the cases are officially closed. 1 case is awaiting report from OCI. 3 cases are awaiting follow up from APD/AST. 1 is pending closure. 1 is being considered for possible OCI investigation.

Please let me know if I can provide any additional information.

Very Respectfully,

Octavia L. Thompson

Kevin -

I got your phone message, the answer to your question is, no, I have not successfully found employment, I've pretty much given up hope of finding a job in this state.

In fact, I've pretty much just given up on life, if you know what I mean.

If there's any hope of finding a job, and you think that you can help me, then I'm all ears.

I am fighting the negative reports that the program director for the Alaska National Guard, Mr Timothy Crawford, and my employer who placed me with the Guard, Copper River Information Technology.

Neither Mr Timothy Crawford the program director for the Alaska National Guard, or Copper River Information Technology, the employer who placed me with the Guard, has been willing to issue any kind of letter of reference for me, even though there was never a complaint about my work, in fact for four years there was nothing but praise for my work. You can even read about it in the DMVA 2012 Annual Report;

http://ebooks.aqppublishing.com/archive/national_guard/DMVA_AnnualReport.pdf

We expanded capabilities of six existing classrooms around Alaska with additional workstations and upgraded software, and we installed a seventh classroom in Kodiak.

That is the project that I inherited in 2010, the program was broken and barely functional, with the threat of having its budget eliminated looming overhead. I worked very hard to help correct that situation by coordinating the DL Program for the Guard in 2010 and 2011, and for this is how I've been paid back for my hard work

I've cc'd this to Leon Bridges with the AKARNG, perhaps he can shed some light on the subject as to why I've been treated in the manner that I've been treated.

Enclosed is my one and only performance evaluation from 2009, I had requested another in 2011 but neither organization, the Guard or Copper River, ever followed through with my request. Ben Brucker, President of Copper River IT, did actually put his name to a letter that I had written, but after thinking about it I have decided not use that because of the unethical nature of it.

If you think that this can be overcome, and you can help me, then yes, I would love to speak with you.

Thanks Nancy. Got both your e-mails. Chris Bydalek has sent me several odd communications indicating he is vindicated (not sure from what) by the negative ADN article that appeared last Sunday. I believe that article has reinvigorated him to some cause which I still unclear on.

Certainly I would have great concern for the safety of the DMVA work place from the tone of his letters if I was not on JBER. Having run my concerns through JBER once on a similar matter with Badalek last year, Col Duffy felt he needed to take no further precautions than those force protection levels currently assigned. I'm putting my faith and trust of my workforce in my JBER landlord/mission support partner, as realistically I have no choice in that.

I appreciate your strong, steadfast support to me and our great DMVA members. I'm sorry you keep getting wrapped up in this strange situation.

All,

I am so sorry that this is happening again. This is not a new occurrence with Chris.

Obviously he is going through something difficult for the last few years.

I was not the President at the time, but Chris's contract with Copper River ended years ago, so I am not sure why we are being targeted.

I would be more than happy to have a discussion with any of you regarding this situation, should you feel it necessary.

After the last round of similar emails last year, Chris and I had a series of friendly communications, and I thought it helped him get past whatever he needed to overcome.

I signed a reference letter that he sent me, trying to help him gain employment, but he now has issue with that.

I have reached out to him again today, simply to try and keep another human from harm.

I do not know any of you or your relationship with Chris but he is obviously in a bad place, but he is burning bridges left and right.

> I'm providing this for additional background as initially we believed we had missed [BOI/PR] in our process somehow until the SARC identified her as Restricted. We have reengaged with her to determine what additional resources she may need.

If anything further comes up that I see as pertinent, I will continue to forward the information to you and copy furnish National Guard Bureau. I spent the day, today, in Juneau and met with the Governor's Chief of Staff. He confirmed having met with chaplains several years ago and heard their complaints. He adamantly pressed them for specific details that he could take action on. They could produce no specific actionable information.

Absolutely no sexual assault victims were ever brought to the Governor's attention, to his staff, or his office.

- Maintain positive relationship with SEEM to ensure appropriate reporting and confidentiality procedures for SH and SA

ANG:

- Sustain BIT emphasis until completed – 30 Jun 12
- Do not combine SH and SA training for ANG
- Collaborate with JFHQ for SAPR VA use/training/tracking

ARNG:

- Input FY 10-12 ARNG case data into SADMS
- Identify and train ARNG Soldiers in 80 hour SHARP

JOINT:

- Identify and validate all SAPR VAs with appropriate documentation
- Establish SOP on handling NG LODs for both Services
- Include all current MOUs and MOAs in JFHQ Continuity Files

ANG:

- Complete VA background checks/formalize documentation
- Accomplish VA SEI updates and confirm with BETM
- Ensure necessary waiver documentation for WESO PD

Way Ahead

ARNG:

- Finalize plans for 80 hr SHARP training and personnel
- Critical G3 and Training NCOs are inputting SHARP training data into DTMS

JOINT:

- JFHQ SARC career develop in budget/financial management
- Develop detailed SOP for full SAPR implementation
- Utilize existing tools to assess command climate
- SAPR inclusion in pre-command course per JCS Strategic Direction on SAPR

Re: 2012 National Guard Bureau's Site Assistance Visit Report, Alaska National Guard

Major General Katkus,

I thank you for your service to all Alaskans in your role as Adjutant General and Commissioner of the Department of Military & Veterans Affairs. I appreciated you and Dep. Commissioner Pierre's visit to my office earlier this month in response to my inquiry about the recent public reports of sexual assault and misconduct of Alaska National Guard employees against Guard employees, civilian job applicants, and other persons.

I asked you in this meeting about the 2012 National Guard Bureau's Site Assistance Visit Report concerning the Alaska National Guard, but I did not refer to it by its correct name. You and Dep. Comm. Pierre said you were not familiar with this report. This report was carried out at the direction of General Frank J. Grass, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, and Lt. General Stanley E. Clark, Director, Air National Guard. I have since learned that this report of investigation concerning the Alaska National Guard was focused on the issues of sexual assault, sexual misconduct and other Alaska National Guard discipline matters.

I trust that Governor Parnell received a copy of this report. If possible, I would like a copy. I would appreciate you summarizing for me the outcomes of this report and what resulting action items were implemented in the Alaska National Guard to strengthen its culture against sexual violence and misconduct.

Respectfully,

Fred Dyson

NGB J1-SAPR 6 July 2012

MEMORANDUM FOR Director, J1, National Guard Bureau, 111 South George Mason Drive, Arlington, VA 22204

SUBJECT: Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Staff Assistance Visit (SAV), Alaska National Guard

1. A SAPR Staff Assistance Visit (SAV) was conducted on11-12 June 2012 to the Alaska Joint Force Headquarters in Anchorage, Alaska. NGB staff members participating in the SAV were Jane Lux, NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief, MAJ Tela McFadden, ARNG Sexual Harassment and Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Branch Chief, and 1stLt Lori Alix, NGB/A1S SAPR Program Manager.

2. The objectives of the SAV were to:
   a. Meet with state Joint, ARNG, and ANG leadership to provide an overview of SAPR/SHARP program policy requirements and answer questions
   b. Assist new JFHQ and Wing Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs) on steps to set up program and review checklists for program development
   c. Define sexual assault reporting standard operating procedures and ensure SARCs have access to all data management systems for documenting reports
   d. Present an understanding and update on NGB and DoD SAPR goals and initiatives

3. State leadership and employees present for the initial in brief:
1) MG Katkas – AK Adjutant General; 2) BG Bridges - ATAG; 3) Col O'Brian168th Wing Commander; Col Wenke, 176th Wing Commander, 4) COL Williams – USPFO; 5) Col Bailar, AK – NG JAG; 6) Octavia Thompson-JFHQ SARC; 7) Maj Bailey, 176th Wing SARC; 8) Maj Hunstein, 168th SARC 9) Col Grunwald – HRO & J1 Director 9) Col Lincoln, AKANG CoS; 10) LTC Schell, ARNG Asst COS; 11) Lt Col McPhetres, ANG DoS 12) LTC Koch, Chaplain. 13) CMSgt Calvin-WG/Command Chief- 176th; 14) CCSM Gordon Choate, CSM Pamela Harrington, CW2 Nicholas Forbes, CMSgt Timothy Delph, COL Hunt Kerrigan, COL Michael Thompson; 15) Lt Col Kay Spear-Budd, Family Program Chief and Alt JFHQ SARC

4. Background on reasons Alaska was selected for a Staff Assistance Visit:

a. The previous full-time JFHQ SARC was initially hired as a temporary technician. When the temporary position expired, the state created a contract for her to continue in the role. During the time she served as JFHQ SARC, she did not report state ARNG sexual assaults into the Army's system of records, SADMS. Additionally, she was often late or did not input required metrics into the GKO SAPR site. When this issue was brought to her and her immediate leadership, she regularly stated that she had site accessibility problems with her computer. That prevented her from uploading the data into the system. There was no problem with access from the NGB side and it was recommended that she work with her state Help Desk to resolve the problem.

b. The NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief, met with Brig Gen McManus, AK CoS, when she visited NGB late in 2011. At that time, documentation was provided to Brig Gen McManus about some of the problems with the contract JFHQ SARC. Although the SARC was a skilled trainer and victim advocate, she did not regularly meet program management requirements to document cases in systems of record.

c. The state advertised the JFHQ SARC position for hire as a technician and a new JFHQ SARC was hired in February 2012. Additionally, the two Wing SARCs were new to the positions and were trained by NGB SAPR in December 2011. It was important to provide support and program guidance to help create a positive climate where the new SARCs could be successful and meet program requirements.

d. The SAV to Alaska was moved up in the SAPR team's priority to respond to an IG report and congressional inquiry to the CNGB from Senator Mark Begich. There was a concern within the inquiry that not all sexual assaults were being reported. It was not clear in the IG report whether reports in Alaska were not being reported to NGB, or whether sexual assault victims did not have confidence in coming forward to report to SARCs or VAs.

5. SAV Process:

a. The SAV included an initial SAPR 101 briefing for AK leadership on day one of the visit. The briefing began at 0800 at the AK National Guard JFHQ with good attendance from state leadership. The initial briefing slide details the SAPR program elements. The initial elements fall to the SARC and Victim Advocates to provide training, victim advocacy, and prevention awareness. The last element is accountability, which falls to leadership. MG Katkas expressed the opinion that accountability is dependent on whether or not leadership is aware of a sexual assault report and leadership cannot be held accountable for offenders if there is no knowledge of the sexual assault.

b. There were questions from those in attendance that addressed the SAPR processes and roles of commanders and specific questions about restricted and unrestricted reports are handled.

c. The TAG stated that all sexual assault reports are investigated by local law enforcement through a Memorandum of Agreement. The ANG SAPR Program Manager expressed concerns that AFOSI may not be called if an assault of an ANG member occurred while in an active service status or on Joint Base Richardson/Elmendorf. Her concern was based on the AFI 36-6001 guidance that requires any sexual assault an active duty installation involving an ANG member who was in a duty status, must be investigated and reported to AFOSI. MG Katkas stated that all AK National Guard reports go to the local civilian law enforcement based on their memorandum of agreement.

d. After the SAPR 101 briefing, MG Katkas requested a separate meeting with the NGB SAPR team and the JFHQ and Wing SARCs. During the private meeting, MG Katkas stated that he believed his SAPR program was solid. He brought up the IG and Congressional Inquiry as being the reason for the NGB visit. The NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief reiterated that although the SAV's priority was elevated due to the IG complaint, the team's function was to provide a staff assistance visit and the team was not acting as an inspection team.

e. The ARNG SHARP branch chief, J1 SAPR Program Chief then broke to meet separately with the JFHQ SARC. The ANG SAPR Program Manager met with the two Wing SARCs.

f. Program managers discussed SAPR and SHARP program implementation. There were no major program concerns or misunderstandings from the SARCs about program policy or procedures that were evident. However, the Wing SARCs, who are co-located with active duty AF bases, were not aware of and had not seen the Memorandum of Agreement with local law enforcement for jurisdiction authority that was discussed by the TAG during the in-brief. It was recommended that all MOAs be included in continuity books for the program by the SARCs.

g. The program managers discussed with the SARCs whether or not they perceived any command climate issues that may prevent victims of sexual assault from coming forward with a report to a SARC or victim advocate. The 176th WG SARC reported that they recently had received an anonymous statement in as AFCAST (Safety Survey-SAF) that statement "I can think of three women who have been assaulted in our Wing and are afraid to report it." The ANG SAPR program manager provided guidance and various options as the best way to handle and response to an anonymous survey. The Wing SARC outlined steps he has already put in place since he was trained in December 2011. He and the new JFHQ SARC are working jointly to better market the program, ensure all Bystander Intervention Training is completed for airmen, execute all meetings as required, ensure Victim Advocates receive annual refresher training, and display prevention materials with information about the DoD Safe Helpline resource.

h. The joint base environment for the active component and the National Guard appear to be working well and the JFHQ and Wing SARCs collaborate for training and response support.

i. The meetings with the JFHQ SARC and Wing SARCs concluded at approximately 1700. The NGB program managers provided suggestions for improvement. Those areas centered on ensuring proper documentation. Recommendations included: input of prior ARNG sexual assault reports in SADMS by the JFHQ SARC; validation and identification of all trained SAPR VAs in the state; completion of all SAPR VA background checks in preparation for VA credentialing requirements; appropriate waiver requests on file; training of ARNG SARC/SHARP personnel in the required T10 80-hour training; and documentation of all MOAs and MOUs in continuity books.

6. After SAV:

a. The NGB SAPR Team joined the SARCs and many of the state leaders for dinner that evening at a local restaurant. The evening offered the opportunity to emphasis the positive efforts being put forward by the new SARCs at the JFHQ and the 176th and 168th Wings. It also offered the opportunity for the team to meet Governor Parnell, who happened to be at the same restaurant that evening for a political event. MG Katkas introduced the governor to the NGB Team.

b. The NGB SAPR team provided an out brief the following morning, 12 June, for the TAG and some of the leadership who had been present at the in brief. The briefing focused on the state's SAPR program history, areas they should sustain, improve, and plan for in the future. The out brief slides are included with this trip report.

7. Lessons learned:

a. State leadership initially perceived the SAV to be an inspection. The SAPR team's purpose is to provide support and guidance and that can be misinterpreted if a SAV is conducted prior to an IG team's visit.

b. The SAV was productive and all new SARCs appear to have a clear understanding of tasks and actions that are needed to move the program implementation ahead.

Subject: the way it is

In all of my years as a government contractor, prior military, as a small business owner, as someone who has worked in commercial and public media, I've never witnessed or have been a part of such a dysfunctional organization as I was when I worked for Mr. Timothy Crawford in the DOIM J-6 shop.

I've described to you just some of what I witnessed, racism, time card fraud, petty theft, it was all there under one roof.

There is a culture of dysfunction in that organization that goes way beyond Tim Crawford, and we're now reading about it in the press.

Rape, sexual assault, kidnapping, embezzlement and quite possibly and more than likely, murder.

I'm sorry that General Katkus has to spend so much time spinning the story and covering these crimes up, but if the man had an ounce of integrity he'd face these problems head on and deal with the perpetrators swiftly.

Instead, he's protecting at least one perpetrator, a known pornographer who was using Guard resources for his own personal gain.

Where is the honor in that ?

Where is the honor in standing in front of your troops, as Mike Bridges did, and flat out calling those women who came forward and reported that they were raped, liars ?

That's called re-victimizing the victim, and from what I understand it did not make some people very happy.

Where is the honor in using a sacred Veteran's Day ceremony to spin the sexual assault problem to make it look like they are actually doing something about the problem, when in reality they are continuing to go after whistleblowers by discrediting them, and in the case of one former member of the AKARNG, going as far as vandalizing his house ?

Of course there is no honor in any of this behavior, it's indicative of a command that has operated in the shadows with no oversight for far too long.

I guess that the payback that you've dealt to me pales in comparison to the payback that those men and women who have been sexually assaulted, raped and kidnapped, whose perpetrators walk free while they are re-victimized by their Chain of Command.

And finally, what have you done for the family of [redacted BOI/PR] ?

In a year in which our political leaders are going to be asking for our votes, two people who will be getting some heat will be Dan Sullivan and Sean Parnell.

Two men who have been silent on this issue since it's been brought up in the media.

At some point I can promise you that they will be made to answer pointed questions about this subject, on the record for the whole world to hear.

Their silence, and your silence, is deafening.

MEMORANDUM FOR Director, J1, National Guard Bureau, 111 South George Mason Drive, Arlington, VA 22204

SUBJECT: Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Staff Assistance Visit (SAV), Alaska National Guard

1. A SAPR Staff Assistance Visit (SAV) was conducted on11-12 June 2012 to the Alaska Joint Force Headquarters in Anchorage, Alaska. NGB staff members participating in the SAV were Jane Lux, NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief, MAJ Tela McFadden, ARNG Sexual Harassment and Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Branch Chief, and 1stLt Lori Alix, NGB/A1S SAPR Program Manager.

2. The objectives of the SAV were to:
   a. Meet with state Joint, ARNG, and ANG leadership to provide an overview of SAPR/SHARP program policy requirements and answer questions
   b. Assist new JFHQ and Wing Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs) on steps to set up program and review checklists for program development
   c. Define sexual assault reporting standard operating procedures and ensure SARCs have access to all data management systems for documenting reports
   d. Present an understanding and update on NGB and DoD SAPR goals and initiatives

3. State leadership and employees present for the initial in brief:
1) MG Katkas – AK Adjutant General; 2) BG Bridges - ATAG; 3) Col O'Brian168th Wing Commander; Col Wenke, 176th Wing Commander, 4) COL Williams – USPFO; 5) Col Bailar, AK – NG JAG; 6) Octavia Thompson-JFHQ SARC; 7) Maj Bailey, 176th Wing SARC; 8) Maj Hunstein, 168th SARC 9) Col Grunwald – HRO & J1 Director 9) Col Lincoln, AKANG CoS; 10) LTC Schell, ARNG Asst COS; 11) Lt Col McPhetres, ANG DoS 12) LTC Koch, Chaplain. 13) CMSgt Calvin-WG/Command Chief- 176th; 14) CCSM Gordon Choate, CSM Pamela Harrington, CW2 Nicholas Forbes, CMSgt Timothy Delph, COL Hunt Kerrigan, COL Michael Thompson; 15) Lt Col Kay Spear-Budd, Family Program Chief and Alt JFHQ SARC

4. Background on reasons Alaska was selected for a Staff Assistance Visit:

a. The previous full-time JFHQ SARC was initially hired as a temporary technician. When the temporary position expired, the state created a contract for her to continue in the role. During the time she served as JFHQ SARC, she did not report state ARNG sexual assaults into the Army's system of records, SADMS. Additionally, she was often late or did not input required metrics into the GKO SAPR site. When this issue was brought to her and her immediate leadership, she regularly stated that she had site accessibility problems with her computer. That prevented her from uploading the data into the system. There was no problem with access from the NGB side and it was recommended that she work with her state Help Desk to resolve the problem.

b. The NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief, met with Brig Gen McManus, AK CoS, when she visited NGB late in 2011. At that time, documentation was provided to Brig Gen McManus about some of the problems with the contract JFHQ SARC. Although the SARC was a skilled trainer and victim advocate, she did not regularly meet program management requirements to document cases in systems of record.

c. The state advertised the JFHQ SARC position for hire as a technician and a new JFHQ SARC was hired in February 2012. Additionally, the two Wing SARCs were new to the positions and were trained by NGB SAPR in December 2011. It was important to provide support and program guidance to help create a positive climate where the new SARCs could be successful and meet program requirements.

d. The SAV to Alaska was moved up in the SAPR team's priority to respond to an IG report and congressional inquiry to the CNGB from Senator Mark Begich. There was a concern within the inquiry that not all sexual assaults were being reported. It was not clear in the IG report whether reports in Alaska were not being reported to NGB, or whether sexual assault victims did not have confidence in coming forward to report to SARCs or VAs.

5. SAV Process:

a. The SAV included an initial SAPR 101 briefing for AK leadership on day one of the visit. The briefing began at 0800 at the AK National Guard JFHQ with good attendance from state leadership. The initial briefing slide details the SAPR program elements. The initial elements fall to the SARC and Victim Advocates to provide training, victim advocacy, and prevention awareness. The last element is accountability, which falls to leadership. MG Katkas expressed the opinion that accountability is dependent on whether or not leadership is aware of a sexual assault report and leadership cannot be held accountable for offenders if there is no knowledge of the sexual assault.

b. There were questions from those in attendance that addressed the SAPR processes and roles of commanders and specific questions about restricted and unrestricted reports are handled.

c. The TAG stated that all sexual assault reports are investigated by local law enforcement through a Memorandum of Agreement. The ANG SAPR Program Manager expressed concerns that AFOSI may not be called if an assault of an ANG member occurred while in an active service status or on Joint Base Richardson/Elmendorf. Her concern was based on the AFI 36-6001 guidance that requires any sexual assault an active duty installation involving an ANG member who was in a duty status, must be investigated and reported to AFOSI. MG Katkas stated that all AK National Guard reports go to the local civilian law enforcement based on their memorandum of agreement.

d. After the SAPR 101 briefing, MG Katkas requested a separate meeting with the NGB SAPR team and the JFHQ and Wing SARCs. During the private meeting, MG Katkas stated that he believed his SAPR program was solid. He brought up the IG and Congressional Inquiry as being the reason for the NGB visit. The NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief reiterated that although the SAV's priority was elevated due to the IG complaint, the team's function was to provide a staff assistance visit and the team was not acting as an inspection team.

e. The ARNG SHARP branch chief, J1 SAPR Program Chief then broke to meet separately with the JFHQ SARC. The ANG SAPR Program Manager met with the two Wing SARCs.

f. Program managers discussed SAPR and SHARP program implementation. There were no major program concerns or misunderstandings from the SARCs about program policy or procedures that were evident. However, the Wing SARCs, who are co-located with active duty AF bases, were not aware of and had not seen the Memorandum of Agreement with local law enforcement for jurisdiction authority that was discussed by the TAG during the in-brief. It was recommended that all MOAs be included in continuity books for the program by the SARCs.

g. The program managers discussed with the SARCs whether or not they perceived any command climate issues that may prevent victims of sexual assault from coming forward with a report to a SARC or victim advocate. The 176th WG SARC reported that they recently had received an anonymous statement in as AFCAST (Safety Survey-SAF) that statement "I can think of three women who have been assaulted in our Wing and are afraid to report it." The ANG SAPR program manager provided guidance and various options as the best way to handle and response to an anonymous survey. The Wing SARC outlined steps he has already put in place since he was trained in December 2011. He and the new JFHQ SARC are working jointly to better market the program, ensure all Bystander Intervention Training is completed for airmen, execute all meetings as required, ensure Victim Advocates receive annual refresher training, and display prevention materials with information about the DoD Safe Helpline resource.

h. The joint base environment for the active component and the National Guard appear to be working well and the JFHQ and Wing SARCs collaborate for training and response support.

i. The meetings with the JFHQ SARC and Wing SARCs concluded at approximately 1700. The NGB program managers provided suggestions for improvement. Those areas centered on ensuring proper documentation. Recommendations included: input of prior ARNG sexual assault reports in SADMS by the JFHQ SARC; validation and identification of all trained SAPR VAs in the state; completion of all SAPR VA background checks in preparation for VA credentialing requirements; appropriate waiver requests on file; training of ARNG SARC/SHARP personnel in the required T10 80-hour training; and documentation of all MOAs and MOUs in continuity books.

6. After SAV:

a. The NGB SAPR Team joined the SARCs and many of the state leaders for dinner that evening at a local restaurant. The evening offered the opportunity to emphasis the positive efforts being put forward by the new SARCs at the JFHQ and the 176th and 168th Wings. It also offered the opportunity for the team to meet Governor Parnell, who happened to be at the same restaurant that evening for a political event. MG Katkas introduced the governor to the NGB Team.

b. The NGB SAPR team provided an out brief the following morning, 12 June, for the TAG and some of the leadership who had been present at the in brief. The briefing focused on the state's SAPR program history, areas they should sustain, improve, and plan for in the future. The out brief slides are included with this trip report.

7. Lessons learned:

a. State leadership initially perceived the SAV to be an inspection. The SAPR team's purpose is to provide support and guidance and that can be misinterpreted if a SAV is conducted prior to an IG team's visit.

b. The SAV was productive and all new SARCs appear to have a clear understanding of tasks and actions that are needed to move the program implementation ahead.

Hi Marty … I apologize for the delay in getting back to you on this letter. I made two minor edits on the second page (changed Choose Respect Campaign to Choose Respect initiative; and added the word "to" right before that). The Governor also wanted to make sure you all clarified with Sen. Dyson that he has not received any report from the National Guard Bureau.

Let me know if you have any questions. Thanks and Merry Christmas!! ☺

Senator Dyson,

I would like to personally thank you for your concern and your desire to address sexual assault within the Alaska National Guard. As you know, reducing sexual assault in our state is one of the top priorities of Governor Parnell's administration. As the Commissioner of the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, ensuring the safety of all of our citizen Soldiers, Airmen, and state work force is my number one focus. Every one of us has a role in bringing about awareness and combating this horrible crime in our work environment.

In April 2012, at the inquiry of Senator Mark Begich to General Craig McKinley, the Chief of the National Guard Bureau, the NGB Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Manager, Ms. Jane Lux, accompanied by the Air National Guard and Army National Guard program managers, conducted a SAPR Staff Assistance Visit (SAV) on June 11th and 12th, 2012. The SAV specifically had these objectives:

- Meet with State Joint, Army National Guard and Air National Guard leadership to provide an overview of SAPR/SHARP program policy requirements and answer questions.
- Assist the new Joint Forces Headquarters and Wing Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCS), Ms. Octavia Thompson and Major Keolani Bailey, on steps to set up programs and review checklists for program development.
- Define sexual assault reporting standard operating procedures and ensure SARCs have access to all data management systems for documenting reports.
- Present an understanding and update on NGB and DoD SAPR goals and initiatives.

It is important to know the SAV was not intended to serve as an inspection of the Alaska National Guard program. The team did not review case files of reported sexual assaults, nor did they speak with Soldiers or Airmen in sensing sessions to research command climate, as an inspection team would have done. A copy of Ms. Lux's trip report and Out-brief presentation is attached for your reference. It is meant for documentation of team activity and not formal report to the state leadership. The areas in the trip report mirrored the out brief with AK NG leadership:

- Leadership can only investigate what comes to their attention.
- The previous SARC did not adequately document sexual assaults in the data system of record. This was immediately rectified by the current SARC.
- The Air National Guard SAPR Program Manager concerns were noted that is AF Office of Special Investigations has jurisdiction for investigation of a sexual assault on JBER and should be referred to OSI rather than local law enforcement.
- At the time of the SAV, there were anonymous reports of ANG sexual assault victims not coming forward. This needed to be addressed through Wing SARC training opportunities in an effort to build confidence in the system. The Wing SARCS noted to the ANG SAPR PM that they continued to encourage airmen to come forward at follow up trainings.

Since the June 2012 SAV, changes and improvements have been made within the Alaska National Guard and DoD SAPR program. One of these improvements involves the requirement of national certification through the National Organization of Victim Advocates for SARCs and victim advocates. Ms. Thompson, JFHQ SARC, is one of only four National Guard SARCs, nationwide, who qualified at the highest level of experience and training (Level IV). All SARCs and victim advocates must now go through extensive training and background checks before working with victims, thus ensuring the highest quality possible for support of our members. Recruitment of new victim advocates to serve at the company and brigade levels, as well as the squadron and group levels, has increased with additional advocates to provide a wide range of availability.

Ms. Thompson has reached out statewide to programs such as the Alaska Network of Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, Alaska Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, and to the Governor's Choose Respect initiative. Locally, she coordinates closely with other programs such as STAR, AWAIC, Forensic Nursing Services of Providence and the active duty programs on JBER. Educating others about the process of our response is one of her main tasks when meeting with those outside the Alaska National Guard.

Two changes of note include the new National Guard Bureau's Office of Complex Investigations (OCI) which now investigates all sexual assault allegations not investigated or prosecuted by local authorities. When a case is referred to NGB for an OCI investigation, NGB will assign trained investigators from different states to conduct the investigation to ensure complete and unbiased input.

Lastly, since spring of 2012, more victims have come forward to report unrestricted reports. All but three have been unrestricted, a complete reversal from previous reports, where most were restricted. I believe this is due to the confidence in leadership and the quality of support being provided to our members. Our goal of strengthening the culture against sexual violence and misconduct is at the forefront of this organization.

I am available at anytime to provide additional information or clarification if you need further assistance.

Sincerely,

Thomas H. Katkus

Major General Katkus,

I thank you for your service to all Alaskans in your role as Adjutant General and Commissioner of the Department of Military & Veterans Affairs. I appreciated you and Dep. Commissioner Pierre's visit to my office earlier this month in response to my inquiry about the recent public reports of sexual assault and misconduct of Alaska National Guard employees against Guard employees, civilian job applicants, and other persons.

I asked you in this meeting about the 2012 National Guard Bureau's Site Assistance Visit Report concerning the Alaska National Guard, but I did not refer to it by its correct name. You and Dep. Comm. Pierre said you were not familiar with this report. This report was carried out at the direction of General Frank J. Grass, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, and Lt. General Stanley E. Clark, Director, Air National Guard. I have since learned that this report of investigation concerning the Alaska National Guard was focused on the issues of sexual assault, sexual misconduct and other Alaska National Guard discipline matters.

I trust that Governor Parnell received a copy of this report. If possible, I would like a copy. I would appreciate you summarizing for me the outcomes of this report and what resulting action items were implemented in the Alaska National Guard to strengthen its culture against sexual violence and misconduct.

Respectfully,

Fred Dyson

NGB J1-SAPR 6 July 2012

MEMORANDUM FOR Director, J1, National Guard Bureau, 111 South George Mason Drive, Arlington, VA 22204

SUBJECT: Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Staff Assistance Visit (SAV), Alaska National Guard

1. A SAPR Staff Assistance Visit (SAV) was conducted on11-12 June 2012 to the Alaska Joint Force Headquarters in Anchorage, Alaska. NGB staff members participating in the SAV were Jane Lux, NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief, MAJ Tela McFadden, ARNG Sexual Harassment and Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Branch Chief, and 1stLt Lori Alix, NGB/A1S SAPR Program Manager.

2. The objectives of the SAV were to:

a. Meet with state Joint, ARNG, and ANG leadership to provide an overview of SAPR/SHARP program policy requirements and answer questions
b. Assist new JFHQ and Wing Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs) on steps to set up program and review checklists for program development
c. Define sexual assault reporting standard operating procedures and ensure SARCs have access to all data management systems for documenting reports
d. Present an understanding and update on NGB and DoD SAPR goals and initiatives

3. State leadership and employees present for the initial in brief:

1) MG Katkas – AK Adjutant General; 2) BG Bridges - ATAG; 3) Col O'Brian168th Wing Commander; Col Wenke, 176th Wing Commander, 4) COL Williams – USPFO; 5) Col Bailar, AK – NG JAG; 6) Octavia Thompson-JFHQ SARC; 7) Maj Bailey, 176th Wing SARC; 8) Maj Hunstein, 168th SARC 9) Col Grunwald – HRO & J1 Director 9) Col Lincoln, AKANG CoS; 10) LTC Schell, ARNG Asst COS; 11) Lt Col McPhetres, ANG DoS 12) LTC Koch, Chaplain. 13) CMSgt Calvin-WG/Command Chief- 176th; 14) CCSM Gordon Cboate, CSM Pamela Harrington, CW2 Nicbolas Forbes, CMSgt Timothy Delph, COL Hunt Kerrigan, COL Michael Thompson; 15) Lt Col Kay Spear-Budd, Family Program Chief and Alt JFHQ SARC

4. Background on reasons Alaska was selected for a Staff Assistance Visit:

a. The previous full-time JFHQ SARC was initially hired as a temporary technician. When the temporary position expired, the state created a contract for her to continue in the role. During the time she served as JFHQ SARC, she did not report state ARNG sexual assaults into the Army's system of records, SADMS. Additionally, she was often late or did not input required metrics into the GKO SAPR site. When this issue was brought to her and her immediate leadership, sbe regularly stated that sbe had site accessibility problems with her computer. That prevented her from uploading the data into the system. There was no problem witb access from the NGB side and it was recommended that she work with her state Help Desk to resolve the problem.

b. The NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief, met with Brig Gen McManus, AK CoS, when she visited NGB late in 2011. At that time, documentation was provided to Brig Gen McManus about some of the problems with the contract JFHQ SARC. Although the SARC was a skilled trainer and victim advocate, she did not regularly meet program management requirements to document cases in systems of record.

c. The state advertised the JFHQ SARC position for hire as a technician and a new JFHQ SARC was bired in February 2012. Additionally, the two Wing SARCs were new to the positions and were trained by NGB SAPR in December 2011. It was important to provide support and program guidance to help create a positive climate wbere the new SARCs could be successful and meet program requirements.

d. The SAV to Alaska was moved up in the SAPR team's priority to respond to an IG report and congressional inquiry to the CNGB from Senator Mark Begich. There was a concern within the inquiry that not all sexual assaults were being reported. It was not clear in the IG report whether reports in Alaska were not being reported to NGB, or whether sexual assault victims did not have confidence in coming forward to report to SARCs or VAs.

5. SAV Process:

a. The SAV included an initial SAPR 101 briefing for AK leadership on day one of the visit. The briefing began at 0800 at the AK National Guard JFHQ with good attendance from state leadership. The initial briefing slide details the SAPR program elements. The initial elements fall to the SARC and Victim Advocates to provide training, victim advocacy, and prevention awareness. The last element is accountability, whicb falls to leadership. MG Katkas expressed the opinion that accountability is dependent on whether or not leadership is aware of a sexual assault report and leadership cannot be held accountable for offenders if there is no knowledge of the sexual assault.

b. There were questions from those in attendance that addressed the SAPR processes and roles of commanders and specific questions about restricted and unrestricted reports are handled.

c. The TAG stated that all sexual assault reports are investigated by local law enforcement through a Memorandum of Agreement. The ANG SAPR Program Manager expressed concerns that AFOSI may not be called if an assault of an ANG member occurred while in an active service status or on Joint Base Richardson/Elmendorf. Her concern was based on the AFI 36-6001 guidance that requires any sexual assault an active duty installation involving an ANG member who was in a duty status, must be investigated and reported to AFOSI. MG Katkas statcd that all AK National Guard reports go to the local civilian law enforcement based on their memorandum of agreement.

d. After the SAPR 101 briefing, MG Katkas requested a separate meeting with the NGB SAPR team and the JFHQ and Wing SARCs. During the private meeting, MG Katkas stated that he believed his SAPR program was solid. He brought up the IG and Congressional Inquiry as being the reason for the NGB visit. The NGB J1 SAPR Program Chief reiterated that although the SAV's priority was elevated due to the IG complaint, the team's function was to provide a staff assistance visit and the team was not acting as an inspection team.

e. The ARNG SHARP branch chief, J1 SAPR Program Chief then broke to meet separately with the JFHQ SARC. The ANG SAPR Program Manager met with the two Wing SARCs.

f. Program managers discussed SAPR and SHARP program implementation. There were no major program concerns or misunderstandings from the SARCs about program policy or procedures that were evident. However, the Wing SARCs, who are co-located with active duty AF bases, were not aware of and had not seen the Memorandum of Agreement with local law enforcement for jurisdiction authority that was discussed hy the TAG during the in-brief. It was recommended that all MOAs be included in continuity books for the program by the SARCs.

g. The program managers discussed with the SARCs wbether or not they perceived any command climate issues that may prevent victims of sexual assault from coming forward with a report to a SARC or victim advocate. The 176th WG SARC reported that they recently had received an anonymous statement in as AFCAST (Safety Survey-SAF) that statement "I can think of three women who have been assaulted in our Wing and are afraid to report it." The ANG SAPR program manager provided guidance and various options as the best way to handle and response to an anonymous survey. The Wing SARC outlined steps he has already put in place since he was trained in December 2011. He and the new JFHQ SARC are working jointly to better market the program, ensure all Bystander Intervention Training is completed for airmen, execute all meetings as required, ensure Victim Advocates receive annual refresher training, and display prevention materials with information about the DoD Safe Helpline resource.

b. The joint base environment for the active component and the National Guard appear to be working well and the JFHQ and Wing SARCs collaborate for training and response support.

i. The meetings with the JFHQ SARC and Wing SARCs concluded at approximately 1700. The NGB program managers provided suggestions for improvement. Those areas centered on ensuring proper documentation. Recommendations included: input of prior ARNG sexual assault reports in SADMS by the JFHQ SARC; validation and identification of all trained SAPR VAs in the state; completion of all SAPR VA background checks in preparation for VA credentialing requirements; appropriate waiver requests on file; training of ARNG SARC/SHARP personnel in the required T10 80-hour training; and documentation of all MOAs and MOUs in continuity books.

6. After SAV:

a. The NGB SAPR Team joined the SARCs and many of tbe state leaders for dinner that evening at a local restaurant. The evening offered the opportunity to emphasis the positive efforts being put forward by the new SARCs at the JFHQ and the 176th and 168th Wings. It also offered the opportunity for the team to meet Governor Parnell, who happened to be at the same restaurant that evening for a political event. MG Katkas introduced the governor to the NGB Team.

b. The NGB SAPR team provided an out brief the following morning, 12 June, for the TAG and some of the leadership who had been present at the in brief. The briefing focused on the state's SAPR program history, areas they should sustain, improve, and plan for in the future. The out brief slides are included with this trip report.

7. Lessons learned:

a. State leadership initially perceived the SAV to be an inspection. The SAPR team's purpose is to provide support and guidance and that can be misinterpreted if a SAV is conducted prior to an IG team's visit.

b. The SAV was productive and all new SARCs appear to have a clear understanding of tasks and actions that are needed to move the program implementation ahead.

I read through this stuff. I have no idea where he gets this stuff. He hasn't worked at our department for 2 years, maybe more now.
I don't have any other reports of similar behavior or any other allegations of a hostile/ poor work environment.
We have three types of employees in the Army Guard IT section: active guard and reserve, technician, and federal contractors who work for various native corps.
None of these folks have come to me with any concerns, and I do see these employees on a regular basis.
If I ever hear of complaints about the workplace, I will take action to make sure we have a professional and safe environment that fosters success for all of our employees.

Tom, Mike, Nancy & John -

You really should listen to this story, if you're serious about changing the toxic atmosphere of your organization.

You know, I'm not an Army guy, and there's some ways about the way you do business that didn't make any sense to me.

If you listen to this story, "Smoking him" is a term that I've tried to describe to you, even though I didn't that's what I was witnessing.

Smoking him. That's what Tim Crawford and Terry Walker used to do to Bill Bullard, they would push his buttons and make him feel insecure and insignificant about his job.

It would make him very, very angry when they did this, he even confided in me once, claiming that that's what they were doing. I was skeptical, I thought that he was just paranoid, until I actually witnessed Terry Walker and Tim Crawford doing it to Bill Terry was even gleeful about it.

I asked her stop, I explained to her that there was residual side effects to their behavior, getting Bill all spun up over some silly thing, and then having Bill take it out on Derrick, Garry and I.

Toxic. Abusive. Bullying. Narcissistic.

He did to Kennedy, he did it to McKee.

And then he turned target on me. I swear to God as my witness, it's one of the most bewildering things that I've ever encountered.

Nice job guys, thanks for the support. I hope that someday somebody gets to the bottom of the problems that you have out there, I really truly do. There are a lot of good people out there who don't deserve this kind of treatment.

Oh, and I'm sorry. I'm sorry to bother with this petty crap, it will end now.

Thank you for your service.

Christopher T. Bydalek

http://www.npr.org/2014/01/06/259422776/army-takes-on-its-own-toxic-leaders

Top commanders in the U.S. Army have announced publicly that they have a problem: They have too many "toxic leaders" — the kind of bosses who make their employees miserable. Many corporations share a similar problem, but in the Army's case, destructive leadership can potentially have life or death consequences. So, some Army researchers are wondering if toxic officers have contributed to soldiers' mental health problems.

One of those researchers is Dave Matsuda. In 2010, then-Brig. Gen. Pete Bayer, who was supervising the Army's drawdown in Iraq, asked Matsuda to study why almost 30 soldiers in Iraq had committed or attempted suicides in the past year.

"We got to a point where we were exceptionally frustrated by the suicides that were occurring," Bayer says "And quite honestly feeling — at least I was — helpless to some degree that otherwise good young men and women were taking their lives."

Matsuda might seem like an unconventional choice to study Army suicides. He's an anthropologist; the Army hired him to advise U.S. commanders on how to understand what was really going on below the surface in Iraq. But Bayer says those skills are what prompted him to ask Matsuda to look below the surface of the suicide problem in the Army.

"What we valued about [Matsuda], as well as a few others who worked for us, was he didn't wear a uniform. He wasn't one of us, so to speak," Bayer says.

Whenever a soldier committed suicide, Bayer says, a team of Army investigators would essentially ask the same questions: What was wrong with the individual soldier? Did he or she have a troubled childhood or mental health problems? Did the soldier just break up with a partner or spouse? Was he or she in debt? The answer was often "yes." But Bayer says he felt part of the puzzle was missing.

“ And I just had, like, feelings, like, that nothing's ever going to change. I'm going to get [expletive] every day, and I just don't want this anymore. And I just felt like I wanted to kill myself.

- Frank Costabile

"We decided we were going to take a look at it from a different angle," he says.

So Matsuda looked at the cases of eight soldiers who had recently killed themselves and interviewed friends of the victims.

"I crisscrossed Iraq and interviewed 50 soldiers," Matusda recalls.

A more complicated story began to emerge, he says. In addition to major problems in their personal lives, the victims also had a leader who made their lives hell — sometimes a couple of leaders — Matsuda says. The officers would "smoke" them, as soldiers call it.

"Oftentimes platoon leaders will take turns seeing who can smoke this guy the worst. Seeing who can dream up the worst torture, seeing who can dream up the worst duties, seeing who can make this guy's life the most miserable," says Matusda.

He says the evidence did not show that the soldiers' leaders caused them to commit suicide. But the soldiers' friends said leaders had helped push them over the brink.

"When you're ridden mercilessly, there's just no letup, a lot of folks begin to fold," Matsuda says. He submitted a report stating: "[S]uicidal behavior can be triggered by ... toxic command climate."

Research At The War College

This was not the first time that an Army researcher had raised the issue of toxic leadership. In 2003, the secretary of the Army asked researchers at the Army War College in Pennsylvania to study a question:

NPR interviewed dozens of current or former soldiers who said they have struggled under toxic leaders.

"Given an institutional objective to establish and maintain effective command climate," Secretary Thomas White Jr. wrote, "how can the Army effectively assess leaders to prevent those with destructive leadership styles?"

"The first thing that struck me was, what a good question," says retired Col. George Reed, who was director of Command and Leadership Studies at the War College. "It was not a question that we had wrestled with before."

Reed and a colleague interviewed dozens of officers who were attending the War College. He says most of them told stories about recent encounters with leaders whom they said were toxic. He says the soldiers were talking about something worse than incompetent bosses: They said toxic leaders were abusive and self-aggrandizing, arrogant and petty, and "unconcerned about, or oblivious to, staff or troop morale."

Toxic leaders were also good at snowing their superiors — so they kept getting promoted. Reed says after Military Review published his article about the study, he was flooded with emails from other soldiers who complained about the toxic leaders they knew

"The stories just poured out at that point," Reed, who now teaches leadership studies at University of San Diego, says. "It was distressing because the Army is a world-class organization and at some point you have to ask, 'No, really? Are we tolerating this kind of leadership behavior?' "

Gradually, some generals started to ask that question and a few years ago they ordered researchers to do the first nationwide study to help answer it. Researchers based at the Center for Army Leadership at Fort Leavenworth in Kansas surveyed more than 22,000 troops in 2009 and 2010. Most commanders received good ratings, some even got great ratings. But the study found that roughly 20 percent of soldiers reported their own leaders were what researchers called toxic.

NPR has interviewed dozens of current or former soldiers who say they have struggled under those kinds of leaders. We found one of them, Frank Costabile, at a center for homeless vets in Las Vegas. The Army discharged him last year after the third time he threatened or attempted suicide.

"I'm doing better," says Costabile, who had been a private first class fueling helicopters, tanks and trucks. "After my last suicide attempt, they gave me a new medication."

Costabile says he never heard the term toxic leadership while he was in the Army. But he says some of his own leaders started tormenting him psychologically three years ago in Afghanistan, and the abuse continued when he came home in 2011 to Fort Carson in Colorado. He says those leaders didn't scream at him, they ostracized him. And the more he felt like he was falling apart, the worse it got. Army records show he had "major depressive episodes" and "multiple hospitalizations."

"Like the kid that was picked last for kickball in school, you know? I get the jobs that nobody wanted to do. Take out the trash, you're going to sweep the floor, you're going to mop the hallway. And it's like, why?" Costabile says.

Army records show that Costabile stopped eating more than a few bites each day; he lost 30 pounds in a month. His wife found him lying on the bathroom floor after he took dozens of antidepressants and other pills. But some officers said he was faking it.

"And I just had feelings, like, that nothing's ever going to change," Costabile says. "I'm going to get [expletive] every day, and I just don't want this anymore. And I just felt like I wanted to kill myself."

The Army Defines Toxic Leadership

Lt. Gen. David Perkins, who commands the Combined Arms Center at Fort Leavenworth, says he knows how toxic leadership can hurt soldiers — and the Army.

Gen. David Perkins, who led the first troops into downtown Iraq in 2003, now runs the Combined Arms Center at Fort Leavenworth in Kansas. He says toxic leadership could have life or death consequences.

"If we don't do something about toxic leadership, I mean in the end, not to be too dramatic, but it does have life or death consequences. And quite honestly, we owe it to the American public," Perkins says.

He continues: "I can just tell you from experience ... that if you have toxic leadership, people will get sort of what we call the 'foxhole mentality.' They'll just hunker down and no one is taking what we call prudent risk." Perkins led the first U.S. Army troops into downtown Baghdad after the U.S. invaded Iraq in 2003. "They're not being innovative, they're not being creative. And some people who are toxic leaders, they might be able to get some short-term results and get an immediate mission at hand done. But in the process, they are destroying the organization and destroying their people."

Perkins says the first step to figuring out what to do about toxic leaders was to define the problem. So in 2012, the Army revised its leadership bible, Army Doctrine Publication 6-22, to detail what toxic leadership means for the first time.

The manual now states:

> "Toxic leadership is a combination of self-centered attitudes, motivations, and behaviors that have adverse effects on subordinates, the organization, and mission performance. This leader lacks concern for others and the climate of the organization, which leads to short- and long-term negative effects. The toxic leader operates with an inflated sense of self-worth and from acute self-interest. Toxic leaders consistently use dysfunctional behaviors to deceive, intimidate, coerce, or unfairly punish others to get what they want for themselves. The negative leader completes short-term requirements by operating at the bottom of the continuum of commitment, where followers respond to the positional power of their leader to fulfill requests. This may achieve results in the short term, but ignores the other leader competency categories of leads and develops. Prolonged use of negative leadership to influence followers undermines the followers' will, initiative, and potential and destroys unit morale."

The Army then launched a pilot project to take a second step toward dealing with the problem: In addition to having leaders evaluate their subordinates, as just about every institution does, they asked subordinates to evaluate their leaders — anonymously. The pilot project evaluated only eight commanders, in what the Army and management specialists call a 360 evaluation, but Perkins says the Army plans to expand the system by October 2014.

Meanwhile, Army commanders have taken more aggressive steps: They have kicked a small number of officers out of their jobs for being toxic. And the issue is becoming part of a national conversation. Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand (D-N.Y.) told the Senate chamber recently that destructive leaders are one reason why the number of sexual assaults in the military is so high. "You've just heard from these victims, there are too many command climates that are toxic," she said.

Some of the Army researchers who first raised the issue of toxic leadership say this is clearly a new world. Still, they're concerned that Army leaders are not moving fast enough to confront it.

Walter Ulmer, a retired general who led forces in Vietnam, calls toxic leadership an "institutional cancer." He says he's "enthusiastic and optimistic" that top officials are publicly discussing the problem and debating ways to combat it, but he says the Army strategies like the new officer evaluation system are just one step.

According to the Army's plans, for example, it will ask subordinates to anonymously evaluate roughly 1,100 battalion and brigade commanders by late next year But there are more than 100,000 officers in the Army, from noncommissioned sergeants to generals.

If you used a 10-point scale to rate how well the Army is doing tackling toxic leadership, Ulmer — whose papers on the issue are taught in the Army's command schools — says, "I guess I give it maybe, maybe a six."

The Army is doing more about toxic leaders than at any time in the past, he says, but there is "still a long way to go."

Matsuda, the researcher who concluded that toxic leaders had played a role in the suicides of eight soldiers in Iraq, says even though the study was small and anecdotal, it raises a big question: Have toxic leaders played a role in many more suicides?

The Army and the National Institutes of Mental Health have launched the biggest study yet of why soldiers kill themselves. One of the study's directors says that they're only just starting to ask whether there might be a link with toxic leadership.

Sean,

DP/EP

Could you please provide me a copy of the reports of all investigations completed within the last two months of current or former members of the recruiting and retention unit of the Alaska Army National Guard? And That would include the names and ranks of the soldiers investigated and the alleged offenses. I would also like to know what happens now -- what the process is for adjudicating the charges.

DP/EP

I'd like to expand the request to also include any completed investigations within the last six months involving sexual misconduct.

DP/EP

DP/EP

Additionally, I would like to request the results of the investigation into sexual misconduct and other offenses at Fort Greely.

DP/EP

And I would like any information on a bomb threat allegedly made by Sgt. Jarrett Carson.

DP/EP

My editors have agreed to hold off on publishing a story to give you time to gather the information. We're trying to determine whether the Alaska National Guard is taking action in response to all the allegations. If action is being taken, I assume that information is something the guard would want to release. Please keep me updated on the timetable.

Sean,

DP/EP

Could you please provide me a copy of the reports of all investigations completed within the last two months of current or former members of the recruiting and retention unit of the Alaska Army National Guard? And That would include the names and ranks of the soldiers investigated and the alleged offenses. I would also like to know what happens now -- what the process is for adjudicating the charges.

I'd like to expand the request to also include any completed investigations within the last six months involving sexual misconduct.

Additionally, I would like to request the results of the investigation into sexual misconduct and other offenses at Fort Greely.

And I would like any information on a bomb threat allegedly made by Sgt. Jarrett Carson.

My editors have agreed to hold off on publishing a story to give you time to gather the information.

We're trying to determine whether the Alaska National Guard is taking action in response to all the allegations. If action is being taken, I assume that information is something the guard would want to release. Please keep me updated on the timetable.

QUESTION:
I understand some things are not releasable, but I'd like to request at least a synopsis of what each of these soldiers is specifically alleged to have done. Also, are you saying the names of the soldiers involved will never be released? I'd like to renew my request for the names, or at least the ranks.

ANSWER:

QUESTION:
Will the charges for these soldiers be referred to law enforcement for possible criminal prosecution?

Hello - Although I've called the Governor's office on numerous occasions asking why the Governor hasn't spoken up about this, I've yet to receive a single response from anyone in your office.

I noticed that on your "Choose Respect" website, that you list various press accounts of the overall problem in Alaska, but you fail to mention a single story that's been written about the National Guard.

Well, here's another story for you to ignore, as well, you'll likely ignore this email too.

The bottom line is that Tom Katkus, who has overseen the AKARNG while these problems have festered, needs to come clean and admit that there's a big problem.

If Tom Katkus has been covering up these crimes, then he too needs to be held accountable.

I will mention the story of BOI/PR , who was a member of the AKARNG before her premature death. BOI/PR sought protection from her predators, fellow members of the AKARNG, 2 days before she was found dead. Her autopsy was incomplete and was conducted by a man who had previously been under investigation for crimes in Virginia, where he'd previously worked in the state crime lab.

Choose Respect ? Is this how you "Choose Respect" ?

This is an embarrassment to all Alaskans, especially those honorable members of the military who serve or have served with integrity and distinction.

As a Vet, I'm highly offended that this Governor has DONE NOTHING, has SAID NOTHING, and will continue to DO NOTHING about this sordid problem.

Stay silent Mike, Sharon, because your silence makes you just as culpable as those who are committing these crimes.

I dare you to call me on this, I dare you to pick up the phone and call me and tell me that I'm wrong.

You won't do it, will you ?

Most Sincerely,

Hi Sharon

Unfortunately I work during the day, perhaps if you could try back some time after 4:30, or I can try calling you then.

I see that Cockerham had another piece in the ADN yesterday, when is the Governor going to address this ?

I would really like to speak with someone in this administration who has the authority to speak on this.

It's shameful and disgusting that this has been taking place, what's more shameful is the silence of this administration.

This sexual assault thing in the Guard is a big problem, you DO realize that, don't you ?

Katkus can gaslight Blaylock all day long, at some point the gig is going to be up because Blaylock is much more believable than Katkus.

Imagine if that was your daughter being sexually assaulted or raped ?

I bet you'd feel little differently, especially with Katkus covering all of this up.....

You know what's funny is that whenever I leave a comment on the Governor's Facebook page regarding rape and sexual assault in the National Guard, it gets deleted.

It's obvious to me that you don't want to deal with this issue, that you'd rather follow the lead of General Katkus and Governor Parnell and cover this issue up.

Well, I'm here to tell you that one too many people have been thrown under the bus by General Katkus, and now those skeletons are coming back to haunt him.

I would urge that you do more to get out in front of this issue because there's a lot more that hasn't been reported.

Yet.

I'd start with an independent investigation of the death BOI/PR , and the circumstances surrounding the medical examiner who performed her autopsy.

I'd follow that up with the investigation into weapons smuggling out of Iraq, specifically BOI/PR , and what led to the plane being searched, and the tip-off that led to the weapons being offloaded before investigators got a hold of the plane.

I'd look into the toxic atmosphere that permitted signs such as the "Pray for Obama" sign that was hung in the security office of the National Guard armory on Fort Richardson.
I'm pretty sure that calling for the death of the Commander in Chief is not looked favorably upon.

I could go on, but I'm hoping, but not confident, that you're getting my message.

You have a PR mess on your hands, and simply leaving it up to General Katkus to handle is the wrong way to go on this.

Katkus should have been fired a long, long time ago, but by assessing what the priorities of this Governor are, covering up rape, sexual assault, theft, racism and embezzlement is not a high priority for this Governor.

BTW, I'm the person who blew the whistle on BOI/PR, the AKARNG Airman who embezzled over 200K from the family services program over a period of 5 years.

And what happened to the person who was in charge of BOI/PR?

That's right, Catherine Jorgensen.....She was promoted.

Mike,

I added a note about Senator French's recent letter and the draft response – are you still reviewing that? I'll leave it out if you don't think it's necessary.

I am writing to raise issue with the personal conduct and command climate established by the Alaska Army National Guard's (AKARNG) Commander BG Leon M. Bridges and Chief of Staff, BG Catherine Jorgensen. The basis for this issue and corresponding complaint is based upon the auspices of Article 138 (Complaints of Wrongs by a Senior Official) and the overall command climate created by the two senior leaders of the AKARNG.

Date: 14 February 2014

The Honorable Don Young
United States Representative
4241 B Street, Suite 203
Anchorage, AK 99503

Dear Representative Young:

I am writing to raise issue with the personal conduct and command climate established by the Alaska Army National Guard's (AKARNG) Commander, Brigadier General (BG) Leon M. Bridges and Chief of Staff, BG Catherine Jorgensen. The basis for this issue and corresponding complaint is based upon the auspices of Article 138 (Complaints of Wrongs by a Senior Official) and the overall command climate created by the two senior leaders of the AKARNG. The Article 138 Complaint is indicative of the command climate established by these personnel, as the established climate is one of fear, intimidation, retribution and coercion. There is also significant inequality in the application of standards they apply to individuals. This inequality is varies depending upon their personal relationship with the affected soldier.

I have been serving in the military with honor and distinction both on active duty in the US Army and with the National Guard since my initial enlistment into the Massachusetts Army National Guard in 1985 and accession to the US Army as a Lieutenant in 1991. I have received outstanding ratings and commendations in every position I've held. I have never in my entire military career been witness to, nor been accused of, anything remotely like what is unfolding before me now. The amount of personal attacks, personal agenda driven actions and personal conduct of senior officers is astounding.

I took command of the AKARNG Recruiting and Retention Battalion in December of 2007. The AKARNG Commander at the time, BG Thomas Katkus, assigned me there with the directive to "fix it". The unit was dysfunctional and had many issues exacerbated by poor leadership over multiple years. I spent a majority of the first year and a half of my command removing soldiers for poor performance or ethical type issues. I was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel in June of 2008. Following that period of rebuilding, the unit started performing well and during the next three years of my command; we exceeded our recruiting mission each year. I received Above Center Mass ratings on each Officer Evaluation Reports during my four and a half year tenure as the commander.

In December 2011 BG Bridges (then COL Bridges) called me into his office prior to taking command of the Alaska Army National Guard. During the conversation he reached into one of his bags in the office, pulled out a set of Colonel pin-on rank insignia, put it on the table in his office and said, "Here, you are going to need this". Also in the conversation he informed me that I would be changing command in May of 2012 and taking an assignment as the Deputy Chief of Staff, Operations (G3) for the AKARNG. In February of 2012, I arrived at work to find a promotion packet on my desk. Recalling the recent conversation in his office and knowing that the G3 position was an O6 position and that I had the required time in service and time in grade for promotion I expected that I was going to be promoted under the Unit Vacancy Promotion program. I completed the packet and brought it to MG Katkus (now The Adjutant General) for signature, which he signed. I turned the packet in for processing. Within a couple of days I was called in to see BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen and informed it was a mistake and that I needed to "prove myself" in my new position before I could get promoted. As a result, they declined the promotion retracted the promotion packet.

I transitioned to the G3 on 01 June 2012. During the summer of 2012 three senior NCOs from the Recruiting and Retention Battalion came under investigation. This has a bearing on both the Article 138 complaint as well as the command climate issue.

In August of 2012, BG Jorgensen informed me that upon her promotion to BG in October, it would vacate the necessary controlled grade authority and I would then be able to submit my promotion packet. In October, this did not occur and rather both BG Jorgensen and BG Bridges informed me that I needed to manage my expectations and I would be able to submit my promotion packet in the spring.

In the March of 2013 period, I again told I needed to manage my expectations, and I would be able to submit my promotion packet in the summer. During this entire period, there was a controlled grade available for promotion. Of significant note during this period, two other Lieutenant Colonels had been promoted to Colonel under the Unit Vacancy Promotion process. The second one, COL Joseph Streff, is a close friend of BG Jorgensen and his son is dating her daughter.

In April of 2013, I again inquired about submitting my promotion packet with BG Bridges. At this point, he stated I was not being considered for promotion because others from my previous command were under investigation for their activities; some of those alleged activities pre-dated my command. He then proceeded to tell me there were no vacant controlled grade positions (this was not true, even with the promotion of COL Streff and COL Woyte there was still one more vacancy) and that if I were promoted I would have to resign after three years of service as a Colonel. With his next comment, I realized the intent of the command when BG Bridges compared me to LTC Miley (who was removed from command for misconduct). At that point in time, MG Katkus, BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen all stated to me that these three NCO's conduct occurred off duty hours and they were very proficient at keeping it hidden.

Shortly after that, BG Bridges and BG Jorgenson informed me that the AKARNG would no longer be using the Unit Vacancy Promotion system to promote officers. I personally found this suspicious as the two most recent promotions to COL were using the Unit Vacancy Promotion process. I was then informed that the DA Board would review my promotion packet in January of 2014.

In October, I approached BG Jorgenson again regarding the aforementioned investigation of the three NCOs and expressed my frustration in how they were being conducted and how the investigator appeared to be going beyond the scope of the investigation and the tactics being used to coerce statements. She stated that "so we can put this matter to rest" she was going to bring COL Parker on full time orders to conduct the 15-6 investigation on me beginning 01NOV14.

AS OF 01NOV13, there are four controlled grade positions for O6s in the Alaska Army National Guard. COL Woyte and COL Streff occupy two, COL Kerrigan who is deployed occupies one, and with COL Parker on temporary orders he occupies the fourth. COL Kerrigan's controlled grade can be promoted against since he is deployed, but when he returns in June his controlled grade becomes fully occupied and cannot be promoted against. COL Parker, who was brought on for the aforementioned investigation is on ADSW orders until 30SEP14. As a result, all vacancies are now filled and will delay any movement in my promotion.

On 03NOV13, I was preparing a briefing and collecting data from our State personnel site and noted I had an adverse action flag placed in my file. The following day while holding a conversation with BG Jorgenson, she said "By the way, I had the G1 put a flag on you for the investigation". I did not receive a written counseling as to the purpose for neither the flag nor the scope/intent of the investigation that reportedly began on 01NOV13 as required by Army Regulation 600-8-2, Paragraph 2-6. She further stated that she told COL Parker he had until 03JAN14 to complete his findings. She also stated he need not interview anyone but rather just read the findings from the investigations on the recruiting NCOs.

The timing of these events are questionable as with a flag in place, promotion would not be possible, and it was put into place two months prior to the DA Selection Board and an AGR continuation board. With the new rules HRC emplaced in October, this flag would not have a negative affect on the DA Selection Board, as it would not show up in the board file. It is plausible that delaying this investigation until this period was an attempt to cause the flag to negatively affect my potential selection for O6 on the January board.

On 03JAN14, I approached the Investigating Officer inquiring about the status of the investigation. He replied he had not finished it because he was sick for the previous week and a half. Before being sick, he was on leave, and before that, he was TDY for two weeks. It was apparent that his assigned duty as IO was of little significance or importance and I stated that to BG Jorgenson. She stated that he had been sick, then I pointed out the leave and TDY stating the lack of priority was apparent. She stated he verbally requested an extension but had not done so in writing.

On 17JAN14, COL Parker conducted his 15-6 interview with me and finally informed of me of the scope of the investigation. He stated the listed offense was "Dereliction of duty and misconduct". After the conclusion of the interview, we continued to talk. I raised my doubts regarding the intent and agenda behind the investigation and the timing of it, the inequity of who was being investigated (an example of such is that only I was being investigated and not Command Sergeants Major (CSM) Hildreth and we were not being treated similarly - see next paragraph). I also raised the issue that during the course of the investigations of the three senior NCO's from recruiting neither I nor CSM Hildreth had ever been interviewed formally about their conduct or alleged offenses. I find it strange that the commander and CSM were left out of the interview process.

The inequity in the application of standards and the treatment of individuals becomes extremely clear at this point. CSM Richard Hildreth was my battalion sergeants major for two years of my tenure as the recruiting commander. CSM Hildreth had been with the unit for a majority of his career starting at the rank of specialist and continuing until the rank of sergeants major. If anyone was acutely aware of the activities in recruiting, it was he. While I have been continuously prevented from being promoted, CSM Hildreth has been laterally promoted to CSM, assigned to a BDE CSM position, and now re-assigned to Recruiting and Retention as the battalion sergeants major again. He has not come under the scrutiny of a 15-6 investigation nor has his progression been hindered by the actions of a handful of soldiers during their off-duty time. I have repeatedly questioned why is this the case, yet to no avail.

AS OF 10FEB2014, the investigation is still not complete. Recently, some of my former soldiers had informed me that COL Parker interviewed them for the 15-6 investigation. They also stated that the sworn statements that he transcribed from their interview for them to sign did not reflect what they attested to in the interview and rather changed the tone and testimony from one that did not support the alleged offenses listed in the investigation to one that supported the alleged offenses. Issues such as this, combined with the comparison and statement made by BG Bridges brings serious question to the credibility and purpose behind the investigation as predetermined conclusions are being brought to the forefront despite testimony to the opposite.

The events surrounding my treatment in regards to promotion are indicative of the command climate established by BG Bridges and BG Jorgenson. It is one of retribution, reprisal and fear particularly in regards to the conduct of BG Jorgenson. Many soldiers across the AKARNG can attest to her vindictive nature should anyone disagree with her or not comply with her wishes. The status of my promotion is a salient example. I have had multiple disagreements with BG Jorgenson during my tenure as the Recruiting Commander. Now I, like others, am subject to her tactic of character assassination and other methods by which to attempt to remove me. COL Michael Thompson has had much the same experience as I am currently having.

BG Jorgenson only complies with Army regulations when it suits her, and likewise ignores it if it does not suit her end goal. There have been significant violations and inconsistencies with hiring practices, re-assignments and even promotions; CW3 Curtis Cain, CW3 Katherine Sanders, CW4 Tammy Kostoff and MSG John Phlegar can attest to these. These inconsistencies have had a negative effect on soldiers who were treated unfairly and unequally due to having a relationship with me. Two of note is CPT Scott Lathrop and MAJ Jeffrey Lunsford. Everyone I have listed has documented proof or personal events highlighting the inconsistent application of the regulation or outright malfeasance conducted by or directed by BG Jorgenson and by extension BG Bridges, but due the fear of reprisal have chosen to remain silent.

An example of these questionable practices involves the employment of BOI In the summer of 2013, BOI was interviewed and apparently provided testimony in the investigation of BOI from the Recruiting Battalion. After BOI provided her testimony, she was placed on an BOI set of orders (which she is still on today through the end of this fiscal year) and assigned to work in the BOI BOI There are two significant issues with this hire. First, BOI BOI BOI To assign a soldier with this record, who in reality should have had their security clearance revoked, is evidence of the quid pro quo conduct and vindictive nature in the current command climate. Second, BOI was reassigned from Recruiting during the ongoing investigation and was assigned temporarily to the same office as BOI To assign a soldier to work along side the one they accused of misconduct is not conducive to a positive work environment. BG Jorgenson was the final authority in regards to placing any soldier ADSW orders. While she retained this authority, she prevented many quality soldiers from obtaining active duty employment (to include CPT Scott Lathrop) yet provided these opportunities to others (LTC Emma Thyen and LTC Jane Wawersik).

On 12 February I filed a Department of the Army Inspector General (DAIG) complaint on this entire matter due to the concern I had with the conduct of the investigation and the rampant inequity of treatment. I also went to COL Susan Bailar, our State Judge Advocate General to again request legal representation and inform her that I am invoking my Article 31 rights. I initially requested JAG representation in November after being told about the investigation so I had a lawyer with which to consult with in regards to what my rights were and to better understand the process. This request was never fulfilled.

On the morning of 13 February 2014 I emailed COL Bailar to follow up on my request for a lawyer. She stated she was still working on it. In the email I requested that since I'm a full time soldier I wouldn't accept a part-time JAG that I would only be able to discuss matters with on drill weekends.

On 13 February 2014, BG Jorgensen called me to her office to discuss an OER issue for a soldier in the command. As we concluded that discussion she handed me a Developmental Counseling Form stating that apparently they were supposed to do this at the beginning of the investigation and without it the investigation couldn't come to a conclusion. Expecting to see information about the imposed flag required by AR 600-8-2 I was surprised to see it was not only an incomplete form, but it was a "gag order". The "gag order" made no reference by what authority (if any) this was being emplaced and further referenced a Municipality of Anchorage code again with no reference to what authority she had to give such an order. She also informed me that she just granted an extension to COL Parker and the investigation needs to be completed by 03 March 2014. I find it suspicious that these actions took place only after I requested legal assistance and not the multiple times I have raised the issue regarding the required counseling nor made mention that if assigned as an investigating officer those duties are to take priority over all other matters.

On the evening of 13 February 2014, COL Bailar called me to inform me she had found a lawyer. She stated that I would find an email in my inbox that had her name and email address.

On the morning of 14 February 2014 I received COL Bailar's email. It's content was curious as it was limiting me to email contact and implied limitations as to what I could discuss. Those limitations were confirmed upon receiving a response from the lawyer. I asked a couple of questions relating to the "gag order" and other matters relating to the investigation and the lawyer replied she was unable to answer those questions as they were beyond the scope of what assistance she was authorized to provide. So not only did I get a part-time JAG, but also she lives in Oregon and she can't provide legal counsel?

The ongoing events seem to confirm my underlying suspicions of a pre-determined outcome, and the investigating officer manipulating testimony to arrive at that outcome. I have confirmed through outside legal consultation that BG Jorgensen has no authority to issue a "gag order".

I have other examples of the abusive nature of the command climate that is present in the AKARNG. Thank you for your time and consideration. I have furnished a copy of this letter and privacy act statement to both your Anchorage and Washington DC office locations.

Sincerely,

BOI

Noteworthy Upcoming Appointments: Oil & Gas Competitiveness Review Board AOGA's board of directors submitted their letter for Kara Moriarty. In working with Bob Swenson, I was able to find a qualified geologist who is not located in Anchorage in order to bring geographic diversity. Appointment recommendations will be in the next memo (M72). LC14 Appointments To date, there have been no requests to our office from the Legislature on GOA appointees. I've compiled a demographic report of all the LC14 appointment recommendations. Currently, all senate districts have representation and 34 house districts have representation. Districts without representation are: Isaacson, Kawasaki, Keller, Gruenberg, Millett, and Guttenberg. This is a consistent average with the past 3 years of LC appointments. AMHTA-Mike Barton's trial has been rescheduled to June. DP/EP Barton and the Trust have been notified. SARB- Due to the resignation of Ron Brown, I have been looking for other individuals to interview for his seat. Law firm Dillon & Findley, Fairbanks, has put in a public records request for my emails pertaining to the appointments of Dennis Mandell and Bernie Washington. I've given my emails to Randy's office. (I was told by DOR that Dillon & Findley is the firm that represents one of the Borough's. I passed this info onto Angela to double check in case there are pending borough and SARB lawsuits with the State that would create a conflict of interest in their request) Chief Administrative Law Judge Judge Thurbon's last day is 2/28/14. Interviews with the eight applicants have been conducted. Commissioner Thayer, Deputy Barnhill, and I discussed the applicants and came up with a short list. Vetting and reference checking on the top candidates is completed. Waiting to discuss with Commissioner Thayer. A memo will be submitted to MN and GOA when complete.	B&C	COS/ GOA		yes

Governor's Medicaid Advisory Committee I've made notification calls to the individuals on the press release. Dr. Farr, Mike Navarre, Sandra Heffern, and Kevin Turkington have accepted. I'm awaiting returned phone call on the others. BOG/BOF 4- New BOF applicants: Dean Risley, Haines; Dr. Alan Gross, Petersburg; Thane Humphrey, Wasilla; Bill Kuhlmann, Eagle River 4-New BOG applicants: Greg Streveler, Gustavus; Donne Fleagle, Anchorage (from McGrath); Tom Lamal, Fairbanks, Kip Fanning, Yakutat Preliminary memo with situational awareness is being put together. Working on vetting/research/endorsements and reaching out and networking with organizations for appointments. I'm documenting any comments, feedback, or potential candidate's individuals and organizations are willing to give me. Industry groups have been non-responsive to putting names forward at this time. NPFMC Eric Olson has termed out. Three nominations are due by 3/15/14. Nomination letter is being finalized. I'm gathering last comments and feedback from organizations who would like to weigh in. The nominees have to fill out an extensive "nomination kit" for submission with the letter. I've received Simon's and I'm waiting to receive Alstrom's and Moller's. North Pacific Research Board We have 3 seats expiring this year. Nominations are due to the U.S. Secretary of Commerce by 2/28/14. DP/EP Memo is on MN's desk. FYI: Other fish boards coming up for appointment are: North Pacific Anadromous- 6 seats North Pacific Research Board-3 seats; Yukon River Panel-15 seats. Working with Moller, Moreland, Gordy, and industry for names.
On- going/Follow-Up Appointment Recommendations: 1. Interim B&C projects: 1. Updating B&C hard copy files to comply with record retention requirements. 2. Outreach/networking with relevant community groups. (A lot of BOG and BOF groups right now) I also reached out to the Capital City Republican Women and Capital City Republicans about doing a B&C announcement at their upcoming meetings while I'm in Juneau. 3. Scheduling meetings with the Commissioners to review boards/commissions in their respective departments. The goal is for me to gain insight into their goals, objectives, and current issues so I know how to best support their department with board appointees.	B&C	GOA
Upcoming Judicial Vacancies Due to the retirement of Judge Sen Tan from the Anchorage Superior Court. Application deadline was February 7th. Applicants are: Elizabeth Brennan, Michael Corey, Roberta Erwin, Cynthia Franklin, Josie Garton, and Johnathan Woodman. Meeting dates and public hearing dates TBA.	B&C	GOA		soon
Other: Please let me know if there are other subject matters, details, or information you would like to see in these reports that would be helpful to you. ☺	B&C

House Finance presentation on the initiative took place last Friday. Both CDVSA and HSS need to provide follow up information to the committee. OMB and our Leg Office are aware of this request. The information requested by the committee is: • The plan for the $1.4 million that is being shifted from HSS to CDVSA in FY 15 (part of the $3M prevention and intervention detail). During FY 11-14 the $1.4 was for the rural pilots. The pilots were for four years and time out June 31, 2014. CDVSA will use these funds in FY 15 to further their prevention efforts and will continue to fund certain components of the pilots that have measureable outcomes/performance measures. • Effective prevention programs FY 11-14 to date. Examples of these programs would be Green Dot, Fourth R, Coaching Boys into Men, Girls on the Run, Lead On and the Prevention Summit. • The committee has expressed concerns about funds going to non-profits and how these funds are being used. Specifically, the committee wants to know if funds are being used to pay for directors' salaries and administrative costs.	GOV	DVSA		N

Mike - Here is the letter that I have proofed. Let me know when you've looked at it or if you have any edits. I have copied Ben as he is standing by to proof, print and add the Governor's e-signature.

Ben – when you send this, please only send it via email, as I don't want it going to a general address at the National Guard Bureau where several people may read it. Please add in the subject line CONFIDENTIAL Letter to General Frank J. Grass. Please also specify in the body of your email that we would appreciate acknowledgment of receipt of the email by General Grass. Please copy both Mike and I on the email.

Okay – and the meeting will be held at our Anchorage office. Chris' assistant is Sienna Grandy, sienna.r.grandy.mil@mail.mil – please work with her to get a list of who will be attending the meeting from the National Guard Bureau; and then have Julia get a bio for each of them for the Governor. Mike and I will both attend the meeting with the Governor.

Hello Chris ... The afternoon of March 20th will work for a meeting in Anchorage with the Governor. Let's plan for 3:30 pm on March 20. Should I have the Governor's scheduler set up the meeting at our offices, or do you prefer to meet on base?

As to hotels, if you're looking for a hotel close to downtown and our offices, there is a Marriott close by, or the Captain Cook Hotel is always nice, and there is also a Sheraton not too far away. There are plenty of restaurants close by if you stay downtown. I've added links for all the hotels below:

I'll await word on the location of the meeting and then we'll get this set on the Governor's calendar.

Cynthia, we are thinking of traveling on the 19 and would be available to meet with your team and the governor on the 20th. Anchorage is easier for us if it doesn't matter to you. Would you have a recommendation as to where we should stay while in Anchorage? My assistant is ccd above to work the travel details for our group.

Thanks,

Hello Chris ... I believe the Governor would prefer to have the meeting sooner rather than later, so I'll take a look at his schedule and see what will work. Do you have a preference on dates in the next two weeks, and would Juneau or Anchorage work better, as he will be in both locations over the next two weeks (March 17-28).

Michael, Cynthia, since our conversation we received and reviewed various incomplete, informal (investigations initiated under Army Regulation AR 15-6) investigative reports along with a Sexual Assault matrix. Additionally, for your consideration is the draft appointment letter that I will sign to detail the investigative officer (IO). Please feel free to edit. We have tentatively selected a National Guard Major General to serve as the IO.

With the information we have on hand we believe that the assessment will require two phases:

First: our Office of Complex Investigations will assume the handling of the three ongoing sexual assault investigations provided to our office. Much work has already been completed regarding these allegations. However, the investigations have not been investigated by military law enforcement or our Office of Complex Investigations and thus require independent review.

Second: a parallel effort will commence as outlined in the attached document, consistent with your request, to assess how the AK National Guard is addressing complaints of sexual assault, complaints of hostile environment, fraud, and culture issues.

This is the best course of action in our view because the AK NG has a responsibility to address these pending allegations of sexual assault. Additionally, the information contained in these investigations will provide relevant information that can then be applied to the overall command assessment. We welcome any thoughts that you may have and are prepared to meet with your team soonest.

Thanks,

Chris

Colonel Christian Rofrano

COL Rofrano is the Chief Counsel of the National Guard Bureau, and serves as the senior legal advisor to General Craig McKinley, Chief, National Guard Bureau (CNGB); MG Ray Carpenter Director, Army National Guard (acting); and Lieutenant General Harry Wyatt, Director, Air National Guard . He also serves as their representative to officials throughout the Executive and Legislative branches of the Federal government, including the Department of Defense, Department of the Army, Department of the Air Force, and the Judge Advocates General of the Services. COL Rofrano supervises all programs and activities undertaken by the Office of the Chief Counsel, NGB, and those of the Office of Information and Privacy. He provides legal reviews, counsel and assistance in the formulation of policy related to National Guard military personnel law, operational law, legislation, administrative law, contracts and fiscal law, arising in the National Guard Bureau and the National Guards of the 54 states and territories. Since June 2001, COL Rofrano has served in a variety of capacities within the Office of the Chief Counsel, including Litigation and Administrative Law Attorney and as a Contracts and Fiscal Law Attorney. Prior to entering Active Duty, COL Rofrano served as an Assistant District Attorney, senior trial attorney, and the managing attorney for a Fortune 500 Corporation. He also served as a traditional National Guard Judge Advocate in the NY Army National Guard. COL Rofrano is married to Nicole and together they have two daughters, Isabella and Gianna.

TUESDAY MARCH 18, 2014

Friends,

The last few weeks have been a whirlwind! I was back home in Alaska for the start of Iditarod 42, and then off to Houston, Texas to speak at a major international energy conference before heading back to Washington, D.C. for a number of important votes. Many Alaskans make the trek back to D.C. in March and I was busy with constituent meetings throughout last week. Now I am back in Alaska and spent time in Fairbanks to help kick off the Arctic Winter games before taking a road trip to visit with many of you up and down the Parks Highway.

A Great Time at the Last Great Race

The Iditarod is my favorite sporting event, and this year I had the chance to visit with almost all of the mushers before they hit the trail. Walking the chute during the Ceremonial Start in Anchorage is always great fun. I love to visit with the dogs and chat with our world-class mushers about the race. It's always an amazing race but nobody could have predicted the crazy trail conditions or how Mother Nature took control over the end. Congratulations to Dallas Seavey on his fabulous second Iditarod win! And congratulations go out as well to Aliy Zirkle and Jeff King- the finish of this years race will go down in history books! To all the mushers and their teams- know that we salute you all.

(Congratulations to Dallas Seavey for winning the Iditarod in the fastest time on record with a total run time of 8 days, 14 hours, and 9 minutes!)

(Sharing the Iditarod fever on the Senate floor shortly after the amazing finish that woke Alaskans at 4:04 am -- Click the picture for video)

Protecting Those Who Protect Us

Last week, the Senate passed The Victims Protection Act of 2014 to add protections for victims of military sexual assault. I was pleased to support this bill because it removes the ability for commanding officers to overturn lower level command decisions on sexual assault crimes – and heightens the punishments for offenders. While I had advocated for tougher reforms led by Senator Kristen Gillibrand, I believe this bill is an important step along with other changes that have been made earlier this year in addressing the issue of sexual assault in our military. I will continue to fight for initiatives that protect victims.

Arctic Absent in Obama's Budget

The President released his budget for Fiscal Year 2015 earlier this month and I was hugely disappointed he barely mentioned the word Arctic. Though the administration claims it is taking America's Arctic future seriously, time and time again it has failed to put its money where its mouth is. I have been a strong advocate for the Arctic, helping to ensure that people know that Alaska makes the United States an Arctic Nation. It is absolutely imperative for us to be prepared for the Arctic's changing landscape. Being prepared means directing resources appropriately.

The President's budget is his yearly opportunity to lay out his priorities. Unfortunately for Alaska and America, he is showing little interest in devoting the resources necessary to move forward in the Arctic, despite the United States being 14 months away from taking the Chairmanship of the Arctic Council and the world looking to us for leadership.

I plan on raising this issue with all the members of the administration during budget hearings over the next several weeks, to get concrete answers for our state and our nation on what the administration's plans for the Arctic really are.

King Cove Road

Just last week, two more King Cove residents – a sick infant and an injured crab boat crew member – had to be rescued from King Cove by the U.S. Coast Guard when bad weather prevented other travel between King Cove and nearby Cold Bay. Their lives were saved when the USCG Jayhawk helicopter's crew once again put their lives at risk to successfully fly them out of King Cove to the all-weather airport in Cold Bay. These are just the most recent examples of why the King Cove road is so vitally needed.

I'm still fighting for the road and I am pleased the Alaska State Legislature has joined that fight. I was invited to speak to the Alaska State House Resources Committee in support of House Joint Resolution 30, which calls on Interior Secretary Sally Jewell to reconsider her rejection of the land exchange and road that will provide the people of King Cove with safe access to the Cold Bay airport in case of medical emergencies. This is one fight that I will not give up on and I know one day we will have a solution for the people of King Cove.

If you would like to read my statement to the House please click here: Murkowski Testimony.

Out and About

(Rebecca Himschoot and Amy Laufer, winners of the Presidential Award for Excellence in Math and Science Teaching stopped by my office where we chatted about the importance of math and science education. Congratulations to these two great Alaskan teachers!)

(Last Wednesday, I spoke to the National Congress of American Indians about the IHS and BIA budgets and asked them for help with King Cove access and was pleased that they immediately responded by passing a resolution in support of this life-saving road.)

(Last week Sen. Wyden and I received the John D. Dingell award for bipartisanship work in the Congress. This is a prestigious recognition from EEI and the IBEW recognizing our work together on energy issues. Rather than a plaque we received a lamp with a meter on it! Pretty neat award.)

(Shanelle Natalia Mary Afcan of Mt. Edgecumbe High and John Walsworth, of Homer High School represented Alaska as the recipients of the US Senate Youth Program0 quite a tribute. Both are accomplished young students and I was so glad to meet with them. I had the chance to call and congratulate John last week as I nominated, and he was accepted to the US Air Force Academy.)

Hello Chris ... The afternoon of March 20th will work for a meeting in Anchorage with the Governor. Let's plan for 3:30 pm on March 20. Should I have the Governor's scheduler set up the meeting at our offices, or do you prefer to meet on base?

As to hotels, if you're looking for a hotel close to downtown and our offices, there is a Marriott close by, or the Captain Cook Hotel is always nice, and there is also a Sheraton not too far away. There are plenty of restaurants close by if you stay downtown. I've added links for all the hotels below:

http://www.marriott.com/hotels/hotel-information/travel/ancdt-anchorage-marriott-downtown/
<http://www.marriott.com/hotels/hotel-information/travel/ancdt-anchorage-marriott-downtown/>

I'll await word on the location of the meeting and then we'll get this set on the Governor's calendar.

Cynthia, we are thinking of traveling on the 19 and would be available to meet with your team and the governor on the 20th. Anchorage is easier for us if it doesn't matter to you. Would you have a recommendation as to where we should stay while in Anchorage? My assistant is ccd above to work the travel details for our group.

Thanks,

Chris

Hello Chris ... I believe the Governor would prefer to have the meeting sooner rather than later, so I'll take a look at his schedule and see what will work. Do you have a preference on dates in the next two weeks, and would Juneau or Anchorage work better, as he will be in both locations over the next two weeks (March 17-28).

Michael, Cynthia, since our conversation we received and reviewed various incomplete, informal (investigations initiated under Army Regulation AR 15-6) investigative reports along with a Sexual Assault matrix. Additionally, for your consideration is the draft appointment letter that I will sign to detail the investigative officer (IO). Please feel free to edit. We have tentatively selected a National Guard Major General to serve as the IO.

With the information we have on hand we believe that the assessment will require two phases:

First: our Office of Complex Investigations will assume the handling of the three ongoing sexual assault investigations provided to our office. Much work has already been completed regarding these allegations. However, the investigations have not been investigated by military law enforcement or our Office of Complex Investigations and thus require independent review.

Second: a parallel effort will commence as outlined in the attached document, consistent with your request, to assess how the AK National Guard is addressing complaints of sexual assault, complaints of hostile environment, fraud, and culture issues.

This is the best course of action in our view because the AK NG has a responsibility to address these pending allegations of sexual assault. Additionally, the information contained in these investigations will provide relevant information that can then be applied to the overall command assessment. We welcome any thoughts that you may have and are prepared to meet with your team soonest.

Thanks,

Chris

NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU
1636 DEFENSE PENTAGON
WASHINGTON DC 20301-1636

NGB-JA 7 March 2014

MEMORANDUM FOR MG

SUBJECT: Request for Review and Assessment of the Alaska National Guard

1. Pursuant to the attached request of Alaska Governor Sean Parnell, I detail you to serve as the Senior Assessment Officer to provide assistance to the AK NG consistent with the memorandum at Attachment 1. This assessment will be your primary duty until its completion. NGB will provide a team of subject matter experts to assist you in your assessment at your request; LTC Erin McMahon, NGB-JA, will be your legal advisor.

2. You are to independently review and assess: (i) open and closed investigations related to reports of sexual assault, rape, and fraud among members of the Alaska National Guard and the response and disposition that resulted. Do not interfere with cases that are open; review the handling of these cases to identify current practices; (ii) the relationship between the Alaska National Guard and civilian law enforcement as it relates to the handling and treatment of victims of sexual assault; (iii) the current culture, policies and practices of the Alaska National Guard (Army and Air) for the handling of sexual assault and other allegations of hostile work environment and culture within the Alaska National Guard; and (iv) the Alaska National Guard's command structure and its responses to these cases (Please note that only DAIG, AFIG and DOD IG can investigate senior officials. If you suspect senior official misconduct please stop and immediately contact your legal advisor.) You are further directed to conduct a command climate survey that includes the entire Alaska National Guard. You will have access to state/Federal personnel and records to the extent allowed under state/Federal law and regulation.

3. As is indicated in the attached request for review and assessment, once in Alaska you will meet with Governor Parnell and his staff. Subsequently you may meet with the Adjutant General, MG Thomas Katkus, at the AK JFHQ in order to coordinate for any assistance you may need to conduct the review and assessment. Governor Parnell has directed his Chief of Staff to ensure that your review team receives the full cooperation of the Alaska National Guard. Should you or your team receive any resistance, you are directed to contact the Governor's Chief of Staff, Mr. Mike Nizich, so that he may immediately intervene. Attorney General Michael Geraghty will provide state legal advice. You will have 120 days to complete your review and assessment and compile your findings in a report using the procedures and standards detailed in CNGBM 0400.01 as a guide. Extensions are available upon request to NGB-JA. The end product should identify institutional strengths, shortcomings (if any), and recommend improvements, if appropriate. A legal review of this report will be conducted by NGB-JA.

4. The original memorandum and executive summary detailing your findings and recommendations, along with the supporting file, will be forwarded to Governor Parnell and MG

Katkus. The file should include a chronological summary of actions taken, information gathered, standards applied, any statements (written or oral), analysis, findings, and recommendations. The file may include other matters, e.g., computer files, photos, etc.

5. During the course of this assessment, the information you collect must remain confidential with disclosure limited to the Office of the Governor or NGB-JA unless otherwise directed.

6. If you suspect at any time that senior officer misconduct may have occurred, you will stop whatever action you are undertaking and immediately consult with your legal advisor, NGB-JA, and/or, NGB-IG. Similarly, if you believe that any individual you intend to speak with may have violated a provision of the AK military code or other state/Federal law, you will likewise stop whatever action you are undertaking and immediately consult with your legal advisor.

7. You must provide witnesses with a Privacy Act Statement before you solicit any personal information. Additionally, during the course of your interviews (military or civilian) ensure that the appropriate rights warnings are provided (in consultation with the legal advisor). You should provide personnel the opportunity to speak with you or your team or to provide information to aid in assisting in your duties, but personnel will not be compelled to do so.

8. Your point of contact in AK is the Governor's Chief of Staff, Mike Nizich, at 907-465-3500 or Deputy Chief, Cindy Sims, at 907-269-7450. Please contact them immediately to receive more information regarding this matter and to coordinate travel, interviews, and logistics. I recommend you meet with LTC McMahon prior to initiating your review. She can be contacted at erin.k.mcmahon.mil@mail.mil or (571) 256-7349.

9. The POC for this memorandum is the undersigned at 571-256-7368 or Christian.rofrano@us.army.mil.

Mike, Cindy, please accept this note as an update regarding the subject matter:

1. We expect the command climate survey (CCS) to be "turned on" as soon as Friday but can delay doing if you believe it is necessary. With that said if your team intends to proactively issue a media statement you may wish to do so before the CCS is active. We are available to assist you in this regard if you so desire. Also, if your office makes a media statement it would be helpful to encourage the NG membership to complete the survey.

2. As mentioned in our meeting, one of the key first steps in this type of assessment is data collection. The team has requested the below noted items and the suspense date for production is 21 April.

3. Mike, reference our conversation of last evening, the team immediately identified that the location of the office space was unsuitable for the reasons you noted and have already coordinated to obtain new space.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or comments.

Thanks and best regards.

National Guard Grants Governor's Request for Independent Assessment

March 26, 2014, Juneau, Alaska – Governor Sean Parnell today announced the National Guard Bureau has granted his request for an independent review and assessment of open and closed investigations related to reports of sexual assault, rape and fraud among members of the Alaska National Guard. The governor has asked for a detailed report from the Office of Complex Administrative Investigations.

"I am extremely proud of our Alaska National Guard members and their professionalism in carrying out their duties," Governor Parnell said. "However, I remain deeply concerned by reports of sexual assault and other behaviors creating a hostile environment and culture within portions of the Alaska National Guard. Not only are individuals victimized and traumatized in these circumstances, but collectively our National Guard is harmed – from morale to mission damage."

Governor Parnell has requested the review to include the National Guard's command structure and its responses to cases. A report identifying institutional strengths, shortcomings, if any, and recommended improvements is due later this year to Governor Parnell.

A copy of Governor Parnell's letter to General Frank Grass, chief of the National Guard Bureau, is available at:

Governor Sean Parnell

Dear Governor Parnell:

This is the third time I've written you over my concerns with how cases of sex assault in the Alaska National Guard are being handled. News reports from last year indicated that current and former members of the Alaska National Guard were reporting serious sexual misconduct within the ranks. Two high ranking chaplains told a reporter that victims do not trust their commanders to help because of a history of inaction.

The same chaplains, both of whom are lieutenant colonels, indicated that your administration was told of these problems as far back as the fall of 2010.

The introduction of federal investigators to this issue only heightens my sense of concern. In your letter requesting the help of the federal Office of Complex Administrative Investigations you said that information you "recently learned" compelled you to write for federal assistance.

Asking for federal help is not something your administration does lightly. Indeed, it is fair to say that you are normally opposed to federal intervention in Alaska's affairs.

The need for outside federal investigators raises a number of important questions.

What month and year did you learn the information that led to you call for federal help in this investigation? How did you learn it?

How is the need for federal assistance in this investigation consistent with your expression of full confidence in General Katkus? Did General Katkus prove to be unable to adequately investigate this matter? Is he a target of the investigation?

Senator Hollis French

Also, there is an anonymous "Whistle Blower" (akarngwhistleblower@gmail.com) sender that has sent a lengthy "to whom it may concern" message to the Governor, as well as Begich and Murkowski's offices, Senator Huggins, press folks and Gen Katkus. I am an Alaskan resident and former member of the Alaska Army National Guard. I provided a sworn statement for the ongoing sexual assault investigation by LTC Wawersik. I, too, am a sexual assault victim from a now retired member of the AKARNG.
My case did not end favorably for me and I feel I have pertinent insight that could help your current investigation of the Command. My Commander at the time of the assault decided to wait to meet with me until after a TDY trip that he was taking with the soldier who assaulted me. I had to obtain a civilian restraining order to induce the Command to remove the assaulter as my first line supervisor.

TO: All Concerned Parties

FROM: Concerned Group of Alaska Army National Guard Members

SUBJECT: Alaska Army National Guard Corruption (part 1)

First and foremost we as a group would like to start off by explaining why there are no names taking credit for this correspondence. It is not because we do not wish to expose our names or have someone interview us. Mainly, it is for our protection. Under current state law there is a provision that protects anyone who wishes to report any wrong doing. Alaska Statute 39.25.80 is the statute that affords this right, however, under the current administration within the Alaska Army National Guard there is no protection for anyone who chooses to speak out. Our group consists of more than 10 Soldiers and Airmen from all ranks who want to see changes. We are going to be sending out emails like this one over the next several weeks in the hopes that it will affect change, help the Soldier's that do not have a voice, and the ones that have come forward and nothing has been done.

In our first release we are going to be discussing some issues that have been brought to the attention of Senator Mark Begich, Senator Murkowski, Congressman Don Young, Governor Parnell, State Senator Higgins, National Guard Bureau IG, Department of the Army (DA) IG, and Department of Defense IG. All of these reports of concern have been returned to MG Katkus, BG Bridges, and BG Jorgensen. This would be the normal protocol in these types of cases, however, they are the subject of these reports. They are covering up their actions, and the actions of officers directly under their command authority. On Wednesday 26 March 2014 Gov Parnell publically acknowledged that there are concerns within the AKANG and has asked for a special investigation by NGB. This is long overdue. Hopefully this will add to what is being looked into by the NGB team and brings to light other issues along with how sexual assault cases are being handled in the State.

1. LTC Jane Wawersik. LTC Jane Wawersik is a current and former member of the Alaska Army National Guard and Anchorage Police Department. On 7 Oct 2013 (order number 281-103) was given a TEMP AGR position as the Assistant Chief of Staff. She worked for the current Chief of Staff- BG Jorgensen. This position was not offered as a competitive hire position. There were officers within the State of Alaska that not only had seniority but should have been considered for this position or at least offered the opportunity to compete for it. She was offered this AGR position as to help her gain employment within the Title 10 program at NGB. In addition it has the appearance that she was given this position in repayment for her conduct and services rendered during several investigations. She has been the primary investigator in several high profile investigations over the past 16 months. This type of payment seems to be a trend for females within the AKARNG. About 24 months ago LTC Wawersik was living in Florida and no longer a member of the AKARNG. The Officer Recruiting Office received a phone call from the COS (BG Jorgensen) and stated that a position will be created for her and that she will be accessed into the AKARNG. She was being brought back into the AKARNG as a LTC and thus delaying promotions for several MAJ's how were poised for promotions. As of March 2014 she has been given an offer of employment in the Title 10 program with duties at NGB. We are currently unaware of where she will be working but are deeply concerned that she will also again try to use her influence to get involved in the affairs of the Soldiers of the AKANG with extreme prejudice.

2. BOI/PR The people that work in this area should be of the highest moral character and in almost every instance possess a security clearance. However, this is not the case with BOI/PR. It is unclear of how or why she has secured a job within the BOI/... for almost a year now and will be there until the end of FY14. Her criminal record is not just extensive; it includes 2 Felony Convictions for Theft (value $500 to $24,999), 1 Misdemeanor Conviction for Theft (value <$499), 2 dismissed charges for possession of a controlled substance, and more than 20 traffic citations. The Soldier would not be able to possess a security clearance and by all accounts should have been processed for separation after either one of her felony convictions. She is still on probation for both of the felony convictions until 8/7/2014. Her criminal record is public record via www.alaskacourtview.com search for BOI/PR

There are more instances that we can point to where the senior leadership of the AKARNG has failed to do what is right due to either their lack of desire to, fear of reprisals, or their own neglect. We are prepared to send more emails with detailed information about the possible improprieties, names and contact information of witnesses who might be willing to talk if they can be assured that they will not be retaliated against, and something will actually happen to help resolve the issues.

BG Jorgensen is a common name that you will see in almost every complaint that is going to come out when NGB actually gets the truth from Soldiers. Here is a piece of information that most people do not know or understand. She is actively violating assignment policy, promotions, and evaluations. Over the past year there were several LTC's (O5) that were eligible for COL (O6). Instead of promotion based on eligibility, position, or authority she utilized her position as the Chief of Staff to promote people that support her regime. A COL was moved out of his position on paper only, a LTC was moved into his vacated position. As soon as this took affect the Chief of Staff ensured that his promotion orders were published. Then she moved all of the parties back to their positions. She cited vacancy promotion authority as her reasoning for the promotion because no one was aware of the paperwork shuffle she did. However, due to several key people talking about the moves it came to the attention of several eligible O5. To verify this was actually done you can contact LTC Joseph Lawendowski, MSG John Phlegar, COL Thompson, and CW4 Kostoff. All of these people have personal knowledge that this is an issue and has been reported to DA IG.

Over the past year there have been very public cases involving sexual assault, sexual harassment, or failures by Commands to do what is right for the victims. The AKARNG has not been exempt from this. In 2013 Ret. LTC Kenneth Blaylock wrote a 12 page report detailing numerous allegations concerning the AKANG. Several key leaders were named as either being guilty of illegal sexual conduct, failing to protect victims of sexual assault, or turning a blind eye to accusations because of their connection to the alleged violator. We as a group can attest that there is some truth to what Ret LTC Blaylock wrote and there are even more concerns than he was even aware of. We are not going to release the names of the victims in our emails because this is a private ordeal that they have had to live through. If and when an investigating team comes to Alaska we will ensure that the names of victims and violators makes it to the right people.

Here is a list of things to come:

Illegal promotions
Inappropriate Officer/NCO Relationships
Inappropriate relationships between Senior NCO and dependent spouse
Inappropriate Relationship between AKARNG and APD
Fraud Waste and Abuse of government assets to include fraud
Hostile Work Environment
Dereliction of Duty (MSG through BG)

ALASKA STATE LEGISLATURE

SENATOR HOLLIS FRENCH

March 31, 2014

Governor Sean Parnell
P.O. Box 110001
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Governor Parnell:

This is the third time I've written you over my concerns with how cases of sex assault in the Alaska National Guard are being handled. News reports from last year indicated that current and former members of the Alaska National Guard were reporting serious sexual misconduct within the ranks. Two high ranking chaplains told a reporter that victims do not trust their commanders to help because of a history of inaction.

The same chaplains, both of whom are lieutenant colonels, indicated that your administration was told of these problems as far back as the fall of 2010.

The introduction of federal investigators to this issue only heightens my sense of concern. In your letter requesting the help of the federal Office of Complex Administrative Investigations you said that information you "recently learned" compelled you to write for federal assistance.

Asking for federal help is not something your administration does lightly. Indeed, it is fair to say that you are normally opposed to federal intervention in Alaska's affairs.

The need for outside federal investigators raises a number of important questions.

What month and year did you learn the information that led to you call for federal help in this investigation? How did you learn it?

How is the need for federal assistance in this investigation consistent with your expression of full confidence in General Katkus? Did General Katkus prove to be unable to adequately investigate this matter? Is he a target of the investigation?

Should members of the guard whose actions are being investigated be placed on administrative leave during the pendency of the investigation?

Session: State Capitol • Juneau, Alaska 99801 • (907) 465-3892 • 1 (866) 465-3892 • Fax: (907) 465-6595

Senator_Hollis_French@legis.state.ak.us

When can Alaskans expect to learn the results of the investigation?

Sexual assault, sexual abuse, and sexual harassment are crimes that thrive in secrecy. They are combated with openness, transparency, and accountability.

Sincerely,

Senator Hollis French

Thanks, Jane. I don't think this type of email blast is helpful to the morale of the National Guard or the ongoing assessment – especially given the inaccurate and misleading statements. I appreciate you sending it to me. I'll discuss it with the Governor and Chief of Staff.

SUBJECT: Alaska Army National Guard Corruption (part 1)

First and foremost we as a group would like to start off by explaining why there are no names taking credit for this correspondence. It is not because we do not wish to expose our names or have someone interview us. Mainly, it is for our protection. Under current state law there is a provision that protects anyone who wishes to report any wrong doing. Alaska Statute 39.25.80 is the statute that affords this right, however, under the current administration within the Alaska Army National Guard there is no protection for anyone who chooses to speak out. Our group consists of more than 10 Soldiers and Airmen from all ranks who want to see changes. We are going to be sending out emails like this one over the next several weeks in the hopes that it will affect change, help the Soldier's that do not have a voice, and the ones that have come forward and nothing has been done.

In our first release we are going to be discussing some issues that have been brought to the attention of Senator Mark Begich, Senator Murkowski, Congressman Don Young, Governor Parnell, State Senator Higgins, National Guard Bureau IG, Department of the Army (DA) IG, and Department of Defense IG. All of these reports of concern have been returned to MG Katkus, BG Bridges, and BG Jorgensen. This would be the normal protocol in these types of cases, however, they are the subject of these reports. They are covering up their actions, and the actions of officers directly under their command authority. On Wednesday 26 March 2014 Gov Parnell publically acknowledged that there are concerns within the AKANG and has asked for a special investigation by NGB. This is long overdue. Hopefully this will add to what is being looked into by the NGB team and brings to light other issues along with how sexual assault cases are being handled in the State.

Part 1 will consist of illegal hiring practices and Equal Opportunity Misconduct.

1. LTC Jane Wawersik. LTC Jane Wawersik is a current and former member of the Alaska Army National Guard and Anchorage Police Department. On 7 Oct 2013 (order number 281-103) was given a TEMP AGR position as the Assistant Chief of Staff. She worked for the current Chief of Staff- BG Jorgensen. This position was not offered as a competitive hire position. There were officers within the State of Alaska that not only had seniority but should have been considered for this position or at least offered the opportunity to compete for it. She was offered this AGR position as to help her gain employment within the Title 10 program at NGB. In addition it has the appearance that she was given this position in repayment for her conduct and services rendered during several investigations. She has been the primary investigator in several high profile investigations over the past 16 months. This type of payment seems to be a trend for females within the AKARNG. About 24 months ago LTC Wawersik was living in Florida and no longer a member of the AKARNG. The Officer Recruiting Office received a phone call from the COS (BG Jorgensen) and stated that a position will be created for her and that she will be accessed into the AKARNG. She was being brought back into the AKARNG as a LTC and thus delaying promotions for several MAJ's how were poised for promotions. As of March 2014 she has been given an offer of employment in the Title 10 program with duties at NGB. We are currently unaware of where she will be working but are deeply concerned that she will also again try to use her influence to get involved in the affairs of the Soldiers of the AKANG with extreme prejudice.

2. BOI/Privacy BOI/Privacy BOI/Privacy. The people that work in this area should be of the highest moral character and in almost every instance possess a security clearance. However, this is not the case with BOI/Privacy It is unclear of how or why she has secured a job within the BOI/P... for almost a year now and will be there until the end of FY14. Her criminal record is not just extensive; it includes 2 Felony Convictions for Theft (value $500 to $24,999), 1 Misdemeanor Conviction for Theft (value <$499), 2 dismissed charges for possession of a controlled substance, and more than 20 traffic citations. The Soldier would not be able to possess a security clearance and by all accounts should have been processed for separation after either one of her felony convictions. She is still on probation for both of the felony convictions until 8/7/2014. Her criminal record is public record via www.alaskacourtview.com search for BOI/Privacy

There are more instances that we can point to where the senior leadership of the AKARNG has failed to do what is right due to either their lack of desire to, fear of reprisals, or their own neglect. We are prepared to send more emails with detailed information about the possible improprieties, names and contact information of witnesses who might be willing to talk if they can be assured that they will not be retaliated against, and something will actually happen to help resolve the issues.

BG Jorgensen is a common name that you will see in almost every complaint that is going to come out when NGB actually gets the truth from Soldiers. Here is a piece of information that most people do not know or understand. She is actively violating assignment policy, promotions, and evaluations. Over the past year there were several LTC's (O5) that were eligible for COL (O6). Instead of promotion based on eligibility, position, or authority she utilized her position as the Chief of Staff to promote people that support her regime. A COL was moved out of his position on paper only, a LTC was moved into his vacated position. As soon as this took affect the Chief of Staff ensured that his promotion orders were published. Then she moved all of the parties back to their positions. She cited vacancy promotion authority as her reasoning for the promotion because no one was aware of the paperwork shuffle she did. However, due to several key people talking about the moves it came to the attention of several eligible O5. To verify this was actually done you can contact LTC Joseph Lawendowski, MSG John Phlegar, COL Thompson, and CW4 Kostoff. All of these people have personal knowledge that this is an issue and has been reported to DA IG.

Over the past year there have been very public cases involving sexual assault, sexual harassment, or failures by Commands to do what is right for the victims. The AKARNG has not been exempt from this. In 2013 Ret. LTC Kenneth Blaylock wrote a 12 page report detailing numerous allegations concerning the AKANG. Several key leaders were named as either being guilty of illegal sexual conduct, failing to protect victims of sexual assault, or turning a blind eye to accusations because of their connection to the alleged violator. We as a group can attest that there is some truth to what Ret LTC Blaylock wrote and there are even more concerns than he was even aware of. We are not going to release the names of the victims in our emails because this is a private ordeal that they have had to live through. If and when an investigating team comes to Alaska we will ensure that the names of victims and violators makes it to the right people.

Here is a list of things to come:

Illegal promotions
Inappropriate Officer/NCO Relationships
Inappropriate relationships between Senior NCO and dependent spouse
Inappropriate Relationship between AKARNG and APD
Fraud Waste and Abuse of government assets to include fraud
Hostile Work Environment
Dereliction of Duty (MSG through BG)

Respectfully,

AKANG Whistle Blower's

Several key leaders were named as either being guilty of illegal sexual conduct, failing to protect victims of sexual assault, or turning a blind eye to accusations because of their connection to the alleged violator. We as a group can attest that there is some truth to what Ret LTC Blaylock wrote and there are even more concerns than he was even aware of. We are not going to release the names of the victims in our emails because this is a private ordeal that they have had to live through. If and when an investigating team comes to Alaska we will ensure that the names of victims and violators makes it to the right people.

Here is a list of things to come:

Illegal promotions
Inappropriate Officer/NCO Relationships
Inappropriate relationships between Senior NCO and dependent spouse
Inappropriate Relationship between AKARNG and APD
Fraud Waste and Abuse of government assets to include fraud
Hostile Work Environment
Dereliction of Duty (MSG through BG)

SUBJECT: Alaska Army National Guard Corruption (part 1)

First and foremost we as a group would like to start off by explaining why there are no names taking credit for this correspondence. It is not because we do not wish to expose our names or have someone interview us. Mainly, it is for our protection. Under current state law there is a provision that protects anyone who wishes to report any wrong doing. Alaska Statute 39.25.80 is the statute that affords this right, however, under the current administration within the Alaska Army National Guard there is no protection for anyone who chooses to speak out. Our group consists of more than 10 Soldiers and Airmen from all ranks who want to see changes. We are going to be sending out emails like this one over the next several weeks in the hopes that it will affect change, help the Soldier's that do not have a voice, and the ones that have come forward and nothing has been done.

In our first release we are going to be discussing some issues that have been brought to the attention of Senator Mark Begich, Senator Murkowski, Congressman Don Young, Governor Parnell, State Senator Higgins, National Guard Bureau IG, Department of the Army (DA) IG, and Department of Defense IG. All of these reports of concern have been returned to MG Katkus, BG Bridges, and BG Jorgensen. This would be the normal protocol in these types of cases, however, they are the subject of these reports. They are covering up their actions, and the actions of officers directly under their command authority. On Wednesday 26 March 2014 Gov Parnell publically acknowledged that there are concerns within the AKANG and has asked for a special investigation by NGB. This is long overdue. Hopefully this will add to what is being looked into by the NGB team and brings to light other issues along with how sexual assault cases are being handled in the State.

Part 1 will consist of illegal hiring practices and Equal Opportunity Misconduct.

1. LTC Jane Wawersik. LTC Jane Wawersik is a current and former member of the Alaska Army National Guard and Anchorage Police Department. On 7 Oct 2013 (order number 281-103) was given a TEMP AGR position as the Assistant Chief of Staff. She worked for the current Chief of Staff- BG Jorgensen. This position was not offered as a competitive hire position. There were officers within the State of Alaska that not only had seniority but should have been considered for this position or at least offered the opportunity to compete for it. She was offered this AGR position as to help her gain employment within the Title 10 program at NGB. In addition it has the appearance that she was given this position in repayment for her conduct and services rendered during several investigations. She has been the primary investigator in several high profile investigations over the past 16 months. This type of payment seems to be a trend for females within the AKARNG. About 24 months ago LTC Wawersik was living in Florida and no longer a member of the AKARNG. The Officer Recruiting Office received a phone call from the COS (BG Jorgensen) and stated that a position will be created for her and that she will be accessed into the AKARNG. She was being brought back into the AKARNG as a LTC and thus delaying promotions for several MAJ's how were poised for promotions. As of March 2014 she has been given an offer of employment in the Title 10 program with duties at NGB. We are currently unaware of where she will be working but are deeply concerned that she will also again try to use her influence to get involved in the affairs of the Soldiers of the AKANG with extreme prejudice.

2. BOI/PR The people that work in this area should be of the highest moral character and in almost every instance possess a security clearance. However, this is not the case with BOI/Privacy It is unclear of how or why she has secured a job within the BOI/... for almost a year now and will be there until the end of FY14. Her criminal record is not just extensive; it includes 2 Felony Convictions for Theft (value $500 to $24,999), 1 Misdemeanor Conviction for Theft (value <$499), 2 dismissed charges for possession of a controlled substance, and more than 20 traffic citations. The Soldier would not be able to possess a security clearance and by all accounts should have been processed for separation after either one of her felony convictions. She is still on probation for both of the felony convictions until 8/7/2014. Her criminal record is public record via www.alaskacourtview.com search for BOI/PR

There are more instances that we can point to where the senior leadership of the AKARNG has failed to do what is right due to either their lack of desire to, fear of reprisals, or their own neglect. We are prepared to send more emails with detailed information about the possible improprieties, names and contact information of witnesses who might be willing to talk if they can be assured that they will not be retaliated against, and something will actually happen to help resolve the issues.

BG Jorgensen is a common name that you will see in almost every complaint that is going to come out when NGB actually gets the truth from Soldiers. Here is a piece of information that most people do not know or understand. She is actively violating assignment policy, promotions, and evaluations. Over the past year there were several LTC's (O5) that were eligible for COL (O6). Instead of promotion based on eligibility, position, or authority she utilized her position as the Chief of Staff to promote people that support her regime. A COL was moved out of his position on paper only, a LTC was moved into his vacated position. As soon as this took affect the Chief of Staff ensured that his promotion orders were published. Then she moved all of the parties back to their positions. She cited vacancy promotion authority as her reasoning for the promotion because no one was aware of the paperwork shuffle she did. However, due to several key people talking about the moves it came to the attention of several eligible O5. To verify this was actually done you can contact LTC Joseph Lawendowski, MSG John Phlegar, COL Thompson, and CW4 Kostoff. All of these people have personal knowledge that this is an issue and has been reported to DA IG.

Over the past year there have been very public cases involving sexual assault, sexual harassment, or failures by Commands to do what is right for the victims. The AKARNG has not been exempt from this. In 2013 Ret. LTC Kenneth Blaylock wrote a 12 page report detailing numerous allegations concerning the AKANG. Several key leaders were named as either being guilty of illegal sexual conduct, failing to protect victims of sexual assault, or turning a blind eye to accusations because of their connection to the alleged violator. We as a group can attest that there is some truth to what Ret LTC Blaylock wrote and there are even more concerns than he was even aware of. We are not going to release the names of the victims in our emails because this is a private ordeal that they have had to live through. The climate survey is turned on and hopefully it will provide more fidelity as to what is going on. We have seen these types of letters before - the key is to break them down into clear allegations and then consider each. Typically a flood of these may come in. Will consider them all. Happy to chat.

2. BOI/Privacy – BOI/Privacy The people that work in this area should be of the highest moral character and in almost every instance possess a security clearance. However, this is not the case with BOI/Privacy. It is unclear of how or why she has secured a job within the BOI/... for almost a year now and will be there until the end of FY14. Her criminal record is not just extensive; it includes 2 Felony Convictions for Theft (value $500 to $24,999), 1 Misdemeanor Conviction for Theft (value <$499), 2 dismissed charges for possession of a controlled substance, and more than 20 traffic citations. The Soldier would not be able to possess a security clearance and by all accounts should have been processed for separation after either one of her felony convictions. She is still on probation for both of the felony convictions until 8/7/2014. Her criminal record is public record via www.alaskacourtview.com search for BOI/Privacy.

There are more instances that we can point to where the senior leadership of the AKARNG has failed to do what is right due to either their lack of desire to, fear of reprisals, or their own neglect. We are prepared to send more emails with detailed information about the possible improprieties, names and contact information of witnesses who might be willing to talk if they can be assured that they will not be retaliated against, and something will actually happen to help resolve the issues.

BG Jorgensen is a common name that you will see in almost every complaint that is going to come out when NGB actually gets the truth from Soldiers. Here is a piece of information that most people do not know or understand. She is actively violating assignment policy, promotions, and evaluations. Over the past year there were several LTC's (O5) that were eligible for COL (O6). Instead of promotion based on eligibility, position, or authority she utilized her position as the Chief of Staff to promote people that support her regime. A COL was moved out of his position on paper only, a LTC was moved into his vacated position. As soon as this took affect the Chief of Staff ensured that his promotion orders were published. Then she moved all of the parties back to their positions. She cited vacancy promotion authority as her reasoning for the promotion because no one was aware of the paperwork shuffle she did. However, due to several key people talking about the moves it came to the attention of several eligible O5. To verify this was actually done you can contact LTC Joseph Lawendowski, MSG John Phlegar, COL Thompson, and CW4 Kostoff. All of these people have personal knowledge that this is an issue and has been reported to DA IG.

Over the past year there have been very public cases involving sexual assault, sexual harassment, or failures by Commands to do what is right for the victims. The AKARNG has not been exempt from this. In 2013 Ret. LTC Kenneth Blaylock wrote a 12 page report detailing numerous allegations concerning the AKANG. Several key leaders were named as either being guilty of illegal sexual conduct, failing to protect victims of sexual assault, or turning a blind eye to accusations because of their connection to the alleged violator. We as a group can attest that there is some truth to what Ret LTC Blaylock wrote and there are even more concerns than he was even aware of. We are not going to release the names of the victims in our emails because this is a private ordeal that they have had to live through. If and when an investigating team comes to Alaska we will ensure that the names of victims and violators makes it to the right people.

Here is a list of things to come:

Illegal promotions
Inappropriate Officer/NCO Relationships
Inappropriate relationships between Senior NCO and dependent spouse
Inappropriate Relationship between AKARNG and APD
Fraud Waste and Abuse of government assets to include fraud
Hostile Work Environment
Dereliction of Duty (MSG through BG)

SUBJECT: Alaska Army National Guard Corruption (part 2)

There are rumors that there are questions being asked about what has been occurring in the State of Alaska, the conduct of BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen, and other key leaders. This is a welcomed change to the corrupt chain of supporters who have been keeping this from the public.

So this week we are going to add to what needs to be looked at and addressed. This week our concerns are on the Fraud, Waste, and Abuse of military resources and manpower, and the 49th GMD. According to the Department of Defense Office of Inspector General these things are defined:

Fraud – a type of illegal act involving the obtaining of something of value through willful misrepresentation.

Waste – involves the taxpayers not receiving reasonable value for money in connection with any government funded activities due to an inappropriate act or omission by players with control over or access to government resources.

Abuse – involves behavior that is deficient or improper when compared with behavior that a prudent person would consider reasonable and necessary business practice given the facts and circumstances.

In October 2011, a case was exposed where an AirGuard member, BOI/PR, was accused of stealing more than $225,000 dollars from the Family Programs Office. In his statement to investigators he said that he did it because "it was easy and I could". This is a clear case of fraud and abuse but he was not the only person that needed to be investigated. BOI/PR pleaded guilty to one of three possible felony charges against him. But how can an E7 in the AirGuard have complete control over accounts totaling more than $200,000. He did not. BOI/PR was the person who was responsible for these accounts. After she moved out of the position BOI/PR took over and conducted an audit. This is what resulted in these actions being identified. Failure on her part constitutes Waste and Abuse. Waste – the taxpayers and the Soldiers of the AKNG trusted her to execute the duties of her position and she failed to do so. Abuse – it is reasonable to expect that any office that is responsible for any funds would conduct an audit at least yearly to ensure that all of the money is accounted for and that all policies are in place to protect the government and the Soldiers. This is a reasonable request and is a common practice in any branch of service. Nothing could be found to identify for sure if BOI/PR kept his rank and received his retirement. Conversations with people that know him have exposed that he states he received his retirement, honorably, and retired at the highest rank held. This case can be found on Alaskacourtview.com case number BOI/PR. To gain a better understand of this case it would be vital to talk with BOI/PR, the auditor who conducted the audit and found the original fraud, and the law enforcement agencies that conducted the investigation into this conduct.

Another issue that has also gained national attention is the incidents that occurred at Fort Greely Alaska. The 49th GMD has been riddled with controversy and poor leadership for years. However, what most people do not know is that this is not a recent thing, but again has been going on for years; right under the direct supervision of BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen. Not until this hit national newspapers did anyone actually try to look into the allegations of what was going on. A great example of this is LTC Miley and BOI/PR. LTC Miley should be held directly accountable for everything that occurred there under his command. He was told about these issues and instead of taking appropriate action he sat by and let his CSM destroy the unit piece by piece. This CSM was just involved in an investigation that had allegations from GMD in them. While he was assigned as the GMD CSM his conduct was destructive and unprofessional. There were occasions and photos of him having young female Soldiers at his residence, consuming alcohol, and rumors of sex parties. A CSM should never put himself or his soldiers in a position where they are drinking at his residence in a social setting. This is a clear violation of AR 600-20 (Army Command Policy – Fraternization). He also knew of conduct that was happening and did nothing to curb it. A senior NCO under his command, BOI/PR was having an inappropriate relationship with a junior Soldier, BOI/PR. These two Soldiers are now married, but served in the same command at the time of the relationship. LTC Miley and BOI/PR never addressed this issue because BOI/PR was a direct supporter of BOI/PR and his conduct. However, there were other soldiers that were involved in the same kind of conduct but were heavily reprimanded. BOI/PR investigation was concluded several months ago. LTC Miley as the Battalion Commander did not to keep any of this from happening and in several instances was present at such events. LTC Miley was moved from the GMD command to another position within the ARNG. If BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen had acted on the initial requests for assistance this command group would not be allowed to continue to waste government's money, time, and would have saved the Soldiers of the AKNG a great deal of pain and suffering. The key personnel that would offer some insight to this would be MSG Phlegar, CPT Skaw, R., Ret. MSG Odegard, SFC Quigley, MAJ Monson, and the investigation team that conducted the initial investigation. There were so many Soldiers that provided statements but the ones listed here have additional details they were reluctant to release because of the implications it would make at BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen.

'64 Quake Reminds Alaskans to Be Prepared

Last week marked the 50th anniversary of the 1964 Alaska earthquake and tsunami. Although it happened decades ago, Alaskans still have vivid memories of the destruction and loss of life caused by this earthquake. As the chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Emergency Management, Intergovernmental Relations and the District of Columbia that oversees the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), I invited FEMA Administrator Craig Fugate to Alaska last Friday for a field hearing discussing emergency response planning and preparedness in case of disaster.

When it comes to Alaska, a one size fits all solution doesn't work in planning for emergencies. Emergency management practices in Alaska aren't just an idea, they can save lives. During Fugate's visit, he accompanied me to a mapping discussion with local officials in the Mat-Su Valley, met with Alaska Native officials to discuss FEMA's tribal outreach, and toured the Palmer Fire and Rescue center.

I also introduced the Tsunami Warning and Education Reauthorization Act of 2014, to improve the nation's tsunami warning system and ensure coastal communities are better prepared for tsunami hazards. The bill would ensure a focus on preparing communities to be tsunami resilient—to better understand vulnerability to tsunamis, avoid most tsunami damage in the first place, and to bounce back quickly after tsunamis happen. The bill also would improve research on tsunamis and ensure improved guidance from scientists and emergency managers on the latest developments in tsunami science and preparation.

Though the 1964 earthquake was a devastating event, wiping entire towns off of the map, it did not break Alaska's spirit. The tsunami and earthquake set the young state of Alaska back temporarily, but in many ways it made us even more determined to recover and to grow into all that we are today.

Combat Veterans Recognize Begich's Work on Veterans' Issues

Sen. Mark Begich received the Military Order of the Purple Heart Inspirational Leadership Award for his advocacy on behalf of veterans, military members, and their families. "I am honored and humbled to receive this award and am determined to continue my fight on behalf of our nation's veterans," said Begich. "These Americans have continued to fight even after coming home from the battlefield—but now they are fighting to make sure their brothers-in-arms and their families get the all the benefits they have earned and deserve. This award will be an inspiration and a reminder to me to be ever vigilant against efforts to cut veterans' programs and limit their benefits."

Preparing Students for Disasters – Sen. Begich and FEMA Administrator Craig Fugate meet with Anchorage School District officials to learn about their preparedness efforts for Anchorage's students.

Begich to AKNG: Resolve Allegations Once and For All

Sen. Begich welcomed news that the federal National Guard Bureau Office of Complex Investigations is conducting an investigation to scrutinize the persistent allegations of sexual assaults, fraud and a hostile environment in the Alaska National Guard. "It's crucial this federal investigation get to the bottom of these accusations," said Begich. "I agree with comments made by the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff that sexual assault threatens the trust which is the bedrock of our military. Because these allegations continue to surround the Alaska National Guard, we must tackle them head on so they can be resolved once and for all."

Thanking Palmer Firefighters – Sen. Begich and FEMA Administrator Craig Fugate visited the Palmer Fire & Rescue Department on Friday to learn more about how Department of Homeland Security grant funds are helping to train and equip volunteer firefighters.

Alaskans on Capitol Hill – Sen. Begich joined Congressman Don Young in meeting with Alaska students involved in the Close Up Foundation program on Capitol Hill.

No Cuts to Alaska Commissaries

Sen. Begich is determined to prevent rent and groceries from becoming more expensive for Alaska military members and veterans who retired from the service and their families. Begich sent a letter last week to the Senate Armed Services Committee urging committee members to reject the "ill-conceived proposals" from the Department of Defense that would decrease commissary subsidies by $1 billion over three years, reduce Basic Allowance for Housing (BAH) by 5 percent over five years, and raise TRICARE plan fees for beneficiaries, including members on Active duty. "Increasing commissary costs would be a kick in the teeth to Alaska's 10,000 retirees and 65,000 Active duty service members and their families," said Begich. Begich has championed efforts to force DOD to calculate BAH rates in a way that accurately reflect the cost of housing in Alaska. Begich noted the DOD has not provided substantive information, details or proposed formal legislation for the aforementioned proposals.

SUBJECT: Alaska Army National Guard Corruption (part 2)

There are rumors that there are questions being asked about what has been occurring in the State of Alaska, the conduct of BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen, and other key leaders. This is a welcomed change to the corrupt chain of supporters who have been keeping this from the public.

So this week we are going to add to what needs to be looked at and addressed. This week our concerns are on the Fraud, Waste, and Abuse of military resources and manpower, and the 49th GMD. According to the Department of Defense Office of Inspector General these things are defined:

Fraud – a type of illegal act involving the obtaining of something of value through willful misrepresentation.

Waste – involves the taxpayers not receiving reasonable value for money in connection with any government funded activities due to an inappropriate act or omission by players with control over or access to government resources.

Abuse – involves behavior that is deficient or improper when compared with behavior that a prudent person would consider reasonable and necessary business practice given the facts and circumstances.

In October 2011, a case was exposed where an AirGuard member, PR/BOI, was accused of stealing more than $225,000 dollars from the Family Programs Office. In his statement to investigators he said that he did it because "it was easy and I could". This is a clear case of fraud and abuse but he was not the only person that needed to be investigated. PR/BOI pleaded guilty to one of three possible felony charges against him. But how can an E7 in the AirGuard have complete control over accounts totaling more than $200,000. He did not. PR/BOI was the person who was responsible for these accounts. After she moved out of the position PR/BOI took over and conducted an audit. This is what resulted in these actions being identified. Failure on her part constitutes Waste and Abuse. Waste – the taxpayers and the Soldiers of the AKNG trusted her to execute the duties of her position and she failed to do so. Abuse – it is reasonable to expect that any office that is responsible for any funds would conduct an audit at least yearly to ensure that all of the money is accounted for and that all policies are in place to protect the government and the Soldiers. This is a reasonable request and is a common practice in any branch of service. Nothing could be found to identify for sure if PR/BOI kept his rank and received his retirement. Conversations with people that know him have exposed that he states he received his retirement, honorably, and retired at the highest rank held. This case can be found on Alaskacourtview.com case number PR/BOI. To gain a better understand of this case it would be vital to talk with PR/BOI, the auditor who conducted the audit and found the original fraud, and the law enforcement agencies that conducted the investigation into this conduct.

Another issue that has also gained national attention is the incidents that occurred at Fort Greely Alaska. The 49th GMD has been riddled with controversy and poor leadership for years. However, what most people do not know is that this is not a recent thing, but again has been going on for years; right under the direct supervision of BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen. Not until this hit national newspapers did anyone actually try to look into the allegations of what was going on. A great example of this is LTC Miley and PR/BOI. LTC Miley should be held directly accountable for everything that occurred there under his command. He was told about these issues and instead of taking appropriate action he sat by and let his CSM destroy the unit piece by piece. This CSM was just involved in an investigation that had allegations from GMD in them. While he was assigned as the GMD CSM his conduct was destructive and unprofessional. There were occasions and photos of him having young female Soldiers at his residence, consuming alcohol, and rumors of sex parties. A CSM should never put himself or his soldiers in a position where they are drinking at his residence in a social setting. This is a clear violation of AR 600-20 (Army Command Policy – Fraternization). He also knew of conduct that was happening and did nothing to curb it. A senior NCO under his command, PR/BOI was having an inappropriate relationship with a junior Soldier, PR/BOI These two Soldiers are now married, but served in the same command at the time of the relationship. LTC Miley and PR/BOI never addressed this issue because PR/BOI was a direct supporter of PR/BOI and his conduct. However, there were other soldiers that were involved in the same kind of conduct but were heavily reprimanded. PR/BOI's investigation was concluded several months ago. LTC Miley as the Battalion Commander did not to keep any of this from happening and in several instances was present at such events. LTC Miley was moved from the GMD command to another position within the ARNG. If BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen had acted on the initial requests for assistance this command group would not be allowed to continue to waste government's money, time, and would have saved the Soldiers of the AKNG a great deal of pain and suffering. The key personnel that would offer some insight to this would be MSG Phlegar, CPT Skaw, R., Ret. MSG Odegard, SFC Quigley, MAJ Monson, and the investigation team that conducted the initial investigation. There were so many Soldiers that provided statements but the ones listed here have additional details they were reluctant to release because of the implications it would make at BG Bridges and BG Jorgensen.

The allegations related to PR/BOI retiring at PR/BOI are not true. An administrative separation board was held PR/BOI. He received an Other than Honorable discharge and was reduced in rank to P..., upheld by SECAF, and lost all retirement benefits. The irregularities were first noted by a Family Programs Budget Analyst, and led to an Audit and 15-6 investigation, which found that as the Family Programs manager, PR/BOI had illegally directed $145,000 in state grants, and $60,000 in donated funds into his personal bank account over a 6 year period. His direct supervisor was PR/BOI. She was supervised by PR/BOI The 15-6 and audit did not implicate anyone else, recommended implementing stronger internal controls, and referred the case to Anchorage Police Department for criminal prosecution.

Regarding PR/BOI, a 15-6 investigation has concluded, he's been given a GOMAR, and will face a separation board PR/BOI an Other than Honorable discharge is recommended by command.

LTC Miley is a Title 10 officer supervised by COL Hildreth of the 100 MDB in Colorado Springs CO. He was relieved of command and removed from the list for Senior Service school. I do not have specifics on any NJP for him.

I'm still waiting for the hiring data on PR/BOI. We had a major exercise last week (Vigilant Guard), and some key individuals are on leave.

SENATOR HOLLIS FRENCH

March 31, 2014

Governor Sean Parnell
P.O. Box 110001
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Governor Parnell:

This is the third time I've written you over my concerns with how cases of sex assault in the Alaska National Guard are being handled. News reports from last year indicated that current and former members of the Alaska National Guard were reporting serious sexual misconduct within the ranks. Two high ranking chaplains told a reporter that victims do not trust their commanders to help because of a history of inaction.

The same chaplains, both of whom are lieutenant colonels, indicated that your administration was told of these problems as far back as the fall of 2010.

The introduction of federal investigators to this issue only heightens my sense of concern. In your letter requesting the help of the federal Office of Complex Administrative Investigations you said that information you "recently learned" compelled you to write for federal assistance.

Asking for federal help is not something your administration does lightly. Indeed, it is fair to say that you are normally opposed to federal intervention in Alaska's affairs.

The need for outside federal investigators raises a number of important questions.

What month and year did you learn the information that led to you call for federal help in this investigation? How did you learn it?

How is the need for federal assistance in this investigation consistent with your expression of full confidence in General Katkus? Did General Katkus prove to be unable to adequately investigate this matter? Is he a target of the investigation?

Should members of the guard whose actions are being investigated be placed on administrative leave during the pendency of the investigation?

Session: State Capitol • Juneau, Alaska 99801 • (907) 465-3892 • 1 (866) 465-3892 • Fax: (907) 465-6595
Interim: 716 West 4th Avenue • Anchorage, Alaska 99501 • (907) 269-0234 • Fax: (907) 269-0238
Senator_Hollis_French@legis.state.ak.us

When can Alaskans expect to learn the results of the investigation?

Sexual assault, sexual abuse, and sexual harassment are crimes that thrive in secrecy. They are combated with openness, transparency, and accountability.

Sincerely,

Senator Hollis French

Governor Sean Parnell
STATE OF ALASKA

November 27, 2013

The Honorable Hollis French
Alaska State Senate
716 West Fourth Avenue, Suite 420
Anchorage, AK 99501-2133

Dear Senator French,

I received your recent letter inquiring about the handling of sexual assault cases among members of the Alaska National Guard. My administration has focused on stopping sexual harassment and sexual assault from the day I took my oath as Governor, and the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs (DMVA) is no exception.

In fact, General Katkus has proactively led in working to stop these acts by encouraging reporting, taking the issue beyond the workplace, and allowing members to report issues that happen in the community. The numbers reflected in the DMVA reports to the Department of Defense include all sexual harassment and sexual assault incidents reported by guard members, regardless of location, status of the offender, or time lapse from when the incident occurred to when the incident was reported.

DMVA is focused on helping victims receive the assistance they require, from counseling to help filing a police report with the local law enforcement agency.

From 2008 to date we have had:

- 29 reported cases of sexual harassment and sexual assault. Only one case had the basic criminal elements of rape, and the local police could not substantiate enough evidence to bring this case forward for prosecution.
- In 11 of the 29 cases, the victims chose to restrict reporting (meaning information was lacking such as identities of perpetrators or other key information for an investigation).
- 18 of those 29 cases had civilian perpetrators and 11 were military.
- Local law enforcement officers, including the Anchorage Police Department and the Alaska State Troopers, were contacted in 21 cases, and for reasons specific to each case, these law enforcement agencies closed or suspended each case.

- Guard policy is very clear: as soon as a sexual assault or sexual harassment case is reported, the Sexual Assault Response Coordinator is notified (many times this is the person the initial report is given to), then the Commissioner is notified and the two individuals sign a letter for record that is sent forward to the National Guard Bureau in Washington, DC. This must be accomplished within 24 hours of the initial report.

DMVA has fired six employees for sexual harassment, both National Guard and State employees, during my tenure in office. The leadership has vocalized the condemnation of these activities and the results are clear.

The Alaska National Guard is a member of the Alaska Network on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, and it coordinates with my statewide Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault. For an incident that takes place in Southcentral, the Alaska National Guard coordinates with Standing Together Against Rape; when an event takes place in other areas of the state, the Guard works with the nearest civilian service provider.

I have instructed DMVA to follow the Department of Defense regulations and meet the State of Alaska workplace standards for all employee actions. DMVA leadership will continue to focus their efforts on stopping sexual assault and sexual harassment in our state.

Sincerely,

Sean Parnell

SENATOR HOLLIS FRENCH

March 31, 2014

Governor Sean Parnell
P.O. Box 110001
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Governor Parnell:

This is the third time I've written you over my concerns with how cases of sex assault in the Alaska National Guard are being handled. News reports from last year indicated that current and former members of the Alaska National Guard were reporting serious sexual misconduct within the ranks. Two high ranking chaplains told a reporter that victims do not trust their commanders to help because of a history of inaction.

The same chaplains, both of whom are lieutenant colonels, indicated that your administration was told of these problems as far back as the fall of 2010.

The introduction of federal investigators to this issue only heightens my sense of concern. In your letter requesting the help of the federal Office of Complex Administrative Investigations you said that information you "recently learned" compelled you to write for federal assistance.

Asking for federal help is not something your administration does lightly. Indeed, it is fair to say that you are normally opposed to federal intervention in Alaska's affairs.

The need for outside federal investigators raises a number of important questions.

What month and year did you learn the information that led to you call for federal help in this investigation? How did you learn it?

How is the need for federal assistance in this investigation consistent with your expression of full confidence in General Katkus? Did General Katkus prove to be unable to adequately investigate this matter? Is he a target of the investigation?

Should members of the guard whose actions are being investigated be placed on administrative leave during the pendency of the investigation?

Session: State Capitol • Juneau, Alaska 99801 • (907) 465-3892 • 1 (866) 465-3892 • Fax: (907) 465-6595

Senator_Hollis_French@legis.state.ak.us

When can Alaskans expect to learn the results of the investigation?

Sexual assault, sexual abuse, and sexual harassment are crimes that thrive in secrecy. They are combated with openness, transparency, and accountability.

Sincerely,

Senator Hollis French

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE No. 14-042

National Guard Grants Governor's Request for Independent Assessment

March 26, 2014, Juneau, Alaska – Governor Sean Parnell today announced the National Guard Bureau has granted his request for an independent review and assessment of open and closed investigations related to reports of sexual assault, rape and fraud among members of the Alaska National Guard. The governor has asked for a detailed report from the Office of Complex Administrative Investigations.

"I am extremely proud of our Alaska National Guard members and their professionalism in carrying out their duties," Governor Parnell said. "However, I remain deeply concerned by reports of sexual assault and other behaviors creating a hostile environment and culture within portions of the Alaska National Guard. Not only are individuals victimized and traumatized in these circumstances, but collectively our National Guard is harmed – from morale to mission damage."

Governor Parnell has requested the review to include the National Guard's command structure and its responses to cases. A report identifying institutional strengths, shortcomings, if any, and recommended improvements is due later this year to Governor Parnell.

A copy of Governor Parnell's letter to General Frank Grass, chief of the National Guard Bureau, is available at:

On April 21 in Cordova Court, Fisherman's Finest LLC., a Seattle, Washington based corporation and owner/operator of multiple commercial trawling vessels, pled guilty to 5 counts of illegal fishing with Non-Pelagic Trawl gear in state waters that were closed to the use of trawl gear. An investigation by the Alaska Wildlife Troopers Statewide Wildlife Investigations Unit revealed that on two occasions, in July of 2010 and again in July of 2011, the F/V US Intrepid, a 186 foot catcher/processer vessel owned and operated by Fisherman Finest LLC, harvested a total of over 56,000 pounds of Lingcod in waters of the Eastern Gulf of Alaska by use of Non-Pelagic Trawl gear which is specifically prohibited by state regulations. As part of a plea agreement with the State of Alaska, Fisherman's Finest was sentenced to pay a fine of $12,500 and an additional $2,500 suspended with a probationary period of 3 years. In addition, the company was ordered to forfeit proceeds from the illegally taken catch in an amount of $10,326.	DPS			N

I could not find any responses by either letter or the public email account. I did find this one other item he'd sent applying for the Commissioner of DMVA that got passed on to Hooley.

Julia said she found the other letter for you, and it didn't have a CTS number. If it was all related to a meeting, it would have likely stayed in the scheduling/information realm and never been passed to CR to log and track response.

Also, FYI, Bob Doehl's been on the distribution list of a couple of anonymous emails from "Concerned Guardsmen" over the past month or so detailing allegations about stuff they're unhappy with and want passed on to the assessment group. I have passed those messages on to Cindy as they've come in.

Re: Application to Serve as Commissioner of Dept. of Military & Veterans Affairs

Dear Mr. Hooley,

In the event that Major General Thomas Katkus is not retained, I request the privilege of serving Alaskans as the next Commissioner of the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs (DMVA). I bring a proven track record of working with the individuals and agencies which are pivotal to success in meeting Governor Parnell's objectives for DMVA. Governor Parnell's stated four objectives for the Alaska National Guard in DMVA are: 1) to improve low morale in the Alaska Air National Guard (AKANG); 2) to improve federal mission readiness; 3) to improve state mission readiness; and, 4) to obtain appropriate recognition for the veterans of the Alaska Territorial Guard. I have the vision and skills to meet these objectives. I also meet the prerequisites for federal recognition as a brigadier general, as required by Alaska law.

Improve Low Morale. Morale is a function of leadership. Leadership that energizes and mobilizes people in an organization to want to excel creates high morale. My selection as the 2010 Paul W. Lindemuth Leadership trophy winner reflects a determination that I possess superior leadership to any 176th Wing field grade officer. Success in building and maintaining morale is also reflected in a key metric for the unit I command in the AKANG, namely assigned strength. The AKANG for the last few years has remained one of the lowest manned organizations in the United States, imperiling federal recognition and funding. During that timeframe, I have established a positive climate that increased assigned strength in a 350-person organization from 86 percent to hovering around 100 percent. Moreover, I have succeeded in maintaining this climate as BRAC-related cutbacks have slashed my fulltime workforce by one-third. Officer peers have also recognized my leadership in electing me to serve as president of the Alaska National Guard Officers Association since 2009. In that time, building morale has resulted in: active membership continuing to increase; a new initiative to provide assistance to Servicemembers; and, success in getting national recognition for the contributions of patriots Nancy Dahlstrom and C.W. Floyd for their efforts on behalf of the National Guard.

Federal mission readiness. The Alaska National Guard currently has the highest accident rate in the National Guard of the United States as a result of the the two Alaska Army National Guard class A helicopter mishaps and the tragic loss of Sitka 43, all within about seventeen months. I investigated over 80 aviation mishaps while serving with the U.S. Department of Justice, giving me a keen understanding of the human, aircraft and environmental factors that cause accidents and how to minimize them. Of note, none of the three different flying units I commanded had a mishap. In short, I have successfully shaped organizational culture to embrace excellence and shun unnecessary risk. Extensive command experience in both the Army Reserve and the AKANG has also instilled in me what it takes to maintain federal mission readiness. On a daily basis, volunteers in my unit deploy to Afghanistan and Iraq. In fiscal year 2009, my unit had the highest rate of volunteerism in the AKANG. These volunteers integrated seamlessly with their active duty counterparts, bringing complete job competency and proficiency to the mission, and with no spin up time prior to deployment or training deficits. In other words, my unit consistently maintains its Airmen as fully ready for the federal mission.

Another key aspect of federal mission readiness is the ability to work effectively with national level National Guard leaders to get the equipment, funding and resources Alaska needs. As the Information Technology representative to the nationwide National Guard Mission Support Group Advisory Council, I have negotiated and built consensus at the national level to get adequate IT infrastructure for all ANG bases and technical support to meet federal statutory mandates. Likewise, as the Joint Installation Officer for establishing Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson under General Douglas Fraser, I developed the structure for the installation air base wing and successfully built consensus in the Air Force to make it the national benchmark for joint bases. Also in this position, working with our congressional delegation and committee staffers to get necessary resources was a routine part of my job.

State mission readiness. Several accomplishments reflect my success in this area. Recently, I set a course academic record when attending the DoD Advanced Joint Professional Military Course, which focuses on how to combine all military services and civilian agency efforts, frequently for disaster response. Incidentally, my course paper, which focused on the indispensable state role in response to cyber attack, was a finalist in the 2010 Secretary of Defense essay competition. While serving as an Assistant Attorney General, I played a key role in drafting the legislation which gives the State the authority necessary for emergency disaster response and immunity from tort actions for this response. My service as an Assistant Attorney General also afforded me the opportunity to work with virtually every department in the State of Alaska; this level of familiarity is pivotal to a unified and coordinated disaster response. In 2009, I played a key role as the mission support group commander in developing the logistics plan to deploy within 24 hours over Labor Day weekend a C-17 with two HH-60 helicopters and rescue crews down to the Gulf States for response to Hurricanes Gustav and Ike. In 2007 while serving as the Alaska National Guard Director of Future Strategy, I developed a pandemic flu exercise which identified the key challenges in disaster response in Bush Alaska; this exercise also became a model upon which exercises were built nationwide for other states. In 2006 while serving as the Alaska National Guard Director of Operations, I coordinated Alaska's support of an EMAC request for para-rescuemen to assist after Katrina. In this role, I also established the first Alaska National Guard Joint Operations Center. In the wake of the AKARNG helicopter mishap on Knik Glacier, I played a key role as Deputy Director of Logistics for the Alaska National Guard in identifying the preferred course of action and resources for wreckage recovery. Currently, I am working with the National Guard Bureau Innovative Readiness Training shop to develop plans for improved transportation support of construction efforts at Mertarvik next summer where my unit will continue to provide field kitchen support. Incidentally, all of this expertise affords me the tools necessary to optimize the Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Management's efforts to mitigate disasters.

Recognition of the Alaska Territorial Guard. The key to this challenging task is the ability to work across a broad spectrum of audiences in delivering Governor Parnell's message about the debt America owes these patriots. Being part of the team that has developed a corporate partnership between the 176th Wing and NANA, I have bridged the cultural gap necessary to engage both urban and rural Alaska on military matters such as this. As an Assistant Attorney General defending the State, I have had the opportunity to engage Alaskans from all walks of life from all parts of the State as well as work on state legislation. As an attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice, I worked on federal legislation and gained a unique perspective on what is necessary to get laws passed in Washington.

Besides meeting the mandates for these other divisions, I am also uniquely postured to assure that the Division of Veterans Affairs is properly focused to serve the patriots who once wore a uniform to defend this great nation. I have served in Afghanistan, but in addition have substantial experience in making sure our wounded warriors are getting the care and services they need and deserve after they return home. As the chairman of our wing's Line of Duty committee, I oversee a multi-disciplinary team of medical, counseling, personnel and finance specialists that meet weekly to assure that their efforts are coordinated and comprehensive for our Airmen who have been injured while deployed. These duties have provided me a unique perspective on the range of needs and how to address them for this group.

Enclosed for your consideration please find my civilian and military resumes. The civilian resume captures the synergy of my civilian and military careers. As you can see from the military resume, my 30 years of military service encompasses a broad breadth of experience. From my first job as a medic in an infantry company to my current position responsible for basically all city services for a military installation, I have demonstrated the ability to excel in the full range of military units in two military branches, not to mention a successful civilian career as an attorney. At the same time, with over fourteen years of command experience, I have had to face head on the greatest personnel challenges. Although I have demonstrated the expertise to fly helicopters and airplanes and operate tanks, I have also demonstrated the strong analytical skills to build a plan for success and energize collaborative efforts of teams with people from every walk of life to accomplish them. If selected to be its next Commissioner, I look forward to laying a foundation of integrity and professionalism and then building DMVA to new heights of excellence in its ability to serve both Alaskans and all Americans in time of need.

Sincerely,

Robert A. K. Doehl

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

COLONEL ROBERT A. K DOEHL

COLONEL ROBERT "Bob" A. K. DOEHL is commander of the 176th Mission Support Group of the Alaska Air National Guard's 176th Wing, located at Kulis Air National Guard Base in Anchorage, Alaska. He oversees subordinate units that provide force protection, civil engineering, logistics, base communications, morale, welfare, recreation services, personnel services, information management, contracting, aerial port, and medical services, to support day-to-day Wing requirements, as well as contingency missions. Group functions sustain four flying squadrons, six distinct and separate weapons systems, and 25 individual units with a total of 19 assigned aircraft and more than 1500 personnel. He is also the Deputy Director (J-4) for the Alaska National Guard and the Information Technology (A-6) Representative to the Air National Guard Mission Support Group Advisory Council.

Colonel Doehl joined the Wisconsin Army National Guard as a medic in 1980. He was commissioned from Officer Candidate School in 1982 and then completed the armor and military intelligence officer courses and served as a tactical intelligence officer and a scout platoon leader. He transferred to the Army Reserve at NAS Glenview, IL, in 1986 where he served as a supply officer before going to flight school in 1987-88. From 1988 through 1993, Colonel Doehl commanded a 23-helicopter (UH-1H) air assault company and an 18-aircraft (OH-58A, UH-1H, U-21) theater aviation company. During this period, he did an in-unit upgrade to become qualified to fly the OH-58A helicopter and attended the transition course to become qualified in the U-21 airplane. In 1993-98, he served with a CH-47D battalion at Ft. Meade, MD, and Ft. Eustis, VA, as an assistant battalion intelligence officer, headquarters company commander (overseeing mission support elements for the entire battalion), battalion operations officer, and commander of a 16-helicopter company. He joined the Alaska Air National Guard in 1999, where he served as a quality assurance officer in the 176th Logistics Group. From 2000 until 2005, Colonel Doehl commanded the 176th Aircraft Maintenance Squadron. In 2005, he transferred to the Headquarters Alaska Air National Guard where he served as the J3, Director of Current Operations, for the Alaska National Guard. In 2006, he was named as the J5, Director for Future Plans and Strategy, for the Alaska National Guard. From 2006 through 2007, he served as Director of the 11th Air Force Joint Installation Office. He is a senior pilot with over 1,100 hours. Colonel Doehl is also an attorney.

This has not gone out public.
The letter McHugh he was asking the chaplains to sign was an acknowledgement that they do not speak for the department or represent the department, they refused to sign. I should have that to Sharon momentarily.

In general, 11 cases since 2009 had alleged perpetrators who were members of the Alaska National Guard. I did not include this fact in the memo attached, but of the 11, only one was a member of the Air Guard.

Mike, attached is a copy of the letter I asked the PR/BOI to sign, acknowledging the request that I sent via email.
When asked why they were being singled out, I said because they were the most recent employees to violate the rule and I wanted to make sure they understand the rule.
I also explained to them that I have no disciplinary authority over their positions, and that is why I asked their immediate supervisor, BG Cathy Jorgensen to sit in on the meeting.
PR/BOI and PR/BOI refused to sign the letter.
Also attached is the letter from their attorney.
I called his office and requested a meeting with him, and I spoke with his assistant. Ross did not follow up to meet with me and his clients have followed the request of DMVA leadership.

Dear Mr. Pierre:

Please be advised that I represent Alaska National Guard PR/BOI PR/BOI

At a meeting you had with my clients on 9 December 2013 you presented them with a document regarding sharing (or not sharing) information with certain others concerning the Guard. I understand you asked them to sign that document. You also referenced "established guidelines" and indicated that my clients may not have followed those "established guidelines".

My clients indicated to you that they wanted their counsel to review that document before they signed it. Apparently they left that meeting without being given a copy of the document they had been asked to sign.

Please furnish me with a copy of your proffered document so I can review it and advise my clients. I would also request that you furnish me with a copy of the "established guidelines" you referred to at that meeting.

Thank you for your kind attention to this request.

Sincerely,

FROM: Concerned Group of Alaska Army National Guard Members

SUBJECT: Alaska Army National Guard Corruption (part 1)

First and foremost we as a group would like to start off by explaining why there are no names taking credit for this correspondence. It is not because we do not wish to expose our names or have someone interview us. Mainly, it is for our protection. Under current state law there is a provision that protects anyone who wishes to report any wrong doing. Alaska Statute 39.25.80 is the statute that affords this right, however, under the current administration within the Alaska Army National Guard there is no protection for anyone who chooses to speak out. Our group consists of more than 10 Soldiers and Airmen from all ranks who want to see changes. We are going to be sending out emails like this one over the next several weeks in the hopes that it will affect change, help the Soldier's that do not have a voice, and the ones that have come forward and nothing has been done.

In our first release we are going to be discussing some issues that have been brought to the attention of Senator Mark Begich, Senator Murkowski, Congressman Don Young, Governor Parnell, State Senator Higgins, National Guard Bureau IG, Department of the Army (DA) IG, and Department of Defense IG. All of these reports of concern have been returned to MG Katkus, BG Bridges, and BG Jorgensen. This would be the normal protocol in these types of cases, however, they are the subject of these reports. They are covering up their actions, and the actions of officers directly under their command authority. On Wednesday 26 March 2014 Gov Parnell publically acknowledged that there are concerns within the AKANG and has asked for a special investigation by NGB. This is long overdue. Hopefully this will add to what is being looked into by the NGB team and brings to light other issues along with how sexual assault cases are being handled in the State.

Part 1 will consist of illegal hiring practices and Equal Opportunity Misconduct.

1. LTC Jane Wawersik. LTC Jane Wawersik is a current and former member of the Alaska Army National Guard and Anchorage Police Department. On 7 Oct 2013 (order number 281-103) was given a TEMP AGR position as the Assistant Chief of Staff. She worked for the current Chief of Staff- BG Jorgensen. This position was not offered as a competitive hire position. There were officers within the State of Alaska that not only had seniority but should have been considered for this position or at least offered the opportunity to compete for it. She was offered this AGR position as to help her gain employment within the Title 10 program at NGB. In addition it has the appearance that she was given this position in repayment for her conduct and services rendered during several investigations. She has been the primary investigator in several high profile investigations over the past 16 months. This type of payment seems to be a trend for females within the AKARNG. About 24 months ago LTC Wawersik was living in Florida and no longer a member of the AKARNG. The Officer Recruiting Office received a phone call from the COS (BG Jorgensen) and stated that a position will be created for her and that she will be accessed into the AKARNG. She was being brought back into the AKARNG as a LTC and thus delaying promotions for several MAJ's how were poised for promotions. As of March 2014 she has been given an offer of employment in the Title 10 program with duties at NGB. We are currently unaware of where she will be working but are deeply concerned that she will also again try to use her influence to get involved in the affairs of the Soldiers of the AKANG with extreme prejudice.

2. BOI/Privacy The people that work in this area should be of the highest moral character and in almost every instance possess a security clearance. However, this is not the case with BOI/Privacy. It is unclear of how or why she has secured a job within the BOI/P... for almost a year now and will be there until the end of FY14. Her criminal record is not just extensive; it includes 2 Felony Convictions for Theft (value $500 to $24,999), 1 Misdemeanor Conviction for Theft (value <$499), 2 dismissed charges for possession of a controlled substance, and more than 20 traffic citations. The Soldier would not be able to possess a security clearance and by all accounts should have been processed for separation after either one of her felony convictions. She is still on probation for both of the felony convictions until 8/7/2014. Her criminal record is public record via

There are more instances that we can point to where the senior leadership of the AKARNG has failed to do what is right due to either their lack of desire to, fear of reprisals, or their own neglect. We are prepared to send more emails with detailed information about the possible improprieties, names and contact information of witnesses who might be willing to talk if they can be assured that they will not be retaliated against, and something will actually happen to help resolve the issues.

BG Jorgensen is a common name that you will see in almost every complaint that is going to come out when NGB actually gets the truth from Soldiers. Here is a piece of information that most people do not know or understand. She is actively violating assignment policy, promotions, and evaluations. Over the past year there were several LTC's (O5) that were eligible for COL (O6). Instead of promotion based on eligibility, position, or authority she utilized her position as the Chief of Staff to promote people that support her regime. A COL was moved out of his position on paper only, a LTC was moved into his vacated position. As soon as this took affect the Chief of Staff ensured that his promotion orders were published. Then she moved all of the parties back to their positions. She cited vacancy promotion authority as her reasoning for the promotion because no one was aware of the paperwork shuffle she did. However, due to several key people talking about the moves it came to the attention of several eligible O5. To verify this was actually done you can contact LTC Joseph Lawendowski, MSG John Phlegar, COL Thompson, and CW4 Kostoff. All of these people have personal knowledge that this is an issue and has been reported to DA IG.

Over the past year there have been very public cases involving sexual assault, sexual harassment, or failures by Commands to do what is right for the victims. The AKARNG has not been exempt from this. In 2013 Ret. LTC Kenneth Blaylock wrote a 12 page report detailing numerous allegations concerning the AKANG. Several key leaders were named as either being guilty of illegal sexual conduct, failing to protect victims of sexual assault, or turning a blind eye to accusations because of their connection to the alleged violator. We as a group can attest that there is some truth to what Ret LTC Blaylock wrote and there are even more concerns than he was even aware of. We are not going to release the names of the victims in our emails because this is a private ordeal that they have had to live through. If and when an investigating team comes to Alaska we will ensure that the names of victims and violators makes it to the right people.

Here is a list of things to come:

Illegal promotions
Inappropriate Officer/NCO Relationships
Inappropriate relationships between Senior NCO and dependent spouse
Inappropriate Relationship between AKARNG and APD
Fraud Waste and Abuse of government assets to include fraud
Hostile Work Environment
Dereliction of Duty (MSG through BG)

Respectfully,

AKANG Whistle Blower's

Ms. Sims,
We're up and running. We've compiled a lot of information and are sorting through it now.
Also, I have noticed media reports over the past year that have pointed to complaints received by the Governor's Office. Is there any additional information that has been passed to the Governor's Office that would assist us in our effort? I realize that most of it will have already been included in the information we have gathered from the National Guard, but I would like to be sure that we don't leave anything unaddressed.
Thanks,

Dear Governor's Office Staff;

Last Sunday, a newspaper columnist made some false accusations about me related to sexual assault cases and their handling by the Alaska National Guard. I attempted to set the record straight by sending a column of my own into the Anchorage Daily News the next day (Monday), but the ADN did not print it. I want to be sure you have that rebuttal column I sent to the ADN because letting you know the facts and the immediate actions I took (both four years ago and last February) is important to me as well.

The National Guard Bureau team from Washington, D.C., that I called in to review each Alaska National Guard sexual assault and fraud case is expected to complete their work by mid to late summer. When I have that report, I can make it public and take further action if required.

With thanks for your service,

"Groundhog Day all Over Again" on Flagging Timber Sales

Alaskan Impact: The principle barrier to job creation in Southeast Alaska is the lack of timber available from the Tongass National Forest. Last year was a particularly bad one for Southeast. Region 10 was the Forest Service's worst performing region, with the agency accomplishing just 16.8 percent of its 267 million board feet harvest target. Most of mills have closed due to a lack of timber supply, energy projects that could provide economic opportunity continue to be tied up in red tape due to federal government one-size-fits-all policies, like the roadless rule.

Alaskan Impact: There are a lot of things happening with the Army in Alaska. From being nominated to house the F-35's in Anchorage at Elmendorf, to being a strategic location for the Pacific, the Army is just getting started. There has been a negative light on the Alaska National Guard for sexual misconduct and Senator Murkowski is working to address these and other sexual assault issues plaguing the armed forces.

Alaska's Skies Are Our Highways

Alaskan Impact: In Alaska, small planes are a way of life for many communities because they help deliver groceries, access to healthcare, and transportation to and from larger cities. Subject: FW: Interview request - KFQD's Bernadette and Berkowitz Show

Governor-

I have a request from KFQD's Bernadette and Berkowitz Show regarding the National Guard. Please let me know if you would like me to schedule.

Hi Sharon,
Bernadette Wilson was wondering if someone with the administration would be available for a live interview on KFQD to talk about the Alaska National Guard investigation and the process leading up to the request from the Governor's request for the investigation.
She knows the Governor and Ethan Berkowitz aren't exactly friendly, so Bernadette would be conducting a majority of the interview. Ethan might have a question or two, but would be saving most of his comments or response until after the conversation..
If someone is available for an interview, we'd love to have them on either Thursday or Friday. The show airs from 8-11 a.m. Perhaps something around 9:15 would work?

Sirs and Ma'am,

In reviewing the sexual assault data from Octavia, it occurred to me that Sean Cockerham started us on a path where we've been focusing on total number of reports instead of total number of reports where the perpetrator is a member of the AKNG.

I assume the "29 reported sexual assaults in the Alaska National Guard" statement that was in Sean Cockerham's first article back in October was a response to a question from him about how many reports of sexual assault have we had.

I think the real question is "how many members of the Alaska National Guard have assaulted other members of the Alaska National Guard?"

Because the point that the politicians, naysayers and media seem to be trying to make is that there are a lot of sexual assaults within our organization.

The fact that we provide services to victims as a resource that most organizations don't offer in-house has been lost in the mix.

FACT: In 2013 and 2014 combined, there has been ONE report of sexual assault committed by a member of the Alaska National Guard. (Where the assault took place in 2013 or 2014.)

That's a key message that I'm going to keep in my back pocket.

Sirs and Ma'am,

In reviewing the sexual assault data from Octavia, it occurred to me that Sean Cockerham started us on a path where we've been focusing on total number of reports instead of total number of reports where the perpetrator is a member of the AKNG.

I assume the "29 reported sexual assaults in the Alaska National Guard" statement that was in Sean Cockerham's first article back in October was a response to a question from him about how many reports of sexual assault have we had.

I think the real question is “how many members of the Alaska National Guard have assaulted other members of the Alaska National Guard?”

Because the point that the politicians, naysayers and media seem to be trying to make is that there are a lot of sexual assaults within our organization.

The fact that we provide services to victims as a resource that most organizations don’t offer in-house has been lost in the mix.

FACT: In 2013 and 2014 combined, there has been ONE report of sexual assault committed by a member of the Alaska National Guard. (Where the assault took place in 2013 or 2014.)

That’s a key message that I’m going to keep in my back pocket.

Linda,

Thanks for asking me for help. What I can say is this is not a normal US Army Issue. First, in our great nation we do not have a national guard that has the ability to Courts Marital a member. They fall under each perspective governor while in title 32 status. If a crime is committed while in this status, it is referred to the local police for investigation. This is a long process and does not move as fast as a member under title 10 status. I cannot comment on ongoing investigations and the Governor has requested the National Guard Bureau do an outside investigation and this is going on at this time as well. Not sure what Ric's motives are, but it is all taken care of and needs to run its course.

As you likely know by now our State National Guard is under federal investigation for a host of charges.
But last year 3 field grade chaplains went directly to our Governor, around their chain of command, to advise him that he was NOT being properly informed as to ongoing sexual abuse in the guard.
Unfortunately our Gov is not a veteran and does not have a good sense of these issues within service organizations.

He then called in his Commanding General (Major General) of the Guard and asked him what was going on.

The governor was troubled that he didn't have sufficient information to specifically engage on a specific charge.
This choice in my opinion was in error, but

The governor and I have known each other for decades and he has reached out to me for advise and help as this moves forward.

The federal investigation is ongoing, but the media continues to hammer him.

He has asked for a model – some other guard or military organization that has addresses this Chain of Command problem especially with MST.

Do you know of one? If so, please advise.

In my service experience I would have gone directly to the MP/Provost or better yet the CID and filed charges of rape or other infractions.
This would put the "power" to investigate clearly within the "police" service in command.
Do they need to notify command at that point? Or do they just go forward with their investigation?
After they have the facts and have a proven case ready for court martial, who orders the court martial?
If the court martial finds the defendant guilty, who recommends the penalty?
Who then imposes the penalty?

Etc

Your immediate advise is most appreciated.

Dear Governor Parnell.

Since I'm a currently-serving member of the Alaska Army National Guard I'll refrain from attaching my name to this letter.

Brigadier General Bridges conducted a Town Hall meeting on April 24th with the topic as Sexual Assault, recognizing April as Sexual Assault Awareness Month. It was very different than the last Town Hall meeting the Guard had in the fall. This one had a safe environment; we weren't yelled at; chaplains weren't belittled; and an atmosphere of faith and trust that at least General Bridges is doing something to clean up our Guard prevailed.

Many of us appreciate General Bridges' sincerity and trust his "anger" at those who abused their position to prey on fellow Soldiers. General Bridges doesn't have to put "dignity and respect" in the concrete in front of the armory to make people thinks that's what he believes. He truly practices those attributes.

We are fortunate to have him as a general in our organization and hope the other generals will strive to be more like him for actually living dignity, integrity, and respect.

My husband is a BOI in the Army National Guard. He probably wouldn't be thrilled that I'm writing to the Governor, but I can't stand by anymore and watch him suffer. I'm a wife that's worried for her husband.

My husband is a man of integrity, a man that loves the Lord, and a man that seeks the after the truth. I'm sure you've heard about sexual abuse charges in the National Guard that the Anchorage Daily News reported on a few weeks ago.

Although General Katkus isn't directly responsible for these abuse charges, he has created a climate that scares women into no t reporting them. Believe me, this is just the tip of the iceberg. The problem is, General Katkus can spin a story and can make his own poop smell good. He can talk a mean game : http://www.adn.com/2013/10/29/3149166/compass-guard-takes-sexual-assault.html but actions speak louder than words.

General Katkus is in a Governor-appointed position. He's used his military power and influence in the APD to do all kinds of nefarious things, some that can probably never be proven. Why do you keep him in his position? You need to fire that man! Instead of getting to the bottom of the problems he's facing, he's lashing out at the people that are trying to shed light on the truth. Why? Because he's a bully. And that's EXACTLY why women are scared to come forward. That's why my husband was scared to come forward, but he DID. Now he's waiting for the proverbial bomb to explode. He's a nervous wreck every time he goes to work. No, they can't fire him, but they can sure ma ke his life miserable.

This problem isn't going to go away until General Katkus goes away. You are the only one with the power to make that happen. I voted for you every time you ran for an elected office. If you take your "choose respect" campaign seriously, it's time to put that to the test. For once in my life I actually agree with an ADN editorial : http://www.adn.com/2013/11/02/3155673/our-view-right-way-to-close-ranks.html

Don't just talk to the General, or reprimand him even. He talks such a great game. Like I stated before, he knows how to say what you want him to say. He'll make himself look great. He's not great. Talk to the people at the armory. Talk to the lower enlisted. Talk to the commanders. Talk to the chaplains! He has created a command climate that is detrimental and unsafe. Since my husband BOI, the National Guard has been a dark place. A spiritually dark place.

You can help shine the light in a dark place. I don't want to wait for another Governor to solve this problem. I seriously don't think my husband will last that long.

Dear Governor Parnell,

As long time supporters of you and your administration, we were very distressed to read the article in the Anchorage Daily News (Sunday, Oct. 27 and Mon. Oct 28) entitled "Alaska National Guard unit being investigated for Sexual Misconduct". Particularly distressing was reading that you and your administration were notified of this problem back in 2010 and yet it appears there has been little or no follow through on the part of your administration.

As civilian Commander in Chief of the Alaska National Guard surely you would have the authority and responsibility to conduct your own investigation into this serious matter--particularly since the head of the Alaska National Guard is a member of your Cabinet. It appears to have been largely left to the military to investigate themselves-- something I don't have a lot of confidence in after talking with 2 people who have followed this story very closely.

We would respectfully ask that your administration get involved in this investigation, independent of the military and leave no stone unturned from the top person (Maj. Gen. Tom Katkus) on down.

Our Alaska National Guard is a great resource to our State and Country and we owe it to those serving (and particularly those victimized by this horrible behavior) to get to the bottom of this. It appears that many cases go unreported because the victims fear reporting it to their superior officers since little if anything appears to happen.

As a member of your Cabinet, Maj. General Katkus owes us more than lip service. Ultimately, the responsibility for ans wers falls on your desk.

The victims deserve justice.

Respectfully,

Terry and Bonnie Sharnbroich

The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
United States Senate

Washington, D.C. 20510-0203

Dear Senator Murkowski:

This is in response to your letter dated June 19, 2013, regarding allegations that the command climate within the Alaska National Guard (AKNG) is not conducive to reporting and investigating sexual assaults and that, in some instances, officials may have taken steps to cover up incidents of sexual assault.

Our letter of July 18, 2013, indicated that the DoD Hotline referred the allegations to the Department of the Army Inspector General (Army IG) for action (case number 20130620-014429). Our letter of March 6, 2014, indicated that officials within the Directorate for Investigations of Senior Officials (ISO) opened case number 20130715-014791-CASE-01 to monitor the senior official investigation by the Army IG.

On April 15, 2014, the Army IG completed the investigation and forwarded the Report of Investigation to ISO officials for review. The Army IG investigation found AKNG command climate sensing sessions did not identify concerns regarding sexual assault or sexual harassment reporting, and that The Adjutant General (TAG), AKNG, and other AKNG officials did not cover up any reported sexual assault incidents.

The Army IG report noted the Sexual Assault Response Coordinator, AKNG, received reports of 11 alleged sexual assault incidents (since February 2012) and promptly coordinated referrals of all incidents to Alaska law enforcement authorities. Alaska State Statute, "Military Code of Alaska," Section 26.05, dictates that Alaska state civilian law enforcement authorities investigate, and the Alaska civilian criminal system prosecute, cases involving AKNG member suspects. The TAG took adverse administrative action on the only two cases upon which he could act; those which substantiated sexual assault allegations against AKNG members. In one case, the TAG discharged the subject from the AKNG, and in the other, he initiated the subject's separation.

On May 6, 2014, ISO Oversight Branch officials completed a review of the Army IG investigation and concurred with the findings and conclusions.

INSPECTOR GENERAL
DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE
4800 MARK CENTER DRIVE
ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA 22350-1500

The Honorable Lisa Murkowski
United States Senate
709 Hart Senate Building
Washington, D.C. 20510-0203

Dear Senator Murkowski:

This is in response to your letter dated June 19, 2013, regarding allegations that the command climate within the Alaska National Guard (AKNG) is not conducive to reporting and investigating sexual assaults and that, in some instances, officials may have taken steps to cover up incidents of sexual assault.

Our letter of July 18, 2013, indicated that the DoD Hotline referred the allegations to the Department of the Army Inspector General (Army IG) for action (case number 20130620-014429). Our letter of March 6, 2014, indicated that officials within the Directorate for Investigations of Senior Officials (ISO) opened case number 20130715-014791-CASE-01 to monitor the senior official investigation by the Army IG.

On April 15, 2014, the Army IG completed the investigation and forwarded the Report of Investigation to ISO officials for review. The Army IG investigation found AKNG command climate sensing sessions did not identify concerns regarding sexual assault or sexual harassment reporting, and that The Adjutant General (TAG), AKNG, and other AKNG officials did not cover up any reported sexual assault incidents.

The Army IG report noted the Sexual Assault Response Coordinator, AKNG, received reports of 11 alleged sexual assault incidents (since February 2012) and promptly coordinated referrals of all incidents to Alaska law enforcement authorities. Alaska State Statute, "Military Code of Alaska," Section 26.05, dictates that Alaska state civilian law enforcement authorities investigate, and the Alaska civilian criminal system prosecute, cases involving AKNG member suspects. The TAG took adverse administrative action on the only two cases upon which he could act; those which substantiated sexual assault allegations against AKNG members. In one case, the TAG discharged the subject from the AKNG, and in the other, he initiated the subject's separation.

On May 6, 2014, ISO Oversight Branch officials completed a review of the Army IG investigation and concurred with the findings and conclusions.

Should you have questions, please contact me at 703-604-8324.

Larry D. Turner

Mike

At least a bit of good news. This was an investigation that started about 8 months ago after the Fort Greely investigation concluded.

I believe the complainant was Senator Murkowski as I was told she has recently been pressing DA and DoD IG to bring this to resolution. DA IG had to specifically brief her on this investigation. Usually they only inform complainants and subjects of their results.

MG Katkus - Good news! The United States Army Inspector General Agency has completed an investigation into an allegation against you. The allegation that you failed to foster a healthy command climate was not substantiated.

DoD IG concurred with the findings. We consider this case closed. GOMO has been informed of the closure of the investigation.

I've attached a copy of the closure memorandum for your records. Please confirm receipt of this email.
